In connection with our investigation into the burglary of the Media Resident Agency during the night of March 8, 1971, SAC Roy K. Moore, who is handling the special at Philadelphia, has advised 12 of the 25 Agents assigned to the Philadelphia Division on the special have returned to their field offices of assignment. Two more are scheduled to return this weekend, leaving a balance of 11, including SAC Moore.

We have discontinued the electronic surveillance of the cabin in the Pennsylvania mountains where it had been anticipated discussions would be had between break-in leaders and our Philadelphia source relative to future break-ins. John Peter Grady, who has been developed as the principal subject in Medburg and the instigator of the majority of draft board break-ins throughout the East Coast, never appeared at the cabin as he stated he would. There is no indication his failure to appear was due to anything else but irresponsibility on his part. Our informant continues to maintain contact with others of the Berrigan group, and it is hopeful information pertinent to this investigation will be obtained through this source.

Of primary interest is the fact our investigation in the Camden, New Jersey, area has resulted in the location of Grady, his hideout, and the insertion of another source into a group which is led by Grady and which is currently planning a "hit," presumably on a draft board and/or Army Intelligence office in the Camden, New Jersey, Federal Building. Our informant has established himself with the group and is in a position to be aware of detailed plans relative to this proposed hit.

The break-in has been tentatively set for the weekend of July 17 - 18, 1971. However, definite arrangements have not as yet been formulated. Appropriate safety measures have been instituted to protect our Camden Resident Agency, which is in the same building. As previously indicated in our memorandum of June 28, 1971, dealing with the latest phase of our investigation, it is imperative no dissemination be made of this information outside the FBI at this time. When full facts become known, consideration will be given to disseminating this information on a need-to-know basis. It is our intention that by careful planning we may be in a position to apprehend those participating in this new break-in (15 to 25 individuals) during the actual attempt. We hope to link many of these individuals with the Media break-in.

By memorandum dated June 24, 1971, reference was made to the feasibility of conducting a grand jury hearing into Medburg. It was recommended and approved that no action be taken along these lines until the discontinuance of our electronic surveillance at the Pennsylvania cabin. In view of the fact our current inquiries have resulted in our being in a position to anticipate a hit by the Grady group within the next two weeks, any grand jury action would obviously adversely influence Grady's plans for his newest break-in.

ACTION: If approved, we will continue our efforts along the lines set forth above, and no discussion will be had at this time with the Internal Security Division relative to a possible grand jury hearing on Medburg.

This is to summarize the current status of our investigation of captioned matter and to consider future plans in connection with the development of information indicating a planned break-in at the Post Office Building, Camden, New Jersey, scheduled for July 25, 1971.

John Peter Grady, a close associate of the Berrigan brothers, according to several sources, claims to have planned and participated in the Media burglary. He was allegedly assisted by Fathers Joseph O'Rourke, Peter Fordi, and Edward McGowan. In addition, at least three other alleged associates of the Berrigan group are believed to have participated. Through information recently developed, Grady has been pinpointed as the individual who masterminded at least 14 of the 18 break-ins of various Government facilities during the past two years. He currently heads up what is termed the "action group" and is reported reliably as being a staunch advocate of "hits" on Federal facilities as a means of embarrassing the Federal Government.

During the past several weeks, we have been successful in inserting a highly productive source into a group led by Grady which is presently planning a break-in of the draft board office with alternate targets being Military Intelligence and the FBI Resident Agency, all located in the Post Office Building at Camden, New Jersey, a Government reservation. The early morning hours of Sunday, July 18, 1971, was the original target date. However, Philadelphia has now reported that, in all probability, the hit would be delayed until July 25, 1971, in order to allow elements from the Newark, New Jersey, area to participate. Under the direction of SAC Roy K. Moore, on special Medburg assignment, with the cooperation of SACs, Philadelphia and Newark, arrangements have been perfected aimed at apprehending these individuals red-handed. Hopefully, O'Rourke, Fordi, and McGowan will participate in the Camden break-in as well as others involved in the Media burglary. Precautions have been taken to cover our Resident Agency at all times. In addition, personnel are on continual alert to swing into action should the hit date be unexpectedly advanced.

Media, Pennsylvania, 3-8-71

With respect to the proposed Camden break-in, it was recognized from the outset that secrecy was imperative--both from the standpoint of protecting our source who has successfully associated himself to a very close degree with Grady and, more important, insuring there be no leak which would scare off Grady and his group. By memoranda June 28 and July 7, 1971, we pointed out the importance of keeping these plans confidential, it being imperative that there be no dissemination outside the FBI at this time. It is SAC Moore's recommendation we not alert at this time any agencies having an interest and/or located in the Post Office Building. This would include General Services Administration, the military, Selective Service, and Postal authorities. To do so might result in activity which could very well alert the alleged perpetrators who are very sensitive to any unusual activity and who have the Post Office under surveillance.

It should be noted the Internal Security Division of the Department has requested it be advised of all matters having any possible connection with the Berrigan group. None of the individuals known to be planning participation in the Camden break-in are among those indicted with Berrigan in the Eastcon case. Nevertheless, it appears persons associated with the Berrigan group are involved in the planning of the Camden break-in and all seem to be inextricably intertwined in the Berrigan and Eastcon philosophies.

It is also noted that in a memorandum dated March 29, 1971, the Internal Security Division indicated, in view of the interest of that Division in those individuals associated with Eastcon and the Berrigan supporters, they desired the Media case be handled in its entirety by the Special Litigation Section of the Internal Security Division. They also requested that in addition to communications, all prosecutive presentations should be made to the Special Litigation Section.

ACTION: In view of the above developments indicating a tentative action date for July 25, 1971, it is recommended this matter be presented at this time to the Special Litigation Section well in advance of the target date in order that there can be no question concerning the propriety of our proposed action. The Bureau obviously must fulfill its responsibilities in this case which might involve the apprehension of from 15 to 25 individuals in the commission of the intended break-in of the Post Office Building. In order to preclude as much as possible any unforeseen difficulties, it is recommended that SAC Roy K. Moore, who has the responsibility for the overall direction of this situation, be immediately instructed to report to Bureau Headquarters for a full discussion of his proposed plans. If approved, SAC Roy Moore, representatives of the Special Investigative Division and General Investigative Division, and Mr. Dalbey will present this matter to the Special Litigation Section of the Department with reference to the contemplated prosecutive action in the event a break-in should occur.

DETAILS

On January 27, 1972, Investigative Clerk ROBERT C. KEARNEY contacted Sergeant JOHN DEVLIN, Philadelphia Police Department and was advised that arrest reports and related documents are destroyed after two years of storage. He advised that the only information available would be that of the subject's criminal record. It is noted that office of origin is in receipt of criminal record.

On February 9, 15, 23 and 25, 1972, attempts were made to contact PHILIP TRACY through the "Village Voice", 80 University Place, New York, New York, with negative results.

On March 8, 1972, inquiry at the "Village Voice", 80 University Place, New York, New York, revealed PHILIP TRACY was presently out of town and expected to return sometime next week. Attempts to determine his present location and/or some means of immediate contact were met with a negative response.

During the past two months numerous attempts have been made in person and telephonically to contact PHILIP TRACY, reporter, through the "Village Voice". On each occasion receptionist personnel of the "Village Voice" advised that TRACY was not there at the present time, that they had no idea as to how to contact him nor a telephone number where he could be reached, but they would take a message for him. On each occasion a message was left but never answered.

On March 31, 1972, Special Agent (Accountant) ROBERT H. WALLER and SA MARTIN J. GASS observed DALE SPEERS CUNNINGHAM driving a blue Ford convertible with California license 710-DOL.

The following investigation was conducted by SC ELIZABETH O'LAUGHLIN at Sacramento California:

On April 12, 1972, a check of vehicle registration records, through the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS), revealed that California license 710-DOL is registered for 1972 to KOREAKI OGATA, Department of Biology, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for a 1966 Ford convertible. No stolen stops on file.

A check of driver's license records, through CLETS, reflects the following description of OGATA:

Name	KOREAKI OGATA
Date of Birth	April 5, 1943
Sex	Male
Height	5' 6"
Weight	130 pounds
Hair	Black
Eyes	Black
Marital Status	Single
California driver's license number	N722888
Mailing address	Department of Biology Stanford, California
Residence address	27261 Black Mountain Road Los Altos Hills, California

NK 89-56

On May 4, 1972, Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) JOSEPH AUDINO, Camden, New Jersey, advised that a trial date has not been set in this matter. He stated that he thinks it will be handled in the Fall of 1972.

SUBJECT: BURGLARY OF MEDIA, PENNSYLVANIA, RESIDENT AGENCY (CAMDEN ACTION)

SAC Roy K. Moore in charge of captioned investigation indicated today information received from informant indicated strong possibility an attempt will be made by John Peter Grady and his group to break in the Federal Building at Camden, New Jersey, and thereafter destroy and carry off records of the draft board and military intelligence.

The Department has indicated that should the break-in be consummated, those involved should be arrested. In the event Grady and his group are on the scene with apparent intent to break in but stop short of such action, the Department has indicated they should be taken into custody.

SAC Moore advised Philadelphia and Newark Agents are being deployed in a position to take whatever action is appropriate.

ACTION: Information.

Date 8/23/71

Reverend MILO MARIC BILLMAN, white male American, born April 20, 1934 at Sharon Center, Ohio, residence: 21 North 4th Street, Camden, N. J., was again advised of the identities of the arresting and interviewing agents and also again advised of the fact that he was being arrested for conspiracy in connection with the break-in of the Selective Service System Offices in the Post Office Building at Camden, N. J. Mr. BILLMAN was then presented an Interrogation; Advice of Rights form and asked if he was able to read and write the English language. Mr. BILLMAN advised he was able to read and write the English language and he advised he was a college graduate having completed four years of post-graduate work. Mr. BILLMAN then read the advice of rights and waiver of rights form as presented to him by SA DONALD REX EGELSTON. Mr. BILLMAN was asked if he thoroughly understood what his rights were and he advised, "I understand what my rights are." He was then asked, "Are you sure you understand," and Mr. BILLMAN advised that he did understand what his rights were.

Mr. BILLMAN was then asked by SA DONALD REX EGELSTON would he acknowledge that he had been advised of his rights by agents of the FBI and he advised, "Yes, I have been advised." Mr. BILLMAN advised that he did not wish to sign the advice of rights waiver form and he requested that he be able to make a telephonic call to his attorney. Mr. BILLMAN was advised by SA EGELSTON that immediately upon receipt of information from Special Agent in Charge ROY K. MOORE that the building had been secured and that agents and suspects safety could be assured he would be allowed to make any number of telephone calls which he wished, including those calls to his family or to his attorney. Mr. BILLMAN advised that he understood this. BILLMAN stated he did not wish to discuss the break-in.

Mr. BILLMAN was then asked by SA EGELSTON if he had made prior arrangements with his wife as to what should be done in the event he was arrested. Mr. BILLMAN advised that he had expected that he might be arrested for either

"this or the other one." During the conversation SA EGGLESTON asked if he had a moral obligation to the people who he served in his community and Mr. BILLMAN advised, "Yes, I also have an obligation to the 27 year olds."

SA EGGLESTON then asked Mr. BILLMAN why would anyone want to break-in to a draft board now in view of the fact that Congress is presently endeavoring to make changes within the Selective Service System and that at the present time no one is being drafted, and that it appears that any action against the draft board appears to be useless at the present time. Mr. BILLMAN stated, "The poor people can't wait for government to react. It reacts too slowly to the problems of the poor people, that something has to be done now."

Mr. BILLMAN was then given a copy of the Sunday "Philadelphia Inquirer," and he opened this copy and began to read it. He then pointed to a picture in the newspaper showing a fire in downtown Camden and stated, "Here is the real crime, people are dying. Why don't you do something about that, instead of draft board break-ins." SA EGGLESTON advised him that the FDI had no jurisdiction in the matter in Camden. BILLMAN said, "Why don't you do something about the crooks, Mayor NARDI and Police Commissioner YEAGER." SA EGGLESTON advised him that if he wished to present any information concerning irregularities in office concerning Mayor NARDI and Police Commissioner YEAGER he would take this information down. Mr. BILLMAN made no further comments concerning Mayor NARDI and Police Commissioner YEAGER.

On August 22, 1971, at approximately 4:32 a.m., SA TERRENCE P. NEIST and SA LAWRENCE KARL YORK went to the door of the residence located at 21 North Fourth Street, Camden, N. J. SA NEIST displayed his credentials to the individual who came to the door. This man was later identified as NILE BILLMAN. SA NEIST announced that he and the others were Special Agents of the FBI and that they were there to execute arrest warrants.

SA JAMES J. FINLEY, SA RICHARD J. BERNES, followed by SA TERRENCE P. NEIST and SA LAWRENCE KARL YORK, then entered the residence, through the open front door and immediately SA FINLEY and SA BERNES entered the front living room located at the right of the hallway on the first floor and observed JOHN PETER GRADY lying on the floor at the west end of the room, near a couch. GRADY was wearing a white T-shirt and dark blue trousers and had no shoes or socks.

SA FINLEY immediately identified himself to GRADY as a Special Agent of the FBI and he informed GRADY that he was under arrest for a violation of Federal law. SA FINLEY and SA BERNES then pulled GRADY to his feet and searched him for weapons. He was then handcuffed by SA NEIST and removed to a Bureau automobile parked directly in front of 21 North Fourth Street, Camden, N. J.

After GRADY was placed in the rear seat of the car, he was advised of the identities of SA LAWRENCE KARL YORK and SA TERRENCE P. NEIST and was again informed by SA YORK that he was under arrest. SA YORK advised GRADY that he was being charged with Conspiracy and was being arrested based on a warrant issued by U. S. Magistrate CHARLES RUDD, Camden, N. J. GRADY's shoes were then brought to him. He was then transported to the U. S. Post Office and Courthouse, 401 Market Street, Camden, N. J. Consequently, GRADY was taken to Room 304, where he was searched.

The following items were taken from GRADY:

1. One Garret Decrel stopwatch.
2. One gold penknife.
3. One black key case containing four gold keys.
The case had a piece of paper taped to the outside with the name "BILL" and an "A" with a circle around it.
4. Two loose keys, one bearing letters "GM."

Several times GRADY asked to be allowed to call his attorney, at which time he was told that he would be able to call his attorney once he was booked and the security of the other FBI personnel was assured. GRADY refused to identify himself and refused to provide any background information about himself whatsoever. GRADY refused to sign the property receipt.

SA WEIST provided GRADY with an "Interrogation: Advice of Rights" form, which GRADY read, and stated that he understood his rights, but declined to sign the waiver form because he wanted to talk to his lawyer. GRADY declined to provide handwriting samples.

At 7:01 a.m., SA MASON P. SMITH appeared at Room 304 and advised GRADY that he was going to take his photograph and asked GRADY, who was seated in a chair, to stand up. GRADY refused to stand up and refused to look up. At that point, SA SMITH again requested GRADY to stand up and he again refused. Agents SMITH and WEIST took GRADY by his arms and lifted him from the chair, at which time GRADY started to struggle. At that instant, SA YORK secured GRADY's right arm and placed a handcuff on his right wrist and then secured GRADY's left wrist and handcuffed him behind his back. As SA SMITH started taking photographs, GRADY started straining and pulling at the handcuffs behind his back and he was heard to grunt and breathe heavily.

Shortly thereafter, GRADY stated that his arm hurt and SA YORK removed the handcuffs, at which time GRADY displayed the inside of his right wrist which revealed a small abrasion or cut which was emitting a small amount of blood.

SA NEFFY used a clean handkerchief and it was applied to the abrasion and the bleeding stopped. SA YORK applied Zechin-Gibson's first aid kit located in Room 300 to the abrasion. The rest of the photographs were taken of GRADY without his cooperation.

GRADY was later taken to another room where he was fingerprinted and additional photographs were taken without incident.

At 10:11 a.m., and 11:12 a.m., GRADY made two telephone calls from a pay telephone booth on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

At 12:18 p.m., GRADY was taken before U. S. Magistrate CHARLES RUDD in the U. S. Post Office and Courthouse.

ROSEMARY ELIZABETH REILLY

As previously noted, REILLY was apprehended by Special Agents of the FBI on August 22, 1971, inside the Post Office Building, 401 Market Street, Camden, N. J. On the same date she was afforded a hearing before U. S. Magistrate CHARLES L. RUDD, Camden, N. J., and was remanded to the custody of the U. S. Marshal in lieu of $25,000 good bail. She was released on September 3, 1971, after posting ten per cent cash or security on a $10,000 bond which had been set by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals, Philadelphia, Pa., on September 3, 1971.

A search of the fingerprints of ROSEMARY ELIZABETH REILLY has failed to disclose prior arrest data contained in the files of the Identification Division, FBI, Washington, D. C.

At approximately 4:35 a.m., August 22, 1971, the Selective Service space and surrounding area located on the 5th floor, U. S. Post Office, 401 Market Street, Camden, New Jersey, was entered by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. SAs EUGENE S. DEBBAUDT and THOMAS E. TIERNEY entered the immediate area and parapet surrounding the Selective Service Office by way of the building fire escape. SAs ROBERT H. WALLER and JOE R. GINGERICH entered the Selective Service Office through the front door, which entered onto the 5th floor corridor.

Upon entrance into this space, SAs DEBBAUDT and TIERNEY, WALLER and GINGERICH announced the FBI's presence and instructed everyone to remain as they were until told to do otherwise.

Two individuals who were later identified as ROSEMARY E. REILLY and ROBERT W. WILLIAMSON were observed by SA TIERNEY as they were sitting on the parapet on the north side of the building between the wall surrounding the parapet and an open window of the Selective Service Office. When observed, they were sitting among Selective Service records which had been piled on the parapet. SA TIERNEY placed them under arrest and assisted them in through a window into the Selective Service Office where they were told to lie on the floor. No questions were asked of them except their names.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 8/28/71

JOHN ROBERT SWINGLISH was arrested at 21 North Fourth Street, Camden, N. J., at 4:39 a.m. He was in the living room at this address. At the time of arrest he identified himself as JOHN SWINGLISH. He was given a quick search, handcuffed, and then taken outside and placed in a bureau car.

SWINGLISH was orally advised of his rights, that he had the right to remain silent, that anything he said could be used against him in court, that he had the right to talk to a lawyer before questioning, and that if he could not afford a lawyer one would be appointed for him before questioning. He was also advised that if he answered questions he could stop at any time until a lawyer was present. He was also advised of the charges against him.

At this time SWINGLISH stated that he did not want to answer any questions and that the only reason he gave his name was that he had a drivers license with his identification and picture in his pocket.

SWINGLISH was later taken into the Post Office at Camden, N. J., to a room on the third floor. The form titled "Interrogation; Advice of Rights" was read to SWINGLISH and he then read the form. SWINGLISH refused to sign this form. He was also advised of the charges against him.

SWINGLISH was strip searched and then questioned. The only questions he answered were those listed on his drivers license. He did not answer these questions directly but would nod an affirmation or say, "That's what it says on the license."

The only information volunteered by SWINGLISH occurred during the strip search. When he emptied his pockets SWINGLISH stated that after four years in the Navy he still was not used to Navy pants. When questioned about service in the Navy, SWINGLISH said, "I've already talked too much."

SARAH JANE TOSI

As previously noted, TOSI was apprehended by Special Agents of the FBI on August 22, 1971, at 21 North Fourth Street, Camden, N. J. On the same date she was afforded a hearing before U. S. Magistrate CHARLES L. RUDD and was remanded to the custody of the U. S. Marshal in lieu of $5,000 bond. She was released on September 3, 1971, after posting a ten per cent cash for security on a $5,000 bond which had been set or the Third Circuit Court of Appeals, Philadelphia, Pa., on September 3, 1971.

A search of the fingerprints of SARAH JANE TOSI has failed to disclose prior arrest data contained in the files of the Identification Division, FBI, Washington, D. C.

Date August 23, 1971

At approximately 4:35 a.m., the residence at 23 North 4th Street, Camden, N. J., was entered through the front door, which was open, and numerous other FBI agents were already in the house.

After assisting in conducting a brief search of the house, three individuals were located in the second room on the first floor as you enter the house. These individuals were two white females and one white male who would not identify themselves. They were verbally advised of the agents' identity by show of credentials, and of the charge of conspiracy to destroy government property. They were placed under arrest and were placed against the wall, where they were patted down for possible weapons. SAs PHILIP E. BROWN and KLAUS C. ROHR were specifically requested to observe the patting down for these weapons, and then the pockets of the individuals were emptied and the contents were placed at their feet.

One of the white females, who later identified herself as SARAH JANE TOSI, was handcuffed and taken to the Bureau car to await transportation to the U. S. Post Office in Camden, N. J., for processing. The items which had been taken out of TOSI's pockets were as follows: one one-dollar bill, three quarters, two dimes, one penny, and one mechanical light blue pencil with the following information on the pencil: "Vic's Cafe, 852 Ferry Avenue, Camden, N. J., Phone EM 5-0993."

As TOSI was being placed in the Bureau car, SA J. PATRICK CUNNINGHAM assisted and stayed with TOSI from that time on along with SA ALLAN E. MEYER.

On the same date he was afforded a hearing before U. S. Magistrate CHARLES L. RUDD, Camden, N. J., and was remanded to the custody of the U. S. Marshal in lieu of $25,000 good bail. He was released on September 7, 1971, after posting ten per cent cash or security on a $10,000 bond which had been set by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals, Philadelphia, Pa., on September 3, 1971.

Del. 8/21/71

At approximately 4:35 a.m., August 22, 1971, the Selective Service office and surrounding area located on the 5th floor, U. S. Post Office, 401 Market Street, Camden, New Jersey, was entered by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. SAs DONALD S. DEBAUDT and THOMAS E. TIERNLEY entered the immediate area and parapet surrounding the Selective Service Office by way of the building fire escape. SAs ROBERT H. WALLER and JOE R. GINGRICH entered the Selective Service Office through the front door, which entered onto the 5th floor corridor.

Upon entrance into this space, SAs DEBAUDT and TIERNLEY, WALLER and GINGRICH announced the FBI's presence and instructed everyone to remain as they were until told to do otherwise.

Two individuals who were later identified as ROSAMUND E. REILLY and ROBERT W. WILLIAMSON were observed by SA TIERNLEY as they were sitting on the parapet on the north side of the building between the wall surrounding the parapet and an open window of the Selective Service Office. When observed, they were sitting among Selective Service records which had been piled on the parapet. SA TIERNLEY placed them under arrest and assisted them in through a window into the Selective Service Office where they were told to lie on the floor. FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of transcription 9/2/71

On August 27, 1971, Special Agents MARTIN J. GASS, THOMAS E. TIERNEY and ROBERT H. WALLER went to the residence of 130 North 4th Street, Camden, New Jersey, in an effort to locate and apprehend Reverend EDWARD J. MC GOWAN, a federal fugitive. Information had been received that he was at the address of DALE S. CUNNINGHAM.

Special Agents (SAS) WALLER and TIERNEY went to the front of the residence and SA GASS went to the rear door.

In the act of going up the steps to the front door, which was open, a house number was not observed, Miss LIANNE MOCCIA, who had been arrested in the act of destroying Draft Board records in Camden, New Jersey, on August 22, 1971, was observed at the front entrance and when she saw the approaching agents, she ran quickly inside.

A white male, later identified as DALE S. CUNNINGHAM, met SAS TIERNEY and WALLER on the front steps and foyer.

SA WALLER identified himself and SA TIERNEY and explained the reason for their presence, namely, the existence of an arrest warrant for EDWARD J. MC GOWAN and there was information that MC GOWAN either was at this residence or had been there a short time ago, and would he produce MC GOWAN or permit a search of this property in order to locate MC GOWAN.

CUNNINGHAM became outraged and stated that no one was going to search this property and refused to confirm or deny the presence of MC GOWAN. The agents left the premises.

SA WALLER then telephonically verified that MC GOWAN was definitely believed to be at CUNNINGHAM's residence.

SA WALLER again proceeded to the CUNNINGHAM residence, 130 North 4th Street, Camden, New Jersey, with the following SAS:

ALBERT W. CARROLL

Upon arrival, CUNNINGHAM was again in the foyer, as if expecting someone. SA WALLER again identified himself by displaying his credentials again, and identified the other men as SAS of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).

CUNNINGHAM was advised that the information that MC GOWAN was at this residence was considered reliable and that the agents would like to search the residence. At this point CUNNINGHAM said, "No, you are not going to search my house", and proceeded to lash out at SA WALLER with his left forearm and elbow, striking SA WALLER in the left jaw. He then placed his open right hand on SA WALLER's face and struck out at SA WALLER with his hands and arms. With his left arm, he grabbed SA WALLER around the neck and lifted up.

With the help of SAS DEBBAUDT, OWENS, and TIERNEY, with SAS CARROLL and GASS attempting to get into the small foyer area, CUNNINGHAM was subdued and placed under arrest, being so advised by SAS OWENS and WALLER.

CUNNINGHAM was taken to the Camden, New Jersey, Office of the FBI by SAS DEBBAUDT and OWENS.

SAS CARROLL, GASS, TIERNEY and WALLER searched the premises at 130 North 4th Street, Camden, New Jersey, but MC GOWAN was not located on these premises.

At this residence were also two other males, LIANNE MOCCIA and two other females, all of whom refused to identify themselves except PHILIP TRACY.

TRACY stated to SAS WALLER and CARROLL that he was employed by the Village Voice, 80 Union Place, New York City, New York, telephone number 212-WA 4-4669. TRACY also volunteered that he could not understand nor explain why CUNNINGHAM had become so violent and acted the way he did in view of the gentlemanly conduct of agents and if he had been in charge here, this would not have happened, since CUNNINGHAM's actions were unnecessary and unreasonable.

[The date of the revision will be typed on a strip of paper and will be taped under the page number of the amended page.] The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at time field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to field office mailing list.
- a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at Bureau upon receipt of field request. (Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

- c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.
- d. Give consideration to desirability of circularizing motels.
- e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and racial sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section [130H,] item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.
4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
 5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
 6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
 7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
 8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
 9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
 10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
 11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
 12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
- [10. In contacts with the press concerning a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny no information should be volunteered concerning the amount of loot obtained. SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In those instances in which a press release is issued at SOG, television and radio media should be merely provided with a written copy of the press release, and Bureau personnel should not submit to live, filmed, or tape-recorded interviews of any kind, including the reading of the release itself, without prior Bureau authority. Tact and diplomacy must be exercised in declining to participate in such interviews. With respect to local press releases, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances on television and radio provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received. [Reading of these local press releases on the telephone to the news media should be done by the SAC or ASAC.]
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and [extremist] sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and [extremist] sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or [extremist] source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete [or when it is determined a source is deceased.]

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index [except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.]

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and extremist sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the [Training] Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with [Press Services Office] for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In those instances in which a press release is issued at [FBIHQ,] television and radio media should be merely provided with a written copy of the press release, and Bureau personnel should not submit to live, filmed, or tape-recorded interviews of any kind, including the reading of the release itself, without prior Bureau authority. Tact and diplomacy must be exercised in declining to participate in such interviews. With respect to local press releases, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances on television and radio provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received. Reading of these local press releases on the telephone to the news media should be done by the SAC or ASAC.
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. In contacts with the press concerning a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny no information should be volunteered concerning the amount of loot obtained. Specific questions by members of the press concerning amount of loot may be answered only following the arrest of an individual or individuals for violation of the Federal bank robbery statute.
11. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
12. In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.
- [13. Bureau personnel, including SACs and ASACs, are not to participate in give-and-take news conferences without prior Bureau authority including clearance by the Press Services Office. This will be permitted only in the rarest of circumstances where mitigating facts clearly indicate it is to the Bureau's best interests to participate.]

If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television appearance, a manuscript of the remarks must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval. In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.

 - (2) Equipment
 - (3) Personnel
 - (4) Methods
 - (5) Economics
 - b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern

 - (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
 - (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
 - (4) Bad local crime conditions
 - (5) Scientific crime detection experts
 - (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual[pertinent school]files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities
 - (8) Aggravated sex offenders

 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
 - e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page..." the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
- i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
- j. All clippings must be complete.
- k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations should be forwarded.
- l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
- 3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
- 4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
 - a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at [FBIHQ] for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division]) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division], informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.
13. Bureau personnel, including SACs and ASACs, are not to participate in give-and-take news conferences without prior Bureau authority including clearance by the Press Services Office. C. SPEECHES

1. [The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent Supervisor approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete or when it is determined a source is deceased.

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and extremist sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the [Files and Communications] Division. Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received.
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. [The frequency of personal contact with SAC contacts is left to the discretion of the SAC; contacts should be evaluated periodically to determine their effectiveness and the desirability of their continuance.]
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. [Each office must submit a complete alphabetical roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.]
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
 10. In contacts with the press concerning a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny no information should be volunteered concerning the amount of loot obtained. Specific questions by members of the press concerning amount of loot may be answered only following the arrest of an individual or individuals for violation of the Federal bank robbery statute.
 11. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
 12. In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.
 13. Bureau personnel, including SACs and ASACs, are not to participate in give-and-take news conferences without prior Bureau authority including clearance by the Press Services Office. This will be permitted only in the rarest of circumstances where mitigating facts clearly indicate it is to the Bureau's best interests to participate.
- B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN
This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.
1. Contents
 - a. Foreword by the Director
 - b. Interesting case write-ups
 - c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
 - d. Deleted
 2. Distribution
Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work
 3. Filing and indexing
 - a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by FBIHQ.
 - b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
 - c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.
 - d. Deleted

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
 - a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy graduates
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Deleted
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
 FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
 Research (Files and Communications Division)

C. SPEECHES

1. The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.
4. Do not:
- a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
 - b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
 - c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
 - d. Use complicated sentence structure
 - e. Use technical references to statutes
 - f. Express personal opinions
 - g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
 - h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
 - i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
 - j. Use adjectives excessively
5. Transmittal
Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention [Files and Communications] Division.
6. Dissemination
New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters. In all instances the circular letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau a communication pertaining to a list of law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. One of the two following procedures should be used:

- a. (1) On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each Department, the list described above. Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.

 - (j) Any other officials who receive identification orders
- (2) Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

(3) Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

7	Jonesville, Iowa zip code	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named

- b. As an alternative, offices which believe it will save time and material may make any necessary changes as they occur in this list by typing the appropriate change on a strip of paper which will be taped over the item to be corrected. [The date of the revision will be typed on a strip of paper and will be taped under the page number of the amended page.] The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars
Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at time field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to field office mailing list.
- a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at Bureau upon receipt of field request. (Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.
- b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on list.
- (1) Quality of assistance addressee is in a position to give
 - (2) Cooperation which has been afforded
 - (3) Following must appear on list:

Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Cooperative Credit Bureaus Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers FBINA Graduates Hotels Immigration and Naturalization Service	Missions Providing Lodging Postal Service Inspectors Postmasters Salvation Army Secret Service [U. S. Customs Service] U. S. Marshals
--	---
 - (4) Following may appear on list:

Automobile Clubs Banks Car Rental Agencies County Attorneys County Coroners Credit Companies. Detective Agencies Enlistment Officers, U. S. Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps Employment Service Fire Departments Forest Service Gunsmiths Insurance Companies Movie Studios	Navy Shore Patrol Oil Company Special Agents Parole and Probation Officers Plant Quarantine Officers Protective Associations Race Tracks Savings and Loan Associations Service Recruiting Officers State Employment Offices State Hospitals for Insane Steamship Companies Telegraph Companies U. S. Attorneys U. S. Magistrates
---	---
- c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.
- d. Give consideration to desirability of circularizing motels.
- e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete or when it is determined a source is deceased.

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and extremist sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information

If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[A. PRESS POLICY

1. Confidential Nature of FBI Operations

See Part I, Section 1, page 9, paragraph B of Manual of Rules and Regulations.

2. Title 28, Section 50.2 of the Code of Federal Regulations concerning release of information by personnel of the Department of Justice relating to criminal and civil proceedings states:

"(a) General. (1) The availability to news media of information in criminal and civil cases is a matter which has become increasingly a subject of concern in the administration of justice. The purpose of this statement is to formulate specific guidelines for the release of such information by personnel of the Department of Justice.

"(2) While the release of information for the purpose of influencing a trial is, of course, always improper, there are valid reasons for making available to the public information about the administration of the law. The task of striking a fair balance between the protection of individuals accused of crime or involved in civil proceedings with the Government and public understandings of the problems of controlling crime and administering government depends largely on the exercise of sound judgment by those responsible for administering the law and by representatives of the press and other media.

"(3) Inasmuch as the Department of Justice has generally fulfilled its responsibilities with awareness and understanding of the competing needs in this area, this statement, to a considerable extent, reflects and formalizes the standards to which representatives of the Department have adhered in the past. Nonetheless, it will be helpful in ensuring uniformity of practice to set forth the following guidelines for all personnel of the Department of Justice.

"(4) Because of the difficulty and importance of the questions they raise, it is felt that some portions of the matters covered by this statement, such as the authorization to make available Federal conviction records and a description of items seized at the time of arrest, should be the subject of continuing review and consideration by the Department on the basis of experience and suggestions from those within and outside the Department.

"(b) Guidelines to criminal actions. (1) These guidelines shall apply to the release of information to news media from the time a person is the subject of a criminal investigation until any proceeding resulting from such as investigation has been terminated by trial or otherwise.

"(2) At no time shall personnel of the Department of Justice furnish any statement or information for the purpose of influencing the outcome of a defendant's trial, nor shall personnel of the Department furnish any statement or information, which could reasonably be expected to be disseminated by means of public communication, if such a statement or information may reasonably be expected to influence the outcome of a pending or future trial.

"(3) Personnel of the Department of Justice, subject to specific limitations imposed by law or court rule or order, may make public the following information:

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

"(i) The defendant's name, age, residence, employment, marital status, and similar background information.

"(ii) The substance or text of the charge, such as a complaint, indictment, or information.

"(iii) The identity of the investigating and/or arresting agency and the length or scope of an investigation.

"(iv) The circumstances immediately surrounding an arrest, including the time and place of arrest, resistance, pursuit, possession and use of weapons, and a description of physical items seized at the time of arrest.

"Disclosures should include only incontrovertible, factual matters, and should not include subjective observations. In addition, where background information or information relating to the circumstances of an arrest or investigation would be highly prejudicial or where the release thereof would serve no law enforcement function, such information should not be made public.

"(4) Personnel of the Department shall not volunteer for publication any information concerning a defendant's prior criminal record, but information drawn from Federal conviction records may be made available in response to a specific request.

"(5) Because of the particular danger of prejudice resulting from statements in the period approaching and during trial, they ought strenuously to be avoided during that period. Any such statement or release shall be made only on the infrequent occasion when circumstances absolutely demand a disclosure of information and shall include only information which is clearly not prejudicial.

"(6) The release of certain types of information generally tends to create dangers of prejudice without serving a significant law enforcement function. Therefore, personnel of the Department should refrain from making available the following:

"(i) Observations about a defendant's character.

"(ii) Statements, admissions, confessions, or alibis attributable to a defendant, or the refusal or failure of the accused to make a statement.

"(iii) Reference to investigative procedures such as fingerprints, polygraph examinations, ballistic tests, or laboratory tests, or to the refusal by the defendant to submit to such tests or examinations.

"(iv) Statements concerning the identity, testimony, or credibility of prospective witnesses.

"(v) Statements concerning evidence or argument in the case, whether or not it is anticipated that such evidence or argument will be used at trial.

"(vi) Any opinion as to the accused's guilt, or the possibility of a plea of guilty to the offense charged, or the possibility of a plea to a lesser offense.

"(7) Personnel of the Department of Justice should take no action to encourage or assist news media in photographing or televising a defendant or accused person being held or transported in Federal custody. Departmental representatives should not make available photographs of a defendant unless a law enforcement function is served thereby.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

"(8) This statement of policy is not intended to restrict the release of information concerning a defendant who is a fugitive from justice.

"(9) Since the purpose of this statement is to set forth generally applicable guidelines, there will, of course, be situations in which it will limit the release of information which would not be prejudicial under the particular circumstances. If a representative of the Department believes that in the interest of the fair administration of justice and the law enforcement process information beyond these guidelines should be released, in a particular case, he shall request the permission of the Attorney General or the Deputy Attorney General to do so.

