ACWM is optimistic that it will be possible to accelerate the development of additional information on OSMAD’s role in the U.S. historic district. While some effort should be made to the development of additional information on OSMAD’s role in the U.S. historic district, it is important to recognize that this effort may not be sufficient to address the challenges faced by OSMAD in its current role. It is recommended that the Department of State continue to support the activities of the advisory committee and OSMAD to ensure that the OSMAD’s role in the U.S. historic district is adequately addressed.

Subject: Reports on Activities and Travel of the Deputy OSWAD and Marta

For this purpose, we would appreciate receiving information on any Americans who might have been present at the "Borkhusen" in the early 1959 time frame.

The Senate majority, led by the Republicans, has attempted to limit the president's authority to conduct war, as well as to limit the president's ability to make decisions about foreign policy and national security.

The president's powers are constitutionally protected, and the Supreme Court has ruled that Congress cannot unilaterally limit these powers. However, the president's authority is not absolute, and Congress has the power to declare war and to authorize the use of military force.

The recent developments in NATO, including the expansion of the alliance and the deployment of American troops in Europe, have raised concerns about the potential for conflict and the stability of the region.

Mr. President,

I refer to your letter of 26 March, 1964, a copy of which I am forwarding herewith.

As I have already informed the Foreign Office, our activities have been made known to the Governments of Certain countries, but it has not been possible to secure their co-operation in this matter.

We have been informed that the investigation was commenced in February 1963 by West Germany and subsequently passed to the country of origin, which has not been named.

As you will see from the attached document, this investigation was conducted by the Director of Research and Development of the Foreign Office.

We have now completed the investigation and are now in a position to present our findings to the appropriate authorities.

I am therefore requesting that you take the necessary steps to ensure that the information is made available to the appropriate authorities.

Yours faithfully,
