ARTHUR D. "ARCHIE" NELSON, former Pittsburgh top hoodlum who is presently in partnership with MIKE GENOVESE, was observed watching the construction of his new motel during a surveillance by SA VOEGE on February 17, 1959. Upon contacted, NELSON, who was driving a white 1957 Cadillac sedan bearing 1958 Pennsylvania license 1028J, advised that construction is proceeding according to plan and that he visualizes completion of the project during the first week of August, 1959. He said he has a six-month construction contract with a masonry contractor named ZAMPARANA (phonetic) from Fox Chapel, Pa., but that the contract is merely a gentlemen's agreement with no penalty clauses attached. He indicated that the builder submitted the lowest of six construction bids after he and GENOVESE had advertised in the trade journals and had further guaranteed that he could do the job in approximately six months, barring personnel injuries, equipment breakdown and inclement weather.

NELSON advised that his motel would consist of fifty-three compact units in the shape of a "U" with the open end facing the highway and would be of two-level construction.

He advised that on February 6, 1959, however, he received information from an attorney who has handled many matters for both GENOVESE and LA ROCCA and whose name is VITO RICH, that [redacted] was then at home and was awaiting the arrival of the U. S. Marshal to serve him with whatever subpoenas were outstanding against him. He stated that he immediately proceeded to [redacted] and served [redacted] with two subpoenas which he had been holding for approximately one year. He described the first as a subpoena for the appearance of [redacted] before the Federal Grand Jury for the [redacted] to testify and give evidence in regard to an alleged violation of [redacted] and the second as a subpoena for the appearance of [redacted] before the U. S. Senate Select Committee On Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field.

DIMEOLO could furnish no information regarding the whereabouts of LA ROCCA during his disappearance from the Pittsburgh area and advised that he did not think it was his duty to ask him such a question. He stated, however, that LA ROCCA had promised him that he would be available in Pittsburgh for whatever came up in the future and was "sick of running." He said LA ROCCA also advised him that he would proceed to Valley Forge Academy at Wayne, Pa., on that date to visit his adopted son and indicated that he would go by car.

HUBERT I. TEITELBAUM, U. S. Attorney, Western District of Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, advised SA VOEGE on March 12, 1959, that he had been visited by two attorneys representing the Attorney General's Special Group and that they had worked out a means whereby [redacted] would appear before a Federal Grand Jury sitting at [redacted] during the week of [redacted]. He stated that this appearance would cancel two previously scheduled appearances before a Federal Grand Jury for the [redacted] at which [redacted] was to appear on [redacted]. He stated that in all probability, [redacted] and his close associate, [redacted] who was successfully served with subpoenas by the U. S. Marshal for the Western District of Pennsylvania on March 4, 1959, will appear before the Federal Grand Jury at [redacted] on [redacted] and that either one or two representatives of the Attorney General's Special Group will be present at the hearing although he will ask the pertinent questions.