"(c) Guidelines to civil actions. Personnel of the Department of Justice associated with a civil action shall not during its investigation or litigation make or participate in making an extrajudicial statement, other than a quotation from or reference to public records, which a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication if there is a reasonable likelihood that such dissemination will interfere with a fair trial and which relates to:

"(1) Evidence regarding the occurrence or transaction involved.

"(2) The character, credibility, or criminal records of a party, witness, or prospective witness.

"(3) The performance or results of any examinations or tests or the refusal or failure of a party to submit to such.

"(4) An opinion as to the merits of the claims or defenses of a party, except as required by law or administrative rule.

"(5) Any other matter reasonably likely to interfere with a fair trial of the action."

3. News Releases

Fairness, accuracy, and sensitivity to the rights of defendants, as well as to the public's right to know, must prevail in all dealings with the news media. Favoritism should be shown toward no newsman or no news medium.

Information concerning the FBI, including information regarding arrests and other developments in cases investigated by the FBI, is disclosed to news media, including newspapers, news magazines, news services, and radio and television networks or stations, (a) as news releases or announcements, initiated by the FBI, and (b) as responses to inquiries emanating from newsmen.

Each field office should maintain a control file containing all news releases issued by the office since the last inspection.

a. "One-Office" news releases

The vast majority of news releases made by field offices are issued to announce arrests in FBI cases. The provisions of Section 50.2 clearly apply to all of these. If an SAC feels that an exception to those provisions should be made in any individual case, he should make his views known to the Assistant Directors of (a) the substantive division involved and (b) the External Affairs Division. Exceptions to the instructions provided in Section 50.2 can be approved only by the Attorney General or the Deputy Attorney General, not by any official of the FBI.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

All news releases made by field offices should be issued over the name of the SAC. They should be issued to all interested news media in the field office territory as simultaneously as possible; and they should provide as full an account of the facts as can be disclosed within the provisions of Section 50.2. In news releases announcing arrests or other developments attributable to the joint efforts of the FBI and other law enforcement agencies, appropriate recognition should, of course, be given to those other agencies.

SACs may authorize other experienced Special Agents, including Resident Agents, in their field offices to read or deliver news releases issued over the SAC's name to news media after the SAC has approved those news releases. However, those Special Agents should not expand upon the information in the news releases; and they should answer any inquiry or request for additional information by courteously telling the newsman involved that his inquiry or request will be brought to the attention of the SAC as quickly as possible for his consideration and action. The reason for the policy of referring all such matters to the SAC is to assure both uniformity and accuracy of any supplemental information that is provided to news media.

SACs also may authorize other experienced Special Agents to record news releases in compliance with requests of radio and television stations. However, only SACs or ASACs should make live or filmed television appearances involving the reading of news releases.

SACs have the option of accepting or declining such time-consuming requests made by radio and television stations. If declined, however, the declinations should be tactfully worded and explained so as to avoid any impression of partiality. If a request is accepted, the radio and/or television station involved should understand that the SAC or the Special Agent designated by the SAC will merely read the text of the news release and will not answer questions.

On occasion, SACs also issue news releases or make announcements dealing with administrative matters such as transfers of the SAC or ASAC of the field office or presentation of service awards to personnel of the field office. On such occasions, photographs and biographical sketches of the personnel involved may be made available to the news media. However, requests to interview these employees about their official duties and experiences should tactfully be declined.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

So as to minimize the opportunities for criminal elements to harass Special Agents and their families, neither photographs nor biographical sketches of Special Agents should be made available to news media in connection with news releases, announcements, or inquiries pertaining to FBI investigations. The sole exception is in the case of employees who are killed in line of duty, in which instances the release of photographs and biographical data should be coordinated with the Administrative Division and the External Affairs Division.

b. "Multi-Office" news releases

News releases announcing arrests or other important developments in wide-ranging investigations often require close coordination and simultaneous release to the press by two or more field offices. The External Affairs Division should be consulted before any such news release is made, and consideration should be given to the question of whether a national news release is merited.

c. National news releases

As a general rule, national news releases announcing arrests or other investigative developments are issued only in exceptional cases involving (1) prominent persons, such as well-known business and civic leaders, entertainers, athletes, or officials of local, county, state, or Federal Government; (2) persons of national notoriety, such as members of the "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives"; (3) persons arrested for crimes that have attracted nationwide interest, such as prevailed in the 1950 robbery of Brink's Inc., at Boston, Massachusetts, and the 1964 murder of three young civil rights workers in Neshoba County, Mississippi; and (4) persons whose crimes have international ramifications, such as espionage agents or fugitives who have fled abroad. The heads of headquarters and field divisions should assure that the essential facts of all such cases, including anticipated developments therein, are promptly brought to the attention of the External Affairs Division on a continuing basis.

National news releases generally will be issued in Washington, D. C. However, copies will be furnished to all interested field offices so that the SACs of those offices can make them available to local news media within minutes of their release in Washington.

SACs should not expand upon the contents of national news releases without approval of both the substantive division involved and the External Affairs Division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. News Media Inquiries

There are two categories of news media inquiries. The first involves routine inquiries received at the field office regarding either investigative or administrative matters. These should be answered by the SAC or ASAC within the guidelines indicated above.

In responding to such inquiries, SACs and ASACs should be courteous, factual, and as helpful as possible. They should, however, avoid answering hypothetical questions or questions that would require them to express personal opinions on matters of intense local or national controversy.

The second category involves inquiries from the news media in emergency situations. Often these are received by Special Agents at the scenes of arrests, gun battles, or other fast-moving developments in investigations.

Unless undercover assignments or similar overriding circumstances dictate otherwise, Special Agents who are approached by newsmen at the scenes of fast-moving developments in FBI cases should (a) identify themselves as "a Special Agent of the FBI," (b) furnish the name of the field office to which they are assigned, and (c) state the general nature of the investigative operations, such as "We are here to serve an arrest (or a search) warrant." Requests for additional information should be answered by courteously referring the newsmen to the field office or to the temporary field headquarters if such a temporary field headquarters has been established in the area.

Only SACs or ASACs should participate in question-and-answer interviews with representatives of any news medium at the scenes of fast-moving developments in FBI cases. In emergency situations, however, Special Agents can relay reporters' questions to the SAC by telephone or radio; and the SAC's responses thereto can be furnished to the reporters in the SAC's name by a Special Agent. In other than such emergency situations, Special Agents should courteously refer newsmen to the SAC or ASAC for answers to their questions; and Special Agents' investigative responsibilities attendant to such fast-moving developments must take precedence over questions or inquiries of newsmen.

No FBI employee should knowingly furnish an erroneous, deceptive, or misleading answer to a news media inquiry. In the overwhelming majority of cases, an unequivocal and definitive answer can be given reporters' questions regarding whether the FBI is, or is not, investigating a specific criminal act, as well as the reason why we have or have not instituted investigation. However, in kidnap-for-ransom cases and related crimes involving a threat against human life, neither the fact that the crime has occurred, nor the fact that the FBI is investigating it, should be disclosed or confirmed without the approval of the substantive investigative division and the External Affairs Division.

Due to the sensitivity of many banking-type institutions to publicity concerning the amount of loot obtained in robberies, burglaries, and larcenies of financial institutions, such information should not be disclosed to news media without the concurrence of the General Investigative Division and the External Affairs Division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Under no circumstances should any employee ask or suggest that a newsman withhold information from the public without the concurrence of the substantive investigative division and the External Affairs Division.

5. Fugitive Publicity

News releases and other public disclosures designed to solicit public cooperation in the apprehension of FBI fugitives may contain more facts about the fugitive's criminal background than are permissible in news releases and announcements regarding arrests.

In publicity regarding FBI fugitives, extreme care should be taken to avoid statements that brand a fugitive as guilty of a crime for which he has not been convicted. Arrest numbers or other data that identify a photograph as having been made in connection with a past arrest or imprisonment should not appear in photographs of fugitives that are furnished to news media.

Field offices should coordinate all fugitive publicity with the Special Investigative Division and the External Affairs Division; and they should not hesitate to consult the External Affairs Division regarding questions or problems that arise in any area of news media relations.

6. Liaison With News Media

SACs who consider it necessary or advisable to do so may use one or more experienced Special Agents to assist in facilitating prompt and effective liaison with the news media. Such Agents will not be spokesmen for their field offices. They may furnish information to news media in the SAC's name after it has been approved by the SAC. They also may assist in preparing news releases, as well as responses to news media inquiries. These Agents should devote no more time to such news media liaison duties than is absolutely necessary.

It is the intent of these guidelines to facilitate a more open stance and, thereby, a mutually beneficial relationship between FBI and news media representatives. SACs, as well as other employees acting for them in news media relations, should be as responsive as practical and possible to inquiries and requests made by newsmen. The term "No comment" should be avoided except when its use is absolutely necessary. If an SAC does not know the answer to a newsman's question, he should have no hesitancy in stating, "I don't know," and/or, depending upon the nature of the inquiry, telling the newsman that he will contact him (the newsman) as soon as he has information that can be furnished to him.

SACs should avail themselves of every opportunity to meet and become well acquainted with leading citizens throughout their field divisions, including representatives of all important news media. They should seek to cultivate a personal, as well as an official, relationship with these individuals to the fullest extent that the demands of other duties make possible.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

C. SPEECHES

1. The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau

 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.

5. Transmittal
Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention [External Affairs] Division.
6. Dissemination
New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters. In all instances the circular letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety

4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

2. Departmental officials

- c. Letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, and condolence
When letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, or condolence from the Director are recommended by the field, such recommendations should be submitted promptly. They should include the specific facts on which the recommendation is based, full identifying data and address of the citizen, and the result of a search of the field office indices concerning the citizen. [Form FD-468 may be used.] In connection with the election of officers of police associations at conventions covering more than one field division territory, the field division in whose territory the convention was physically held is responsible for submitting any recommendations for letters of congratulations. The office submitting such request should summarize briefly the relations with these officers, incorporating any derogatory data which might preclude such letters. Inasmuch as the recommending office is not likely to possess all data, pertinent other field divisions should submit a brief, supplemental summary concerning officers recommended for letters who reside in their territory.
4. Inquiries concerning status of Bureau cases
When a state official has expressed interest in the prosecutive status of a Bureau case, for a legitimate reason, such as deferment of state prosecution pending the outcome of the Federal case, insure that such official is kept appropriately advised, including the final outcome of the matter.

If an SAC receives an inquiry from a Cabinet officer or U. S. Senator or Congressman concerning an official matter, it should be brought to the Bureau's attention immediately.

[[M.] NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 13i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers including minority-oriented newspapers, must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[N. BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM REGARDING MATTERS OF NATIONAL INTEREST. This program is coordinated by the External Affairs Division and is devoted primarily to supplying SACs facts regarding current happenings, including both administrative and investigative developments, that are topics of nationwide press coverage and public interest.

All such communications to SACs bear the caption "BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM" and are in the form of either teletypes or airtels, dependent upon the exigencies of the situation.

The purpose of this program is to assure that each SAC possesses the key facts concerning important happenings anywhere within the FBI that command widespread public interest. Information furnished to SACs under this program should prove helpful to them, as well as to other FBI personnel, in answering questions, correcting misunderstandings, and dispelling false rumors that may exist either within or without the ranks of the FBI. In some instances, however, the information may be of such a nature that it cannot be disclosed in whole or in part to outsiders. In fact, occasionally it is necessary to restrict discussion and disclosure of the information even within FBIHQ and field offices. Guidelines furnished on each communication should be strictly followed.

FBIHQ and field office personnel should promptly bring to the attention of the External Affairs Division all current items and developments that they feel merit consideration for inclusion under this program.]

Enclosures (31)

SECTION 6: PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Under no circumstances should any employee ask or suggest that a newsman withhold information from the public without the concurrence of the substantive investigative division and the External Affairs Division.

5. Fugitive Publicity

News releases and other public disclosures designed to solicit public cooperation in the apprehension of FBI fugitives may contain more facts about the fugitive's criminal background than are permissible in news releases and announcements regarding arrests.

In publicity regarding FBI fugitives, extreme care should be taken to avoid statements that brand a fugitive as guilty of a crime for which he has not been convicted. Arrest numbers or other data that identify a photograph as having been made in connection with a past arrest or imprisonment should not appear in photographs of fugitives that are furnished to news media.

Field offices should coordinate all fugitive publicity with the Special Investigative Division and the External Affairs Division; and they should not hesitate to consult the External Affairs Division regarding questions or problems that arise in any area of news media relations.

6. Liaison With News Media

SACs who consider it necessary or advisable to do so may use one or more experienced Special Agents to assist in facilitating prompt and effective liaison with the news media. Such Agents will not be spokesmen for their field offices. They may furnish information to news media in the SAC's name after it has been approved by the SAC. They also may assist in preparing news releases, as well as responses to news media inquiries. These Agents should devote no more time to such news media liaison duties than is absolutely necessary.

It is the intent of these guidelines to facilitate a more open stance and, thereby, a mutually beneficial relationship between FBI and news media representatives. SACs, as well as other employees acting for them in news media relations, should be as responsive as practical and possible to inquiries and requests made by newsmen. The term "No comment" should be avoided except when its use is absolutely necessary. If an SAC does not know the answer to a newsman's question, he should have no hesitancy in stating, "I don't know," and/or, depending upon the nature of the inquiry, telling the newsman that he will contact him (the newsman) as soon as he has information that can be furnished to him.

SACs should avail themselves of every opportunity to meet and become well acquainted with leading citizens throughout their field divisions, including representatives of all important news media. They should seek to cultivate a personal, as well as an official, relationship with these individuals to the fullest extent that the demands of other duties make possible.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

- a. Foreword by the Director
- b. [Fugitive notices and interesting or unusual fingerprint patterns
- c. Articles and features designed to inform law enforcement officers of new, but proven, programs and techniques to enhance their professional capabilities
- d. Items alerting law enforcement officers to dangerous weapons or techniques utilized by the criminal element]

2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by FBIHQ.
- b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
- c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.
- d. Deleted

4. [Suggestions and submissions

- a. Each field office is required to submit three suggestions for byline articles from each state within its territory. Prior to submitting suggestions, proposed authors may be approached to determine their willingness to prepare an article and to identify the scope of their topic. However, proposed authors should not be asked to prepare a manuscript until the Bureau notifies the field office that the suggestion has been accepted and the article is requested. In contacts with any proposed or potential authors, absolutely no representations should be made which would obligate the FBI to any publishing commitments since many factors determine which articles received are ultimately published.
- b. In suggesting featured articles, consideration should mainly be given to manuscripts concerning proven programs and techniques of law enforcement which may be of significant value to other agencies. Suggestions should be concerned with training, research, or operational matters. Avoid items of a "newsletter" nature and matters which have a limited scope of interest in the profession.
- c. Each field office should be alert to exceptional photographs which could be recommended for use as a cover for the magazine. The Bureau wishes to project on the Bulletin's cover the best image of law enforcement. Attention-getting photographs showing officers giving aid to helpless citizens, protecting the weak, comforting the injured, or apprehending the guilty are examples of those that should be recommended when they come to the attention of field offices.
- d. Transmit all material for the magazine to the Bureau under the caption:

FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
Research Section (External Affairs Division)]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

C. SPEECHES

1. The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:

 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices

 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence
 - h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

6. Dissemination
[Field Offices will be advised by routing slip when new write-ups are prepared. If copies are desired, an appropriate letter should be submitted to the Bureau, Attention: External Affairs Division, setting forth the specific use for which the write-up is intended. In instances where write-ups, either those previously prepared or those to be published in the future, may be released outside the Bureau, it will be necessary to first obtain Bureau approval.]
7. Interesting case control file
A copy of all communications concerning the dissemination of write-ups outside the Bureau is to be placed in the Interesting Case Control file. These communications should contain the identity of the person to whom the write-up is being made available, as well as the purpose for which it is to be used.]

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters. In all instances the circular letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

M. NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 13i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers including minority-oriented newspapers, must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[N. BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM REGARDING MATTERS OF NATIONAL INTEREST
This program is coordinated by the External Affairs Division and is devoted primarily to supplying SACs facts regarding current happenings, including both administrative and investigative developments, that are topics of nationwide press coverage and public interest.

All such communications to SACs bear the caption "BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM" and are in the form of either teletypes or airtels, dependent upon the exigencies of the situation.

The purpose of this program is to assure that each SAC possesses the key facts concerning important happenings anywhere within the FBI that command widespread public interest. Information furnished to SACs under this program should prove helpful to them, as well as to other FBI personnel, in answering questions, correcting misunderstandings, and dispelling false rumors that may exist either within or without the ranks of the FBI. In some instances, however, the information may be of such a nature that it cannot be disclosed in whole or in part to outsiders. In fact, occasionally it is necessary to restrict discussion and disclosure of the information even within FBIHQ and field offices. Guidelines furnished on each communication should be strictly followed.

FBIHQ and field office personnel should promptly bring to the attention of the External Affairs Division all current items and developments that they feel merit consideration for inclusion under this program.]

 - (j) Any other officials who receive identification orders
- (2) Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.

- c. Purchase of individual publications at Bureau request
When the Bureau requests a field office to purchase and forward one or more copies of publications of security interest, it is desired, unless otherwise specifically stated, that nonevidentiary copies be forwarded. With respect to these specific Bureau requests for the purchase of individual copies of publications, the requested nonevidentiary copies should be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip via ordinary mail.
- d. Obtaining and retaining evidentiary copies of publications in the field
When the submitting office determines, or is advised by the Bureau, that a certain issue of a publication (which has already been forwarded to the Bureau) is deemed to be of sufficient importance to warrant the obtaining of an evidentiary copy of that issue, a copy thereof should be obtained through live informants or by having an Agent purchase a copy at a public outlet for that publication, if confidentially feasible. The evidentiary copy, bearing complete identifying data, should be retained as evidence in the field office, and the Bureau should be so advised by letter, setting forth complete identifying data concerning the evidentiary copy, together with the caption and file number of the file in which the evidentiary copy is retained.
- e. Transmittal of evidentiary copies of publications to the Bureau
Instances in which the field will transmit evidentiary copies of publications to the Bureau will be limited almost exclusively to the submission of copies of foreign language publications for translation of certain material for use as evidence. In these instances, it is required that:
- (1) Each copy submitted bear complete identifying data
 - (2) The material be forwarded in sealed envelopes labeled "Evidence"
 - (3) The material be forwarded via registered mail
 - (4) The cover letter of transmittal be marked for the attention of the FBI Laboratory; state clearly that it is contemplated that the publications (and translations thereof) will be used as evidence; identify clearly the enclosed publications as to title, place of publication, and date of issue; show the method of transmittal of the evidence to the Bureau; and indicate the desired disposition of the evidence.
- f. Calling attention of Bureau to publications of security interest
When a field office obtains an evidentiary copy of a publication which it desires to call to the Bureau's attention, a letter should be addressed to the Bureau to that end. Title, author, publisher, and the general nature should be very briefly set forth, together with the identifying data proper to the evidentiary copy. The letter should be informative, not requiring an answer. A nonevidentiary duplicate copy of that publication should be enclosed with the letter, if readily available. If a nonevidentiary copy is not readily available, that fact should be stated in the letter. If the Bureau desires to obtain a nonevidentiary duplicate copy of the publication for review, efforts will be made to obtain it through the appropriate field office. If not obtained, the office possessing the evidentiary copy will be requested to forward to the Bureau a Photostat thereof.

 - h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest
 - a. Relating to law enforcement concerning
 - (1) Scientific apparatus
 - (2) Equipment
 - (3) Personnel
 - (4) Methods
 - (5) Economics
 - b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern
 - (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
 - (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
 - (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
 - (4) Bad local crime conditions
 - (5) Scientific crime detection experts
 - (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual pertinent school files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities
 - (8) Aggravated sex offenders
 - (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
 - e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
 - g. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page...", the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
- i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
- j. All clippings must be complete.
- k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations should be forwarded.
- l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
- 3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
- 4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
 - a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at [FBIHQ] for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division]) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division,] informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete or when it is determined a source is deceased.

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and extremist sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section [130I,] item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

[L. [PUBLIC CONTACTS

1. Public contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI.
2. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit leading officials located in the field division.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

M. NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 3i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers including minority-oriented newspapers, must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[N. BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM REGARDING MATTERS OF NATIONAL INTEREST
This program is coordinated by the External Affairs Division and is devoted primarily to supplying SACs facts regarding current happenings, including both administrative and investigative developments, that are topics of nationwide press coverage and public interest.

[The purpose of this program is to assure that each SAC possesses the key facts concerning important happenings anywhere within the FBI that command widespread public interest. Information furnished to SACs under this program should prove helpful to them, as well as to other FBI personnel, in answering questions, correcting misunderstandings, and dispelling false rumors that may exist either within or without the ranks of the FBI. In some instances, however, the information may be of such a nature that it cannot be disclosed in whole or in part to outsiders. In fact, occasionally it is necessary to restrict discussion and disclosure of the information even within FBIHQ and field offices. Guidelines furnished on each communication should be strictly followed.

[FBIHQ and field office personnel should promptly bring to the attention of the External Affairs Division all current items and developments that they feel merit consideration for inclusion under this program.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
- [11. In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.]

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents
 - a. Foreword by the Director

2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work
3. Filing and indexing
 - a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by SOG.
 - b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
 - c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS .

No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.

4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television appearance, a manuscript of the remarks must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval [unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval.] In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. 1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.
 - a. Routine cases in which complaints have been filed
 - b. Selective Service cases, except when draft boards are involved
 - c. Interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicle, except when widespread rings are involved
 - d. White Slave Traffic Act

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. [In those instances in which a press release is issued at SOG, television and radio media should be merely provided with a written copy of the press release, and Bureau personnel should not submit to live, filmed, or tape-recorded interviews of any kind, including the reading of the release itself, without prior Bureau authority. Tact and diplomacy must be exercised in declining to participate in such interviews. With respect to local press releases, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances on television and radio provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received.]
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by SOG.
- b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
- c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Each insert should be filed with the bulletin to which it relates. No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television appearance, a manuscript of the remarks must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval.] In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest

a. Relating to law enforcement concerning

- (1) Scientific apparatus
- (2) Equipment
- (3) Personnel
- (4) Methods
- (5) Economics

b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern

- (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
- (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation.
- (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
- (4) Bad local crime conditions
- (5) Scientific crime detection experts
- (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual[pertinent school]files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
- (7) Police training in colleges and universities
- (8) Aggravated sex offenders
- (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
- (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.

2. Method of preparation for transmittal

- a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
- b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
- c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
- d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
- e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
- f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
- g. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page...", the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
- i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
- j. All clippings must be complete.
- k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations should be forwarded.
- l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
- 3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
- 4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
 - a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research Unit) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research Unit, informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files

Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.

3. Security and racial sources of information

Every six months a letter of justification [(FD-401)] should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. [Follow instructions set out in] section 130G, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

I. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data.
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division	Missions Providing Lodging
Bureau of Customs	Post Office Inspectors
Cooperative Credit Bureaus	Postmasters

Employment Service	State Employment Offices
Fire Departments	State Hospitals for Insane
Forest Service	Steamship Companies
Gunsmiths	Telegraph Companies
Insurance Companies	U. S. Attorneys
Movie Studios	U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files

Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.

3. Security and racial sources of information

Every[six]months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. For security sources of information, see section 107N, item 3b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed; for racial sources of information, see section 130G, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

A. PRESS RELEASES

Employees are forbidden to furnish to the press either directly or indirectly any information concerning Bureau matters without prior authorization from the Bureau except in following instances. (Bureau in turn must obtain departmental clearance as set forth in Departmental Order 2460.)

1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.
 - a. Routine cases in which complaints have been filed
 - b. Selective Service cases, except when draft boards are involved
 - c. Interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicle, except when wide-spread rings are involved
 - d. White Slave Traffic Act

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype

At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence

Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In the normal process of issuing press releases, [either local or national, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances for television and radio, provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received.]
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.
9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.

 - f. Express personal opinions

6. Dissemination

New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. [On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters.] In all instances [the circular] letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known

 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

- [6.] Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
- [7.] Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials
 - a. On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each department, a list of such law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

Bureau of Customs	Post Office Inspectors

Employment Service	State Employment Offices
Fire Departments	State Hospitals for Insane
Forest Service	Steamship Companies
Gunsmiths	Telegraph Companies
Insurance Companies	U. S. Attorneys
Movie Studios	U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files

Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.

3. Security and racial sources of information

Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. For security sources of information, see section 107N, item 3b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed; for racial sources of information, see section 130G, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made [and an FD-9 submitted] on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - [e. Results of Identification Division check]
 - [f.] Derogatory information
 - [g.] Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.

 - ai. Bank robbery
 - aj. Interstate transportation of stolen cattle

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In the normal process of issuing press releases, [either local or national, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances for television and radio, provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received.]
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.
9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.

(File in individual[pertinent school]files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities

 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
 - e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
 - g. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page..." the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - j. All clippings must be complete.
 - k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations and racial matters should be forwarded.
 - l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
- a. General principle governing submissions
The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research[Unit]) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research[Unit,] informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention Crime Records Division.

6. Dissemination

New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. [On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters.] In all instances [the circular] letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addresses is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
6. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

- a. On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each department, a list of such law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest
 - a. Relating to law enforcement concerning
 - (1) Scientific apparatus
 - (2) Equipment
 - (3) Personnel
 - (4) Methods
 - (5) Economics
 - b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern
 - (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
 - (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
 - (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
 - (4) Bad local crime conditions
 - (5) Scientific crime detection experts
 - (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual files of police agencies clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities
 - (8) Aggravated sex offenders
 - (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. [Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.]
 - [e.] Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - [f.] Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
 - [g.] No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- [[h.] If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page..." the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - [[i.] Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - [[j.] All clippings must be complete.
 - [[k.] Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations and racial matters should be forwarded.
 - [[l.] Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
 4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
 - a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research Section) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research Section, informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and racial sources of information
Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. See section 107N, 3b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts [should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.]

I. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division.
Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Derogatory information
 - f. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data.
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located [in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located] in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

When letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, or condolence from the Director are recommended by the field, such recommendations should be submitted promptly. They should include the specific facts on which the recommendation is based, full identifying data and address of the citizen, and the result of a search of the field office indices concerning the citizen. In connection with the election of officers of police associations at conventions covering more than one field division territory, the field division in whose territory the convention was physically held is responsible for submitting any recommendations for letters of congratulations. The office submitting such request should summarize briefly the relations with these officers, incorporating any derogatory data which might preclude such letters. Inasmuch as the recommending office is not likely to possess all data, pertinent other field divisions should submit a brief, supplemental summary concerning officers recommended for letters who reside in their territory.

4. Inquiries concerning status of Bureau cases
When a state official has expressed interest in the prosecutive status of a Bureau case, for a legitimate reason, such as deferment of state prosecution pending the outcome of the Federal case, insure that such official is kept appropriately advised, including the final outcome of the matter.
5. U. S. Cabinet officers, Senators, and Congressmen
If an SAC receives an inquiry from a Cabinet officer or U. S. Senator or Congressman concerning an official matter, it should be brought to the Bureau's attention immediately.

K. SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Definition

An individual, organization, or concern willingly furnishing information to employees frequently enough to justify making a record where the source need not be protected. If occasionally the source must be protected, this may be done. If sources must be constantly concealed, they become informants or confidential sources and must be handled as such.

1. Index

Index card (3 by 5 inches) must be made up to contain:

- a. Names
- b. Addresses
- c. Organization or concern
- d. Type of information furnished
- e. Date of development

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest

a. Relating to law enforcement concerning

- (1) Scientific apparatus
- (2) Equipment
- (3) Personnel
- (4) Methods
- (5) Economics

b. Newspaper clippings, [other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern]

- (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
- (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
- (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
- (4) Bad local crime conditions
- (5) Scientific crime detection experts
- (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual files of police agencies clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
- (7) Police training in colleges and universities
- (8) Aggravated sex offenders
- (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
- [(10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.]

2. Method of preparation for transmittal

- a. Mount the clipping on [form FD-350 within the borders shown.
- b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
- c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
- d. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
- e. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
- f. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- g. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page..." the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
- h. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
- i. All clippings must be complete.
- j. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations and racial matters should be forwarded.]
- [k.] Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local[paper.] Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive[at] headquarters city.

- 3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
- 4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau

- a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.

- b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications

- (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research Section) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research Section, informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addresses is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
6. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. F. RADIO BROADCASTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. [A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.]

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

referred to Bureau by local law enforcement agencies or where Bureau fugitives are taken into custody by local law enforcement officers. They should also be advised of violations of local laws coming to the attention of the FBI.

b. Visits to Washington

When the field requests special courtesies be afforded certain individuals, including law enforcement officers, coming to Washington, D. C., the communication so advising the Bureau shall contain biographical data and a brief summary of information in the field office files concerning the visitor.

When law enforcement executives are contemplating a visit to the Bureau at Washington, D. C., ask them to call at the office of the Assistant Director, Training and Inspection Division, Room 5256, Justice Building.

Letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, and condolence

When letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, or condolence from the Director are recommended by the field, such recommendations should be submitted promptly. They should include the specific facts on which the recommendation is based, full identifying data and address of the citizen, and the result of a search of the field office indices concerning the citizen. In connection with the election of officers of police associations at conventions covering more than one field division territory, the field division in whose territory the convention was physically held is responsible for submitting any recommendations for letters of congratulations. The office submitting such request should summarize briefly the relations with these officers, incorporating any derogatory data which might preclude such letters. Inasmuch as the recommending office is not likely to possess all data, pertinent other field divisions should submit a brief, supplemental summary concerning officers recommended for letters who reside in their territory.

4. [Inquiries concerning status of Bureau cases

When a state official has expressed interest in the prosecutive status of a Bureau case, for a legitimate reason, such as deferment of state prosecution pending the outcome of the Federal case, insure that such official is kept appropriately advised, including the final outcome of the matter.]

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

 6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
 7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located [in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located] in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
 8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

PART II
(1960 TO 1968)

This document is prepared in response to your request and is not for dissemination outside your Committee. Its use is limited to official proceedings by your Committee and the content may not be disclosed to unauthorized personnel without the express approval of the FBI .

D. SECURITY INVESTIGATION OF INDIVIDUALS

1. Definitions

The term "basic revolutionary organization" or "basic revolutionary group" when used hereinafter in this subsection shall apply to any one or all of the following organizations or groups in order to distinguish the organizations from front organizations:

- a. Communist Party, USA
 - b. Socialist Workers Party
 - c. Progressive Labor Party
 - d. Proletarian Party of America
 - e. Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico
 - f. Johnson-Perest Group
 - g. American Socialist Clubs
 - h. See also 87C 1d.
- [i. Black nationalist extremists, although technically not members of basic revolutionary organizations within the above meaning, should be investigated under the same rules. (See section 122, volume IV, of this manual for additional guides.)]

2. Responsibility of the Bureau

- a. To conduct thorough investigation into the background and subversive activities of all persons in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security. Each SAC will be held responsible for the proper investigation of all persons in his area who, because of membership or affiliation with basic revolutionary organizations or other Marxist revolutionary organizations including splinter groups, may be potentially dangerous.
- b. To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of individuals constituting a threat to the internal security and develop sufficient information and evidence through investigation to sustain appropriate action by the Bureau should it become necessary for the Federal Government to institute prosecutive action against such individuals in courts of law or control their movement and activities in the event of a national emergency

3. Purpose of investigation

The primary purpose of these investigations is twofold, namely:

- a. Determination of dangerousness
To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who, because of their membership in, activity in, or association with one or more of the revolutionary groups defined above or related groups, are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country, and the consequent collection of sufficient information concerning their subversive activities to justify apprehension in event of a national emergency
- b. Determination of violations of Federal statutes
To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals who have been or may be violating laws of the U. S.
 - (1) Direct investigation towards obtaining admissible evidence to establish the violation.
 - (2) Be alert for any information indicating a violation of the Federal statutes relating to espionage, sabotage, and sedition.
 - (3) Title 18, USC, § 2385, paragraph (1), prohibits the advocacy, etc., of forceful or violent overthrow of the Government. Paragraph (2) prohibits the printing and distribution of propaganda advocating the forceful overthrow of the Government. (Affiliation with an organization is not a prerequisite to prosecution under paragraphs (1) and (2).) Paragraph (3) makes it unlawful to organize or help to organize any society, etc., of persons who advocate overthrow of the Government by force or violence, or to be or become a member of or become affiliated with any such society knowing the purposes thereof. Conspiracy to violate this section is covered by Title 18, USC, § 371 (general conspiracy statute).
 - (4) Title 18, USC, § 2387, penalizes attempts to undermine the loyalty, discipline, or morale of the armed forces. Alleged violations should be reported immediately to the Bureau.

- (5) Title 5, USC, § 7311, and Title 18, USC, § 1918, prohibit Government employment of persons who are disloyal or who assert the right to strike against the Government. Title 5, USC, § 3333, provides that an individual accepting office or employment in the Government of the U. S. shall, within 60 days, execute an affidavit certifying that he does not advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government, etc. The execution of a false affidavit constitutes a fraud on, or attempt to defraud, the Government within the purview of Title 5, USC, § 303, so as to authorize Special Agents of the Bureau to administer oaths in investigations arising out of this law. Alleged violations of this law called to your attention should be furnished to the Bureau promptly and no investigation should be initiated on the basis of complaints received without prior Bureau authority. Refer to section [19c, volume II,] of this manual for procedures to be followed regarding possible violations of this law discovered or received in connection with security of Government employees investigations.
- (6) Title 18, USC, § 1001, includes possible fraud against the Government violations wherein there are concealments or falsifications relating to subversive information. These violations must be presented to the Department by the Bureau for a prosecutive opinion rather than being presented locally to USAs. They ordinarily involve the execution of U. S. Government forms. Common violators are employees of private concerns having Government contracts who execute Government forms required for clearance for access to classified information.

Upon receipt of information indicating a violation of this type, investigation under the "Security Matter - Fraud Against the Government" character should be initiated and the Bureau immediately advised. The Department has advised that it is essential, to establish jurisdiction, to prove that the form was presented to a Government agency for action or determination. This, therefore, should be the first investigative step. If the form was not presented to a Government agency, no further investigation should be made and the Bureau so advised. In this case, however, remain alert for information the form is later presented to Government agency. The fact subject actually signed the form must be established by testimony of witnesses to the signature, handwriting examination, or other conclusive evidence. The original of the form must be located. Sources that furnished pertinent information concerning subject during previous investigations and other potential witnesses should be thoroughly interviewed to determine the basis for each item of pertinent information furnished and to obtain the identities of other potential witnesses. Where affiliation with subversive organizations is involved, interview individuals who were members of same units of these organizations as subject for indicia of his membership, such as attendance at closed meetings, payment of dues, holding of office, etc. If possible, develop evidence to supplant pertinent information furnished by current informants. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview the subject. Interview subject and potential witnesses furnishing pertinent information under oath and obtain sworn signed statements if possible. An exception may be made when interviewing established sources, such as current informants, if oath and/or signed statements not considered desirable under circumstances. Be guided by instructions in section 6b, (7), below when interviewing potential witnesses with subversive backgrounds.

in a key facility, copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as shown in section 87D 7e (2) of this manual. For instructions regarding dissemination to the Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office, Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, see 87D 7c (3) of this manual.

Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including police, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section [19,] volume [II,] of this manual.

- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
- (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA)
FAA issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way: individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to FAA. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau. For additional instructions regarding dissemination to FAA, see Manual of Rules and Regulations, part II, section 5.
- (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Under the agreement between the Bureau and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection dated 2-3-65, which is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual, reports are to be disseminated henceforth to Secret Service in all security index cases. An extra copy of the report in these cases should be furnished the Bureau. At the time the agreement was entered into, letterhead memoranda in all security index cases had been disseminated to Secret Service. Therefore, prior reports in these cases will not be disseminated.

Under the terms of the agreement, it is essential to advise Secret Service of the reason or reasons for referral - statement of the class or classes in appendix B of the agreement which the individual referred fits. For this purpose utilize form FD-376, which is designed to serve as a letter of transmittal for both local dissemination and dissemination at the SOG. The original and one copy of this form should be forwarded to the Bureau. A copy is to be maintained in the main case file and upon transferral of office of origin in any case, the new office of origin is to be furnished a copy. Careful consideration must be given to insure that the individual is properly categorized. In the case of subject being recommended for the security index, withhold dissemination pending Bureau approval of his security index status only in those cases in which the subject is categorized as falling within category 3 of the agreement between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection. Forward FD-376 as in any other case. Prompt dissemination should be made of information developed regarding individuals falling within other than category 3.

