OCCURRENCE: In the June 1, 1973 memo to Colby from Elder, Elder notes three instances of controversial uses of CIA funds:

1. "Expenditure of money under Project Moses, in securing return of Cuban Brigade prisoners. Details are known to Larry Houston, Mike Miskovsky, Identity 131, and James Smith.
2. November 1, 1963, Lou Conein took a large amount of cash with him after receiving a summons to report to the Joint General Staff Headquarters.
3. John McCone took strong exception to a proposal to spend CIA funds to "improve the economic liability of West Berlin and investment in Mali."