An extra copy of the form FD-128 [or FD-128a] should be specifically sent to the Identification Division in order that its records will [show] the new office of origin to which future records will be [submitted.]
- (E) Cancel a security flash notice when
(1) it is learned that the subject of such is deceased or (2) such subject is determined to be no longer of security interest. Do not cancel the security flash notice when a subject is removed from the security index solely by application of the security index criteria.

- (j) Physical description
- I. Obtain and report a detailed physical description.
 - II. During the course of the initial investigation in any security-type case, including espionage and nationalistic tendency cases, the physical characteristics and description of the subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation. It is not necessary to observe personally the subject of any case where preliminary investigation determines the basis for opening the case is unfounded.
 - III. The subject should be personally observed, if possible, early in the investigation after it is determined that a complete investigation is warranted to develop the extent of a subject's subversive activities and to consider whether the subject's name should be added to the security index. This action should be taken in the course of developing background information to determine the true identity and existence of the subject and to assist in establishing that the subject of the investigation is the person against whom the subversive allegations have been made. Each subject should be personally observed whenever a complete security investigation is conducted even though a security index card is not being recommended at the completion of the investigation.
 - IV. Do not delay the submission of form FD-122 recommending the addition of a subject's name to the security index even though it has not been possible to observe personally the subject if it has been determined through investigation that the subject is dangerous or potentially dangerous.
 - V. If a security index card is not being recommended after all logical investigation has been conducted and it has not been possible to observe personally the subject during the investigation, the case may be closed even though this has not been done. If a security index card has been recommended and prepared and it has not been possible to personally observe the subject, the case shall remain open until such time as the subject is personally observed, except when it has been determined that the subject is residing outside the U. S. or Puerto Rico, in which event the case may be closed if there is no other pending investigation and the matter should be followed administratively to be certain that the subject is personally observed upon his return to this country.
- (k) Photograph
- I. Reasonable efforts should be made during the investigation of a security subject to obtain a photograph of the subject through usual sources.
 - II. Cases on security index subjects are to be maintained in a pending status until such time as a suitable photograph is obtained unless circumstances dictate otherwise, in which case the Bureau should be advised. Once a photograph has been obtained, continue to be alert for the existence of more recent photographs which may become available.
 - III. [Forward a copy of photographs of security index subjects to the Bureau for dissemination to U. S. Secret Service headquarters.]

- (3) Criteria for placing and retaining names in the security index
- (a) The addition to and retention of names in the security index shall be governed by the following criteria:
- I. No name shall be added to or retained in the security index unless one or more of the following situations have been established through investigation:
- (A) Subject has had membership[in,]or participation in the activities of, a basic revolutionary organization within the last five years as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals.
- (B) Subject has had membership[in,]or participation in the affairs of, one or more front organizations which adhere to the policies and doctrines of a[basic] revolutionary[organization,]in a leadership capacity or by active substantial participation in the furtherance of[those]aims[and]purposes of the front organization[which coincide with those of a basic revolutionary organization,]within the last three years as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals.
- (C) Investigation has developed information that an individual, though not a member[of]or a participant in the activities of a[basic revolutionary or front organization,]has anarchist or revolutionary beliefs and is likely to seize upon the opportunity presented by a national emergency to[commit acts of espionage or sabotage, including acts of terrorism, assassination, or any interference with or threat to the survival and effective operation of the national, state, and local governments and of the defense effort.]
- (D) Although investigation has failed to establish [the facts required by (A), (B), or (C) above, either as to the substance of those criteria or because there have been no overt acts or statements within the time limits prescribed,]facts have been developed which clearly and unmistakably depict the subject as a dangerous individual who could be expected to commit acts[of the kind described in (C) above.]

II. [Activity in support of Cuban regime

Careful consideration should be given to recommending for inclusion in the security index those individuals who in the light of the clear identification of the Cuban Government as procommunist, pro-Soviet bloc, and anti-U. S., would be deemed dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the U. S. in the event of an emergency involving Cuba and the U. S. In connection therewith, there should be substantial showing of data within the following standards:

- (A) An individual has served as a leader or officer or has substantially participated in the activities of a pro-Castro organization and has engaged in activities which have included either the preparation or distribution of pro-Cuban or anti-U. S. propaganda; the active collection of funds for any agency or representative of the Cuban Government or for a pro-Castro group, which funds are not intended for the relief of human suffering or other charitable purposes; active participation in acts of violence against anti-Castro individuals or groups or against the U. S.; or the active collection of intelligence data regarding the national defense of the U. S. or which would serve the purposes of the Cuban Government as opposed to the interests of the U. S., where there are reasonable grounds to believe that such data is to be or has been conveyed to any agency or representative of the Cuban Government.
- (B) An individual, whether he has participated in organizational activity or not, has engaged in one or more activities specified in (A) above and it has been clearly established, by overt acts or statements or other evidence, that there are reasonable grounds to believe the loyalty of the individual would lie with the Cuban Government in the event of armed conflict between the Cuban Government and the U. S.
- (C) Aliens of Cuban nationality and aliens holding Cuban citizenship should be considered for the security index when it is determined that one of these (1) is likely to foster, encourage, or promote the policies, programs, or objectives of the Cuban Government, or collaborate with the Cuban Government or (2) is likely to engage in or attempt to engage in acts of espionage, sabotage, or other activities inimical or detrimental to the defense or public safety of the U. S. as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals. Activities on a subject's part which should be considered in determining whether his name should be added to the security index under the foregoing would include but should not be limited to (1) participation in organizations supporting the Castro regime, (2) participation in picket lines formed in support of the Cuban Government, (3) contacts with Cuban agents operating in this country on behalf of the Cuban Government, or (4) statements or activities on a subject's part establishing reasonable grounds to believe that his loyalty would lie with the Cuban Government in the event of armed conflict between the U. S. and Cuba.

agency responsible for such action. Forward such data to Bureau and incorporate in next report submitted concerning individual in question. Where no investigation has been conducted by Bureau and there is no case on individual being denied clearance, give consideration to opening a security investigation if information received from intelligence agency warrants such action.

- (2) Inclusion in security index
In recommending key facility employee for inclusion in security index, FD-122 is to contain:
- (a) Key facility geographical reference number
 - (b) Abbreviation for agency having security responsibility. [The Department of the Army has been designated the agency having security responsibility for all key facilities.]
 - (c) Abbreviations for other agencies known to have classified contracts with the key facility. Interested agencies should be identified on FD-122 to assure proper dissemination of reports but will not appear on security index cards returned from Bureau.
 - (d) [Deleted]

If subject of existing security index card is found to have become employed in a key facility, FD-122 must be submitted to Bureau with above-required key facility data set forth thereon. Case is then to be handled in accordance with instructions set forth below concerning key facility cases.

- (3) Dissemination
Upon receipt of original complaint or allegation concerning key facility employee from source other than interested intelligence agency, a summary of complaint and information concerning the individual should be furnished immediately by letter to interested intelligence agency. Intelligence agency should then be advised whether a security investigation is being conducted of the individual and, if investigation is being conducted, that copies of reports will be furnished upon completion of investigation. Letter to intelligence agency should clearly point out that information is unsubstantiated and has not been verified through investigation by FBI.

In addition to disseminating to interested intelligence agencies information of a derogatory security nature developed concerning persons employed at facilities holding classified contracts, with the exception of classified contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission, such information should be furnished to the Chief, Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office (DISCO), Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, 43215, attention Chief, Adjudication Division. In each instance, advise the interested intelligence agency that dissemination has been made to DISCO. This dissemination is to include derogatory security information developed concerning persons who may not be currently employed at such a facility but who are known to be holders of an industrial security clearance.

These instructions do not apply to allegations of espionage or those of such a confidential character as would not ordinarily be disseminated. Such information appearing to be of immediate interest to other intelligence agencies should be submitted to Bureau by most expeditious means, depending upon the circumstances, with a request that the Bureau consider advisability of disseminating it.

Disseminate copies of each report to the local representative of agency having security responsibility, as well as to local representative of other intelligence agencies known to have

classified contracts with the key facility. Copies of reports for the Marine Corps should be disseminated locally to NISO,

Dissemination to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA) (formerly Armed Forces Special Weapons Project), the Research and Development Board (RDB), and the Maritime Administration (MA) will be made at the Bureau, and not in the field.

- (4) Status of cases
After all active investigation conducted, place in a [pending-inactive] status. Forty-five days before report due, make case pending active and check with armed services representative at the key facility or with other reliable sources to determine whether subject has access to classified or restricted material.

[(Also see Manual of Rules and Regulations, part II, section 4D, item 2a, (6), and section 4M, item 4, for instructions concerning synopses and classification of reports in key facility cases.)]

d. Top functionary program

(1) General

Purpose of top functionary program is to select for special attention those individuals in a subversive movement who are of outstanding importance to the effectiveness of the movement.

Top functionary program is described below as pertaining to the Communist Party, USA. However, it also applies to important individuals active in or on behalf of other basic revolutionary groups, subversive organizations, or unorganized groups who have indicated a propensity for violence.

(2) Definition of top functionary

A top functionary is an individual, either a member or a nonmember of the Communist Party, to whom, because of his importance, it is necessary to give continuous investigative attention in order to keep abreast of communism on a national basis in the U. S. Necessarily, such an individual would be on a high policy level in the movement. This also applies to an individual, either a member or a nonmember of other subversive organizations or unorganized groups, who would be on a high policy level in the movement.

The term "top functionary" is not to be construed as requiring that individuals in this category must actually hold official positions in the organizations but shall be given a broad enough construction to include others who are of equal importance because of their influence in the movement itself, or their position and activities outside the party in labor, front, or similar organizations or movements. Black nationalist extremists whose importance justifies continuous investigative attention should be considered for designation as top functionaries.

(3) Manner of designation of top functionary

Prior Bureau authority necessary to designate a subject as a top functionary. Submit such recommendation to Bureau by letter containing reasons for the recommendation. Bureau desires to be very selective in this matter and to concentrate on individuals who, on a national basis, are the guiding hands in the communist movement and other subversive movements. Top functionaries are to be included in priority I and reports are to be submitted in accordance with 87D 7f (2).

At the seat of Government a careful appraisal will be made of the field's recommendation, following which the office will be advised concerning the Bureau's decision on the recommendation.

- (4) Regulations governing the handling of top functionaries
- (a) Designation and deletion of top functionary status
Designate or remove a subject as a top functionary by individual letter to the Bureau carrying the subject in the caption and containing a brief statement as to the reason for designation or deletion.

Where office of origin for top functionaries is transferred, deletions in the old office of origin and additions in the new office are handled in accordance with 87D 7b (9) (b).

- (b) Photographs
Photographs must be obtained for each top functionary. Whenever possible, the photographs should be obtained from public records, law enforcement agencies, state or Federal Government agencies, and similar sources. Where more direct means employed, use extreme care to avoid prejudicing the investigation. Send [two copies (one is for Secret Service headquarters)] of photographs of each top functionary to the Bureau, either by cover letter or as enclosure to a report. Maintain a copy of each photograph in the subject's individual case file in the field. If album of top functionary photographs maintained, be sure duplicates are also filed in each individual subject's file.
- (c) Handwriting specimens
Suitable handwriting specimens of each top functionary must be obtained. Whenever possible, obtain handwriting specimens from public records, law enforcement agencies, and similar sources. Again, if more direct means employed, use extreme care. Send specimens to the Bureau under a separate cover letter by registered mail for the attention of the FBI Laboratory. Letter should bear caption of individual case.

Handwriting specimens should be sufficiently extensive to permit possible future comparisons by the Laboratory. When specimens submitted may be of value as evidence, letter of transmittal should so state and Bureau should be requested to return specimens after copies have been made.

- (d) Security index cards
Request preparation by FD-122 at the earliest possible moment. Same rules apply to preparation and maintenance as apply to other security index cards. All security index cards for top functionaries shall be designated for priority I.
- (e) Change of office of origin
FD-128 changing office of origin on a top functionary automatically deletes him as top functionary in old office and adds him as a top functionary in new office. For further instructions concerning the change of office of origin in these cases, see 87D 7b (9) (b).
- (f) Reports
I. Character - Internal Security - (followed by appropriate letter designating the organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency)
- (5) Maintenance of list
Each office must maintain a current list on top functionaries.

e. Correlation of other investigations with the security index and reserve index

Individuals investigated by the Bureau under any character against whom subversive information is developed must be constantly borne in mind for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

- (1) Espionage and foreign intelligence investigations
Subjects of these investigations must be included in the security index and/or the reserve index if they meet the standards for inclusion therein. It is the responsibility of the investigating Agent and field supervising official to make appropriate recommendations for preparation of the security index card and/or the reserve index card, whenever appropriate.
- (2) Security of Government employees (SGE) investigations
Subjects of all SGE investigations against whom subversive derogatory information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

The Agent conducting investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer such cases to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling. Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the field office covering the subject's residence, when developed by any other office.

When an individual who has previously been investigated under the SGE character is the subject of a security index card and is still employed by the Federal Government or is being considered for Federal employment, the dual character of "Security of Government Employees" and the character of the subject's security case should be used in the report being submitted. This will insure that the reports are referred to the appropriate desks for supervision at the Bureau, as well as in the field. These reports should be written according to the standards prevailing for SGE reports.

Disseminate these dual character reports the same as any other security report. Representatives of other intelligence agencies requesting reports showing the actual SGE investigation should be informed to direct the request to their Washington headquarters for referral to the Bureau.

- (3) Atomic Energy Act, U. S. Information Agency applicant, departmental applicant, Bureau applicant, and other Bureau investigations
Subjects of all above investigations against whom subversive information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or the reserve index. In each such case the Agent conducting the investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer the matter to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling.

Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the office covering the subject's residence, whenever developed by another office.

When a security matter subject is designated a top functionary, the first report after the designation and all subsequent reports shall bear the internal security character. Communications regarding subjects who are employed in key facilities should bear the words "Key Facility" in the character. Communications regarding subjects who are members of the Communist Party, USA, National Committee should bear the words "National Committee" in the character. Black nationalist investigations and racial matters should be given the character set out in section 122, volume IV, of this manual.

- (A) Cases of all other security index subjects must be followed by administrative ticklers set up so as to insure submission of [a periodic] investigative report [according to priority designation.] If, following investigation, no subversive data is developed and the only available information consists of verification of residence and employment and negative contacts with security informants and sources, submit in lieu of a report a letter (form FD-400) to the Bureau setting forth identities of informants and sources contacted, any additional administrative data deemed necessary, and form FD-300 properly executed. The cases shall be opened and assigned 45 days prior to the date the [periodic] report is due. Such cases shall also be opened and assigned six months after submission of the [periodic] report to accomplish verification of addresses [and further verification must be handled in accordance with 87D 7b (7) (b).] Upon such verification, the cases should be closed administratively.

4. Internal Security Act of 1950

To insure successful proceedings against a communist front organization under this act, a preponderance of admissible evidence must be secured to [show] extent to which

- a. Persons active in management, direction, or supervision of an organization are active in management, direction, or supervision, or as representatives, of
- b. Its support, financial or otherwise, is derived from
- c. Its funds, resources, or personnel are used to further or promote objectives of
- d. Positions taken or advanced by it from time to time do not deviate from those of

Any communist-action organization, communist foreign government, or the world communist movement.

5. Panel sources

a. Purpose

To develop potential witnesses who will be willing to obtain and introduce legally admissible evidence re subversive nature of organizations in future prosecutive action

b. Program

- (1) Since Special Agent and active security informant testimony is undesirable, field should recruit panel of potential witnesses locally. Some may be found among American Legion contacts, plant informants, former and exposed security informants, etc.
- (2) Panel members should attend public rallies and meetings, as well as obtain literature of organizations they are covering.
- (3) To aid panelists, exhibit photographs of individuals they will most likely encounter at front organization functions.
- (4) Handle notes, statements, and exhibits of panelists in same manner as other evidence. As panelists may subsequently become security informants, the same procedure should be followed in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panelists as is afforded that received from security informants. (See section 107, volume IV, of this manual.)
- (5) Legitimate expenses incurred by panel members should be reimbursed in same manner as security informants.
- (6) Eliminate inactive, ineffective, or unsatisfactory panelists on a continuing basis. At time of submission of semiannual letter, office panel should be reviewed to make certain all such panelists have been removed.
- (7) Identities of panelists should be concealed.

c. Administrative handling

- (1) Check prospective panelists through office indices, local police department, credit records, and established informants. If no undesirable information is developed, initial contact may be made with panelist to ascertain cooperativeness.
- (2) Submit names of cooperative panelists to Bureau by letter outlining complete background and recommendation as to inclusion in office panel. [One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When approving the field's recommendation, this single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" by Bureau and will be returned.] Be certain such individuals are not plants and will consider relationship with Bureau in confidence.

- (3) Open 134 file when active investigation on prospective panelist is initiated. When preliminary investigation completed and Bureau has approved panelist, close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly.

Regular contacts with panelists should be noted in their respective files.

- (4) Only Agents designated should handle panelists.
 (5) Every[six]months submit letter of justification to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. See section 107N, 3b, volume IV, of this manual for form of letter. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling source must prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

- (6) Summary letter captioned "Panel Source Program" (Bufile 134-1113) to be prepared and submitted to Bureau March 25 and September 25 each year. Use following topical outline:
- (a) Status of program

Mailing lists as such which cannot be identified as membership lists of subversive organizations also should be indexed in the field and not forwarded to the Bureau. Field offices obtaining such lists must promptly furnish them to the office covering the address shown for the subscriber.
7. Important subversive derogatory information concerning any individual and any new subversive derogatory information concerning any individual of importance must be brought to the attention of the Bureau by expeditious means.
8. In addition, subversive derogatory and other information relating to other employees of the Government and to employees of the United Nations and of other public international organizations received by the field office should be brought immediately to the attention of the Bureau.
9. These instructions do not affect and are in addition to existing instructions for the submission of information in report form.

C. INVESTIGATION OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY, AND OTHER MARXIST REVOLUTIONARY-TYPE ORGANIZATIONS

1. Policy

a. Communist Party, USA

By Presidential directive on 9-6-39, and subsequent restatements (see section 102, volume IV, of this manual), this Bureau is charged with the responsibility of coordinating all information with regard to the internal security of the U. S. Since 1939, a large portion of the Bureau's security investigations has been directed toward a coverage of the activities of communists and other groups whose aims seek the overthrow of the U. S. Government. The Communist Party, USA, is the best organized and most dangerous from a security standpoint. The party is not an isolated or purely domestic organization but is part of an international communist movement led and dominated by the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, the ultimate aim of which is to establish a world-wide communist state. The Communist Party, USA, bases its theory on the principles of Marxism-Leninism. (Considerable evidence shows that these principles look toward the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government or its downfall in the event of a war with the Soviet Union.) It would be a grave error to suppose that, because the party is actually and potentially small, it is not dangerous. The contemplated role of the party is such that it can be played best by an organization which is cohesive, easily mobilized, highly maneuverable, fanatically zealous, well disciplined, and immediately responsive in an emergency to the demands of its leaders. The highest authority in the Communist Party, USA, is the national convention which meets approximately once every two years. Between these conventions, the national committee is the highest authority of the party.

The Communist Party, USA, is divided into district and state organizations, then into county, city, section, and club organizations. The number and nature of these subdivisions are dependent on the number of members in the various localities. Every party member must belong to a party club.

The Communist Party strategy and policy is based primarily on the loyal support and defense of the Soviet Union. The party line changes from time to time depending upon the current program of the international communist movement.

b. Socialist Workers Party

The Socialist Workers Party was founded at a convention held in Chicago, Illinois, from 12-31-37 to 1-3-38. The present headquarters are located at 116 University Place, New York 3, New York. The following statements are taken from the "Declaration of Principles and Constitution of the Socialist Workers Party" which was adopted at this convention:

"The purpose of the party is set forth in its declaration of principles: Its purpose shall be to educate and organize the working class for the abolition of capitalism and the establishment of a workers government to achieve Socialism." (From article 11 under the caption "Purpose.")

"We call upon all revolutionary militants to join with us to build the SWP into the mass revolutionary party which will lead the working class of the United States to power; and which, together with the revolutionists of all countries united in the Fourth International, will achieve the victory of the international revolution and of world Socialism."

"The main specific task of the SWP is the mobilization of the American masses for struggle against American Capitalism, and for its overthrow...." (Part III of above pamphlet)

Shortly after the Fourth International was founded in Switzerland on 9-3-38, the Socialist Workers Party in the U. S. announced that it was the "American Section" of the "world party of the Socialist revolution" (Fourth International). At a special convention on 12-21-40, the Socialist Workers Party passed a resolution ending its organizational connection with the Fourth International (because of the passage of the Voorhis Act).

This organization follows the Marxist-Leninist-Trotskyist line. Statements made by functionaries indicate that in the event of war between the U. S. and the Soviet Union, the Socialist Workers Party would defend the latter.

field office territory, the name and title of each Negro included in this total who maintains a national level position, and the name and title of each Negro included in this total who maintains a district level position above the status of "club chairman." Members of the Communist Party, USA, who are now carried as unidentified but who are known to be members of the Negro race should be included in the total number of Negroes.

When possible, totals should be broken down as to nationality, sex, employment, veterans, and membership in unions. Auxiliary offices which, due to lack of Communist Party activity in their divisions, have been authorized to submit data by quarterly letter should include membership figures in these letters to the Bureau and office of origin. These letters to be submitted by auxiliary offices prior to first day of month in which quarterly report is due. Office of origin responsible to obtain complete figures from its auxiliary offices.

- (b) In preparing estimates, best available informants and sources must be used. Include in cover pages of quarterly reports evaluation of degree of reliability of figures furnished by each source and of final figures submitted. Also include in cover pages total number of individuals positively identified as Communist Party members and total number of individuals tentatively identified as party members within the twelve-month period immediately preceding the submission of the quarterly report. In reporting membership figures, information from one source only is not acceptable unless facts are set forth demonstrating information from this source is the most accurate and most reliable information available.
 - (c) Explain in detail any increase or decrease in membership figures previously submitted. Where informants use such terms as "inactive" or "paper" members, their exact understanding of the meaning of the terms used and the number of individuals so described must be clearly explained. Full explanation must be made as to whether individuals so described are included in final membership figures submitted, together with reason for their inclusion or exclusion.
 - (d) Results of membership recruiting drives
 - (e) Make discreet efforts to ascertain results of annual national registration drives.
 - (f) To reduce indexing at the Bureau, each report should contain a statement in the cover pages that all persons named in the report as members of the Communist Party and who reside within the area covered by the reporting office are listed in the security index, or are informants or sources, with the exception of those listed. If any name is listed, a statement should be made as to whether the name has been previously furnished to the Bureau for indexing. The status of the investigation of any listed individual should be shown.
- (3) Funds (Bureau file 100-3-63)
- (a) Income and expenditures
 - (b) Plans and results of fund drives including:
 - I. Total amount sought by the state Communist Party organization.
 - II. Specific amount to be contributed by the state organization to the national committee fund drive
 - III. Specific amount to be contributed by the state organization to [the party] fund drive
 - IV. Specific amount to be retained by the state organization after contributing to the national committee and [the party] fund drives for use in the state organization's own operations

- (c) Large contributions by known party groups or front organizations
- (d) Identity of any new party "angels"
- (e) Distribution of funds not sent to Communist Party headquarters, such as funds in safe-deposit boxes, separate bank accounts, etc.
- (f) Any special padding of expense accounts by Communist Party functionaries should be reported.
- (g) Possible violations of state or Federal tax laws.
- (h) Disbursements and collections of the "Reserve Fund"
- (i) Receipt of any money from abroad
- (4) Security measures (Bureau file 100-3-84)
Any activities on the part of the security commission of the district which bring about new or unusual security measures, such as reducing clubs to "group captain systems," destruction of records, use of codes, clandestine meetings, investigations by the party of party members, etc.
- (5) Underground operations (Bureau file 100-3-94)
Pertinent general information suitable for dissemination relating to underground operations of Communist Party. No information should be included in quarterly reports which would jeopardize informants or special investigative techniques. Current investigations relating to expanded underground operations during period 1951-1955 should be submitted by separate letter under individual case caption and should not be included in quarterly reports except for general information relating to methods of operation.
- (6) Factionalism (Bureau file 100-3-88)
 - (a) Submit pertinent information indicating that any ranking Communist Party members or group of members have developed views as "left-wing sectarianists" or "right-wing opportunists" inasmuch as the party has a policy of expelling members who develop such views.
 - (b) Unusual disputes or arguments between leading communists in any district should be included in this section.
- (7) International relations (Bureau file 100-3-81)
 - (a) Information relating to communication or contact between Communist Party, USA, and communist parties of other countries
 - (b) Identities of Communist Party officials who plan to travel in foreign countries, including the reason for their travel
 - (c) Reaction of responsible Communist Party officials to events taking place in foreign countries
 - (d) Communist Party strategy and tactics directed to attacks on U. S. foreign policy and support of U. S. S. R. and satellite foreign policy
 - (e) Policy matter concerning colonial affairs, such as Communist Party policy relative to obtaining of independence by colonial people
- (8) United Nations (Bureau file 100-3-80)
 - (a) Communist Party policy or pertinent information in connection with the United Nations, including such matters as infiltration of the United Nations, contacts by Communist Party officials with representatives to the United Nations
 - (b) Communist Party strategy and tactics directed toward attacking U. S. policy and/or to support U. S. S. R. or satellite policy in the United Nations
- (9) Deleted

4. Annual Communist Party, USA, organizational and membership survey. Each office is instructed to initiate by February 1 of each year a detailed and analytical survey of the organization and membership of the Communist Party in its territory, results to be forwarded to the Bureau by April 1. Set forth in detail the complete organizational structure of each Communist Party district or state organization including district and county committees, together with the identities of officers from the club through the district level. Identify each Communist Party club and section in the district, together with the identities of individual club members and most recent date each member was so identified. Where identification of an individual is tentative, this fact should be indicated by placing the word "tentative" after the individual's name. Note the informant coverage in each club, as well as on district and county committees, by setting forth the symbol numbers of the informants. In those instances in which no informant coverage exists in a particular club or on a district or county committee, this fact should be noted. In addition, summarize the overall findings by setting forth the estimated Communist Party membership in the field office territory, together with the number of members who have been positively and tentatively identified as such within the immediately preceding 12-month period. Charts and maps should be used in setting forth the geographic distribution of the Communist Party whenever feasible. Offices which are auxiliary offices in investigation of a Communist Party district should furnish the required information to the office of origin for inclusion in its survey by March 15 of each year.

Following the organizational breakdown, each office should critically appraise its knowledge of the Communist Party organization within its division and set forth its comments and recommendations concerning investigative activity to be undertaken to eliminate any weaknesses detected. In those instances in which the disclosed weakness is that of lack of adequate informant coverage, advise in detail of the number of Bureau-approved potential security informants being developed in the particular area, as well as concrete plans to obtain additional informant coverage in the future.

Each survey should contain a statement that all persons identified as members of the Communist Party are listed in the security index, or are informants or sources. Any exceptions should be named and a statement made as to whether the name has previously been furnished to the Bureau for indexing. The status of the investigation of each person listed should be shown.

5. Communist Influence in Racial Matters, Internal Security - C (code name "CIRM"). Bufile 100-442529. Office of origin: New York.
- a. Quarterly reports (to reach the Bureau by February 1, May 1, August 1, and November 1) should be submitted by each field office for the purpose of reporting, in a centralized manner, all available information bearing upon the communist influence in racial matters. Included should be information developed under the title of a variety of matters, such as CPUSA, Negro question, communist influence in racial matters; communist infiltration of various organizations, such as the Congress of Racial Equality, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and the like; investigations of subversive individuals active in the racial movement; investigations of communist fronts and other miscellaneous organizations; and racial disturbances and other racial matters investigated under the racial matter character. Information should be included in these quarterly reports, notwithstanding the fact that it will duplicate reporting in the other substantive matters referred to above. These reports shall be designed to precisely spell out the full extent of the communist influence in racial matters. They should separate words and intentions from actions; mere participation from direct influence; and the bona fide communist from the mere "do-gooder." They should not include information concerning legitimate efforts in the racial movement where there is no communist taint.

- b. Information should be reported according to the following outline. All main headings denoted by Roman numerals must be accounted for. If there is no information to report under a particular main heading, the heading should appear, followed by a statement "No information developed."

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

(A) COMMUNIST PARTY, USA

- (1) Plans, strategy, party line, and the like made at national meetings, including expressions by national and other functionaries
- (2) Plans, etc., made at district and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank-and-file members.
- (3) Plans, etc., as revealed in party publications and other propaganda media, such as written directives, press releases, and the like

Information under item 3 should be reported by the office covering the origin of the publications, such as the New York Office for ["The Daily World,"] "Political Affairs," and directives from party headquarters; San Francisco Office for "People's World"; etc. Party expressions, oral or written, when directly related to a specific event covered under II, should be included under II.

(B) OTHER COMMUNIST GROUPS (Such as Socialist Workers Party, Progressive Labor Party, Workers World Party, and the like)

Under (B), report information under separate numbered sub-headings for each organization. Report here information generally along the same lines as for (A) above.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

In this part report information on communist direction and influence of and participation in racial demonstrations, disturbances, drives, boycotts, and any other similar activities with racial overtones. This part will illustrate how communist activities attempt to exploit racial situations and expand communist influence, thus furthering communist objectives. List activities in chronological order with lettered subheadings, such as:

- (A) DEMONSTRATION, CLEVELAND, OHIO, [1-10-68]
- (B) STORE BOYCOTT, YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, [3-6-68]

Under each subheading include such information as nature of event; sponsoring and participating groups; total participants; number and identities of subversives involved; specifics as to whether subversives directed, controlled, instigated, or merely participated; whether violence resulted and, if so, whether subversives involved; arrests of subversives and court disposition; and any other information believed pertinent to the overall picture of communist influence. Efforts by supporting groups to avoid communist involvement should also be reported. If a particular event had no communist involvement, it should, of course, not be included in the report.

SECTION 87. SECURITY INVESTIGATION

(j) Physical description

- I. Obtain and report a detailed physical description.
- II. During the course of the initial investigation in any security-type case, including espionage and nationalistic tendency cases, the physical characteristics and description of the subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation. It is not necessary to observe personally the subject of any case where preliminary investigation determines the basis for opening the case is unfounded.
- III. The subject should be personally observed, if possible, early in the investigation after it is determined that a complete investigation is warranted to develop the extent of a subject's subversive activities and to consider whether the subject's name should be added to the security index. This action should be taken in the course of developing background information to determine the true identity and existence of the subject and to assist in establishing that the subject of the investigation is the person against whom the subversive allegations have been made. Each subject should be personally observed whenever a complete security investigation is conducted even though a security index card is not being recommended at the completion of the investigation.
- IV. Do not delay the submission of form FD-122 recommending the addition of a subject's name to the security index even though it has not been possible to observe personally the subject if it has been determined through investigation that the subject is dangerous or potentially dangerous.
- V. If a security index card is not being recommended after all logical investigation has been conducted and it has not been possible to observe personally the subject during the investigation, the case may be closed even though this has not been done. If a security index card has been recommended and prepared and it has not been possible to personally observe the subject, the case shall remain open until such time as the subject is personally observed, except when it has been determined that the subject is residing outside the U. S. or Puerto Rico, in which event the case may be closed if there is no other pending investigation and the matter should be followed administratively to be certain that the subject is personally observed upon his return to this country.

(k) Photograph

- I. Reasonable efforts should be made during the investigation of a security subject to obtain a photograph of the subject through usual sources.
- II. Cases on security index subjects are to be maintained in a pending status until such time as a suitable photograph is obtained unless circumstances dictate otherwise, in which case the Bureau should be advised. Once a photograph has been obtained, continue to be alert for the existence of more recent photographs which may become available.
- III. Do not forward a copy of the photograph to the Bureau unless the subject has been designated a top functionary.]

- (1) Handwriting specimens
 - I. If, during the investigation of security matter cases, it is disclosed that samples of the subject's handwriting are readily available, obtain specimens for possible future use and maintain in the file in the field.
 - II. A case is not to be left in a pending status merely for the purpose of obtaining handwriting specimens.
 - III. [Deleted]
 - (m) Labor union membership

If the subject is being investigated because of Communist Party membership, ascertain the identity of any labor organization of which he is a member and what position he holds in the labor organization, if any.
- (2) Subversive activity
 - (a) Membership or affiliation

Obtain admissible and convincing evidence that the subject is a member of, or affiliated with, one of the basic revolutionary organizations and/or front organizations wherever possible. Such evidence may be either direct or circumstantial, or both. It is not possible to list the innumerable and varied forms in which such evidence may be found. Some of the more common types are:

 - I. Oral or written statements or admissions of the subject made publicly or privately to other individuals
 - II. Statements of confidential informants and other persons who are in a position to know the facts and can testify to them
 - III. Official letterheads and documents of subversive organizations containing information which identifies the subjects with the organizations. This will include membership and dues records wherever obtainable.
 - IV. Selective service records in which the subject admits membership in or position with a subversive organization
 - V. Attendance at closed meetings and conventions of a subversive organization
 - VI. Letters to publications, public officials, or other persons signed by the subject in an official position with a subversive organization or wherein the subject admits membership in or adherence to the principles of a subversive organization
 - VII. Recruitment or attempt to recruit members for a subversive organization
 - VIII. Solicitations or contributions of funds for subversive organization
 - IX. Seeking public office as a candidate for a subversive organization
 - X. Association with other individuals who are known to be members of or affiliated with subversive organizations

With regard to the question of membership, attention is directed to section 87H of this manual relating to the provisions of the Communist Control Act of 1954. This act sets out a list of 14 criteria itemized in 87H 2, which should be considered "in determining membership or participation in the Communist Party or any other organization defined in this Act, or knowledge of the purpose or objective of such party or organization...." These criteria include, e.g., listing as a member in organization records, contributions to the organization, and acceptance of organization discipline.

- (b) Knowledge of aims and purposes

Admissible and convincing evidence that the subject knows the aims and purposes of the subversive organizations to overthrow the Government by force and violence should also be obtained. Mere proof of membership in or affiliation with such an organization is not sufficient to prove such knowledge.

Proof that the subject has such knowledge of the revolutionary purposes of the organization may be existent in several forms, several of which are discussed below:

I. Direct admissible evidence, such as statements made by the subject, or by responsible officials of the subversive organization in the subject's presence at organizational classes or meetings expounding the organization's doctrine in which the necessity or advisability of using force or violence in the overthrow of the Government is asserted, should be obtained, if at all possible.

Occasionally, statements of this nature are available in the subject's writings, sometimes in an indirect or veiled form.

- II. Length of time in a subversive organization
- III. Official positions held in the organization especially in educational, propaganda, or policy-making capacities
- IV. Charter membership in the organization, participation in the original establishment of the organization
- V. Extensive and long-continued participation in various organizational activities
- VI. Attendance or teaching at organization schools or classes, especially leadership classes
- VII. Preparation or distribution of party propaganda
- VIII. Recruiting and fund-raising activities
- IX. Possession of Marxist or revolutionary literature
- X. Urging others to read literature of a revolutionary character, etc.

While none of the above types of evidence may be of sufficient value alone, a combination of a number of them may constitute convincing proof.

It should be remembered that the revolutionary purposes of a subversive organization are frequently cloaked in veiled language or in language significant only to persons familiar with Marxist or revolutionary terminology. Such obscure statements should not be ignored, but should be fully reported as it may be possible in legal proceedings to bring out the significance of such statements through expert witnesses, the testimony of informants, or the introduction of literature clarifying them. Confidential informants and other sources should be carefully interrogated and files thoroughly reviewed for the purpose of developing all revolutionary statements. In such instances, complete details should be obtained, together with all corroborating evidence. The names of all persons present when such statements are made should be ascertained and the facts reported in the individual case file of the person making the statement and of all persons present when the statement was made. The circumstances under which the statement was made should, of course, be ascertained and reported.

(c) Position and importance

- I. Information reflecting the importance of an individual to a subversive organization or movement should be fully developed and reported. The member or affiliate may be dangerous or important because of his position, influence or activities outside the organization, or both. The facts in this regard should be fully developed. The individual may hold an important and strategic position or exercise great influence in a labor organization or other mass organization; in a racial, nationality, youth or other group; in an important front organization; in radio, newspaper, motion picture or other cultural,

During the first contact, the interviewing Agent will introduce himself as a Special Agent of the FBI by use of credentials or badge and will open the conversation by using an appropriate pretext or by reciting the Bureau's responsibilities in the security field and asking the subject whether he can be of assistance to the Government. If the individual has been a member of a basic revolutionary organization and indicates he might cooperate, he may be questioned during the initial contact about his own activities in order to further ascertain the extent to which he will cooperate. This original interview is for the sole purpose of allowing the Agent to determine whether the individual being interviewed might be cooperative.

- (e) Prior Bureau authority
- I. Subjects of active current investigations where no interview with prior Bureau authority has previously been conducted
 - II. Closed cases where the subject is on the security index and no prior interview has been conducted
 - III. Subjects of investigations requested by the Bureau, both open and closed, such as applicant-type cases, loyalty cases, etc.
 - IV. Any persons where circumstances indicate a delicate situation exists and a greater than usual risk is involved, such as individuals employed in the newspaper field, educational field, radio and television industry, religious field, publishing houses, labor leaders, and the like. Bureau authority must be requested with respect to situations of this kind even though prior interviews have been had with these interviewees.
 - V. Security subjects who have publicly disclosed previous contacts
 - VI. Subjects of section A reserve index cards
- In any of the above cases, no report need be submitted when requesting Bureau authority to interview a subject of a security investigation except those persons under IV above. This does not relieve you of the responsibility of submitting reports in security cases when due.
- VII. The request for Bureau authority for the interview should be set forth in the first paragraph of the letter and unless you are recommending a special manner or procedure for conducting the interview, the first paragraph should contain the following statements:

"Bureau authority is requested to interview subject in accordance with existing instructions relating to interviews of security subjects. If this subject is cooperative, no affirmative steps will be taken during the initial interview to direct his activities and complete background investigation required by section 107C of the Manual of Instructions will be conducted and Bureau will be requested to authorize recontact with subject as a PSI."

Form FD-336 contains the above statement and may be used in requesting Bureau authority for the interview.

The above statement in no way precludes interviewing Agents during initial contacts and recontacts from obtaining all subversive information subject is willing to furnish or other data which will assist in determining his potentialities as an informant.

SECTION 87. SECURITY INVESTIGATIONS

- VIII. Letters requesting Bureau authority for the interview must contain the following information, if available:
- (A) Residence address, occupation, employment and race of subject, date and place of birth, citizenship, and status of health
 - (B) Marital status. If married, the occupation, employment, and race of the spouse.
 - (C) Length of time subject a member of or affiliated with subversive organizations and positions he held in such organizations. In cases in which investigation is based on some allegation or circumstances of a security nature other than membership in or affiliation with subversive organizations, facts upon which investigation is predicated should be briefly set forth.
 - (D) If married, information indicating the spouse is or has been a member of or affiliated with subversive groups, the position held in such groups, and the length of time of such membership or affiliation
 - (E) Membership or affiliation of any other close relatives in subversive groups
 - (F) Information regarding defection, expulsion, inactivity, and present sympathies of the subject and, if married, of the spouse
 - (G) What is expected to be gained by the interview
- IX. In each letter, pertinent information, if available, regarding the seven items listed above must be set out under the appropriate number but the above headings need not be restated. If no pertinent data is available regarding any of the items, you should make the appropriate comment under the respective number.
- X. All letters requesting Bureau authority to interview the subject of a security investigation must be personally approved by the SAC.
- XI. One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When unnecessary for Bureau to issue specific instructions or comments in connection with authorizing an interview, the Bureau will approve the request by placing an appropriate rubber-stamp impression on the single-page copy of the incoming letter and return it by routing slip.
- XIII. Upon receipt of Bureau authority, the interview must be conducted within [45] days. If this is impossible, advise Bureau of the reasons why the interview was not effected and state that the subject will be contacted within the next [45] days. At the end of the second [45-day] period if the interview has not been conducted, request additional authority. Include in the letters any new information bearing upon the advisability of conducting the interview.
- (f) Preparations for and conduct of interviews
- I. Interviews must be conducted by two Special Agents. An Agent experienced in security investigations who has knowledge of Bureau regulations regarding development of informants must conduct the actual interrogation. Approach need not be made by both Agents at the same time and one Agent may observe from a secure distance. Background of subject and individual circumstances will determine exactly how approach should be handled in each case. Two Agents should be physically present during any interview or contact with known or suspected Nation of Islam members in all types of Bureau cases.
 - II. Preparations for interview must be thorough and conducted so that interviewing Agents will not be compromised, the Bureau will not be embarrassed, and confidential informants will not be exposed.

- XI. Inform subjects connected with labor unions that the Bureau is not interested in employee-employer relations and is concerned only with obtaining information on infiltration of labor unions by subversive elements.
- XII. Furnish no information and make no statements to a person being interviewed which might later be used to embarrass the Bureau. Agents should not allow themselves to be interviewed by the interviewee or to be placed in a position of answering questions instead of asking them.
- XIII. Terminate immediately an interview if the subject proves to be hostile or uncooperative on initial contact.
- XIV. Exploit a subject's knowledge to the utmost if he is found to be willing to furnish information of value.
- XV. Questions asked of a subject being interviewed should be so worded as to require an admission or denial of all pertinent items of subversive information developed during prior investigation unless to do so would expose investigative techniques or security informants.
- XVI. A cordial and friendly attitude alone on the part of a subject should not be construed as evidence of cooperation insofar as potential dangerousness is concerned when he fails to admit or furnish substantially the same subversive information verified through previous investigation.
- XVII. Inform the subject that we are interested in interviewing him in great detail and arrange to conduct the interviews over as extended a period of time as necessary to develop the matter fully. Conduct necessary investigation or research to verify or add to what is being developed on interview. Request information from other offices or the Bureau to assist in the interview if needed.
- XVIII. Reduce information obtained to a signed statement if subject willing that this be done.
- XIX. Determine willingness to testify to information furnished in possible future Federal proceedings.
- XX. Consider possibility of developing these individuals as informants. If possibility is apparent, pursue matter with view to establishing subject as a reliable source in the subversive movement with which he has been connected.
- XXI. When no information is developed during the course of an interview which would affect a subject's status, submit the results thereof in letter form immediately following the interview and also in the next report submitted in the case. At least one report will be submitted in each case in which a subject is interviewed with Bureau authority. In the case of an individual employed in or holding a sensitive position enumerated in 87D 6b (7) (e) IV above, the results of all interviews must be submitted promptly in report form until such time as he begins to cooperate as a security informant or a source.
- XXII. Report information regarding the subject's admissions of his own subversive activities and associations and set forth a statement to the effect that he did or did not furnish information regarding subversive activities of others.
- XXIII. Report statements of denial regarding subject's subversive activities developed through prior investigation and follow by a brief summary statement of the past subversive activity which is being denied by the subject.

XXIV. Letter transmitting results of an interview must contain:

- (A) A definite statement or conclusion of interviewing Agents as to cooperativeness of subject
- (B) Whether information furnished by him coincides substantially with information developed against him
- (C) Reasons for the conclusions
- (D) Statement as to subject's availability as a potential witness and evaluation of subject's potential as an informant or confidential source
- (E) Further contacts contemplated
- (F) Recommendation that the security index card be canceled when it is determined from statements furnished by a security index subject regarding his subversive activities and associates, considered with other known information and factors, that the subject is no longer to be considered dangerous to the internal security in time of an emergency

XXV. The above instructions shall not preclude immediate interview of subject of a security-type investigation who contacts a Bureau representative and expresses a desire to furnish information concerning subversive activities. They do not apply to an interview of a person once he is an established informant or confidential source.

XXVI. Reinterviews with security index subjects should be considered on a systematic basis. This may be done by considering a recontact immediately prior to the time when it is necessary to submit [a periodic] report. In security index cases in which reports are submitted more frequently than once a year, the interview should be considered at least once a year. In all cases in which subjects have been interviewed in the past with Bureau authority and no reinterview is conducted prior to the submission of the [periodic] report, the cover page(s) accompanying report should [show] why a reinterview was not conducted. Results of reinterviews should be submitted in report form.

(g) Maintenance of file on defected subjects

- I. A dead file should be maintained for reference purposes in those offices having sufficient volume of security work to justify such action.
- II. Copies of memoranda designated for individual case files should be routed to this file. Such memoranda to contain:
 - (A) The background of the defectee
 - (B) Type of information he may furnish
 - (C) Period covered by this data

- IV. Changes, additions, and deletion of data appearing in section A of reserve index cards
- (A) Changes in data appearing on section A reserve index cards should be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a.
 - (B) Deletions from section A of the reserve index [shall] be recommended by letter. The letter should set forth the basis for the recommendation.
 - (C) Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section A cards to new office of origin.

(b) Section B

- I. This section is to contain the names of all other individuals included in the reserve index. This section is to be maintained only in the field office. The file of a reserve index B subject should be reviewed whenever informant information or other information is channeled to the file. A determination should be made at that time as to whether additional investigation is warranted.
- II. Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section B cards to new office of origin.

- (b) Where potential dangerousness of a subject has been established and inclusion of that subject in security index is warranted, the office of origin shall submit a recommendation for inclusion in security index by submitting form FD-122 to Bureau. Form must be prepared in triplicate. Original and one copy shall be forwarded to Bureau and one copy will be placed in subject's investigative case file.

Nothing should appear on FD-122 or subsequently on the security index card which is not in the subject's case file. Form FD-122 has two uses: (1) to recommend a subject for inclusion in the security index and (2) to submit changes to data which appears on face of security index cards already existent.

Proper selection should be made in the opening paragraph option. FD-122 is submitted with abstract when used to recommend the subject for inclusion in the security index and without abstract when used to indicate additions, deletions, or changes in data appearing on existing cards.

- (c) When form FD-122 is submitted to Bureau recommending inclusion of a name in security index, attach additional page or pages setting out a succinct summary of facts on which recommendation has been based. Facts must be in detail to clearly show soundness of recommendation. [Complete justification for designated priority level for apprehension must be included.] Statements of conclusion are not enough and original sources must be characterized as to reliability. Summary must contain pertinent dates of subject's activities.
- (d) When, at conclusion of investigation, subject's name is not being recommended for security index, set out a brief summary statement in the appropriate communication closing the case showing reasons for the decision.
- (e) Security index cards shall be recommended by and maintained by office of origin only.
- (f) A current report must be in possession of the Bureau when subject is recommended for security index. If it is the initial report in the case, it must be a summary report. If, however, prior investigative reports have been submitted which are suitable for dissemination and are appropriately documented, a summary report need not be submitted.
- (g) To assure that subject recommended for security index will receive proper attention, case shall be kept in pending or pending-inactive status until security index card has been received from Bureau and filed in office security index. If case continues in pending status because of outstanding investigation, reports shall carry a lead to follow authorization of security index card by the Bureau and if approved to disseminate a copy of the report to Secret Service in addition to other leads. If outstanding investigation has been completed and case would otherwise be closed upon submission of the report and form FD-122, case shall be placed in pending-inactive status with lead to follow authorization of security index card by Bureau and if approved to disseminate the copy of the report to Secret Service. In latter instance, upon receipt of security index card and following local dissemination to Secret Service, case may be closed administratively.
- (h) Recommendation for security index card should not be delayed because of absence of information concerning race, sex, citizenship, date and place of birth, or description where security index card is warranted. In such instances, recommendation for the card should be submitted with current report and case retained in pending status with investigation continuing to determine missing items of information.

- (i) Subjects missing or out of country may be recommended for the security index provided instructions set forth in 87D 6b (3) and (4) are followed. Forms FD-122 submitted on subjects should include data required in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV below.
- (j) When form FD-122 is submitted recommending a security index card be prepared on a subject who is of Chinese extraction, the words "Other - Chinese" must be included in the space on the form calling for a statement as to the subject's race. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending that a security index card be prepared on a person who is not of Chinese extraction but who has shown definite sympathies with Communist China, the form should include under "Miscellaneous" a statement to the effect "sympathetic to Communist China."
- (k) Upon receipt of form FD-122 at Bureau, the case of the subject will be reviewed and if recommendation of field is concurred in, security index cards will be prepared. Duplicate copy of form will be returned to office of origin stamped "Security Index card approved and prepared, three copies attached." Place description and photograph on reverse side of Geographical card. Cards should be filed in your Security Index." The three cards shall be filed in security index as outlined below. The returned copy of FD-122 shall be placed in subject's main investigative case file. Offices with a geographical breakdown by residence and employment will receive an extra card.
- (1) When security index cards are received from Bureau, data thereon must be checked for accuracy. Cards will be complete except for description and photograph. Descriptions and photographs are maintained on separate cards of similar size to security index cards which are stapled to back of two of the cards. One card will then be filed in the geographical section of office security index (except special section cards and unavailable section cards - see 87D 7b (6) (b) III and IV below); and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. The other card is filed in alphabetical section of security index. No information shall be permanently added, deleted, or changed on face of security index card without complying with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (8).
- (5) Content and appearance of security index card
- (a) Data to appear on face of card
- When complete, face of security index card should contain the following information. If any of items enumerated in I through XIV are missing at time the security index card is made, the case should be continued as pending and investigation conducted to obtain the necessary information. Set forth under each item below are possible categories in which subject may be classified, together with code letters which should be placed in appropriate space on form FD-122 when sending form to Bureau recommending security index card be prepared. Code letters should subsequently appear on security index cards received from Bureau.
- I. Name and aliases
- The full and correct name and aliases of the subject must be contained on the security index card. When the true name of a subject or any aliases are changed, added, deleted, or are found to be incorrect, form FD-122 must be submitted showing the correct data to be placed on the security index card.

Data will not be attached to the security index card filed in the alphabetical section. These cards contain printed captions to assist in recording the descriptive information. Captions are not all-inclusive and should be augmented by other data required.
 - (A) Complete description

 - (E) Other data which will assist in effecting apprehension of subject, such as directions to residence or employment, where subject not situated in usual locations, listing of number of minor children and aged dependents
 - II. If descriptive data have not been obtained, case must be kept pending and investigation conducted to develop this information. Upon posting of security index flash notices in security index cases, the field will be furnished the FBI number and fingerprint classification which should be affixed to reverse side of the security index cards filed in geographical, special, and unavailable sections.
 - III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special, or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by [automatic data processing] and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

unequivocal regardless of Yugoslavia's foreign policies.

(G) Cuban

In order that, in the event of an emergency involving Cuba and the U. S., special handling may be afforded those subjects whose organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies are shown as "Cuban." Security index cards denoting such will contain the code "CUB" on line 1.

Standards for inclusion of subjects in the special section of the security index are the same as those for any other potentially dangerous subject.

When submitting a recommendation for preparation of a security index card on an individual falling in one of the above categories, form FD-122 must include the words "Special Section" typed in the upper right portion thereof. The proper category should be typed on FD-122 in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)."

Security index cards to be placed in the special section shall bear the appropriate code letters in the upper right portion designating the subsection in which the cards should be placed. Upon receipt from the Bureau of the three security index cards of subjects in these categories, the required additional data shall be placed on two which shall be filed alphabetically in the appropriate subsection of the special section. The third card shall be filed in the alphabetical section of the security index. Under no circumstances should special section security index cards be filed in the geographical section of the index.

When a security index subject whose card is maintained in the special section no longer comes within one of the categories of the special section, FD-122 must be submitted with the words "Remove from Special Section" typed in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." If the card should be placed in the unavailable section, the statement "Place in Unavailable Section" should be added in this space. When the new cards are received from the Bureau, they should be checked for accuracy and the description and photograph, if available, should be placed on separate cards of similar size and attached to the back of two of the cards. These two cards should then be filed in the geographical or unavailable section (where applicable) and the other card filed in the alphabetical section of the security index. The old cards should be destroyed.

The special section card shall [indicate the priority level for apprehension.]

It is not contemplated that subjects of security index cards maintained in the special section will be apprehended under a mass apprehension program. The cases of such subjects shall be given individual attention upon the inception of the apprehension program and the subjects will not be apprehended in the absence of specific Bureau instructions in each case.

IV. Unavailable section

Security index cards of individuals who are missing, out of the country, or are imprisoned shall be retained in the unavailable section. This section shall be broken down into three subsections headed by tabs marked "Missing,"

"Out of the Country," and "Imprisoned." The unavailable section shall be maintained in accordance with the following instructions:

(A) Missing subjects

Security index subjects are not to be included in the unavailable section as missing immediately upon determination that they are no longer located at their previously known places of residence or employment. The action required in 87D 6b (3) above must be taken prior to submitting FD-122 placing a subject in the unavailable section as a missing subject. The Bureau must be periodically advised of the investigative steps taken to locate missing security index subjects in accordance with 87D 6b (3).

If the subject is missing, the word "Missing" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)."

(B) Subjects out of the country

The security index cards of subjects who are found to have departed from the U. S. or Puerto Rico for a foreign country shall be placed in this subsection of the unavailable section of the security index unless their cards should be cancelled in accordance with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (10) (b).

If the subject is out of the country, the words "Out of the Country" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." If the foreign address is known, place it on FD-122 in the space provided for the residence address. If the subject is only known to be in a certain foreign country and his residence there is not known or is only known to be traveling abroad, include this information on FD-122. If the subject's current employment abroad is known, include it on FD-122.

The case of any security index subject who is out of the country must be followed at least each six months for verification of the subject's address, the same as any other security index case, to determine if the subject has returned to this country.

Appropriate stops should be placed with the Immigration and Naturalization Service to be advised of information which may become available to it indicating the subject's return to this country.

(C) Imprisoned subjects

The cards of security index subjects who are found to be imprisoned shall be placed in the unavailable section of the security index.

If the subject is in prison, the word "Imprisoned" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." The identity of the institution in which the subject is incarcerated shall be typed in the space provided for the residence address. The space for the business address shall be left blank.

ould be completely filled out as if a first recommendation is being made, and submitted with a current report. If not, the Bureau should be advised of the reasons for not reactivating his security index card. In either case, cancel the inactive card.

(7) Periodic verification of addresses

- (a) The data recorded on security index cards shall be in an up-to-date status at all times.
- (b) The whereabouts of all security index subjects should be known at all times. [The residence and business addresses of security index subjects in priority I must be checked at least once each three months.] The residence and business addresses of all [other] security index subjects must be checked at least once each six months, except those imprisoned and those who were included in the security index because of disaffection for the U. S. (defection to a Sino-Soviet-bloc country, including Cuba since 10-1-60) (see section 105G, item 3, volume IV, of this manual). The residence and employment of those who were included in the security index because of disaffection for the U. S. must be verified every thirty days. The case of any security index subject who is out of the country must be followed at least each six months to determine if he has returned to this country.

Perfect arrangements to be advised on a current basis of any indication that the subject is engaged in subversive activities, is exhibiting violent tendencies, or plans to change his residence or employment. Periodic checks to verify residence or business addresses may be made under appropriate pretext by telephone [once each six months for those individuals in priority I and once each year for all other subjects. Pretext means may be utilized during other periodic checks conducted either personally or through appropriate sources.]

- (c) The physical characteristics and description of each security index subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation and the individual case file of each security index subject shall show that this has been done. If a security index subject has not been personally observed previously, this should be done during the next verification of the subject's residence and/or business addresses.
- (d) Use form FD-154 in verifying addresses of security index subjects when its use will facilitate the checking of the addresses. When FD-154 is not used in verifying addresses, a notation must be made on the last FD-154, FD-122, or FD-128 in the subject's case file showing the subject's current residence and business addresses and the date such addresses were verified. This must be done to assure that the file will contain all information concerning the status of the case and that the file will come to the attention of the Agent or field supervisor to determine if additional action is warranted at the time of the verification of addresses. Each time that a security index subject's residence and employment are verified, the case must be reevaluated to assure that the subject is qualified for inclusion in the security index under the criteria for such inclusion. A notation to the effect that the case has been reviewed for this purpose shall be made in the file.
- (e) If it is determined that the residence or business address or both have been changed from those appearing on the security index card, FD-122 should be submitted to the Bureau with the current residence or business address shown thereon. In such instances, FD-122 should show only the changes to be made on the security index card. FD-122 should be accompanied by form FD-366 for dissemination to Secret Service. Secret Service should be advised locally by dissemination of FD-366.

- (f) The project of verifying addresses of security index subjects shall be handled by reopening and assigning the cases for verification and closing the cases administratively upon accomplishment of verifications. Verification should also be made at the time of submission of all [periodic] investigative reports and should be reported therein.
- (8) Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing on security index cards
- (a) Submit to Bureau by FD-122 any changes, additions, or deletions involving name, aliases, citizenship, organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies, [priority designation,] date or place of birth, key facility geographical reference number, abbreviation of agency having security responsibility (see 87D 7c (2) below), residence or business address. Exception: Change office of origin by form FD-128.
 - (b) Insertion or removal of cards from special section or unavailable section should be handled pursuant to 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV.
 - (c) Temporary handwritten notations may be made on existing security index cards pending receipt of corrected cards from Bureau.
 - (d) Indicate use of FD-122 for changes by checking proper opening paragraph and submit without abstract.
 - (e) Set out only items being changed, added, or deleted. If being deleted, specify "Delete."
 - (f) Upon receipt from Bureau of corrected security index cards with duplicate copy of FD-122 (stamped "Corrected Security Index cards attached. Substitute for cards in file and destroy old cards. Place photograph and description on reverse side of geographical cards."), action to be taken includes:
 - I. Check accuracy of data on cards.
 - II. Transfer separate cards with descriptive data and photograph from back of old geographical section cards to back of corrected cards, staple them, and file in geographical section. Exception: For special or unavailable section subjects, see 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV above.
 - III. File third card in alphabetical section of security index.
 - IV. Destroy old cards.
- (9) Movement of subjects between offices and transfers of security index cards
- (a) Subjects of security index cards
 - I. Requests to verify addresses of security index subjects from other offices must be assigned immediately and results of investigation to verify the new address must be transmitted to the office of origin within two weeks.
 - II. Office of origin, upon receipt of verification of address, should submit FD-128 immediately transferring office of origin. Forms regarding unavailable section subjects should be prepared in accordance with 87D 7b (6) (b) IV above.
 - III. Submit original and one copy of FD-128 to Bureau. Submit two copies thereof to office covering subject's new address, enclosing copies of all previous reports, other pertinent serials, photograph if available, and security index cards. FD-128 should show full title [and priority level designation.]
 - IV. Information concerning key facility employment of subject in new office should be furnished by that office to old office of origin so that geographical reference new office, agency having security responsibility, and interested agencies can be included on FD-128 submitted by old office of origin.

- V. Where security index flash notice has been placed with Identification Division, notation to that effect must appear on FD-128 and extra copy of FD-128 must be specifically designated for Bureau marked "Attention Identification Division" so that those records will [show]new office controlling existing security index flash notice.
- VI. The old office of origin will submit current report.

Submission of FD-128 should not be delayed solely for preparation of reports when office of origin is to be changed, but notation should be made on FD-128 that old office of origin is preparing report.

Case will remain pending in both old and new offices of origin until report is submitted by old office of origin. The new office of origin is responsible to follow the matter until the report is submitted.

- VII. The new office of origin is to review the pertinent material received with FD-128, as well as pertinent information in the files of the new office, to determine whether additional investigation is warranted. If no additional investigation is warranted, advise Bureau by letter that the case is being placed in a closed status.

- VIII. Upon receipt of FD-128, office covering new address of subject will be office of origin with no other communication necessary in this regard. New office of origin will place its file number on security index cards received and place them in security index of that office.

- IX. Upon receipt of new security index cards from Bureau with copy of FD-128, new office of origin is to transfer information from reverse side of old geographical cards to two of the new cards, appropriately file new cards, and destroy old cards.

(b) Top functionaries

Mechanics of transferring cases for all security index subjects as described above shall apply to top functionaries. Additional procedures in [this category] are:

- I. Notification to Bureau of deletion of subject as top functionary in old office of origin will be handled merely by designation in space provided on FD-128 that subject was top functionary.
- II. Upon receipt of form FD-128, new office of origin shall automatically designate subject top functionary and continue case in an assigned pending status [until investigation is completed. After investigation is completed and a summary report has been submitted by the old office of origin, the case may be placed in a pending-inactive status.] Within three months, new office of origin is to conduct active investigation, submit investigative report on subject, and advise Bureau concerning continued designation of subject in [this category.]

transfer, agency having security responsibility, and interested agencies can be included on FD-128 submitted by old office of origin.

- V. Where security index flash notice has been placed with Identification Division, notation to that effect must appear on FD-128 and extra copy of FD-128 must be specifically designated for Bureau marked "Attention Identification Division" so that those records will [show]new office controlling existing security index flash notice.

- VI. The old office of origin will submit current report.

Submission of FD-128 should not be delayed solely for preparation of reports when office of origin is to be changed, but notation should be made on FD-128 that old office of origin is preparing report.

Case will remain pending in both old and new offices of origin until report is submitted by old office of origin. The new office of origin is responsible to follow the matter until the report is submitted.

- VII. The new office of origin is to review the pertinent material received with FD-128, as well as pertinent information in the files of the new office, to determine whether additional investigation is warranted. If no additional investigation is warranted, advise Bureau by letter that the case is being placed in a closed status.

- VIII. Upon receipt of FD-128, office covering new address of subject will be office of origin with no other communication necessary in this regard. New office of origin will place its file number on security index cards received and place them in security index of that office.

- IX. Upon receipt of new security index cards from Bureau with copy of FD-128, new office of origin is to transfer information from reverse side of old geographical cards to two of the new cards, appropriately file new cards, and destroy old cards.

(b) Top functionaries

Mechanics of transferring cases for all security index subjects as described above shall apply to top functionaries. Additional procedures in [this category] are:

- I. Notification to Bureau of deletion of subject as top functionary in old office of origin will be handled merely by designation in space provided on FD-128 that subject was top functionary.

- II. Upon receipt of form FD-128, new office of origin shall automatically designate subject top functionary and continue case in an assigned pending status [until investigation is completed. After investigation is completed and a summary report has been submitted by the old office of origin, the case may be placed in a pending-inactive status.] Within three months, new office of origin is to conduct active investigation, submit investigative report on subject, and advise Bureau concerning continued designation of subject in [this category.]

- (c) Subjects tabbed for [priority] Security index card shall continue to be tabbed for priority apprehension in new office of origin until such time as it is determined by receipt of information by that office that priority designation is not warranted under the provisions of 87D 7b (11) below.
- (d) Subjects not included in security index
- I. Transfer office of origin by FD-128 only upon verification by another office of subject's presence in that division. FD-128 should show full title.
 - II. Enclose copies of all investigative reports and other pertinent serials with copies of FD-128 to new office of origin.
 - III. New office of origin is to investigate or advise Bureau that case closed if no action warranted
- (10) Cancellation and removal of cards from active security index SAC shall personally recommend the removal of any name from the security index under the conditions set out in 87D 7b (4). Recommendation to cancel subject's name from the security index should be accompanied by a current investigative report except in case of death of the subject.
- (a) Death of subject
Destroy security index card without Bureau authority, but advise Bureau by letterhead memorandum.
 - (b) Permanent departure from the Bureau's jurisdiction
Upon learning of the departure of a security index subject from the U. S. or Puerto Rico for a foreign country, immediately ascertain conditions surrounding his departure.

No security index card shall be canceled by reason of a subject's departure for a foreign country unless that subject is an alien who has permanently departed either voluntarily or as a result of deportation proceedings. In such instances the security index cards will be canceled only after the subject's departure has been verified as being permanent. If a U. S. citizen who is included in the security index and who has been out of the country is found to have renounced his citizenship and taken citizenship of a foreign country, his security index card may be canceled only after it has been determined that he does not intend to return to the U. S.

Recommendations to cancel the security index cards of such subjects shall be made by letter directed to the Bureau. The cards shall be canceled only after receipt of advice from the Bureau that the Bureau's security index cards have been canceled.

- (c) Imprisonment of subject
Security index cards shall not be canceled by reason of a subject's having been imprisoned regardless of the length of time he will be incarcerated. The cards of such subjects shall be placed in the unavailable section of the security index and the cases handled thereafter in accordance with the instructions set forth in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV above.
- (d) Induction of subject into the armed forces
Security index cards of subjects who have been inducted into the armed forces of the U. S. are to be placed in the inactive section of the field security index. Follow the procedure set forth above under 87D 7b (6) (b) (V).
- (e) Security informants
The security index card of any subject who is developed as a security informant should be canceled. In requesting the Bureau's permission to designate such a subject as a security informant, direct Bureau's attention to the existence of a security index card for unit index card. In all such instances a specific recommendation must be made concerning the cancellation of the card. The card may be destroyed upon receipt of Bureau authority to designate the subject as a security informant.

- (f) Subject no longer dangerous or potentially dangerous. Instructions set out below should be read in conjunction with 87D 6b (7) (c) herein relating to interviews with security index subjects.

Frequently, after a subject is included in the security index, information is received or investigation develops information indicating that he is no longer a threat to the internal security by reason of [physical condition,] defection or expulsion from the subversive movement, membership in or affiliation with which was the reason for placing him in the security index. Such defection may be shown by lack of activity and obvious disinterest over an extended period of time or upon declaration of opposition to the principles of the subversive movement. The latter may manifest itself in declarations by a subject in the presence of confidential informants or other sources, statements to the press, or actual contact with Bureau representatives and admission of previous subversive activity.

When sufficient information is at hand regarding subject's present sympathies to reach conclusion that he should no longer be scheduled for apprehension as a dangerous subversive, request authority to interview subject or advise Bureau of reasons why subject should not be interviewed. Bureau will not cancel security index card without consideration being given to interview of subject. See 87D 6b (7) (c) and (d).

- (g) If, upon interview, subject proves cooperative to extent that his security index card should be canceled, advise Bureau by letter of results together with a recommendation for cancellation which must be approved by Bureau. Subjects removed from security index solely upon basis of application of security index criteria, with no affirmative indication of defection

As security index cases are reviewed upon reopening in the field, there will be instances in which removal will be required by application of the security index criteria set out in 87D 7b (3). With the passage of time, limits specified in criteria will operate to remove certain subjects even though there is no affirmative indication of defection.

Letters recommending removal of a subject's name from the security index should be accompanied by form FD-122a if facts in the case warrant the inclusion of subject's name in section A of the reserve index.

The following procedures should be followed in the case of those individuals not being recommended for inclusion in section A of the reserve index:

- I. When subjects are removed from security index solely on basis of application of security index criteria as cases are reopened and reviewed in the field, retain security index cards pertaining to such subjects bearing the descriptive matter on reverse sides; i.e., the cards previously filed in geographical, special, or unavailable sections. Destroy cards previously filed in alphabetical section. Those offices maintaining two sets of geographical cards under provisions of 87D 7b (6) (b) I should retain but one card in each instance, destroying second geographical card as well as card previously filed in alphabetical section.

- II. Mark canceled across face of each card being retained and file in the reserve index, section B.
- III. The above instructions do not apply in the case of individuals removed from the security index based upon activity in the Nation of Islam. Security index cards in such cases should be destroyed.

(h) Subjects of Chinese extraction

In any communication recommending cancellation of a security index card on a subject of Chinese extraction, such communication must contain the words "Other - Chinese." This regulation relates specifically to those subjects placed on the security index following a recommendation submitted in accordance with the instructions contained in section 87D 7b (4) (j) above.

(11) Priority apprehension program

(a) Purpose

Many individuals included in security index because of their training, violent tendencies, or prominence in subversive activity are extremely dangerous and would be more inclined to commit or capable of committing overt acts against the U. S. in time of national emergency than would others in security index. Degree of dangerousness of such individuals is so pronounced that in interest of security they must be immobilized in the least possible time prior to others in security index.

Individuals in security index tabbed [priority I and/or priority II] would be arrested first in event of a limited but grave emergency, probably without the arrest of other security index subjects.

In an all-out emergency, all subjects whose names are in the security index should be considered for immediate apprehension.

Each individual case should stand on its own merits and decision to consider subjects for priority of apprehension should be based on subject's subversive activities and revolutionary tendencies.

(b) Subjects to be tabbed [priority]

I. Each security index subject should be considered for [priority I] tabbing who falls within one or more of following categories:

[(A)] All top functionaries

[(B)] All individuals considered to be hard core national and state basic revolutionary organization leaders and those leaders of other subversive organizations and unorganized groups and individuals who have indicated a propensity for violence and/or have received special training in sabotage, espionage, and/or guerrilla warfare. Examples of activities of individuals who should be included in this priority are as follows:]

- [i.] Activity as organizers or leaders in the organization
- [ii.] Special training at Lenin School or Far Eastern Institute in Moscow
- [iii.] Experience as picket captains, strong-arm men, or active participation in violent strikes, riots, or demonstrations
- [iv.] Violent statements or strong revolutionary tendencies as shown by their activities

- [v.] Persons active in the Communist[Party or other organization underground apparatus]
- [vi.] Any other security index subject whose activities, past or present, regardless of membership in a revolutionary organization, clearly and unmistakably depict the individual as a potential saboteur, espionage agent, or disruptionist in the event of an emergency
- [(C) Individuals employed in or having access to key and/or defense facilities
- II. Security index subjects considered for priority II
 - (A) All individuals who are considered to be of second level leadership of basic revolutionary organizations and other subversive organizations and individuals who present a significant threat but are in less influential positions than those in priority I
- III. All other individuals on the security index will be tabbed priority III.]
- (c) Recommendations for and removal of[priority]designation
 - I. Approval of SAC
 - Designation of each subject[as to priority]or removal of any subject therefrom must be personally approved by SAC, or in offices having more than 1,000 security index subjects by SAC, ASAC, or Bureau-approved security supervisor.
 - II. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending either tabbing for[priority]or deletion of such tabbing, attach an additional page setting out a brief summary of facts upon which the recommendation is based.
- (d) Administrative procedures for handling[priority]program
 - Take following action to assure that security index cards for subjects tabbed for priority of apprehension will be readily available for emergency action in your office:
 - I. [Deleted]
 - II. Geographical section
 - Divide geographical section of security index into[three] distinct parts.
 - (A) Part I of geographical section shall include only security index cards for subjects who are tabbed [priority I.]
 - (B) Part II of geographical section shall contain security index cards for all subjects that are tabbed [priority II.]
 - (C) [Part III of geographical section should contain security index cards for all subjects who are tabbed priority III.]
 - [(D)] In offices having two separate and distinct geographical sections, i.e., geographical-employment and geographical-residence, as provided under 87D 7b (6) herein, each such geographical section must be broken into[parts I, II, and III.]
 - [(E) Priority cards will be the following colors: priority I - beige, priority II - green, priority III - white]
 - III. Alphabetical section
 - (A) One security index card for each subject is to be filed in alphabetical section in strict alphabetical order with no other breakdown whatsoever.
 - (B) [Deleted]
 - (C) [Priority]tabbings approved at Bureau will be shown on security index cards forwarded to field by code letters["P I," "P II," or "P III"]in first line on [the]cards.

IV. [Deleted]

(e) General

I. Tabbing of cards

The alphabetical security index cards on those individuals designated as "Pro-Cuban" should be tabbed with a metal tab.

II. Removal from [priority I and priority II]

Careful analysis must be made of each case in which deletion from [priority I and priority II] is proposed. For instance, when a [subject] is being removed from [priority I or priority II] tabbing, [file review may well disclose that subject qualifies for [priority] tabbing for reasons covered in 87D 7b (11) (b).

c. Individuals employed in or having access to key facilities and defense facilities

(1) Responsibility

FBI is responsible by Presidential directive for keeping other Federal agencies advised of developments within their jurisdiction affecting plants having armed forces contracts, as well as other facilities, utilities, and critical points of transportation and communications systems which have been designated as vital to the national defense and welfare by the Department of Defense.

FBI is responsible under Delimitations Agreement for investigating employees of private contractors who have contracts with agencies of Department of Defense where credible subversive information concerning employee is obtained. Thorough investigation must be conducted and consideration for inclusion in security index given concerning any individual employed in or having access to a key facility who is alleged to have been, at any time in the past, a member of any basic revolutionary organization or against whom sufficient other subversive information is in our possession which warrants such action.

(a) Requests for investigation from another agency

When another agency requests investigation of individual employed in key facility and/or defense facility, institute investigation immediately if basis of request so warrants. Advise Bureau of request, basis thereof, and that investigation is being conducted.

(b) Verification of key facility or defense facility status of place of employment

Department of Defense Key Facilities List and Defense Facilities List (maintained in each office) must be checked for verification of information that a security investigation subject's place of employment may be included in such list.

(c) Individuals denied access to restricted information

Intelligence agencies of armed forces frequently advise that an individual has been denied clearance to work in a defense plant or to handle classified or restricted information. In some instances clearance is denied based on information furnished by Bureau. At other times, information in Bureau files is very meager or possibly negative and basis for such denial of clearance is not known. The intelligence agency is responsible for furnishing Bureau with any information involving disloyalty or subversiveness.

Office receiving notification that an individual has been denied clearance must ascertain promptly basis for such denial and obtain all pertinent data contained in file of agency responsible for such action. Forward such data to Bureau and incorporate in next report submitted concerning individual in question. Where no investigation has been conducted by Bureau and there is no case on individual being denied clearance, give consideration to opening a security investigation if information received from intelligence agency warrants such action.

(2) Inclusion in security index

In recommending key facility employee for inclusion in security index, FD-122 is to contain:

- (a) Key facility geographical reference number
- (b) Abbreviation for agency having security responsibility. [The Department of the Army has been designated the agency having security responsibility for all key facilities.]
- (c) Abbreviations for other agencies known to have classified contracts with the key facility. Interested agencies should be identified on FD-122 to assure proper dissemination of reports but will not appear on security index cards returned from Bureau.
- (d) [Deleted]

If subject of existing security index card is found to have become employed in a key facility, FD-122 must be submitted to Bureau with above-required key facility data set forth thereon. Case is then to be handled in accordance with instructions set forth below concerning key facility cases.

(3) Dissemination

Upon receipt of original complaint or allegation concerning key facility employee from source other than interested intelligence agency, a summary of complaint and information concerning the individual should be furnished immediately by letter to interested intelligence agency. Intelligence agency should then be advised whether a security investigation is being conducted of the individual and, if investigation is being conducted, that copies of reports will be furnished upon completion of investigation. Letter to intelligence agency should clearly point out that information is unsubstantiated and has not been verified through investigation by FBI.

In addition to disseminating to interested intelligence agencies information of a derogatory security nature developed concerning persons employed at facilities holding classified contracts, with the exception of classified contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission, such information should be furnished to the Chief, Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office (DISCO), Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, 43215, attention Chief, Adjudication Division. In each instance, advise the interested intelligence agency that dissemination has been made to DISCO. This dissemination is to include derogatory security information developed concerning persons who may not be currently employed at such a facility but who are known to be holders of an industrial security clearance.

These instructions do not apply to allegations of espionage or those of such a confidential character as would not ordinarily be disseminated. Such information appearing to be of immediate interest to other intelligence agencies should be submitted to Bureau by most expeditious means, depending upon the circumstances, with a request that the Bureau consider advisability of disseminating it.

Disseminate copies of each report to the local representative of agency having security responsibility, as well as to local representative of other intelligence agencies known to have

classified contracts with the key facility. Copies of reports for the Marine Corps should be disseminated locally to NISO.

Dissemination to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA) (formerly Armed Forces Special Weapons Project), the Research and Development Board (RDB), and the Maritime Administration (MA) will be made at the Bureau, and not in the field.

(4) Status of cases

After all active investigation conducted, place in a closed status. Forty-five days before report due, make case pending active and check with armed services representative at the key facility, or with other reliable sources, to determine whether subject has access to classified or restricted material.

d. Top functionary program

(1) General

Purpose of top functionary program is to select for special attention those individuals in a subversive movement who are of outstanding importance to the effectiveness of the movement.

Top functionary program is described below as pertaining to the Communist Party, USA. However, it also applies to important individuals active in or on behalf of other basic revolutionary groups, [subversive organizations, or unorganized groups who have indicated a propensity for violence.]

(2) [Deleted]

(3) Definition [of top functionary]

A top functionary is an individual, either a member or a nonmember of the Communist Party, to whom, because of his importance, it is necessary to give continuous investigative attention in order to keep abreast of communism on a national basis in the U. S. Necessarily, such an individual would be on a high policy level in the movement. [This also applies to an individual, either a member or a nonmember of other subversive organizations or unorganized groups, who would be on a high policy level in the movement.]

The term "top functionary" is not to be construed as requiring that individuals in this category must actually hold official positions in [the] organizations but shall be given a broad enough construction to include others who are of equal importance because of their influence in the movement itself, or their position and activities outside the party in labor, front, or similar organizations or movements. Black nationalist extremists whose importance justifies continuous investigative attention should be considered for designation as top functionaries.

(4) Manner of designation [of top functionary]

Prior Bureau authority necessary to designate a subject as a top functionary. Submit such recommendation to Bureau by letter containing reasons for the recommendation. Bureau desires to be very selective in this matter and to concentrate on individuals who, on a national basis, are the guiding hands in the communist movement [and other subversive movements. Top functionaries are to be included in priority I and reports are to be submitted in accordance with 87D 7f-(2).]

At the seat of Government a careful appraisal will be made of the field's recommendation, following which the office will be advised concerning the Bureau's decision on the recommendation.

- (5) Regulations governing [the handling] of top functionaries
- [(a) Designation and deletion of top functionary status
Designate or remove a subject as a top functionary by individual letter to the Bureau carrying the subject in the caption and containing a brief statement as to the reason for designation or deletion.
- Where office of origin for top functionaries is transferred, deletions in the old office of origin and additions in the new office are handled in accordance with 87D 7b (9) (b).
- (b) Photographs
Photographs must be obtained for each top functionary. Whenever possible, the photographs should be obtained from public records, law enforcement agencies, state or Federal Government agencies, and similar sources. Where more direct means employed, use extreme care to avoid prejudicing the investigation. Send one copy of photograph of each top functionary to the Bureau, either by cover letter or as enclosure to a report. Maintain a copy of each photograph in the subject's individual case file in the field. If album of top functionary photographs maintained, be sure duplicates are also filed in each individual subject's file.
- (c) Handwriting specimens
Suitable handwriting specimens of each top functionary must be obtained. Whenever possible, obtain handwriting specimens from public records, law enforcement agencies, and similar sources. Again, if more direct means employed, use extreme care. Send specimens to the Bureau under a separate cover letter by registered mail for the attention of the FBI Laboratory. Letter should bear caption of individual case.
- Handwriting specimens should be sufficiently extensive to permit possible future comparisons by the Laboratory. When specimens submitted may be of value as evidence, letter of transmittal should so state and Bureau should be requested to return specimens after copies have been made.
- (d) Security index cards
Request preparation by FD-122 at the earliest possible moment. Same rules apply to preparation and maintenance as apply to other security index cards. All security index cards for top functionaries shall be designated for priority I.
- (e) Change of office of origin
FD-128 changing office of origin on a top functionary automatically deletes him as top functionary in old office and adds him as a top functionary in new office. For further instructions concerning the change of office of origin in these cases, see 87D 7b (9) (b).
- (f) Reports
I. Character - Internal Security - (followed by appropriate letter designating the organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency)
- (6) Maintenance of list
Each office must maintain a current list on top functionaries.]

- e. Correlation of other investigations with the security index and reserve index

Individuals investigated by the Bureau under any character against whom subversive information is developed must be constantly borne in mind for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

- (1) Espionage and foreign intelligence investigations
Subjects of these investigations must be included in the security index and/or the reserve index if they meet the standards for inclusion therein. It is the responsibility of the investigating Agent and field supervising official to make appropriate recommendations for preparation of the security index card and/or the reserve index card, whenever appropriate.
- (2) Security of Government employes (SGE) investigations
Subjects of all SGE investigations against whom subversive derogatory information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

The Agent conducting investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer such cases to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling. Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the field office covering the subject's residence, when developed by any other office.

When an individual who has previously been investigated under the SGE character is the subject of a security index card and is still employed by the Federal Government or is being considered for Federal employment, the dual character of "Security of Government Employes" and the character of the subject's security case should be used in the report being submitted. This will insure that the reports are referred to the appropriate desks for supervision at the Bureau, as well as in the field. These reports should be written according to the standards prevailing for SGE reports.

Disseminate these dual character reports the same as any other security report. Representatives of other intelligence agencies requesting reports showing the actual SGE investigation should be informed to direct the request to their Washington headquarters for referral to the Bureau.

- (3) Atomic Energy Act, U. S. Information Agency applicant, departmental applicant, Bureau applicant, and other Bureau investigations
Subjects of all above investigations against whom subversive information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or the reserve index. In each such case the Agent conducting the investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer the matter to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling.

Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the office covering the subject's residence, whenever developed by another office.

When the subject of such an investigation is presently in the security index, a letter must be directed to the Bureau at the time the report is submitted advising that the subject is in the security index.

Information of interest to FBI and/or AEC obtained subsequent to completion of Atomic Energy Act - applicant investigations concerning AEC employees or persons having access to restricted data should be handled according to instructions in section 20, volume II, of this manual.

f. [Submission of and general rules concerning security reports]

(1) General

[Submission of summary reports should not be delayed for the purpose of conducting current investigation in previously closed cases, but appropriate leads should be set out.]

Cases of all security index subjects must be reopened or placed in a pending status for the purpose of preparing investigative reports in accordance with the schedule outlined in 87D 7f(2) and (7).]

Office indices and any material channelized to the case file since the most recent report should be reviewed and the case brought up to date by appropriate investigation to determine subject's current activities.

The cases shall be opened and assigned 45 days prior to the date the [periodic] report is due. Such cases shall also be opened and assigned six months after submission of the [periodic] report to accomplish verification of addresses [and further verification must be handled in accordance with 87D 7b (7) (b).] Upon such verification, the cases should be closed administratively.

(d) Cases of subjects recommended for security index

I. Pending inactive

- (A) If all active investigation completed at the time FD-122 forwarded to Bureau
- (B) Set forth lead to follow Bureau for security index card and if approved for dissemination of report to Secret Service.

II. Closed

- (A) Upon receipt of security index card from Bureau and dissemination to Secret Service
- (B) Thereafter follow by administrative tickler for investigative report as in (c) above.

(e) Subjects not in security index who are not to be included therein

I. Closed

- (A) Prior to closing, instructions under 87D 6b (7) pertaining to interview must be complied with.

[(8)] Content

- (a) In order to insure completeness of investigation, the following items should be considered as pertinent to an investigation and subsequent reporting of such should be handled under topical headings where appropriate.

I. Background

- (A) Birth date
- (B) Citizenship status
- (C) Education
- (D) Marital status
- (E) Military service record (domestic or foreign, including type of discharge, citations, etc.)
- (F) Identification record
- (G) Employment
- (H) Residence
- (I) Status of health (if known)

II. Connections with Communist Party, other basic revolutionary groups, front groups, Black nationalist extremist groups, [and/or other subversive organizations or unorganized groups]

- (A) Information concerning admission to revolutionary group including sponsors, etc.
- (B) History of activity in, attendance at meetings of, and positions held in subversive movement with which subject is identified

- III. Revolutionary statements made by subject showing advocacy of overthrow of Government by force or violence
- (A) Determine each statement and ascertain full details surrounding each.
 - (B) Determine all statements by subject showing complete adherence to principles of Marxism-Leninism or other revolutionary doctrines espoused by subversive group with which subject is identified.
- IV. All other activities of subject indicating furtherance of program of subversive organizations with which he is associated
- (A) Speeches
 - (B) Writings
 - (C) Organizational directives and/or educational outlines signed by or issued by subject, or issued while subject was officer of organization
 - (D) Determine all pertinent contacts between subject and leaders of party.
 - (E) Ascertain details concerning the subject's attendance at Lenin School, attendance at training schools of subversive organizations with which subject has been identified, or activity as instructor at such schools.
- V. False statements made by subject including use of aliases. Such evidence obtained from passports, voting, marital records, income tax returns, employment and selective service records, among others, may be in your files.
- VI. Miscellaneous
Consider pertinent items not falling under the above categories.
- (b) So far as possible all reports on individuals should be confined to:
- I. Proof of membership and activity in basic revolutionary organization, front organizations, [and/or other organizations or unorganized groups]
 - II. Information concerning position and importance of subject in subversive movement
 - III. Pertinent background information

Include in security reports only information pertinent to determining whether or not subject is engaged in subversive activities. Be certain to set out the date or period to which it pertains; e.g., John Doe advised on January 15, 1968, that subject attended Communist Party meetings in January, 1962, in Syracuse, New York.

- (c) Information suggestive of additional leads and information of particular significance in showing subject's knowledge of and adherence to revolutionary aims of organization or organizations with which he is associated should be fully and carefully reported.
- (d) Each report is to include all information having any pertinency as to whether or not there is justification for security index card. This includes pertinent information concerning background and subversive activities.
- (e) When previous summary reports which have been prepared are not suitable for dissemination because of disclosure of sources, information contained therein should be included in current summary reports with sources fully protected. Each office must be certain that all pertinent information has been incorporated in either a past or current disseminative summary report.
- (f) Frequently information will have been obtained [reporting] subject's presence at numerous meetings of subversive organizations over a period of years. In many instances these facts will have been reported by only one informant. In others, two or three informants will have reported subject's attendance at meetings. The question of pertinency of all such items is dependent upon the weight of all of the evidence obtained against the subject.
- (g) Such repetitious and cumulative items to be specifically set forth in reports may be reduced in number to the point where they will be limited to a representative number of such items. Each such item specifically set forth must be fully documented.
- (h) The number of such items to be included in each instance will be dependent upon the preponderance of other evidence available for inclusion in the report which will lend weight to our case against the subject.
- (i) Selection of such items with regard to period of time will be dependent upon all facts developed against subject. Selection should be based upon the objective of specifically reporting data sufficient to justify continued detention of each subject if apprehended.

When selection of representative number of such items is made, they should be followed by a general statement summarizing any other items furnished by source. The summarizing statement should indicate that source advised during a specified period of time that subject also attended a certain number of other meetings during a certain period.

In the documentation of a summarizing statement set out the file number and serial scope.

- (j) In connection with periodic reports in security index cases, there are instances in which evidence of extensive activity in subversive organizations will be developed. In these cases it is permissible to report such information in narrative-type statements without indicating exact dates of activity; however, the period of time involved must be shown, as well as the inclusive dates of the informant reports.

This type reporting is not to be utilized in Smith Act of 1940 cases or Internal Security Act of 1950 cases. The narrative statements must be statements of facts and not conclusions and information from each source must be reported in separate narrative statements.

- (k) The above instructions in no way remove responsibility for reporting all items of pertinence to the Bureau, bearing in mind the fact that Bureau files must be complete insofar as matters of substance are concerned, nor is responsibility removed for the reporting in detail of information tending to establish a subject's knowledge of the basic aims and purposes of the subversive organizations with which affiliated or information tending to establish that a subject holds revolutionary and/or anarchist beliefs.

In the documentation of narrative statements set forth the location of the original documents in the field office files by the file number and serial scope.

[(9)] Administrative data

(a) General

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. Reserve index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, FD-122a, FD-128, and FD-128a, and Bureau instructions for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature.

- II. Whenever reports relating to security index subjects contain data affecting material included on subject's existing security index card, the cover pages accompanying the report shall include as the last page form FD-305, appropriately checked, which form contains items pertaining to the following:
- (A) That subject's name is included in the security index or agitator index
 - (B) That data appearing on security index card[or agitator index card]is current
 - (C) That FD-122[or FD-397]has been submitted to Bureau where security index card[or agitator index card] changes are necessary
 - (D) That a suitable photograph is or is not available and date photograph was taken
 - (E) That subject is employed in a key facility and agency charged with security responsibility is specified and that agencies interested in that facility are specified
 - (F) Reason for classifying report
 - (G) Dates subject was previously interviewed and reason for not reinterviewing subject
 - (H) That subject no longer meets security index or agitator index criteria and a letter has been directed to the Bureau recommending cancellation
 - (I) That subject's case has been reevaluated and reasons are set forth as to why subject's activities continue to fall within security index or agitator index criteria
 - (J) That subject's security index card is[designated priority I or priority II]and reasons why subject's activities warrant[such designation]
- III. Form FD-305a containing items pertinent to reserve index subjects will be similarly utilized in connection with the submission of reports in reserve index cases.
- (b) Documentation of reports
- I. Deleted
 - II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.
 - III. Extensive investigation should not be conducted to further identify and locate outside individuals who have in the past furnished background information or to obtain documentary evidence of background information. For example, if previous investigation revealed that subject, according to reliable records, such as birth records, school records, or records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was born at a certain place on a certain date, such information will be sufficient for inclusion in report. Further verification will not be necessary.
 - IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity

in a key facility, copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as shown in sections 69, volume III, and 87D 7e (2), of this manual. For instructions regarding dissemination to the Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office, Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, see 87D 7c (3), of this manual.

- Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including policy, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section 69, volume III, of this manual.
- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
- (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA)
FAA issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way: individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to FAA. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau. For additional instructions regarding dissemination to FAA, see Manual of Rules and Regulations, part II, section 5.
- (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Under the agreement between the Bureau and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection dated 2-3-65, which is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual, reports are to be disseminated henceforth to Secret Service in all security index cases. An extra copy of the report in these cases should be furnished the Bureau. At the time the agreement was entered into, letterhead memoranda in all security index cases had been disseminated to Secret Service. Therefore, prior reports in these cases will not be disseminated.

Under the terms of the agreement, it is essential to advise Secret Service of the reason or reasons for referral - statement of the class or classes in appendix B of the agreement which the individual referred fits. For this purpose utilize form FD-376, which is designed to serve as a letter of transmittal for both local dissemination and dissemination at the SOG. The original and one copy of this form should be forwarded to the Bureau. A copy is to be maintained in the main case file and upon transferral of office of origin in any case, the new office of origin is to be furnished a copy. Careful consideration must be given to insure that the individual is properly categorized. In the case of subject being recommended for the security index, withhold dissemination pending Bureau approval of his security index status [only in those cases in which the subject is categorized as falling within category 3 of the agreement between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection.] Forward FD-376 as in any other case. [Prompt dissemination should be made of information developed regarding individuals falling within other than category 3.]

In the case of individual subject of prior investigation who is currently being recommended for the security index, do not disseminate prior reports. However, prepare a letterhead memorandum including pertinent information previously developed which should be disseminated to Secret Service, together with the current report. Copies of this letterhead memorandum should be forwarded to the Bureau for dissemination at headquarters level.

After initial dissemination to Secret Service in security index cases, as changes occur in the status of the individuals involved with respect to residence and employment, advise Secret Service locally and furnish two copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Form FD-366 may be used for this purpose. The letterhead memorandum should contain a reference to the previous communication disseminated to Secret Service.

When reporting changes in residence and/or employment concerning Chinese and Cuban aliens on the security index, in addition to dissemination to Secret Service, also advise the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) locally, and furnish four copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Bear in mind in filling out the reference that some letterhead memoranda have been expressly prepared for dissemination to Secret Service only and have not been furnished to the Department or INS; therefore, the copy furnished INS locally and two of the copies furnished the Bureau should reference the last communication to INS.

For instructions pertaining to dissemination to Secret Service in other than security index cases, refer to section 134B, volume IV, of this manual.

Upon transfer of office of origin in one of these cases, the old office of origin is to furnish Secret Service locally with the subject's new residence and business address and advise the Bureau that such has been done by the submission of two copies of the letterhead memorandum disseminated locally. The new office of origin need take no action regarding dissemination to Secret Service until such time as further changes occur with respect to the subject's status or until preparation of the next periodic report in the case.

(10) Dissemination at the Bureau

There are some situations in which dissemination is made at the Bureau instead of in the field. In the majority of instances, information received by the FBI should properly be furnished immediately to some other agency within the executive branch of the Government so that the responsibilities of the other agency might be fulfilled properly. Care must be taken, however, not to disseminate information to any field branch of another Government agency where such a procedure is deemed inadvisable because of the inadequacy of security measures in that branch. In these instances the data should be brought to the immediate attention of the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. An example of the latter is, of course, the Atomic Energy Commission, which receives reports only through the Bureau, as noted in section 87D 7c (3) of this manual. Information relating to foreign travel plans of security subjects is disseminated to interested agencies, including the State Department, only at the SOG, as set out in 87D 6b (4). Dissemination is also made at the SOG to the State Department, unless it appears undesirable, in those cases in which subjects have been indicted for violations grounded on subversive activities.

Dissemination in these cases is made to preclude these subjects from utilizing the fact they obtained a passport to refute allegations of subversive connections. The State Department, therefore, will be in possession of data concerning a defendant should he attempt to utilize this tactic in such an action.

b. Data developed concerning individuals who are not within the Bureau's investigative jurisdiction

(1) Members of the armed forces

The Delimitations Agreement between the FBI and the armed forces intelligence agencies states that the responsibility assumed by one organization in a given field carries with it the obligation to exchange freely and directly with other subscribing organizations all information of mutual interest.

Thus, in discharging our basic responsibilities in the internal security field, it is imperative that information concerning members of the military services be referred immediately to the appropriate branch having primary responsibility for its personnel. This procedure is mandatory, even though the security aspects of the data have not been fully resolved or verified. It should be specifically pointed out in such instances that the information has not been verified.

Section 87D 5b of this manual instructs that if it is determined a security subject is a member of the armed services the investigation must at that point be discontinued immediately and reported to the Bureau. The basis for such instruction lies in the fact that the subject is no longer within our investigative jurisdiction. In addition, dissemination of pertinent reports must be made locally in the field to the appropriate intelligence agency.

Our responsibility with regard to military personnel is not confined to those who have been the subjects of security investigations. It extends to any subversive derogatory data developed against a member of the armed services during any of our investigations of either individuals or organizations. For instance, if it is determined that a member of the armed forces has been in contact with a security subject or with any individual or group raising security implications, the appropriate intelligence service should be immediately advised locally. This should be done even though the security aspects of the contact have not been resolved, so that the military services may be in a position to discharge their responsibilities. It must be pointed out to them specifically in such instances that the data are unverified, and pertinent developments must be transmitted to them thereafter immediately upon receipt.

Section 87D 6b (1) (h) provides that during the course of security investigations it must be determined whether the subjects have any close relatives in the armed forces. Our responsibilities require that such associations be called to the attention of the appropriate military intelligence services, together with pertinent data, including reports, on the security subjects involved. The evaluation of these associations lies entirely within the province of the intelligence services, but for the reasons stated previously herein it is incumbent upon the Bureau to disseminate this information immediately upon receipt.

Any subversive contacts or information developed concerning military personnel must be set out in a letter to the Bureau, together with a statement as to the local dissemination made in the field. Such letter should be accompanied by a letterhead memorandum setting out with particularity the subversive data in a form entirely suitable for dissemination.

4. Internal Security Act of 1950

- a. Persons active in management, direction, or supervision of an organization are active in management, direction, or supervision, or as representatives, of
- b. Its support, financial or otherwise, is derived from
- c. Its funds, resources, or personnel are used to further or promote objectives of
- d. Positions taken or advanced by it from time to time do not deviate from those of

Any communist-action organization, communist foreign government, or the world communist movement.

5. Panel sources

a. Purpose

To develop potential witnesses who will be willing to obtain and introduce legally admissible evidence re. subversive nature of organizations in future prosecutive action

b. Program

- (1) Since Special Agent and active security informant testimony is undesirable, field should recruit panel of potential witnesses locally. Some may be found among American Legion contacts, plant informants, former and exposed security informants, etc.
 - (2) Panel members should attend public rallies and meetings, as well as obtain literature of organizations they are covering.
 - (3) To aid panelists, exhibit photographs of individuals they will most likely encounter at front organization functions.
 - (4) Handle notes, statements, and exhibits of panelists in same manner as other evidence. As panelists may subsequently become security informants, the same procedure should be followed in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panelists as is afforded that received from security informants. (See section 107, volume IV, of this manual.)
 - (5) Legitimate expenses incurred by panel members should be reimbursed in same manner as security informants.
 - (6) Eliminate inactive, ineffective, or unsatisfactory panelists on a continuing basis. At time of submission of semiannual letter, office panel should be reviewed to make certain all such panelists have been removed.
 - (7) Identities of panelists should be concealed.
- c. Administrative handling
- (1) Check prospective panelists through office indices, local police department, credit records, and established informants. If no undesirable information is developed, initial contact may be made with panelist to ascertain cooperativeness.
 - (2) Submit names of cooperative panelists to Bureau by letter outlining complete background and recommendation as to inclusion in office panel. [One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When approving the field's recommendation, this single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" by Bureau and will be returned.] Be certain such individuals are not plants and will consider relationship with Bureau in confidence.

- (3) Open 134 file when active investigation of prospective panelist is initiated. When preliminary investigation completed and Bureau has approved panelist, close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly.

Regular contacts with panelists should be noted in their respective files.

- (4) Only Agents designated should handle panelists.
 (5) Every four months submit letter of justification to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. See section 107N, 3b, volume IV, of this manual for form of letter. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling source must prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

- (6) Summary letter captioned "Panel Source Program" (Bufile 134-1113) to be prepared and submitted to Bureau March 25 and September 25 each year. Use following topical outline:
- (a) Status of program
 - Include progress in panel development. Show total number of new panelists developed and total number of panelists discontinued during six months' period.
 - (b) Total number panel sources active
 - (c) Names of organizations covered
 - (d) Number and identities of panelists redesignated to informant or potential informant status since institution of panel program

d. Suggestion

Coordinating Agent receives notice of coming events from Agents handling organization cases, security informants, and communist publications.

C. INVESTIGATION OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY, AND OTHER MARXIST REVOLUTIONARY-TYPE ORGANIZATIONS

1. Policy

a. Communist Party, USA

By Presidential Decree on 9-6-39, and subsequent restatements (see section 102, volume IV, of this manual), this Bureau is charged with the responsibility of coordinating all information with regard to the internal security of the U. S. Since 1939, a large portion of the Bureau's security investigation has been directed toward a coverage of the activities of communist parties and other groups whose aims seek the overthrow of the U. S. Government. The Communist Party, USA, is the best organized and most dangerous from a security standpoint. The party is not an isolated or purely domestic organization but is part of an international communist movement led and dominated by the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, the ultimate aim of which is to establish a worldwide communist state. The Communist Party, USA, bases its theory on the principles of Marxism-Leninism. (Considerable evidence shows that these principles look toward the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government or its downfall in the event of a war with the Soviet Union.) It would be a grave error to suppose that, because the party is actually and potentially small, it is not dangerous. The contemplated role of the party is such that it can be played best by an organization which is cohesive, easily mobilized, highly maneuverable, fanatically zealous, well disciplined, and immediately responsive in an emergency to the demands of its leaders. The highest authority in the Communist Party, USA, is the national convention which meets approximately once every two years. Between these conventions, the national committee is the highest authority of the party.

The Communist Party, USA, is divided into district and state organizations, then into county, city, section, and club organizations. The number and nature of these subdivisions are dependent on the number of members in the various localities. Every party member must belong to a party club.

The Communist Party strategy and policy is based primarily on the loyal support and defense of the Soviet Union. The party line changes from time to time depending upon the current program of the international communist movement.

b. Socialist Workers Party

The Socialist Workers Party was founded at a convention held in Chicago, Illinois, from 12-31-37 to 1-3-38. The present headquarters are located at 116 University Place, New York 3, New York. The following statements are taken from the "Declaration of Principles and Constitution of the Socialist Workers Party" which was adopted at this convention:

"The purpose of the party is set forth in its declaration of principles: Its purpose shall be to educate and organize the working class for the abolition of capitalism and the establishment of a workers government to achieve Socialism." (From article 11 under the caption "Purpose.")

"We call upon all revolutionary militants to join with us to build the SWP into the mass revolutionary party which will lead the working class of the United States to power; and which, together with the revolutionists of all countries united in the Fourth International, will achieve the victory of the international revolution and of world Socialism."

"The main specific task of the SWP is the mobilization of the American masses for struggle against American Capitalism, and for its overthrow...." (Part. III of above pamphlet)

Shortly after the Fourth International was founded in Switzerland on 9-3-38, the Socialist Workers Party in the U. S. announced that it was the "American Section" of the "world party of the Socialist revolution" (Fourth International). At a special convention on 12-21-40, the Socialist Workers Party passed a resolution ending its organizational connection with the Fourth International (because of the passage of the Voorhis Act).

This organization follows the Marxist-Leninist-Trotskyist line. Statements made by functionaries indicate that in the event of war between the U. S. and the Soviet Union, the Socialist Workers Party would defend the latter.

c. [Deleted]

d. Other Marxist revolutionary groups

A long-established group which would come under this category is the Proletarian Party, America, a relatively small organization.

There also are a few small groups composed of ex-members of the Communist Party, USA, who have voluntarily left the party or who have been expelled, usually for factionalism.

e. General

Communist investigations must be conducted in a most discreet and thorough manner at all times. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority. Bureau employees should not discuss communist or related investigations with any unauthorized individual. The subject of communism is not to be used in speeches of Bureau employees without specific authorization. However, there is considerable mimeographed material in each office, including speeches, testimony, and magazine articles prepared by the Director which could be furnished outside individuals interested in the subject of communism without any discussion.

2. Purposes of investigation

- a. The investigation of the Communist Party, USA, and other similar-type organizations is of twofold purpose: (1) to obtain legally admissible evidence against these organizations for prosecution under existing Federal statutes set out above and (2) to follow closely the activities of these organizations from an intelligence viewpoint to have a day-to-day appraisal of the strength, dangerousness, and activities of these organizations seeking the overthrow of the U. S. Government.
- b. Suggestions for proper coverage of the investigation of the Communist Party as an organization and similar organizations should include:
 - (1) The assignment of sufficient Agent personnel to insure that all of the important ramifications of party activities are properly covered
 - (2) Development of confidential informants in all party levels, including the national headquarters organization
 - (3) The constant effort to develop admissible evidence against party officials for violation of Federal laws

c. [Deleted]

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions

This section contains detailed investigative guides for use in investigating and reporting activities of the Communist Party, USA.

a. To accurately and clearly show the true nature of the Communist Party, USA, data concerning the following topics must be fully developed and reported. When material contains information that would be logically reported under more than one topic heading but to do so would make the separate accounts unintelligible, report all the material under the main heading and only refer to the information under the other breakdowns. Do not repeat same data under separate headings. Reports on the Communist Party, USA, as an organization must be submitted by each office quarterly and should cover activities for the preceding three-month period. All offices are required to use the following breakdown in preparing quarterly reports on the Communist Party, USA. Each subfile caption must start on a separate page.

(1) Organization (Bureau file 100-3-69)

- (a) Security setup of district and/or state organization. Office covering district headquarters, describe the location and size of Communist Party office facilities, rent paid, and name and number of office employees. List address and/or post office box number of party headquarters.
- (b) Identify principal district officials and important functionaries, together with titles, and furnish a short resume of important activities of each during three-month period.
- (c) Names of new commissions or special committees, identity and capacity of individual members thereof. Submit resume of activities of groups under appropriate subfile captions.
- (d) Special meetings embracing only organizational matters. Other pertinent matters discussed at meetings concerning policy or strategy to be submitted under appropriate subfile captions.
- (e) Extend this outline as far as necessary for clarity and to meet needs of office under this or any succeeding subsection. All field offices submit pertinent data concerning above items which do not normally come to attention of office covering district headquarters.

(2) Membership (Bureau file 100-3-68)

- (a) Quarterly reports are not to contain any membership statistics. Cover pages accompanying each quarterly report must contain latest available statistics relating to total number of Communist Party members in the district. Membership data must start on a separate cover page, [which page(s) must be devoted exclusively to such data.] Office of origin, which is office covering Communist Party district headquarters, should submit following figures:
 - I. For entire Communist Party district
 - II. For individual states covered by Communist Party district
 - III. For number of Communist Party members in area covered by field office

Auxiliary offices should submit following membership figures to the Bureau and office of origin:

- I. For state or portion of state covered by that field office
- II. For number of Communist Party members in the area covered by that field office

[The total number of Communist Party members in the area covered by field office, either origin or auxiliary, should be broken down as to the total number of Negroes in the overall numerical strength of the Communist Party, USA, in the

D. SECURITY INVESTIGATION OF INDIVIDUALS

1. Definitions

The term "basic revolutionary organization" or "basic revolutionary group" when used hereinafter in this subsection shall apply to any one or all of the following organizations or groups in order to distinguish the organizations from front organizations:

- a. Communist Party, USA
- b. Socialist Workers Party
- c. Progressive Labor Party
- d. Proletarian Party of America
- e. Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico
- f. Johnson-Forrest Group
- g. American Socialist Clubs
- h. See also 87C 1d.

- [i. Black nationalist extremists, although technically not members of basic revolutionary organizations within the above meaning, should be investigated under the same rules. (See section 122, volume IV, of this manual for additional guides.)]

2. Responsibility of the Bureau

- a. To conduct thorough investigation into the background and subversive activities of all persons in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security. Each SAC will be held responsible for the proper investigation of all persons in his area who, because of membership or affiliation with basic revolutionary organizations or other Marxist revolutionary organizations including splinter groups, may be potentially dangerous.
- b. To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of individuals constituting a threat to the internal security and develop sufficient information and evidence through investigation to sustain appropriate action by the Bureau should it become necessary for the Federal Government to institute prosecutive action against such individuals in courts of law or control their movement and activities in the event of a national emergency

3. Purpose of investigation

The primary purpose of these investigations is twofold, namely:

- a. Determination of dangerousness
To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who, because of their membership in, activity in, or association with one or more of the revolutionary groups defined above or related groups, are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country, and the consequent collection of sufficient information concerning their subversive activities to justify apprehension in event of a national emergency
- b. Determination of violations of Federal statutes
To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals who have been or may be violating laws of the U. S.
 - (1) Direct investigation towards obtaining admissible evidence to establish the violation.
 - (2) Be alert for any information indicating a violation of the Federal statutes relating to espionage, sabotage, and sedition.
 - (3) Title 18, USC, § 2385, paragraph (1), prohibits the advocacy, etc., of forceful or violent overthrow of the Government. Paragraph (2) prohibits the printing and distribution of propaganda advocating the forceful overthrow of the Government. (Affiliation with an organization is not a prerequisite to prosecution under paragraphs (1) and (2).) Paragraph (3) makes it unlawful to organize or help to organize any society, etc., of persons who advocate overthrow of the Government by force or violence, or to be or become a member of or become affiliated with any such society knowing the purposes thereof. Conspiracy to violate this section is covered by Title 18, USC, § 371 (general conspiracy statute).
 - (4) Title 18, USC, § 2387, penalizes attempts to undermine the loyalty, discipline, or morale of the armed forces. Alleged violations should be reported immediately to the Bureau.

- (5) Title 5, USC, § 7311, and Title 18, USC, § 1918, prohibit Government employment of persons who are disloyal or who assert the right to strike against the Government. [Title 5, USC, § 3333,] provides that an individual accepting office or employment in the Government of the U. S. shall, within 60 days, execute an affidavit certifying that he does not advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government, etc. The execution of a false affidavit constitutes a fraud on, or attempt to defraud, the Government within the purview of Title 5, USC, § 1303, also as to authorize Special Agents of the Bureau to administer oaths in investigations arising out of this law. Alleged violations of this law called to your attention should be furnished to the Bureau promptly and no investigation should be initiated on the basis of complaints received without prior Bureau authority. Refer to section 69H of this manual entitled "Security of Government Employees - Fraud Against the Government" for procedures to be followed regarding possible violations of this law discovered or received in connection with security of Government employees investigations.
- (6) Title 18, USC, § 1001, includes possible fraud against the Government violations wherein there are concealments or falsifications relating to subversive information. These violations must be presented to the Department by the Bureau for a prosecutive opinion rather than being presented locally to USAs. They ordinarily involve the execution of U. S. Government forms. Common violators are employees of private concerns having Government contracts who execute Government forms required for clearance for access to classified information.

Upon receipt of information indicating a violation of this type, investigation under the "Security Matter - Fraud Against the Government" character should be initiated and the Bureau immediately advised. The Department has advised that it is essential, to establish jurisdiction, to prove that the form was presented to a Government agency for action or determination. This, therefore, should be the first investigative step. If the form was not presented to a Government agency, no further investigation should be made and the Bureau so advised. In this case, however, remain alert for information the form is later presented to Government agency. The fact subject actually signed the form must be established by testimony of witnesses to the signature, handwriting examination, or other conclusive evidence. The original of the form must be located. Sources that furnished pertinent information concerning subject during previous investigations and other potential witnesses should be thoroughly interviewed to determine the basis for each item of pertinent information furnished and to obtain the identities of other potential witnesses. Where affiliation with subversive organizations is involved, interview individuals who were members of same units of these organizations as subject for indicia of his membership, such as attendance at closed meetings, payment of dues, holding of office, etc. If possible, develop evidence to supplant pertinent information furnished by current informants. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview the subject. Interview subject and potential witnesses furnishing pertinent information under oath and obtain sworn signed statements if possible. An exception may be made when interviewing established sources, such as current informants, if oath and/or signed statements not considered desirable under circumstances. Be guided by instructions in section 6b, (7), below when interviewing potential witnesses with subversive backgrounds.

(4) Content

- (a) Each card in section A and section B should contain, as a minimum, the following:
- I. Name and aliases
 - II. Race
 - III. Sex
 - IV. Organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency
 - V. Citizenship
 - VI. Residence
 - VII. Employment
 - VIII. Birth data
 - IX. Office file number
 - X. The letters "SS" if dissemination has been made to Secret Service in accordance with instructions in section 134B, item 2, volume IV, of this manual
- (b) In addition, membership and position or association in a subversive group or groups, together with the source and date of the information, may be added.

(5) Removal and deletion of cards

- (a) Destroy cards on individuals who subsequently become security informants or sources or who subsequently become subjects of security index cards.
- (b) Advise the Bureau of the destruction only in the case of section A cards.

b. Security index

(1) Purpose

- (a) Security index cards are prepared and maintained by the Bureau to serve as operational guide for apprehension of persons deemed dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country in the event of a national emergency.
- (b) It shall contain the names of all persons who have been determined through investigation to be dangerous or potentially dangerous because of their membership in or affiliation with or espousal of doctrines of public revolutionary organizations and/or front organizations or who are black nationalist extremists and who will be apprehended upon receipt of instructions from the Attorney General.
- (c) It shall include subjects of espionage investigations and any other type of Bureau investigation provided their activities bring them within the scope of the security index criteria.
- (d) Action shall be taken against individuals included in the security index only upon authorization of warrants of arrest by the Attorney General. However, in preparing and maintaining the security index, to all practical effects, the Bureau is making the decision as to those persons who will be apprehended in the event of an emergency, inasmuch as the Attorney General has advised that he does not have funds or

- manpower to review security index cases.
- (e) Names shall be included in the security index only when investigation has established and reports[show] sufficient facts and evidence to justify the inclusion of each subject in the security index.
 - (f) The contents of the security index must be accurate and correct at all times. Matters pertaining to its preparation and maintenance must be given preferred, expeditious, continuous, and detailed attention.
 - (g) Matters pertaining to the security index are strictly confidential and are not to be mentioned or alluded to in investigative reports.
 - (h) The general operation and content of the security index must not be discussed by field personnel of the Bureau without prior Bureau authority.
 - (i) Matters pertaining to the security index may be discussed with duly qualified representatives of other Federal intelligence agencies only on a strictly confidential basis and only in instances in which an individual subject of prime interest to one of these services is involved.
- (2) Determination of dangerousness of an individual
- (a) The dangerousness of a member or affiliate of a subversive organization does not necessarily depend entirely upon his personal characteristics, such as aggressiveness or a disposition to violence. Although these factors must be taken into consideration in evaluating an individual's potential dangerousness, other factors are essential in making this determination. An individual's dangerousness also depends upon the contribution he has made or is making in the advancement of the principles and aims of the subversive movement with which he is connected or his subversive potentialities in the event of a national emergency. Bear in mind that a subject active in a subversive organization is not merely an isolated individual but is a part of an organization of which the purposes are opposed to the best interests of the U. S. An individual's loyalty to a subversive organization and the principles thereof is a primary factor to take into consideration in evaluating his potential dangerousness; [however, regardless of evidence of subversive affiliation, all evidence developed during the course of a security investigation must be carefully weighed for the purpose of determining whether the subject's activities depict him as a potentially dangerous individual in time of a national emergency. Factors having a bearing upon an individual's potential dangerousness are numerous and will vary in each case in degree.] Among such factors are:
 - I. Long continued membership in a subversive organization
 - II. Affiliation with or attendance at training schools, especially leadership schools
 - III. Frequent or regular attendance at organizational meetings and functions
 - IV. Subscriptions to publications of a subversive organization
 - V. Possession of or continued study of revolutionary literature
 - VI. Preparation or distribution of subversive propaganda and/or literature
 - VII. Holding positions in the subversive organization or in other organizations of a front character which indicate confidence of such organizations in his loyalty
 - VIII. Espousal of a subversive doctrine exemplified in his acts and utterances particular attention should be given during the course of investigation of individual members of this organization to the developing and reporting of such statements on the part of these individuals, including the reporting of violent and revolutionary statements made by other members in their presence. Such statements should be reported in detail. [These instructions should be applied to other black nationalist extremist groups.]

- (e) When subjects are removed from the security index solely on the basis of application of the above criteria with no affirmative indication of defection, retain the cancelled security index cards for future reference under procedures set out in 87D 7b (10) (g).
- (4) Recommendations for and preparation of security index cards
- (a) The SAC shall personally recommend inclusion in and removal of any name from the security index except in offices having more than 1,000 security index subjects, in which offices the recommendations must be made by the SAC, the ASAC, or Bureau-approved security supervisor.

should be completely filled out just as if a first recommendation is being made, and submitted with a current report. If not, the Bureau should be advised of the reasons for not reactivating his security index card. In either case, cancel the inactive card.

(7) Periodic verification of addresses

- (a) The data recorded on security index cards shall be in an up-to-date status at all times.
- (b) The whereabouts of all security index subjects should be known at all times. The residence and business addresses of all security index subjects must be checked at least once each six months, except those imprisoned and those who were included in the security index because of disaffection for the U. S. (defection to a Sino-Soviet-bloc country, [including Cuba since 10-1-60]) (see section 105G, item 3, volume IV, of this manual). The residence and employment of those who were included in the security index because of disaffection for the U. S. must be verified every thirty days. The case of any security index subject who is out of the country must be followed at least each six months to determine if he has returned to this country.

Perfect arrangements to be advised on a current basis of any indication that the subject is engaged in subversive activities, is exhibiting violent tendencies, or plans to change his residence or employment. Periodic checks to verify residence or business addresses may be made under appropriate pretext by telephone, or other expeditious means.

- (c) The physical characteristics and description of each security index subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation and the individual case file of each security index subject shall show that this has been done. If a security index subject has not been personally observed previously, this should be done during the next verification of the subject's residence and/or business addresses.
- (d) Use form FD-154 in verifying addresses of security index subjects when its use will facilitate the checking of the addresses. When FD-154 is not used in verifying addresses, a notation must be made on the last FD-154, FD-122, or FD-128 in the subject's case file showing the subject's current residence and business addresses and the date such addresses were verified. This must be done to assure that the file will contain all information concerning the status of the case and that the file will come to the attention of the Agent or field supervisor to determine if additional action is warranted at the time of the verification of addresses. Each time that a security index subject's residence and employment are verified, the case must be reevaluated to assure that the subject is qualified for inclusion in the security index under the criteria for such inclusion. A notation to the effect that the case has been reviewed for this purpose shall be made in the file.
- (e) If it is determined that the residence or business address or both have been changed from those appearing on the security index card, FD-122 should be submitted to the Bureau with the current residence or business address shown thereon. In such instances, FD-122 should show only the changes to be made on the security index card. FD-122 should be accompanied by form FD-366 for dissemination to Secret Service. Secret Service should be advised locally by dissemination of FD-366.

- (f) The subject of verifying addresses of security index subjects (other than top functionaries and key figures) shall be handled by reopening and assigning the cases for verification and closing the cases administratively upon accomplishment of verifications. Top functionary and key figure cases are to be handled as provided in section 87D 7f [(6).] Verifications should also be made at the time of submission of all annual investigative reports and should be reported therein.
- (8) Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing on security index cards
- (a) Submit to Bureau by FD-122 any changes, additions, or deletions involving name, aliases, citizenship, organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies, detcom classification, date or place of birth, key facility geographical reference number, abbreviation of agency having security responsibility (see 87D 7c (2) below), residence or business address. Exception: Change office of origin by form FD-128.
 - (b) Insertion or removal of cards from special section or unavailable section should be handled pursuant to 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV.
 - (c) Temporary handwritten notations may be made on existing security index cards pending receipt of corrected cards from Bureau.
 - (d) Indicate use of FD-122 for changes by checking proper opening paragraph and submit without abstract.
 - (e) Set out only items being changed, added, or deleted. If being deleted, specify "Delete."
 - (f) Upon receipt from Bureau of corrected security index cards with duplicate copy of FD-122 (stamped "Corrected Security Index cards attached. Substitute for cards in file and destroy old cards. Place photograph and description on reverse side of geographical cards."), action to be taken includes:
 - I. Check accuracy of data on cards.
 - II. Transfer separate cards with descriptive data and photograph from back of old geographical section cards to back of corrected cards, staple them and file in geographical section. Exception: For special or unavailable section subjects, see 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV above.
 - III. File third card in alphabetical section of security index.
 - IV. Destroy old cards.
- (9) Movement of subjects between offices and transfers of security index cards
- (a) Subjects of security index cards other than key figures and top functionaries
 - I. Requests to verify addresses of security index subjects from other offices must be assigned immediately and results of investigation to verify the new address must be transmitted to the office of origin within two weeks.
 - II. Office of origin, upon receipt of verification of address, should submit FD-128 immediately transferring office of origin. Forms regarding unavailable section subjects should be prepared in accordance with 87D 7b (6) (b) IV above.
 - III. Submit original and one copy of FD-128 to Bureau. Submit two copies thereof to office covering subject's new address, enclosing copies of all previous reports, other pertinent serials, photograph if available, and security index cards. FD-128 should show full title.
 - IV. Information concerning key facility employment of subject in new office should be furnished by that office to old office of origin so that geographical reference

- selecting key figures in the labor field, give consideration to the critical nature of the industry or trade involved and the fact that certain industries, such as transportation and communication, are particularly vulnerable to communist infiltration and sudden disruptive action.
- V. Editors, publishers, and business managers of generally recognized communist publications or communist publishing houses and operators of the important communist bookstores
 - VI. Prominent figures in the communist-owned and -controlled educational institutions, generally referred to as workers schools
 - VII. Attorneys and bondsmen who are active in the communist movement and are known to furnish important assistance to the communist movement
 - VIII. Espionage or nationalistic tendency subjects whose activities are connected to a significant degree with the program of the Communist Party, provided they have no recognized diplomatic status. Investigation and preparation, submission, and dissemination of reports governed by instructions issued in individual cases in this category and the general rules governing key figures as subsequently set forth in this section are not applicable to these subjects.

The above list is not all-inclusive. There may be individuals who, because of their profession, position in public life, Government employment, or other associations, may not see fit to serve outwardly in behalf of the Communist Party or its related groups but who, because of their established communist sympathies and their contributions to the communist movement, might well conform to the general key figure definition set out above. Membership in the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations is not a prerequisite to being a key figure and the designation may apply to both citizens and aliens [and to black nationalist extremists.]

(b) Regulations governing the handling of the key figure program

I. Designation and deletion of key figure status

Designate or remove a subject as a key figure by individual letter to the Bureau carrying the subject in the caption and containing a brief statement as to the reason for designation or deletion.

Where office of origin for key figures is transferred, deletions in the old office of origin and additions in the new office are handled in accordance with 87D 7b (9) (b) above.

II. Photographs

Photographs must be obtained for each key figure. Whenever possible, the photographs should be obtained from public records, law enforcement agencies, state or Federal Government agencies, and similar sources. Where more direct means employed, use extreme care to avoid prejudicing the investigation. Send one copy of photograph of each key figure to the Bureau, either by cover letter or as enclosure to a report. Maintain a copy of each photograph in the subject's individual case file in the field. If album of key figure photographs maintained, be sure duplicates are also filed in each individual subject's file.

III. Handwriting specimens

Suitable handwriting specimens of each key figure must be obtained. Whenever possible, obtain handwriting specimens from public records, law enforcement agencies, and similar sources. Again, if more direct means employed, use extreme care. Send specimens to the Bureau under a separate cover letter by registered mail for the attention of the FBI Laboratory. Letter should bear caption of individual case.

Handwriting specimens should be sufficiently extensive to permit possible future comparisons by the Laboratory. When specimens submitted may be of value as evidence, letter of transmittal should so state and Bureau should be requested to return specimens after copies have been made.

IV. Security index cards

Request preparation by FD-122 at the earliest possible moment. Same rules apply to preparation and maintenance as apply to other security index cards. All security index cards for key figures shall be tabbed for detcom under the priority apprehension program.

V. Change of office of origin

FD-128 changing office of origin on a key figure automatically deletes him as key figure in old office and adds him as a key figure in new office. For further instructions concerning the change of office of origin in these cases, see 87D 7b.(9). (b).

VI. Reports

(A) Character - Internal Security - (followed by appropriate letter designating the organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency)

(B) Submit reports every six months [showing] the subject's activities since last report. The key figure designations should be continuously evaluated so that their status will not be continued unless justified. These cases may be placed in a pending-inactive status as soon as the following conditions exist:

- i. Reports have been submitted [showing] complete investigation definitely establishing by information of evidentiary nature the subject's communist connections and activities and his importance in the communist movement plus essential background information.
- ii. When no further action necessary other than maintaining contact with informants, keeping informed of subject's whereabouts, and generally following his activities. It is imperative that established sources of information be continued and still further informant coverage effected.
- iii. Do not advise the Bureau by letter that case placed in pending-inactive status. Place cases on six-month ticklers to insure prompt submission of reports at six-month intervals.
- iv. Cases involving key figures and top functionaries should be maintained in a pending status until such time as suitable photographs of subjects are obtained unless, of course, circumstances dictate to the contrary, in which case the Bureau should be advised. The fact that handwriting specimens of key figures and top functionaries have not been secured should not prevent placing these cases in a pending-inactive status when all reasonable efforts have been made to secure them.

(C) Key figure cases may be closed and the designations deleted when subject enters the armed forces or other circumstances arise warranting such action. Additional information received shall be channeled to the closed file.

VII. Maintenance of key figure list

- (A) Each office must maintain current list of key figures including top functionaries. List may be kept by simple list system, by maintaining a file wherein all additions and deletions to the list are reported, or by a card index system. Maintain key figure list separate from security index.
- (B) Key figures should retain their designation notwithstanding their departure for foreign travel or other circumstances requiring temporary discontinuance of investigation.
- (C) Should a key figure become subject of a security of Government employees investigation, his name should continue to appear on the key figure list, but the investigation shall proceed in accordance with existing instructions governing SGE cases.

(3) Top functionaries

(a) Definition

A top functionary is an individual, either a member or a nonmember of the Communist Party, to whom, because of his importance, it is necessary to give continuous investigative attention in order to keep abreast of communism on a national basis in the U. S. Necessarily, such an individual would be on a high policy level in the movement.

The term "top functionary" is not to be construed as requiring that individuals in this category must actually hold official positions in party organizations but shall be given a broad enough construction to include others who are of equal importance because of their influence in the movement itself, or their position and activities outside the party in labor, front, or similar organizations or movements. [Black nationalist extremists whose importance justifies continuous investigative attention should be considered for designation as top functionaries.]

(b) Manner of designation

Prior Bureau authority necessary to designate a subject as a top functionary. Submit such recommendation to Bureau by letter containing reasons for the recommendation. Bureau desires to be very selective in this matter and to concentrate on individuals who, on a national basis, are the guiding hands in the communist movement.

At the seat of Government a careful appraisal will be made of the field's recommendation, following which the office will be advised concerning the Bureau's decision on the recommendation.

- (c) Regulations governing top functionaries
- I. Regulations set forth under (2) (b) above pertaining to key figures relative to photographs, handwriting specimens, security index cards, change of office of origin, detcom tabbing, character of reports, and inclusion in the key figure list apply to individuals designated as top functionaries.
 - II. Reports
Submit reports on top functionaries quarterly. Make status pending-inactive if there are no outstanding leads for active investigation.

e. Correlation of other investigations with the security index and reserve index

Individuals investigated by the Bureau under any character against whom subversive information is developed must be constantly borne in mind for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

- (1) Espionage and foreign intelligence investigations
Subjects of these investigations must be included in the security index or the reserve index if they meet the standards for inclusion therein. It is the responsibility of the investigating Agent or field supervising official to make appropriate recommendation for preparation of the security index card and/or the reserve index card, whenever appropriate.
- (2) Security of Government employees (SGE) investigations
Subjects of all SGE investigations against whom subversive derogatory information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

The Agent conducting investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer such cases to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling. Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the field office covering the subject's residence, when developed by any other office.

When an individual who has previously been investigated under the SGE character is the subject of a security index card and is still employed by the Federal Government or is being considered for Federal employment, the dual character of "Security of Government Employees" and the character of the subject's security case should be used in the report being submitted. This will insure that the reports are referred to the appropriate desks for supervision at the Bureau, as well as in the field. These reports should be written according to the standards prevailing for SGE reports.

Disseminate these dual character reports the same as any other security report. Representatives of other intelligence agencies requesting reports showing the actual SGE investigation should be informed to direct the request to their Washington headquarters for referral to the Bureau.

- (3) Atomic Energy Act, [U. S. Information Agency] applicant, departmental applicant, Bureau applicant, and other Bureau investigations
Subjects of all above investigations against whom subversive information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or the reserve index. In each such case the Agent conducting the investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer the matter to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling.

Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the office covering the subject's residence, whenever developed by another office.

When the subject of such an investigation is presently in the security index, a letter must be directed to the Bureau at the time the report is submitted advising that the subject is in the security index.

Information of interest to FBI and/or AEC obtained subsequent to completion of Atomic Energy Act - applicant investigations concerning AEC employees or persons having access to restricted data should be handled according to instructions in section 20, volume II, of this manual.

f. [Submission of and general rules concerning security reports]

(1) General

[Submission of summary reports should not be delayed for the purpose of conducting current investigation in previously closed cases, but appropriate leads should be set out.]

Cases of all security index subjects must be reopened or placed in a pending status for the purpose of preparing investigative reports in accordance with the schedule outlined in 87D 7f(6).]

Office indices and any material channelized to the case file since the most recent report should be reviewed and the case brought up to date by appropriate investigation to determine subject's current activities.

Each time that a case is reopened and brought up to date, it should be critically analyzed in the light of the security index criteria set out in 87D 7b (3) herein. This procedure must be followed on a continuing basis for each security index subject.

The office of origin will be that office covering the territory wherein the subject's subversive activities occur. In most instances this will also be the office in which territory the subject resides and is employed. In those cases in which the subject's subversive activities take place in the territory of an office other than the office covering the place of residence and/or employment, the office of origin shall be that office which can best cover the subversive activities of the subject.

Communications regarding subjects who are employed in key facilities should bear the words "Key Facility" in the character. [Black nationalist investigations and racial matters should be given the character set out in section 122, volume IV, of this manual.]

(6) Status

All cases shall be carried in a pending status until all active investigation required by the preceding instructions has been conducted. Thereafter, the status shall be as follows:

(a) Top functionaries

I. Pending inactive

- (A) Reports are to be submitted quarterly. Forty-five days prior to the date a quarterly report is due, each such case shall be placed in a pending-active status for the preparation of the report so that the report can be submitted at the designated time.

(b) Key figures

I. Pending inactive

- (A) Reports are to be submitted semiannually. Forty-five days prior to the date a semiannual report is due, each such case shall be placed in a pending-active status for the preparation of the report so that the report can be submitted at the designated time.

(c) Other security index subjects

I. Closed

- (A) Cases of all other security index subjects must be followed by administrative ticklers set up so as to insure submission of an annual investigative report. If, following investigation, no subversive data is developed and the only available information consists of verification of residence and employment and negative contacts with security informants and sources, submit in lieu of a report a letter to the Bureau setting forth identities of informants and sources contacted, any additional administrative data deemed necessary, and form FD-305 properly executed. The cases shall be opened and assigned 45 days prior to the date the annual report is due. Such cases shall also be opened and assigned six months after submission of the annual report to accomplish verification of addresses. Upon such verification, the cases should be closed administratively.

(d) Cases of subjects recommended for security index

I. Pending inactive

- (A) If all active investigation completed at the time FD-122 forwarded to Bureau.
- (B) Set forth lead to follow Bureau for security index card and if approved for dissemination of report to Secret Service.

I. Background

- (A) Birth date
- (B) Citizenship status
- (C) Education
- (D) Marital status
- (E) Military service record (domestic or foreign, including type of discharge, citations, etc.)
- (F) Identification record
- (G) Employment

- (B) History of activity in, attendance at meetings of, and positions held in subversive movement with which subject is identified

- (j) In connection with periodic reports in security index cases, there are instances in which evidence of extensive activity in subversive organizations will be developed. In these cases it is permissible to report such information in narrative-type statements without indicating exact dates of activity; however, the period of time involved must be shown, as well as the inclusive dates of the informant reports.

This type reporting is not to be utilized in Smith Act of 1940 cases or Internal Security Act of 1950 cases. The narrative statements must be statements of facts and not conclusions and information from each source must be reported in separate narrative statements.

- (k) The above instructions in no way remove responsibility for reporting all items of pertinence to the Bureau, bearing in mind the fact that Bureau files must be complete insofar as matters of substance are concerned, nor is responsibility removed for the reporting in detail of information tending to establish a subject's knowledge of the basic aims and purposes of the subversive organizations with which affiliated or information tending to establish that a subject holds revolutionary and/or anarchist beliefs.

In the documentation of narrative statements set forth the location of the original documents in the field office files by the file number and serial scope.

[(8)] Administrative data

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. Reserve index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, key figure or top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, FD-122a, FD-128, and FD-128a, and Bureau instructions for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature

- II. Whenever reports relating to security index subjects contain data affecting material included on subject's existing security index card, the cover pages accompanying the report shall include as the last page form FD-305, appropriately checked, which form contains items pertaining to the following:
- (A) That subject's name is included in the security index [or agitator index]

 - (H) That subject no longer meets security index [or agitator index] criteria and a letter has been directed to the Bureau recommending cancellation
 - (I) That subject's case has been reevaluated and reasons are set forth as to why subject's activities continue to fall within security index [or agitator index] criteria
 - (J) That subject's security index card is or is not tabbed detcom and reasons why subject's activities warrant detcom tabbing

III. Form FD-305a containing items pertinent to reserve index subjects will be similarly utilized in connection with the submission of reports in reserve index cases.

(b) Documentation of reports

I. Deleted

II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.

III. Extensive investigation should not be conducted to further identify and locate outside individuals who have in the past furnished background information or to obtain documentary evidence of background information. For example, if previous investigation revealed that subject, according to reliable records, such as birth records, school records, or records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was born at a certain place on a certain date, such information will be sufficient for inclusion in report. Further verification will not be necessary.

IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity

The cover pages of reports concerning those organizations affiliated with the new left movement should also contain this statement in reference to leading activists in the organizations, as well as their officers or leaders. Exceptions should be named and a statement made as to the status of their investigations.

- i. Dissemination of information to Secret Service regarding plots against the President
On 2-3-65, an "Agreement Between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service Concerning Presidential Protection" was signed and became effective. This agreement is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual.

The agreement provides that the FBI, in its investigations of organizations whose activities are inimical to the welfare of the U. S., will be alert to and promptly notify Secret Service of any information indicating a plot against the person of the President; thereafter, it is the responsibility of Secret Service to initiate such action as is necessary to neutralize such a plot.

The field must be alert during the course of the investigation of an organization for information indicating a plot against the person of the President. Upon receipt of such information, immediately furnish complete details to the nearest office of Secret Service and appropriate local law enforcement agencies and advise the Bureau at that time by teletype, or telephone if the facts warrant, of the information furnished and the fact it has been so disseminated. An immediate attempt should be made to verify the information received but no evaluation of the information should be attempted.

Prepare at once a letterhead memorandum which should include complete details disseminated and the identities of the Secret Service officer and the local law enforcement officers to whom given and the date and time of notification. Promptly disseminate the letterhead memorandum locally to Secret Service and any other appropriate Government agency and furnish sufficient copies to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Thereafter, copies of all letterhead memoranda and reports concerning the organization should be disseminated locally to Secret Service on a continuing basis and extra copies of such communications should be furnished the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG.

The field should insure that the identities of the members of the organization who are "in" on the plot are determined. Background information concerning the individuals (see items 1 and 3 of appendix A to the agreement) should be fully developed and included in the communications prepared and disseminated to Secret Service. If such identities and information are known at the time the initial information is received, they should be included in the first letterhead memorandum prepared in the matter.

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions re communist front organizations, [subversive organizations, suspected subversive organizations, and new left groups]

To accurately and clearly show true nature of [these] groups, data concerning the following topics, where applicable, should be fully developed and reported on:

- a. Origin and scope
Date of formation. Circumstances under which founded. Determine who in Communist Party instructed organization be set up; whether decision to set up group made at meeting of party functionaries and, if so, identify functionaries present; identity of individual or individuals responsible for organizing group. Identify all known chapters, if any, and location thereof.
- b. Whether incorporated
Many organizations are incorporated requiring filing of incorporation papers with appropriate state officials.

c. Aims and purposes

[Particular emphasis should be placed on determining whether the organization advocates violence, resistance, and unlawful activity.]

d. Location of headquarters

e. Officers

List principal officers, board of directors, etc., and appropriate characterization of each showing [subversive] affiliation.

The cover pages of the report should state that all persons named as officers or leaders of the organization who reside within the area covered by the reporting office are listed in the security index or are informants or sources. [The cover pages of reports concerning those organizations affiliated with the new left movement should also contain this statement in reference to leading activists in the organization, as well as their officers or leaders.] Exceptions should be named and information furnished concerning the status of their investigations.

f. Membership

Ascertain estimated membership. Whenever possible, secure membership lists, mailing lists, or other records showing affiliation with organization. Usually obtainable through informant coverage or utilization of various investigative techniques. Secure accurate description of all lists to make sure there is no confusion as to the exact identity or significance of list being reported on.

g. Official organ, if any, and other literature

- (1) May be obtained through confidential mailbox, panel sources, and confidential informants
- (2) All such literature should be appropriately identified.
- (3) At least one copy of each pertinent piece of literature should be promptly furnished to Bureau.

h. General activities

i. Finances

Special efforts must be made to locate and monitor bank accounts of organizations. Location of bank accounts frequently obtainable through confidential informants, credit records, public utility records, records of rental agent, and monitoring of other organizations' bank accounts. [It is extremely important that emphasis be placed on determining if funds are being furnished the organizations from foreign sources and if there is any rapport between the organizations and organizations in foreign countries.]

j. Support given to Communist Party

Preponderance of evidence should be developed showing support, financial or otherwise, given by the organization to the Communist Party.

k. Support received from Communist Party

Preponderance of evidence should be developed showing support, financial or otherwise, received by the organization from the Communist Party.

l. Implementation of Communist Party line

Can usually be shown through comparison of programs and literature of organization with those of Communist Party during any particular period.

Data concerning above topics can usually be secured through the following sources: confidential informants, incorporation records, bank records, literature and publications of organization, newspapers, public meetings and rallies, confidential investigative techniques, various types of public records, panel sources, confidential sources and other sources of information, interviews with past or present

- G. INTERNAL SECURITY ACT OF 1950 (PUBLIC LAW 831, 81st CONGRESS, CHAPTER 1024, SECOND SESSION) (TITLE 50, USC, §§ 781-816) [(PUBLIC LAW 237, 90th CONGRESS)]
- The Internal Security Act of 1950 became effective on 9-23-50. The act generally provides for the registration of communist-action and communist front organizations; amends the obstruction of justice statute; implements the espionage and sabotage statutes and various immigration and naturalization regulations; prohibits contributing to the establishment of a totalitarian dictatorship; and provides for the detention of individuals in the case of an emergency. [It was amended effective 1-2-68 to delete the requirement that communist organizations and their members register themselves with the Attorney General, a procedure ruled unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court on the grounds that such action violated the constitutional rights against self-incrimination. The amended provisions provide that, upon petition by the Attorney General, the Subversive Activities Control Board would hold quasi-judicial hearings and would determine whether the individuals and organizations cited were communist. The Subversive Activities Control Board would instruct the Attorney General to maintain a public list of individuals found to be members of communist-action organizations and of groups found to be communist-action, communist front, or communist-infiltrated organizations.]

The following provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950 appear elsewhere in this manual as follows:

Subject	Provisions of I. S. A. 1950	Manual references

"(C) in seeking, accepting, or holding employment in any defense facility, to conceal or fail to disclose the fact that he is a member of such organization; or

"(D) if such organization is a Communist-action organization, to engage in any employment in any defense facility; or

"(E) to hold office or employment with any labor organization, as that term is defined in section 2 (5) of the National Labor Relations Act, as amended (29 U. S. C. 152), or to represent any employer in any matter or proceeding arising or pending under that Act.

"(2) For any officer or employee of the United States or of any defense facility, with knowledge or notice of such final order of the Board -

"(A) to contribute funds or services to such organization; or

"(B) to advise, counsel or urge any person, with knowledge or notice that such person is a member of such organization, to perform, or to omit to perform, any act if such act or omission would constitute a violation of any provision of paragraph (1) of this subsection."

6. Use of mail and instrumentalities of interstate or foreign commerce
(Title 50, USC, § 789 (§ 10 of act))

The act requires any person acting for or on behalf of any organization for which there is in effect a final order of the Board determining it to be a communist-action organization or communist front to label properly all publications transmitted through the mail or by any means or instrumentality of interstate or foreign commerce.]

[7.] Penalties (Title 50, USC, § 794 (§ 15 of act))

Any organization which violates any provision of section 10 of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished for each such violation by a fine of not more than $10,000. Any individual who violates any provision of section 5 or 10 of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished for each such violation by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both.

[8.] Reporting of evidence developed on individual members

Any admissible evidence showing a violation of the Internal Security Act of 1950, [as amended] (Title 50, USC, § 784), as it pertains to union officers, employees, and representatives of management [see item 5, part (a) (1) (E) above,] and volume III, section 67C, of this manual, should be furnished the Bureau in a report on the individual and the report should carry the single character, Internal Security Act of 1950 - Labor (classification 122). Any admissible evidence showing a violation of this act on the part of any other individual should be furnished the Bureau in report on the individual and the report should carry the dual character, Internal Security - C or Security Matter - C; and Internal Security Act of 1950 (classification 100), except employment in a defense facility in which case the words "Defense Facility" should appear instead of Internal Security Act of 1950. See section 87D of this manual for complete instructions relative to investigation of individuals.

[9.] Instructions

The Bureau's responsibilities in connection with the internal security of this country necessitate that we promptly and thoroughly investigate all organizations subject to communist infiltration, influence, or control as set forth in section 87E of this manual. In view of the Internal Security Act of 1950, the necessity of developing legally admissible evidence as to the communist character of any organization must be emphasized during our investigation. Keeping in mind the factors to be considered by the Subversive Activities Control Board in determining whether an organization is a communist front, every effort must be made to develop legally admissible evidence relating to these factors. An investigation of any organization which might fall within the provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950 should carry the dual character, Internal Security - C, Internal Security Act of 1950.

[10.] Emergency detention provisions (Title 50, USC, §§ 811-826)

Sections 100 to 111 inclusive cover the detention provisions of the act in the event of a state of "Internal Security Emergency" and set up a program for the arrests of certain individuals, provisions for hearings after arrest, and the right to judicial review. Criminal provisions are set out in sections 112 to 114 inclusive, making it unlawful in connection with the detention provisions of the act to resist arrest, knowingly disregard or evade apprehension, escape from confinement, or conspire with others to escape from confinement or detention. Violations are also set out covering the aiding and assisting in the commission of the violations mentioned above and in the willful interference with the activities of any member of a review board set up under the detention provisions or any of its agents.

a. Bureau instructions

These provisions do not affect instructions regarding individuals considered dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security as outlined in section 87D of this manual.

(The term "totalitarian dictatorship," according to the act, refers to systems of government not representative in fact, characterized by (A) the existence of a single political party, organized on a dictatorial basis, with so close an identity between such party and its policies and the governmental policies of the country in which it exists, that the party and the government constitute an indistinguishable unit, and (B) the forcible suppression of opposition to such party.)

H. COMMUNIST CONTROL ACT OF 1954 (PUBLIC LAW 637-83RD CONGRESS, CHAPTER 886 - SECOND SESSION) (TITLE 50, USC, §§ 841-844)

The Communist Control Act of 1954 became effective on 8-24-54, when the legislation was signed into law by the President. The act is divided into three measures: (1) termination of rights, privileges, and immunities formerly enjoyed by the Communist Party and subsidiary organizations, (2) determining membership in the Communist Party, USA, and other subversive groups, and (3) amendment to the Internal Security Act of 1950 bringing within its purview Communist-infiltrated organizations.

I. Terminating rights, privileges, and immunities

Title 50, USC, § 842, provides "The Communist Party of the United States, or any successors of such party regardless of the assumed name, whose object or purpose is to overthrow the Government of the United States, or the government of any State, Territory, District, or possession thereof, or the government of any political subdivision therein by force and violence, are not entitled to any of the rights, privileges and immunities attendant upon legal bodies created under the jurisdiction of the laws of the United States or any political subdivision thereof; and whatever rights, privileges and immunities which have heretofore been granted to said party or any subsidiary organization by reason of the laws of the United States or any political subdivision thereof, are hereby terminated: Provided, however, That nothing in this section shall be construed as amending the Internal Security Act of 1950, as amended."

The Department has advised that the purpose of this provision is not to constitute the Communist Party an illegal organization so as to make mere membership a criminal offense, punishable as a misdemeanor or felony. Rather, it was intended by Congress, and the statute's apparent effect is, merely to strip the party of rights, privileges, and immunities under Federal law as an alleged political party and in other respects without affecting its amenability to the Internal Security Act of 1950, as amended.

No particular enforcement measures are provided for under this section. The forums where this provision will most likely be tested are various administrative agencies of the U.S. and its political subdivisions. This section may also result in civil litigation in U.S. District courts, possibly in the nature of mandamus, injunction, quo warranto and scire facias proceedings.

The question as to what "rights, privileges and immunities" the Communist Party heretofore has enjoyed and now has lost is a legal question which must be decided on the merits of each individual case. The Department has advised that it does not contemplate initiating any action per se under this section of the act and will leave to the interested Government agency involved the decision of initiating civil action to terminate the rights, privileges and immunities formerly enjoyed by the Communist Party, USA. The Department has suggested that the following types of information be forwarded to the interested Government agency by the Bureau for its information and consideration under this act. The Department desires to be advised of this referral for its information only.

- a. Petitions, applications, slates and similar documents filed with competent election authorities on behalf of the Communist Party and its candidates for Federal office, or for office in any political subdivision of the U.S., as aforesaid, in connection with any primary or election
- b. Permits, licenses, etc., issued to the Communist Party, or to any of its subsidiaries, by any department or agency of the Government of the U.S., or of its political subdivisions. This includes mailing permits issued by the Post Office Department, import and export licenses granted by the Department of Commerce and approved by the Bureau of Customs, etc.
- c. Applications filed by the Communist Party, or any of its subsidiaries, with any department or agency of the Government of the U.S., or of

- (b) Where potential dangerousness of a subject has been established and inclusion of that subject in security index is warranted, the office of origin shall submit a recommendation for inclusion in security index by submitting form FD-122 to Bureau. Form must be prepared in triplicate. Original and one copy shall be forwarded to Bureau and one copy will be placed in subject's investigative case file.

Nothing should appear on FD-122 or subsequently on the security index card which is not in the subject's case file. Form FD-122 has two uses: (1) to recommend a subject for inclusion in the security index and (2) to submit changes to data which appears on face of security index cards already existent.

Proper selection should be made in the opening paragraph option. FD-122 is submitted with abstract when used to recommend the subject for inclusion in the security index and without abstract when used to indicate additions, deletions, or changes in data appearing on existing cards.

- (c) When form FD-122 is submitted to Bureau recommending inclusion of a name in security index, attach additional page or pages setting out a succinct summary of facts on which recommendation has been based. Facts must be in detail to clearly show soundness of recommendation. Statements of conclusion are not enough and original sources must be characterized as to reliability. Summary must contain pertinent dates of subject's activities.
- (d) When, at conclusion of investigation, subject's name is not being recommended for security index, set out a brief summary statement in the appropriate communication closing the case showing reasons for the decision.
- (e) Security index cards shall be recommended by and maintained by office of origin only.
- (f) A current report must be in possession of the Bureau when subject is recommended for security index. If it is the initial report in the case, it must be a summary report. If, however, prior investigative reports have been submitted which are suitable for dissemination and are appropriately documented, a summary report need not be submitted.
- (g) To assure that subject recommended for security index will receive proper attention, case shall be kept in pending or pending-inactive status until security index card has been received from Bureau and filed in office security index. If case continues in pending status because of outstanding investigation, reports shall carry a lead to follow authorization of security index card by the Bureau and if approved to [disseminate a copy of the report to] Secret Service in addition to other leads. If outstanding investigation has been completed and case would otherwise be closed upon submission of the report and form FD-122, case shall be placed in pending-inactive status with lead to follow authorization of security index card by Bureau and if approved [disseminate the copy of the report] to Secret Service. In latter instance, upon receipt of security index card and following local dissemination to Secret Service, case may be closed administratively.
- (h) Recommendation for security index card should not be delayed because of absence of information concerning race, sex, citizenship, date and place of birth, or description where security index card is warranted. In such instances, recommendation for the card should be submitted with current report and case retained in pending status with active investigation continuing to determine missing items of information.

- (i) Subjects missing or out of country may be recommended for the security index provided instructions set forth in 87D 6b (3) and (4) are followed. Forms FD-122 submitted on subjects should include data required in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV below.
- (j) When form FD-122 is submitted recommending a security index card be prepared on a subject who is of Chinese extraction, the words "Other - Chinese" must be included in the space on the form calling for a statement as to the subject's race. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending that a security index card be prepared on a person who is not of Chinese extraction but who has shown definite sympathies with Communist China, the form should include under "Miscellaneous" a statement to the effect, "sympathetic to Communist China."
- (k) Upon receipt of form FD-122 at Bureau, the case of the subject will be reviewed and if recommendation of field is concurred in, security index cards will be prepared. Duplicate copy of form shall be returned to office of origin stamped "Security Index card approved and prepared, three copies attached. Place description and photograph on reverse side of Geographical card. Cards should be filed in your Security Index." The three cards shall be filed in security index as outlined below. The returned copy of FD-122 shall be placed in subject's main investigative case file. Offices with geographical breakdown by residence and employment will receive an extra card.
- (1) When security index cards are received from Bureau, data thereon must be checked for accuracy. Cards will be complete except for description and photograph. Descriptions and photographs are maintained on separate cards of similar size to security index cards which are stapled to back of two of the cards. One card will then be filed in the geographical section of office security index (except special section cards and unavailable section cards - see 87D 7b (6) (b) III and IV below), and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. The other card is filed in alphabetical section of security index. No information shall be permanently added, deleted, or changed on face of security index card without complying with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (8).

(5) Content and appearance of security index card

(a) Data to appear on face of card

When complete, face of security index card should contain the following information. If any of items enumerated in I through XIV are missing at time the security index card is made, the case should be continued as pending and investigation conducted to obtain the necessary information. Set forth under each item below are possible categories in which subject may be classified, together with code letters which should be placed in appropriate space on form FD-122 when sending form to Bureau recommending security index card be prepared. Code letters should subsequently appear on security index cards received from Bureau.

I. Name and aliases

The full and correct name and aliases of the subject must be contained on the security index card. When the true name of a subject or any aliases are changed, added, deleted, or are found to be incorrect, form FD-122 must be submitted showing the correct data to be placed on the security index card.

Data will not be attached to the security index card filed in the alphabetical section. These cards contain printed captions to assist in recording the descriptive information. Captions are not all-inclusive and should be augmented by other data required.

 - (E) Other data which will assist in effecting apprehension of subject, such as directions to residence or employment, where subject not situated in usual locations, listing of number of minor children and aged dependents

II. If descriptive data have not been obtained, case must be kept pending and investigation conducted to develop this information. Upon posting of security index flash notice in security index cases, the field will be furnished the FBI number and fingerprint classification which should be affixed to reverse side of the security index cards filed in geographical, special and unavailable sections.

III. Form 186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be placed on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special, or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

- (D) Whether or not defector available for interview by all Agents
 - (E) Whether he is in position to testify and willing to do so
- III. Do not include information concerning security informants for security reasons.
- IV. Proper maintenance of this file will be useful in identifying persons who may be in a position to furnish information of value in the future and will obviate necessity of extensive file reviews in this connection.
- V. A special index may be used for this file if desirable. If used, it should contain cards filed alphabetically indicating names, times, and places defectors were in a subversive movement and a brief description of information available from them. Break index down geographically and subdivide by years if desirable.

7. Administrative procedures

(1) Purpose

The reserve index is designed to represent those persons who, in the light of ever-changing conditions, should be continually borne in mind from the standpoint of the security of the country with a view toward possible investigation, interrogation, or action under the security index program. This index may serve as an administrative aid and working index containing a central repository of the names of individuals having sympathy for or affiliation with the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations.

(2) Individuals to be included

The index is to contain names of individuals when, following investigation, the information does not justify the inclusion of the subject's name in the security index when there is evidence of:

- (a) Membership in a basic revolutionary organization subsequent to January 1, 1949, together with some indication of sympathy or association with such an organization or a subversive front organization subsequent to the reported membership and no reliable evidence of defection
- (b) Investigation has failed to substantiate allegations of membership in a revolutionary organization within the past five years, coupled with some evidence or information indicating activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within the same period, and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (c) The individual, within the past five years, by his activities, writings, financial support, or conduct in relation to and support of subversive organizations or the international communist movement is in a position to influence others at the time of a national emergency and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (d) Leadership or substantial activities in a major subversive front group over three years ago, together with some evidence of continuing activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within three years and no reliable evidence of defection
- (e) Membership in a subversive front organization within the past three years and no reliable evidence of defection.

(3) Arrangement

This index is to be maintained in two sections, section A and section B. Each section will be maintained alphabetically on 5- by 8-inch cards.

(a) Section A

Section A of the reserve index is designed to represent a special group of individuals who should receive priority consideration with respect to investigation and/or other action following the apprehension of security index subjects.

I. Section A should include those individuals whose subversive activities do not bring them within the security index criteria but who, in a time of national emergency, are in a position to influence others against the national interest or are likely to furnish material/financial aid to subversive elements due to their subversive associations and ideology. Include in this section those individuals meeting the standards for inclusion in the reserve index and who fall within the following categories:

- (A) Professors, teachers, and educators
- (B) Labor union organizers or leaders
- (C) Writers, lecturers, newsmen, entertainers, and others in the mass media field
- (D) Lawyers, doctors, and scientists
- (E) Other potentially influential persons on a local or national level
- (F) Individuals who could potentially furnish material/financial aid

II. Recommendations for inclusion of names in the reserve index (section A)

(A) Recommendations for inclusion of names in section A of the reserve index are to be submitted to the Bureau by Form FD-302. A succinct summary setting forth the basis for the recommendation should be attached to the form FD-302a unless the recommendation is made simultaneously with a recommendation that the subject's name be deleted from the security index. In addition, if no report is accompanying the recommendation, a statement to that effect should appear on the page containing the succinct summary.

(B) Upon Bureau approval of recommendation for the inclusion of an individual's name in section A of the reserve index, two reserve index cards will be forwarded to the field. Add on the reverse side available descriptive data. One card is to be filed in your office, and one card is to be filed away from headquarters city at the same location as the extra set of security index cards is now stored.

III. [The field office file of a reserve index A subject should be reviewed whenever informant information or other information is channeled to the file. A determination should be made as to whether additional investigation is warranted and whether current information is sufficient for inclusion in the reserve index.]

- (A) [Deleted]
- (B) [Deleted]
- (C) [Deleted]

IV. Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing in section A of reserve index cards

- (A) Changes in data appearing on section A reserve index cards should be submitted to the Bureau on form FD-122a.
- (B) Deletions from section A of the reserve index should be recommended by letter. The letter should set forth the basis for the recommendation.
- (C) Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section A cards to new office of origin.

(b) Section B

- I. This section is to contain the names of all other individuals included in the reserve index. This section is to be maintained only in the field office. [The file of a reserve index B subject should be reviewed whenever informant information or other information is channeled to the file. A determination should be made at that time as to whether additional investigation is warranted.]
- II. Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section B cards to new office of origin.

The residence and employment of those who were included in the security index because of disaffection for the U. S. must be verified every thirty days. Each time that a security index subject's residence and employment are verified, the case must be reevaluated to assure that the subject is qualified for inclusion in the security index under the criteria for such inclusion. A notation to the effect that the case has been reviewed for this purpose shall be made in the file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

agency responsible for such action. Forward such data to Bureau and incorporate in next report submitted concerning individual in question. Where no investigation has been conducted by Bureau and there is no case on individual being denied clearance, give consideration to opening a security investigation if information received from intelligence agency warrants such action.

- (2) Inclusion in security index
In recommending key facility employee for inclusion in security index, FD-122 is to contain:
- (a) Key facility geographical reference number
 - (b) Abbreviation for agency having security responsibility. [The Department of the Army has been designated the agency having security responsibility for all key facilities.]
 - (c) Abbreviations for other agencies known to have classified contracts with the key facility. Interested agencies should be identified on FD-122 to assure proper dissemination of reports but will not appear on security index cards returned from Bureau.
 - (d) [Deleted]

If subject of existing security index card is found to have become employed in a key facility, FD-122 must be submitted to Bureau with above-required key facility data set forth thereon. Case is then to be handled in accordance with instructions set forth below concerning key facility cases.

- (3) Dissemination
Upon receipt of original complaint or allegation concerning key facility employee from source other than interested intelligence agency, a summary of complaint and information concerning the individual should be furnished immediately by letter to interested intelligence agency. Intelligence agency should then be advised whether a security investigation is being conducted of the individual and, if investigation is being conducted, that copies of reports will be furnished upon completion of investigation. Letter to intelligence agency should clearly point out that information is unsubstantiated and has not been verified through investigation by FBI.

In addition to disseminating to interested intelligence agencies information of a derogatory security nature developed concerning persons employed at facilities holding classified contracts, with the exception of classified contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission, such information should be furnished to the Chief, Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office (DISCO), Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, 43215, attention: Chief, Adjudication Division. In each instance, advise the interested intelligence agency that dissemination has been made to DISCO. This dissemination is to include derogatory security information developed concerning persons who may not be currently employed at such a facility but who are known to be holders of an industrial security clearance.

These instructions do not apply to allegations of espionage or those of such a confidential character as would not ordinarily be disseminated. Such information appearing to be of immediate interest to other intelligence agencies should be submitted to Bureau by most expeditious means, depending upon the circumstances, with a request that the Bureau consider advisability of disseminating it.

Disseminate copies of each report to the local representative of agency having security responsibility, as well as to local representative of other intelligence agencies known to have

classified contracts with the key facility. Copies of reports for the Marine Corps should be disseminated locally to [WISO.]

Dissemination to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA) (formerly Armed Forces Special Weapons Project), the Research and Development Board (RDB), and the Maritime Administration (MA) will be made at the Bureau, and not in the field.

(4) Status of cases

After all active investigation conducted, place in a closed status. Forty-five days before report due, make case pending active and check with armed services representative at the key facility, or with other reliable sources, to determine whether subject has access to classified or restricted material.

d. Key figure and top functionary program

(1) General

Purpose of key figure and top functionary program is to select for special attention those individuals in a subversive movement who are of outstanding importance to the effectiveness of the movement.

Key figure and top functionary program is described below as pertaining to the Communist Party, USA. However, it also applies to important individuals active in or on behalf of other basic revolutionary groups.

(2) Key figures

Individuals coming within the following categories shall be considered within the definition of a key figure:

- I. National, district, and state officers and the principal officers of the local clubs of the Communist Party
- II. The principal organizers of the Communist Party
- III. Those communists who are executive officers or outstanding figures in established communist front or communist-controlled organizations, foreign language groups, and Negro organizations infiltrated by communists
- IV. Individuals extensively engaged in communist infiltration of the labor movement, including principal officers of labor organizations who are members of or closely affiliated with the Communist Party. In

in a key facility, copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as shown in sections 69, volume III, and 87D 7c (2), of this manual. For instructions regarding dissemination to the Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office, Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, see 87D 7c (3), of this manual.

Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including policy, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section 69, volume III, of this manual.

- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
- (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal AviationAdministration
FAA issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way: individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to FAA. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau. For additional instructions regarding dissemination to FAA, see Manual of Rules and Regulations, part II, section 5.
- (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Under the agreement between the Bureau and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection dated 2-3-65, which is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual, reports are to be disseminated henceforth to Secret Service in all security index cases. An extra copy of the report in these cases should be furnished the Bureau. At the time the agreement was entered into, letterhead memoranda in all security index cases had been disseminated to Secret Service. Therefore, prior reports in these cases will not be disseminated.

Under the terms of the agreement, it is essential to advise Secret Service of the reason or reasons for referral - statement of the class or classes in appendix B of the agreement which the individual referred fits. For this purpose utilize form FD-376, which is designed to serve as a letter of transmittal for both local dissemination and dissemination at the SOG. The original and one copy of this form should be forwarded to the Bureau. A copy is to be maintained in the main case file and upon transferral of office of origin in any case, the new office of origin is to be furnished a copy. Careful consideration must be given to insure that the individual is properly categorized. In the case of subject being recommended for the security index, withhold dissemination pending Bureau approval of his security index status; forward FD-376 as in any other case.

In the case of individual subject of prior investigation who is currently being recommended for the security index, do not disseminate prior reports. However, prepare a letterhead memorandum including pertinent information previously developed which should be disseminated to Secret Service, together with the current report. Copies of this letterhead memorandum should be forwarded to the Bureau for dissemination at headquarters level.

[G. VISITORS TO COMMUNIST-BLOC COUNTRIES [AND TO CUBA] (For instructions on visitors to Communist China, see section 105F.) Soviet-bloc Intelligence Services (SBIS) have used the technique of contacting visitors to communist-bloc countries to recruit intelligence agents from among the visitors. Individuals in the U. S., either permanent resident aliens or others who travel to communist-bloc countries (except Yugoslavia) [and to Cuba,] should be considered as being available to SBIS for recruitment purposes. On a highly selective basis, and with an absolute minimum of investigative effort, a small percentage of these visitors should be interviewed, when information concerning such travel comes to attention of the field offices, in order to uncover any visitors who may have been approached for recruitment. If, after interview, available data indicates recruitment approach was made, further investigation should be conducted to determine whether individual represents a security risk and/or may be used against SBIS. Interviews can also: (1) produce sources in various nationality fields; (2) serve to alert visitors to notify FBI in event they are contacted or learn of anyone contacted by SBIS; (3) have a deterrent effect on persons interviewed; (4) produce positive intelligence information of interest to other government agencies.

1. Permanent resident aliens

Prior to 12-1-60, aliens who had been granted permanent residence in the U. S. were not subject to travel restrictions imposed upon U. S. citizens traveling on U. S. passports. New departure control regulations were published in the "Federal Register" 12-1-60 which prohibit the departure of permanent resident aliens from the U. S. who intend to travel to or through Albania, communist-controlled China, North Korea, and North Vietnam. Departure for these areas may be authorized in individual cases by the Secretary of State after consultation with the Attorney-General.

The regulations also require permanent resident aliens who intend to depart the U. S. for travel to or through Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Romania, the Soviet Zone of Germany ("German Democratic Republic"), Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, or Yugoslavia to obtain from INS reentry permits prior to departure from the U. S.

[The "Federal Register" 1-19-61 added Cuba to the list of countries to which permanent resident aliens in the U. S. could not travel without authorization of the Secretary of State in consultation with the Attorney General. On that date, the necessity for permanent resident aliens in the U. S. to obtain reentry permits from INS prior to departure from the U. S. was also published in the "Federal Register."]

a. Notification

- (1) Each INS district office which is a files control office will pursuant to instructions from INS central office furnish to local FBI offices the identities of permanent resident aliens applying for reentry permits. Locations of INS files control offices are set forth in section 9, page 4f, volume I, of this manual. Arrangements should be made by local liaison with INS to secure, on a continuing basis, the identities of such aliens who have secured reentry permits.
- (2) The Department of State will notify the Bureau of the identities of those resident aliens who have been authorized by the Secretary of State to travel to or through Albania, communist-controlled China, [Cuba,] North Korea, and North Vietnam. Upon receipt of such information from the Department of State, Bureau will search the names through Bureau records and furnish results to interested field offices.

b. Office of origin

In all cases involving resident aliens, the office of origin will be the field office covering the known residence in the U. S. of the alien.

(b) Contacts during investigation

I. Once Bureau authority is granted to conduct the investigation, it is permissible to contact:

(A) [Established sources functioning in an administrative capacity, such as the registrar, director of admissions, dean of men, dean of women, and security officers and their subordinates. Contacts may be made on the campus. Established sources and informants not reporting on campus activities or any matter pertaining to the educational institution may be contacted away from the campus.]

(B) All individuals not connected with the institution of learning who, consistent with discretion, would be contacted in a usual security case; e.g., neighbors, credit agencies, past employers, etc.

(2) Subjects not connected with an institution of learning

When the subject of a security-type investigation is not connected with an institution of learning and you desire to interview, in connection with the case, a student, faculty member, or other employee of an institution of learning, prior Bureau authority must be obtained [unless the individual to be interviewed is one of those listed in (b) I (A) above.] In requesting authority, the name, position, and a positive statement concerning that person's discretion and reliability should be furnished to the Bureau.

(3) Contacts of foreign establishments

In connection with investigations of contacts of Soviet, satellite, and Yugoslav officials and official establishments, Bureau authority must be obtained before conducting any inquiries or surveillances at any school, college, or university [except contacts with those individuals set out in (b) I (A) above.] Submit complete facts and your recommendation when requesting such authority.

b. U. S. Government employees, individuals having foreign diplomatic or official status, employees of foreign official establishments, employees of the United Nations or international organizations, and members of the armed forces

Should information be received or investigation develop the fact that an individual being investigated under a security caption is or becomes an employee of the U.S. Government, of a foreign official establishment, of the United Nations or other international organizations, has foreign diplomatic or official status or is a member of the U.S. armed forces, the matter should be immediately reported to the Bureau and no further investigation should be conducted except upon specific Bureau authority.

6. Investigative procedures concerning individuals

[i.] Dissemination of information to Secret Service regarding plots against the President
On 2-3-65, an "Agreement Between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service Concerning Presidential Protection" was signed and became effective. This agreement is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual.

The agreement provides that the FBI, in its investigations of organizations whose activities are inimical to the welfare of the U. S., will be alert to and promptly notify Secret Service of any information indicating a plot against the person of the President; thereafter, it is the responsibility of Secret Service to initiate such action as is necessary to neutralize such a plot.

The field must be alert during the course of the investigation of an organization for information indicating a plot against the person of the President. Upon receipt of such information, immediately furnish complete details to the nearest office of Secret Service and appropriate local law enforcement agencies and advise the Bureau at that time by teletype, or telephone if the facts warrant, of the information furnished and the fact it has been so disseminated. An immediate attempt should be made to verify the information received but no evaluation of the information should be attempted.

Prepare at once a letterhead memorandum which should include complete details disseminated and the identities of the Secret Service officer and the local law enforcement officers to whom given and the date and time of notification. Promptly disseminate the letterhead memorandum locally to Secret Service and any other appropriate Government agency and furnish sufficient copies to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Thereafter, copies of all letterhead memoranda and reports concerning the organization should be disseminated locally to Secret Service on a continuing basis and extra copies of such communications should be furnished the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG.

The field should insure that the identities of the members of the organization who are "in" on the plot are determined. Background information concerning the individuals (see items 1 and 3 of appendix A to the agreement) should be fully developed and included in the communications prepared and disseminated to Secret Service. If such identities and information are known at the time the initial information is received, they should be included in the first letterhead memorandum prepared in the matter.

- (5) In evaluating this type of case, carefully consider the nature and activities of the front organization in behalf of the Communist Party or other revolutionary organizations throughout the country or in a certain area.
- c. Special training in a subversive movement
- (1) Training in the Lenin School or in a subversive movement abroad
 - (2) Leadership training in one of the basic revolutionary organizations mentioned above
- d. Military service
- (1) Service in the Abraham Lincoln Brigade. Membership in one of the basic revolutionary organizations is not a prerequisite to initiating investigations in this category.
 - (2) Service in the military forces of any country, including the U. S. armed forces or the Office of Strategic Services whenever there is an allegation that an individual has been a member of one of the basic revolutionary organizations at any time
- e. Employment in key facilities
- Investigate the activities of any individual employed in or having access to a key facility who is alleged to have been at any time in the past a member of any basic revolutionary organization or against whom sufficient other subversive information is known.
- f. Other individuals with revolutionary beliefs
- Individuals who, because of anarchist or revolutionary beliefs, are likely to seize upon the opportunity presented by a national emergency to endanger the public safety and welfare. Membership or affiliation in basic revolutionary or front groups is not a prerequisite to initiating investigations of this type. Use sound judgment and discretion in this evaluation.

Falling within the above category are members of the Nation of Islam. When it is known or becomes known that this organization is active in the field office territory, a security-type investigation of all individuals who are reported to be (1) functionaries or leaders of the Nation of Islam, or (2) active participants carrying out fanatical and disloyal aims of the organization should be initiated. Investigations should not be initiated based on mere membership alone.

During the course of security investigations of individuals affiliated with the Nation of Islam, be alert for any information indicating a possible violation of the Selective Service Act of 1948.

The above standards for institutions of investigations of individuals are not to be interpreted as all-inclusive. Where there is doubt an individual may be a current threat to the internal security of the nation, the question should be resolved in the interest of security and investigation conducted.

The categories specified as a through f above are to be distinguished from the criteria to govern the addition of subjects to and retention of subjects in the security index, set out in 87D 7b (3). Investigation should be undertaken when cases fall within the preceding categories, even though under existing criteria the subjects would not be placed in the security index on the information available. The cases should thereafter be investigated actively to determine the scope of subversive activities in which the subjects have been engaged and to fully develop all aspects of the cases in order that a determination can be made with respect to security index status.

Complaints alleging subversive activities of individuals which are received from anonymous sources should not be disregarded provided the allegations are sufficiently specific and of sufficient weight to warrant investigation. Such allegations should receive same consideration as if the identity of the source was known. Do not open cases for investigation based on non-specific or vague allegations which do not fall within the standards for opening investigations.

Do not institute investigations because of membership in organizations which do not advocate the use of force to bring about changes in the existing Government, e.g., the Socialist Party, the Socialist Labor Party, the Independent Workers of the World and the Independence Party of Puerto Rico (Partido Independentista Puertorriqueno), etc.

Security-type cases already existent must be continually and carefully evaluated to determine that we are fulfilling our responsibilities in the internal security field. Subversive information received regarding any individual should be channeled to the individual's main file. If no main file exists, one should be opened. Cases not warranting further investigative action should be promptly closed and should not be permitted to continue endlessly without a definite objective.

5. Restrictions upon investigations of individuals

a. Investigations of and interviews with individuals connected with institutions of learning

(1) Subjects connected with institutions of learning

The following restrictions apply to employees and students of colleges, universities, and elementary and secondary schools supported by private or public funds. [III.] Superiors of faculty members

No contact should be made with the superiors of a subject who is a member of the faculty since the superiors might take action against the subject as a result of our contact.

These instructions must not deter or prevent the immediate and proper interview of any person connected with an institution of learning who desires of his own volition to furnish information to the Bureau or who desires to be contacted by an Agent.

(2) Subjects not connected with an institution of learning

When the subject of a security-type investigation is not connected with an institution of learning and you desire to interview, in connection with the case, a student, faculty member, or other employee of an institution of learning, prior Bureau authority must be obtained for such an interview. In requesting authority, the name, position, and a positive statement concerning that person's discretion and reliability should be furnished to the Bureau.

- c. Any important developments concerning pertinent phases of Communist Party activity, such as certain security measures, important national or regional Communist Party meetings, changes in personnel in national Communist Party organization, underground activities, and other important matters should be brought to attention of Bureau by teletype, airtel, or letter as circumstances may require and later incorporated in quarterly reports. Such information, where pertinent, is disseminated on high level to other Government officials. Each office is to carefully evaluate data thus submitted so Bureau will at all times be advised of important developments and so no unnecessary duplication will result in reporting such information.
- d. Extreme care must be used to assure statements relating to affiliations or membership in proscribed or subversive organization are accurate in all respects. Identification of suspected organizations or individuals with information of a possible subversive nature must be accomplished by showing exact basis for such identification, plus corroboration for same wherever possible. In no case should a person be referred to as a "known communist" unless he is publicly known as such. Whenever an individual other than the subject of a report is mentioned for the purpose of showing subversive activity or sympathy on the part of the subject, the individual so mentioned should be described with an authoritative statement showing the subversive connection: e.g., "Reported by T _____ to have been a member of the White Collar Club of the Communist Party in 1945."

- e. Specific requirements relating to Communist Party, USA, investigations
 (1) New York Office has responsibility of investigating and reporting separately on national committee meetings, national training schools, and other important national meetings. New York is responsible for reporting activities of the New York District.

- f. Socialist Workers Party and other Marxist-Leninist or Trotskyite groups

The New York Office should submit quarterly reports on the Socialist Workers Party designating reports as pending. Separate reports should be submitted: one pertaining to local activities, the other pertaining to activities on a national basis. Auxiliary offices should submit reports each six months and may carry their cases in a pending-inactive status. Reports on less active Marxist-Leninist groups should be submitted semiannually and also may be carried as pending inactive. [Follow rule set out under item 3a, (2) (f), above, and identify on cover pages members of the local Socialist Workers Party, or other organizations, who are not in the security index and are not informants or sources.]

- g. Classification - 100

- h. Title and character of communications

- (1) Communist Party, USA

Entitle all communications covering a national convention or national organizational activity of the party:

Communist Party, USA
 Internal Security - C

Caption all communications covering activities in a particular district:

Communist Party, USA
 District
 Division
 Internal Security - C

Caption all communications covering activities in states not included in a district:

Communist Party, USA

 Division
 Internal Security - C

- (2) Socialist Workers Party

Entitle all communications covering a national convention or national organizational activity of the Socialist Workers Party:

Socialist Workers Party
 Internal Security - SWP

Caption all communications covering activities within a particular field division:

Socialist Workers Party
 Division
 Internal Security - SWP

- (3) Other Marxist revolutionary groups

All communications covering other Marxist revolutionary groups should carry the name of the organization and the classification, Internal Security; e.g.,

Proletarian Party of America
 Internal Security - PPA

- (1) Handwriting specimens
 - I. If, during the investigation of security matter cases, it is disclosed that samples of the subject's handwriting are readily available, obtain specimens for possible future use and maintain in the file in the field.
 - II. A case is not to be left in a pending status merely for the purpose of obtaining handwriting specimens.
 - III. Handwriting specimens must be obtained for all key figures and forwarded to the Bureau.
- (m) Labor union membership:

If the subject is being investigated because of Communist Party membership, ascertain the identity of any labor organization of which he is a member and what position he holds in the labor organization, if any.
- (2) Subversive activity
 - (a) Membership or affiliation

Obtain admissible and convincing evidence that the subject is a member of, or affiliated with, one of the basic revolutionary organizations and/or front organizations wherever possible. Such evidence may be either direct or circumstantial, or both. It is not possible to list the innumerable and varied forms in which such evidence may be found. Some of the more common types are:

 - I. Oral or written statements or admissions of the subject made publicly or privately to other individuals
 - II. Statements of confidential informants and other persons who are in a position to know the facts and can testify to them
 - III. Official letterheads and documents of subversive organizations containing information which identifies the subjects with the organizations. This will include membership and dues records wherever obtainable.
 - IV. Selective service records in which the subject admits membership in or position with a subversive organization
 - V. Attendance at closed meetings and conventions of a subversive organization
 - VI. Letters to publications, public officials, or other persons signed by the subject in an official position with a subversive organization or wherein the subject admits membership in or adherence to the principles of a subversive organization
 - VII. Recruitment or attempt to recruit members for a subversive organization
 - VIII. Solicitations or contributions of funds for subversive organization
 - IX. Seeking public office as a candidate for a subversive organization
 - X. Association with other individuals who are known to be members of or affiliated with subversive organizations

With regard to the question of membership, attention is directed to section 87H of this manual relating to the provisions of the Communist Control Act of 1954. This sets out a list of 14 criteria itemized in 87H 2, which would be considered "in determining membership or participation in the Communist Party or any other organization defined in this Act, or knowledge of the purpose or objective of such party or organization...." These criteria include, e.g., listing as a member in organization records, contributions to the organization, and acceptance of organization discipline.

- (b) Knowledge of aims and purposes.

Admissible and convincing evidence that the subject knows the aims and purposes of the subversive organizations to overthrow the Government by force and violence should also be obtained. Mere proof of membership in or affiliation with such an organization is not sufficient to prove such knowledge.

Proof that the subject has such knowledge of the revolutionary purposes of the organization may be existent in several forms, several of which are discussed below:

- I. Direct admissible evidence, such as statements made by the subject, or by responsible officials of the subversive organization in the subject's presence at organizational classes or meetings expounding the organization's doctrine in which the necessity or advisability of using force or violence in the overthrow of the Government is asserted, should be obtained, if at all possible.
- Occasionally, statements of this nature are available in the subject's writings, sometimes in an indirect or veiled form.
- II. Length of time in a subversive organization
 - III. Official positions held in the organization especially in educational, propaganda, or policy-making capacities
 - IV. Charter membership in the organization, participation in the original establishment of the organization
 - V. Extensive and long-continued participation in various organizational activities
 - VI. Attendance or teaching at organization schools or classes, especially leadership classes
 - VII. Preparation or distribution of party propaganda
 - VIII. Recruiting and fund-raising activities
 - IX. Possession of Marxist or revolutionary literature
 - X. Urging others to read literature of a revolutionary character, etc.

While none of the above types of evidence may be of sufficient value alone, a combination of a number of them may constitute convincing proof.

It should be remembered that the revolutionary purposes of a subversive organization are frequently cloaked in veiled language or in language significant only to persons familiar with Marxist or revolutionary terminology. Such obscure statements should not be ignored, but should be fully reported as it may be possible in legal proceedings to bring out the significance of such statements through expert witnesses, the testimony of informants, or the introduction of literature clarifying them. Confidential informants and other sources should be carefully interrogated and files thoroughly reviewed for the purpose of developing all revolutionary statements. In such instances, complete details should be obtained, together with all corroborating evidence. The names of all persons present when such statements are made should be ascertained and the facts reported in the individual case file of the person making the statement and of all persons present when the statement was made. The circumstances under which the statement was made should, of course, be ascertained and reported.

(c) Position and importance

- I. Information reflecting the importance of an individual to a subversive organization or movement should be fully developed and reported. The member or affiliate may be dangerous or important because of his position, influence or activities outside the organization, or both. The facts in this regard should be fully developed. The individual may hold an important and strategic position or exercise great influence in a labor organization or other mass organization; in a racial, nationality, youth or other group; in an important front organization; in radio, newspaper, motion picture or other cultural, agency responsible for such action. Forward such data to Bureau and incorporate in next report submitted concerning individual in question. Where no investigation has been conducted by Bureau and there is no case on individual being denied clearance, give consideration to opening a security investigation if information received from intelligence agency warrants such action.

- (2) Inclusion in security index
In recommending key facility employee for inclusion in security index, FD-122 is to contain:
- (a) Key facility geographical reference number
 - (b) Abbreviation for agency having security responsibility
 - (c) Abbreviations for other agencies known to have classified contracts with the key facility. Interested agencies should be identified on FD-122 to assure proper dissemination of reports but will not appear on security index cards returned from Bureau.
 - (d) Abbreviation AEC immediately following abbreviation for agency having security responsibility when abbreviation of responsible agency on key facilities list is followed by asterisk, which denotes Atomic Energy Commission is involved in security responsibility. This data will appear on security index cards returned from the Bureau.

If subject of existing security index card is found to have become employed in a key facility, FD-122 must be submitted to Bureau with above-required key facility data set forth thereon. Case is then to be handled in accordance with instructions set forth below concerning key facility cases.

- (3) Dissemination
Upon receipt of original complaint or allegation concerning key facility employee from source other than interested intelligence agency, a summary of complaint and information concerning the individual should be furnished immediately by letter to interested intelligence agency. Intelligence agency should then be advised whether a security investigation is being conducted of the individual and, if investigation is being conducted, that copies of reports will be furnished upon completion of investigation. Letter to intelligence agency should clearly point out that information is unsubstantiated and has not been verified through investigation by FBI.

In addition to disseminating to interested intelligence agencies information of a derogatory security nature developed concerning persons employed at facilities holding classified contracts, with the exception of classified contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission, such information should be furnished to the Chief, Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office (DISCO), Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, 43215, attention Chief, Adjudication Division. In each instance, advise the interested intelligence agency that dissemination has been made to DISCO. This dissemination is to include derogatory [security] information developed concerning persons who may not be currently employed at such a facility but who are known to be holders of an industrial security clearance.

These instructions do not apply to allegations of espionage or those of such a confidential character as would not ordinarily be disseminated. Such information appearing to be of immediate interest to other intelligence agencies should be submitted to Bureau by most expeditious means, depending upon the circumstances, with a request that the Bureau consider advisability of disseminating it.

Disseminate copies of each report to the local representative of agency having security responsibility, as well as to local representative of other intelligence agencies known to have

[classified contracts with the key facility.] Copies of reports for the Marine Corps should be disseminated locally to ONI.

Dissemination to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA) (formerly Armed Forces Special Weapons Project), the Research and Development Board (RDB), and the Maritime Administration (MA) will be made at the Bureau, and not in the field.

- (4) Status or cases
After all active investigation conducted, place in a closed status. Forty-five days before report due, make case pending active and check with armed services representative at the key facility, or with other reliable sources, to determine whether subject has access to classified or restricted material.
- d. Key figure and top functionary program
- (1) General
Purpose of key figure and top functionary program is to select for special attention those individuals in a subversive movement who are of outstanding importance to the effectiveness of the movement.
- Key figure and top functionary program is described below as pertaining to the Communist Party, USA. However, it also applies to important individuals active in or on behalf of other basic revolutionary groups.
- (2) Key figures
- (a) Definition
A key figure is an individual, either a member or non-member of the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organization, who, by reason of his official position in the organization or his connections with the communist movement and his activities on its behalf, is considered of sufficient importance and potential dangerousness from an internal security standpoint to require immediate apprehension or detention in the event of an emergency. Individuals coming within the following categories shall be considered within the definition of a key figure:
- I. National, district, and state officers and the principal officers of the local clubs of the Communist Party
 - II. The principal organizers of the Communist Party
 - III. Those communists who are executive officers or outstanding figures in established communist front or communist-controlled organizations, foreign language groups, and Negro organizations infiltrated by communists
 - IV. Individuals extensively engaged in communist infiltration of the labor movement, including principal officers of labor organizations who are members of or closely affiliated with the Communist Party. In field office territory, the name and title of each Negro included in this total who maintains a national level position, and the name and title of each Negro included in this total who maintains a district level position above the status of "club chairman." Members of the Communist Party, USA, who are now carried as unidentified but who are known to be members of the Negro race should be included in the total number of Negroes.

When possible, totals should be broken down as to nationality, sex, employment, veterans, and membership in unions. Auxiliary offices which, due to lack of Communist Party activity in their divisions, have been authorized to submit data by quarterly letter should include membership figures in these letters to the Bureau and office of origin. These letters to be submitted by auxiliary offices prior to first day of month in which quarterly report is due. Office of origin responsible to obtain complete figures from its auxiliary offices.

- (b) In preparing estimates, best available informants and sources must be used. Include in cover pages of quarterly reports evaluation of degree of reliability of figures furnished by each source and of final figures submitted. Also include in cover pages total number of individuals positively identified as Communist Party members and total number of individuals tentatively identified as party members within the twelve-month period immediately preceding the submission of the quarterly report. In reporting membership figures, information from one source only is not acceptable unless facts are set forth demonstrating information from this source is the most accurate and most reliable information available.
 - (c) Explain in detail any increase or decrease in membership figures previously submitted. Where informants use such terms as "inactive" or "paper" members, their exact understanding of the meaning of the terms used and the number of individuals so described must be clearly explained. Full explanation must be made as to whether individuals so described are included in final membership figures submitted, together with reason for their inclusion or exclusion.
 - (d) Results of membership recruiting drives
 - (e) Make discreet efforts to ascertain results of annual national registration drives.
 - [(f) To reduce indexing at the Bureau, each report should contain a statement in the cover pages that all persons named in the report as members of the Communist Party and who reside within the area covered by the reporting office are listed in the security index, or are informants or sources, with the exception of those listed. If any name is listed, a statement should be made as to whether the name has been previously furnished to the Bureau for indexing. The status of the investigation of any listed individual should be shown.]

- (d) Identity of any new party "angels"

- (5) Underground operations (Bureau file 100-3-94)
Pertinent general information suitable for dissemination relating to underground operations of Communist Party. No information should be included in quarterly reports which would jeopardize informants or special investigative techniques. Current investigations relating to expanded underground operations during period 1951-1955 should be submitted by separate letter under individual case caption and should not be included in quarterly reports except for general information relating to methods of operation.
- (6) Factionalism (Bureau file 100-3-83)
 - (a) Submit pertinent information indicating that any ranking Communist Party members or group of members have developed views as "left-wing sectarianists" or "right-wing opportunists" inasmuch as the party has a policy of expelling members who develop such views.

- b. Communist Party, USA - strategy in industry (Bureau file 100-3-89)
A separate case shall be maintained by each office on this basic phase of Communist Party activity. Offices of origin will be the same as in the Communist Party, USA, case. Reports will be submitted quarterly. Offices with no activity to report may submit letters. The instructions in paragraphs g and h will apply, with the addition of "Strategy in Industry" to the designated captions.

The investigation in this case shall cover all plans, strategy, tactics, and infiltration activities by the Communist Party, USA, directed against all industry, with special emphasis on activities connected with basic and vital industries. Particular attention shall be given to the composition, meetings, plans, and activities of Communist Party industrial and trade-union commissions and industrial and trade-union districts and clubs. Pertinent activities of individual communists charged with Communist Party duties in this field shall be included in reports. The information reported shall be grouped according to the industry involved, rather than according to individual labor unions. Refer to the subsection F on investigation of communist infiltration of labor unions and subsection H of Communist Control Act of 1954 for instructions regarding investigations concerning communist infiltration of specific labor unions.

- [Follow rule set out under item 3a, (2) (f), above, concerning listing of Communist Party members who are not in the security index.]
- c. Any important developments concerning pertinent phases of Communist Party activity, such as certain security measures, important national or regional Communist Party meetings, changes in personnel in national Communist Party organization, underground activities, and other important matters should be brought to attention of Bureau by teletype, airtel, or letter as circumstances may require and later incorporated in quarterly reports. Such information, where pertinent, is disseminated on high level to other Government officials. Each office is to carefully evaluate data thus submitted so Bureau will at all times be advised of important developments and so no unnecessary duplication will result in reporting such information.
- d. Extreme care must be used to assure statements relating to affiliations or membership in proscribed or subversive organization are accurate in all respects. Identification of suspected organizations or individuals with information of a possible subversive nature must be accomplished by showing exact basis for such identification, plus corroboration for same wherever possible. In no case should a person be referred to as a "known communist" unless he is publicly known as such. Whenever an individual other than the subject of a report is mentioned for the purpose of showing subversive activity or sympathy on the part of the subject, the individual so mentioned should be described with an authoritative statement showing the subversive connection; e.g., "Reported by T to have been a member of the White Collar Club of the Communist Party in 1945."

Auxiliary offices should submit reports each six months and may carry their cases in a pending-inactive status. Reports on less active Marxist-Leninist groups should be submitted semiannually and also may be carried as pending inactive. 4. Annual Communist Party, USA, organizational and membership survey. Each office is instructed to initiate by February 1 of each year a detailed and analytical survey of the organization and membership of the Communist Party in its territory, results to be forwarded to the Bureau by April 1. Set forth in detail the complete organizational structure of each Communist Party district or state organization including district and county committees, together with the identities of officers from the club through the district level. Identify each Communist Party club and section in the district, together with the identities of individual club members and most recent date each member was so identified. Where identification of an individual is tentative, this fact should be indicated by placing the word "tentative" after the individual's name. Note the informant coverage in each club, as well as on district and county committees, by setting forth the symbol numbers of the informants. In those instances in which no informant coverage exists in a particular club or on a district or county committee, this fact should be noted. In addition, summarize the overall findings by setting forth the estimated Communist Party membership in the field office territory, together with the number of members who have been positively and tentatively identified as such within the immediately preceding 12-month period. Charts and maps should be used in setting forth the geographic distribution of the Communist Party whenever feasible. Offices which are auxiliary offices in investigation of a Communist Party district should furnish the required information to the office of origin for inclusion in its survey by March 15 of each year.

Following the organizational breakdown, each office should critically appraise its knowledge of the Communist Party organization within its division and set forth its comments and recommendations concerning investigative activity to be undertaken to eliminate any weaknesses detected. In those instances in which the disclosed weakness is that of lack of adequate informant coverage, advise in detail of the number of Bureau-approved potential security informants being developed in the particular area, as well as concrete plans to obtain additional informant coverage in the future.

[Each survey should contain a statement that all persons identified as members of the Communist Party are listed in the security index, or are informants or sources. Any exceptions should be named and a statement made as to whether the name has previously been furnished to the Bureau for indexing. The status of the investigation of each person listed should be shown.]

5. Communist Influence in Racial Matters, Internal Security - C (code name "CIRM"). Bufile 100-442529. Office of origin: New York.
- a. Quarterly reports (to reach the Bureau by February 1, May 1, August 1, and November 1) should be submitted by each field office for the purpose of reporting, in a centralized manner, all available information bearing upon the communist influence in racial matters. Included should be information developed under the title of a variety of matters, such as CPUSA, Negro question, communist influence in racial matters; communist infiltration of various organizations, such as the Congress of Racial Equality, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and the like; investigations of subversive individuals active in the racial movement; investigations of communist fronts and other miscellaneous organizations; and racial disturbances and other racial matters investigated under the racial matter character. Information should be included in these quarterly reports, notwithstanding the fact that it will duplicate reporting in the other substantive matters referred to above. These reports shall be designed to precisely spell out the full extent of the communist influence in racial matters. They should separate words and intentions from actions; mere participation from direct influence; and the bona fide communist from the mere "do-gooder." They should not include information concerning legitimate efforts in the racial movement where there is no communist taint.

- b. Information should be reported according to the following outline. All main headings denoted by Roman numerals must be accounted for. If there is no information to report under a particular main heading, the heading should appear, followed by a statement "No information developed."

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

(A) COMMUNIST PARTY, USA

- (1) Plans, strategy, party line, and the like made at national meetings, including expressions by national and other functionaries
- (2) Plans, etc., made at district and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank-and-file members
- (3) Plans, etc., as revealed in party publications and other propaganda media, such as written directives, press releases, and the like

Information under item 3 should be reported by the office covering the origin of the publications, such as the New York Office for "The Worker," "Political Affairs," and directives from party headquarters; San Francisco Office for "People's World"; etc. Party expressions, oral or written, when directly related to a specific event covered under II, should be included under II.

(B) OTHER COMMUNIST GROUPS (Such as Socialist Workers Party, Progressive Labor [Party,] Workers World Party, and the like)

Under (B), report information under separate numbered sub-headings for each organization. Report here information generally along the same lines as for (A) above.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

In this part report information on communist direction and influence of and participation in racial demonstrations, disturbances, drives, boycotts, and any other similar activities with racial overtones. This part will illustrate how communist activities attempt to exploit racial situations and expand communist influence, thus furthering communist objectives. List activities in chronological order with lettered subheadings, such as:

- (A) DEMONSTRATION, CLEVELAND, OHIO, 1-10-66
- (B) STORE BOYCOTT, YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, 3-6-66

Under each subheading include such information as nature of event; sponsoring and participating groups; total participants; number and identities of subversives involved; specifics as to whether subversives directed, controlled, instigated, or merely participated; whether violence resulted and, if so, whether subversives involved; arrests of subversives and court disposition; and any other information believed pertinent to the overall picture of communist influence. Efforts by supporting groups to avoid communist involvement should also be reported. If a particular event had no communist involvement, it should, of course, not be included in the report.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN FACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

Field offices should set out information concerning only the local branches of the organizations which are in its territory. The office covering the national headquarters of an organization should set out pertinent data as to the national headquarters, as well as any local affiliates in its territory, separating the national from the locals. The number of members, nationally and by locals, should be indicated. Include under each organization information as to officers and others in positions of influence who have present or past subversive connections; information as to other subversives who are merely members; specific evidence of influence wielded by subversives; policy concerning communist participation in the organization's activities, such as prohibition of communists holding office or membership (if no such stated policy, so indicate); and use and distribution of communist propaganda.

IV. MISCELLANEOUS

If at all possible, information to be included should be set out under the basic main headings I, II, or III. However, should there be some pertinent information to report which does not lend itself to the first three parts, it will be permissible to include it in part IV - MISCELLANEOUS.

- c. The term "communist" should be interpreted in its broad sense as including persons not only adhering to the principles of the CPUSA itself, but also to such splinter and offshoot groups as the Socialist Workers Party, Progressive Labor [Party,] and the like.
- d. Any office which has no information to report should so advise the Bureau by letter in lieu of a report. If any positive information, however limited, is available, it must be submitted by report. The same appropriate local dissemination to other agencies should be made as is made for the quarterly reports concerning the CPUSA. Except as otherwise indicated above, the regular report writing rules for security reports shall be applicable.
- [e. Follow rule set out under item 3a, (2) (f), above, concerning listing of those Communist Party members named in the reports who are not in the security index.]

D. SECURITY INVESTIGATION OF INDIVIDUALS

1. Definitions

The term "basic revolutionary organization" or "basic revolutionary group" when used hereinafter in this subsection shall apply to any one or all of the following organizations or groups in order to distinguish the organizations from front organizations:

- a. Communist Party, USA
- b. Socialist Workers Party
- c. Progressive Labor [Party]
- d. Proletarian Party of America
- e. Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico
- f. Johnson-Forest Group
- g. American Socialist Clubs
- h. See also 87C 1d.

2. Responsibility of the Bureau

- a. To conduct thorough investigation into the background and subversive activities of all persons in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security. Each SAC will be held responsible for the proper investigation of all persons in his area who, because of membership or affiliation with basic revolutionary organizations or other Marxist revolutionary organizations including splinter groups, may be potentially dangerous.
- b. To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of individuals constituting a threat to the internal security and develop sufficient information and evidence through investigation to sustain a proper action by the Bureau should it become necessary for the Federal Government to institute prosecutive action against such individuals in courts of law or control their movement and activities in the event of a national emergency

3. Purpose of investigation

The primary purpose of these investigations is twofold, namely:

a. Determination of dangerousness

To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who, because of their membership in, activity in, or association with one or more of the revolutionary groups defined above or related groups, are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country, and the consequent collection of sufficient information concerning their subversive activities to justify apprehension in event of a national emergency

b. Determination of violations of Federal statutes

- To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals who have been or may be violating laws of the U. S.
- (1) Direct investigation towards obtaining admissible evidence to establish the violation.
 - (2) Be alert for any information indicating a violation of the Federal statutes relating to espionage, sabotage, and sedition.
 - (3) Title 18, USC, § 2385, paragraph (1), prohibits the advocacy, etc., of forceful or violent overthrow of the Government. Paragraph (2) prohibits the printing and distribution of propaganda advocating the forceful overthrow of the Government. (Affiliation with an organization is not a prerequisite to prosecution under paragraphs (1) and (2).) Paragraph (3) makes it unlawful to organize or help to organize any society, etc., of persons who advocate overthrow of the Government by force or violence, or to be or become a member of or become affiliated with any such society knowing the purposes thereof. Conspiracy to violate this section is covered by Title 18, USC, § 371 (general conspiracy statute).
 - (4) Title 18, USC, § 2387, penalizes attempts to undermine the loyalty, discipline, or morale of the armed forces. Alleged violations should be reported immediately to the Bureau.

- (5) Title 5, USC, §[7311, and Title 18, USC, § 1918,] prohibit Government employment of persons who are disloyal or who assert the right to strike against the Government. [Title 5, USC, § 3333,] provides that an individual accepting office or employment in the Government of the U. S. shall, within 60 days, execute an affidavit certifying that he does not advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government, etc. The execution of a false affidavit constitutes a fraud on, or attempt to defraud, the Government within the purview of Title 5, USC, §[303,] so as to authorize Special Agents of the Bureau to administer oaths in investigations arising out of this law. Alleged violations of this law called to your attention should be furnished to the Bureau promptly and no investigation should be initiated on the basis of complaints received without prior Bureau authority. Refer to section 69H of this manual entitled "Security of Government Employees - Fraud Against the Government" for procedures to be followed regarding possible violations of this law discovered or received in connection with security of Government employees investigations.
- (6) Title 18, USC, § 1001, includes possible fraud against the Government violations wherein there are concealments or falsifications relating to subversive information. These violations must be presented to the Department by the Bureau for a prosecutive opinion rather than being presented locally to USAs. They ordinarily involve the execution of U. S. Government forms. Common violators are employees of private concerns having Government contracts who execute Government forms required for clearance for access to classified information.

Upon receipt of information indicating a violation of this type, investigation under the "Security Matter - Fraud Against the Government" character should be initiated and the Bureau immediately advised. The Department has advised that it is essential, to establish jurisdiction, to prove that the form was presented to a Government agency for action or determination. This, therefore, should be the first investigative step. If the form was not presented to a Government agency, no further investigation should be made and the Bureau so advised. In this case, remain alert for information the form is later presented to a Government agency. The fact subject actually signed the form must be established by testimony of witnesses to the signature, handwriting examination, or other conclusive evidence. The original of the form must be located. Sources that furnished pertinent information concerning subject during previous investigations and other potential witnesses should be thoroughly interviewed to determine the basis for each item of pertinent information furnished and to obtain the identities of other potential witnesses. Where affiliation with subversive organizations is involved, interview individuals who were members of same units of these organizations as subject for indicia of his membership, such as attendance at closed meetings, payment of dues, holding of office, etc. If possible, develop evidence to supplant pertinent information furnished by current informants. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview the subject. Interview subject and potential witnesses furnishing pertinent information under oath and obtain sworn signed statements if possible. An exception may be made when interviewing established sources, such as current informants, if oath and/or signed statements not considered desirable under circumstances. Be guided by instructions in section 6b, (7), below when interviewing potential witnesses with subversive backgrounds.

[against the President
[On 2-3-65, an "Agreement Between the Federal Bureau of Investi[gation and the Secret Service Concerning Presidential Protection"
[was signed and became effective. This agreement is set out in [its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual.

[The agreement provides that the FBI, in its investigations of [organizations whose activities are inimical to the welfare of [the U. S., will be alert to and promptly notify Secret Service
[of any information indicating a plot against the person of the [President; thereafter, it is the responsibility of Secret Service
[to initiate such action as is necessary to neutralize such a plot.

[The field must be alert during the course of the investigation of [an organization for information indicating a plot against the [person of the President. Upon receipt of such information, [immediately furnish complete details to the nearest office of [Secret Service and appropriate local law enforcement agencies and [advise the Bureau at that time by teletype, or telephone if the [facts warrant, of the information furnished and the fact it has [been so disseminated. An immediate attempt should be made to [verify the information received but no evaluation of the information

[Prepare at once a letterhead memorandum which should include
[complete details disseminated and the identities of the Secret [Service officer and the local law enforcement officers to whom [given and the date and time of notification. Promptly disseminate
[the letterhead memorandum locally to Secret Service and any other [appropriate Government agency and furnish sufficient copies to [the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Thereafter, copies of [all letterhead memoranda and reports concerning the organization
[should be disseminated locally to Secret Service on a continuing [basis and extra copies of such communications should be furnished

[The field should insure that the identities of the members of the [organization who are "in" on the plot are determined. Background [information concerning the individuals (see items 1 and 3 of [appendix A to the agreement) should be fully developed and included [in the communications prepared and disseminated to Secret Service.
[If such identities and information are known at the time the [initial information is received, they should be included in the [first letterhead memorandum prepared in the matter.]

In these cases it is permissible to report such information in narrative-type statements without indicating exact dates of activity; however, the period of time involved must be shown, as well as the inclusive dates of the informant reports.

 - (3) No such surveillances should be instituted without specific Bureau authority.

For instructions regarding dissemination to the Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office, Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, see 87D (3), of this manual.

Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to FAA. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau. [For additional instructions regarding dissemination to FAA, see Manual of Rules and Regulations, part II, section 5.]
- (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Under the agreement between the Bureau and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection dated 2-3-65, which is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual, reports are to be disseminated henceforth to Secret Service in all security index cases. An extra copy of the report in these cases should be furnished the Bureau. At the time the agreement was entered into, letterhead memoranda in all security index cases had been disseminated to Secret Service. Therefore, prior reports in these cases will not be disseminated.

Under the terms of the agreement, it is essential to advise Secret Service of the reason or reasons for referral - statement of the class or classes in appendix B of the agreement which the individual referred fits. For this purpose utilize form FD-376, which is designed to serve as a letter of transmittal for both local dissemination and dissemination at the SOG. The original and one copy of this form should be forwarded to the Bureau. A copy is to be maintained in the main case file and upon transferral of office of origin in any case, the new office of origin is to be furnished a copy. Careful consideration must be given to insure that the individual is properly categorized. In the case of subject being recommended for the security index, withhold dissemination pending Bureau approval of his security index status; forward FD-376 as in any other case.

In the case of individual subject of prior investigation who is currently being recommended for the security index, do not disseminate prior reports. However, prepare a letterhead memorandum including pertinent information previously developed which should be disseminated to Secret Service, together with the current report. Copies of this letterhead memorandum should be forwarded to the Bureau for dissemination at headquarters level.

- (4) Content
- (a) Each card in section A and section B should contain, as a minimum, the following:
 - I. Name and aliases
 - II. Race
 - III. Sex
 - IV. Organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency
 - V. Citizenship
 - VI. Residence
 - VII. Employment
 - VIII. Birth data
 - IX. Office file number
 - X. The letters "SS" if dissemination has been made to Secret Service in accordance with instructions in section [134B,] item 2, volume [IV,] of the manual
 - (b) In addition, membership and position or association of a subversive group or groups, together with the source and date of the information, may be added.
- (5) Removal and deletion of cards
- (a) Destroy cards on individuals who subsequently become security informants or sources or who subsequently become subjects of security index cards.
 - (b) Advise the Bureau of the destruction only in the case of section A cards.
- b. Security index
- (1) Purpose
 - (a) Security index cards are prepared and maintained by the Bureau to serve as operational guide for apprehension of persons deemed dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country in the event of a national emergency.
 - (b) It shall contain the names of all persons who have been determined through investigation to be dangerous or potentially dangerous because of their membership in or affiliation with or espousal of agencies of basic nationalistic organizations and/or front organizations and who will be apprehended upon receipt of instructions from the Attorney General.
 - (c) It shall include subjects of espionage investigations and any other type of Bureau investigation provided their activities bring them within the scope of the security index criteria.
 - (d) Action shall be taken against individuals included in the security index only upon authorization of warrants of arrest by the Attorney General. However, in preparing and maintaining the security index, to all practical effects, the Bureau is making the decision as to those persons who will be apprehended in the event of an emergency, inasmuch as the Attorney General has advised that he does not have funds or

- manpower to review security index cases.
- (e) Names shall be included in the security index only when investigation has established and reports[show] sufficient facts and evidence to justify the inclusion of each subject in the security index.
 - (f) The contents of the security index must be accurate and correct at all times. Matters pertaining to its preparation and maintenance must be given preferred, expeditious, continuous, and detailed attention.
 - (g) Matters pertaining to the security index are strictly confidential and are not to be mentioned or alluded to in investigative reports.
 - (h) The general operation and content of the security index must not be discussed by field personnel of the Bureau without prior Bureau authority.
 - (i) Matters pertaining to the security index may be discussed with duly qualified representatives of other Federal intelligence agencies only on a strictly confidential basis and only in instances in which the individual subject of prime interest to one of these services is involved.
- (2) Determination of dangerousness of an individual
- (a) The dangerousness of a member or affiliate of a subversive organization does not necessarily depend entirely upon his personal characteristics, such as aggressiveness or a disposition to violence. Although these factors must be taken into consideration in evaluating an individual's potential dangerousness, other factors are essential in making this determination. An individual's dangerousness also depends upon the contribution he has made or is making to the advancement of the principles and aims of the subversive movement with which he is connected or his subversive potentialities in the event of a national emergency. Bear in mind that a subject active in a subversive organization is not merely an isolated individual but is a part of an organization of which the purposes are opposed to the best interests of the U. S. An individual's loyalty to a subversive organization and the principles thereof is a primary factor to take into consideration in evaluating his potential dangerousness; [however, regardless of evidence of subversive affiliation, all evidence developed during the course of a security investigation must be carefully weighed for the purpose of determining whether the subject's activities depict him as a potentially dangerous individual in time of a national emergency. Factors having a bearing upon an individual's potential dangerousness are numerous and will vary in each case in degree.] Among such factors are:
 - I. Long continued membership in a subversive organization
 - II. Affiliation with or attendance at training schools, especially leadership schools
 - III. Frequent or regular attendance at organizational meetings and functions
 - IV. Subscriptions to publications of a subversive organization
 - V. Possession of or continued study of revolutionary literature
 - VI. Preparation or distribution of subversive propaganda and/or literature
 - VII. Holding positions in the subversive organization or in other organizations of a front character which indicate confidence of such organizations in his loyalty
 - VIII. Espousal of a subversive doctrine exemplified in his acts and utterances

After initial dissemination to Secret Service in security index cases, as changes occur in the status of the individuals involved with respect to residence and employment, advise Secret Service locally and furnish two copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Form FD-366 may be used for this purpose. The letterhead memorandum should contain a reference to the previous communication disseminated to Secret Service.

When reporting changes in residence and/or employment concerning Chinese and Cuban aliens on the security index, in addition to dissemination to Secret Service, also advise the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) locally, and furnish four copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Bear in mind in filling out the reference that some letterhead memoranda have been expressly prepared for dissemination to Secret Service only and are not to be furnished to the Department or INS; therefore, the only furnished INS local and two of the copies furnished the Bureau should reference the last communication to INS.

For instructions pertaining to dissemination to Secret Service in other than security index cases, refer to section [134B,] volume [IV,] of this manual.

Upon transfer of office of origin in one of these cases, the old office of origin is to furnish Secret Service locally with the subject's new residence and business address and advise the Bureau that such has been done by the submission of two copies of the letterhead memorandum disseminated locally. The new office of origin need take no action regarding dissemination to Secret Service until such time as further changes occur with respect to the subject's status or until preparation of the next periodic report in the case.

(10) Dissemination at the Bureau

There are some situations in which dissemination is made at the Bureau instead of in the field. In the majority of instances, information received by the FBI should properly be furnished immediately to some other agency within the executive branch of the Government so that the responsibilities of the other agency might be fulfilled properly. Care must be taken, however, to disseminate information to any field branch of another Government agency where such a procedure is deemed inadvisable because of the inadequacy of security measures in that branch. In these instances the data should be brought to the immediate attention of the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. An example of the latter is, of course, the Atomic Energy Commission which receives reports only through the Bureau, as noted in section 87D 7c (3) of this manual. Information relating to foreign travel plans of security subjects is disseminated to interested agencies, including the State Department, only at the SOG, as set out in 87D 1b (4). Dissemination is also made at the SOG to the State Department, unless it appears undesirable, in those cases in which subjects have been indicted for violations grounded on subversive activities. Dissemination in these cases is made to preclude these subjects from utilizing the fact they obtained a passport to refute allegations of subversive connections. The State Department, therefore, will be in possession of data concerning a defendant should he attempt to utilize this tactic in such an action.

b. Data developed concerning individuals who are not within the Bureau's investigative jurisdiction

(1) Members of the armed forces

The Delimitations Agreement between the FBI and the armed forces intelligence agencies states that the responsibility assumed by one organization in a given field carries with it the obligation to exchange freely and directly with other subscribing organizations all information of mutual interest.

Thus, in discharging our basic responsibility in the internal security field, it is imperative that information concerning members of the military services be referred immediately to the appropriate branch having primary responsibility for its personnel. This procedure is mandatory, even though the security aspects of the data have not been fully resolved or verified. It should be specifically pointed out in such instances that the information has not been verified.

Section 87D 5b of this manual instructs that if it is determined a security subject is a member of the armed services the investigation must at that point be discontinued immediately and reported to the Bureau. The basis for such instruction lies in the fact that the subject is no longer within our investigative jurisdiction. In addition, dissemination of pertinent reports must be made locally in the field to the appropriate intelligence agency.

Our responsibility with regard to military personnel is not confined to those who have been the subjects of security investigations. It extends to any subversive derogatory data developed against a member of the armed services during any of our investigations of either individuals or organizations. For instance, if it is determined that a member of the armed forces has been in contact with a security subject or with any individual or group raising security implications, the appropriate intelligence service should be immediately advised locally. This should be done even though the security aspects of the contact have not been resolved, so that the military services may be in a position to discharge their responsibilities. It should be pointed out to them specifically in such instances that the data are unverified, and pertinent developments must be transmitted to them thereafter immediately upon receipt.

Section 87D 6b (1) (h) provides that during the course of security investigations it must be determined whether the subject has any close relatives in the armed forces. Our responsibility requires that such associations be called to the attention of the appropriate military intelligence services, together with pertinent data, including reports, on the security subjects involved. The evaluation of these associations lies entirely within the province of the intelligence services; but for the reasons stated previously herein it is incumbent upon the Bureau to disseminate this information immediately upon receipt.

Any subversive contacts or information developed concerning military personnel must be set out in a letter to the Bureau together with a statement as to the local dissemination made in the field. Such letter should be accompanied by a [letterhead] memorandum setting out with particularity the subversive data in a form entirely suitable for dissemination.

 - III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special, or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

agency responsible for such action. Forward such data to Bureau and incorporate in next report submitted concerning individual in question. Where no investigation has been conducted by Bureau and there is no case on individual being denied clearance, give consideration to opening a security investigation if information received from intelligence agency warrants such action.

- (2) Inclusion in security index
In recommending key facility employee for inclusion in security index, FD-122 is to contain:
- (a) Key facility geographical reference number
 - (b) Abbreviation for agency having security responsibility
 - (c) Abbreviations for other agencies known to have classified contracts with the key facility. Interested agencies should be identified on FD-122 to assure proper dissemination of reports but will not appear on security index cards returned from Bureau.
 - (d) Abbreviation AEC immediately following abbreviation for agency having security responsibility when abbreviation of responsible agency on key facilities list is followed by asterisk, which denotes Atomic Energy Commission is involved in security responsibility. This data will appear on security index cards returned from the Bureau.

If subject of existing security index card is found to have become employed in a key facility, FD-122 must be submitted to Bureau with above-required key facility data set forth thereon. Case is then to be handled in accordance with instructions set forth below concerning key facility cases.

(3) Dissemination

Upon receipt of original complaint or allegation concerning key facility employee from source other than interested intelligence agency, a summary of complaint and information concerning the individual should be furnished immediately by letter to interested intelligence agency. Intelligence agency should then be advised whether a security investigation is being conducted of the individual and, if investigation is being conducted, that copies of reports will be furnished upon completion of investigation. Letter to intelligence agency should clearly point out that information is unsubstantiated and has not been verified through investigation by FBI.

[In addition to disseminating to interested intelligence agencies information of a derogatory security nature developed concerning persons employed at facilities holding classified contracts, with the exception of classified contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission, such information should be furnished to the Chief, Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office (DISCO), Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, 43215, attention Chief, Adjudication Division. In each instance, advise the interested intelligence agency that dissemination has been made to DISCO. This dissemination is to include derogatory subversive information developed concerning persons who may not be currently employed at such a facility but who are known to be holders of an industrial security clearance.]

These instructions do not apply to allegations of espionage or those of such a confidential character as would not ordinarily be disseminated. Such information appearing to be of immediate interest to other intelligence agencies should be submitted to Bureau by most expeditious means, depending upon the circumstances, with a request that the Bureau consider advisability of disseminating it.

Disseminate copies of each report to the local representative of agency having security responsibility, as well as to local representative of other intelligence agencies known to have

classified contracts with the key facility.] Copies of reports for the Marine Corps should be disseminated locally to ONI.

Dissemination to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA) (formerly Armed Forces Special Weapons Project), the Research and Development Board (RDB), and the Maritime Administration (MA) will be made at the Bureau, and not in the field.

(4) Status of cases

After all active investigation conducted, place in a closed status. Forty-five days before report due, make case pending active and check with armed services representative at the key facility, or with other reliable sources, to determine whether subject has access to classified or restricted material.

d. Key figure and top functionary program

(1) General

Purpose of key figure and top functionary program is to select for special attention those individuals in a subversive movement who are of outstanding importance to the effectiveness of the movement.

Key figure and top functionary program is described below as pertaining to the Communist Party, USA. However, it also applies to important individuals active in or on behalf of other basic revolutionary groups.

(2) Key figures

(a) Definition

A key figure is an individual, either a member or non-member of the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organization, who, by reason of his official position in the organization or his connections with the communist movement and his activities on its behalf, is considered of sufficient importance and potential dangerousness from an internal security standpoint to require immediate apprehension or detention in the event of an emergency.

Individuals coming within the following categories shall be considered within the definition of a key figure:

- I. National, district, and state officers and the principal officers of the local clubs of the Communist Party
- II. The principal organizers of the Communist Party
- III. Those communists who are executive officers or outstanding figures in established communist front or communist-controlled organizations, foreign language groups, and Negro organizations infiltrated by communists
- IV. Individuals extensively engaged in communist infiltration of the labor movement, including principal officers of labor organizations who are members of or closely affiliated with the Communist Party. In

in a key facility, copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as shown in sections 69, volume III, and 87D 7e (2), of this manual. [For instructions regarding dissemination to the Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office, Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, Ohio, see 87D 7e (3), of this manual.]

- Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including policy, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section 69, volume III, of this manual.
- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
 - (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal Aviation Agency
Federal Aviation Agency issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way: individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to Federal Aviation Agency. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau.
 - (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Under the agreement between the Bureau and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection dated 2-3-65, which is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual, reports are to be disseminated henceforth to Secret Service in all security index cases. An extra copy of the report in these cases should be furnished the Bureau. At the time the agreement was entered into, letterhead memoranda in all security index cases had been disseminated to Secret Service. Therefore, prior reports in these cases will not be disseminated.

Under the terms of the agreement, it is essential to advise Secret Service of the reason or reasons for referral - statement of the class or classes in appendix B of the agreement which the individual referred fits. For this purpose utilize form FD-376, which is designed to serve as a letter of transmittal for both local dissemination and dissemination at the SOG. The original and one copy of this form should be forwarded to the Bureau. A copy is to be maintained in the main case file and upon transferral of office of origin in any case, the new office of origin is to be furnished a copy. Careful consideration must be given to insure that the individual is properly categorized. In the case of subject being recommended for the security index, withhold dissemination pending Bureau approval of his security index status; forward FD-376 as in any other case.

In the case of individual subject of prior investigation who is currently being recommended for the security index, do not disseminate prior reports. However, prepare a letterhead memorandum including pertinent information previously developed which should be disseminated to Secret Service, together with the current report. Copies of this letterhead memorandum should be forwarded to the Bureau for dissemination at headquarters level.

- III. Do not include information concerning security informants for security reasons.
- IV. Proper maintenance of this file will be useful in identifying persons who may be in a position to furnish information of value in the future and will obviate necessity of extensive file reviews in this connection.
- V. A special index may be used for this file if desirable. If used, it should contain cards filed alphabetically indicating names, times, and places defectors were in a subversive movement and a brief description of information available from them. Break index down geographically and subdivide by years if desirable.

7. Administrative procedures

(1) Purpose

The reserve index is designed to represent those persons who, in the light of ever-changing conditions, should be continually borne in mind from the standpoint of the security of the country with a view toward possible investigation, interrogation, or action under the security index program. This index may serve as an administrative aid and working index containing a central repository of the names of individuals having sympathy for or affiliation with the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations.

(2) Individuals to be included

This index is to contain names of individuals when, following investigation, the information does not justify the inclusion of the subject's name in the security index when there is evidence of:

- (a) Membership in a basic revolutionary organization subsequent to January 1, 1949, together with some indication of sympathy or association with such an organization or a subversive front organization subsequent to the reported membership and no reliable evidence of defection
- (b) Investigation has failed to substantiate allegations of membership in a revolutionary organization within the past five years, coupled with some evidence or information indicating activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within the same period, and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (c) The individual, within the past five years, by his associations, writings, financial support, or conduct in relation to and support of subversive organizations or the international communist movement is in a position to influence others at the time of a national emergency and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (d) Leadership or substantial activities in a major subversive front group over three years ago, together with some evidence of continuing activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within three years and no reliable evidence of defection
- (e) Membership in a subversive front organization within the past three years and no reliable evidence of defection

(3) Arrangement

This index is to be maintained in two sections, section A and section B. Each section will be maintained alphabetically on 5- by 8-inch cards.

(a) Section A

Section A of the reserve index is designed to represent a special group of individuals who should receive priority consideration with respect to investigation and/or other action following the apprehension of security index subjects.

I. Section A should include those individuals whose subversive activities do not bring them within the security index criteria but who, in a time of national emergency, are in a position to influence others against the national interest or are likely to furnish material financial aid to subversive elements due to their subversive associations and ideology. Include in this section those individuals meeting the standards for inclusion in the reserve index and who fall within the following categories:

- (A) Professors, teachers, and educators
- (B) Labor union organizers or leaders
- (C) Writers, lecturers, newsmen, entertainers, and others in the mass media field
- (D) Lawyers, doctors, and scientists
- (E) Other potentially influential persons on a local or national level
- (F) Individuals who could potentially furnish material financial aid

II. Recommendations for inclusion of names in the reserve index (section A)

(A) Recommendations for inclusion of names in section A of the reserve index are to be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a. A succinct summary setting forth the basis for the recommendation should be attached to the form FD-122a unless the recommendation is made simultaneously with a recommendation that the subject's name be deleted from the security index. In addition, if no report is accompanying the recommendation, a statement to that effect should appear on the page containing the succinct summary.

(B) Upon Bureau approval of recommendation for the inclusion of an individual's name in section A of the reserve index, two reserve index cards will be forwarded to the field. Add on the reverse side available descriptive data. One card is to be filed in your office, and one card is to be filed away from headquarters city at the same location as the extra set of security index cards is now stored.

III. Periodic review of section A of the reserve index

Investigations of individuals listed in section A of the reserve index are to be brought up to date annually and considered for security index status or retention in the reserve index. Form [FD-154a] may be used for the annual review. This investigation should include, as a minimum:

- (A) Verification of residence and employment
- (B) Indices search and file review to determine whether additional investigation is warranted or whether an interview with the individual is desirable
- (C) If additional investigation is conducted or if there is unreported information of a subversive nature contained in the files, submit a report.

- IV. Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing in section A of reserve index cards
- (A) Changes in data appearing on section A reserve index cards should be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a.
 - (B) Deletions from section A of the reserve index should be recommended by letter. The letter should set forth the basis for the recommendation.
 - (C) Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section A cards to new office of origin.

(b) Section B

- I. This section is to contain the names of all other individuals included in the reserve index. This section is to be maintained only in the field office. Cases falling within this category should be thoroughly reviewed and analyzed from an investigative viewpoint at least once every two years on a continuing basis. As a minimum this review should include verification of residence and employment and contact with logical sources and informants. Be alert to selecting logical subjects for interview as means of developing potential sources, informants, and witnesses. Also be alert for recommending individuals for inclusion in section A of the reserve index or the security index if warranted. Form [FD-154a may be used for this review.]
- II. Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section B cards to new office of origin.

D. SECURITY INVESTIGATIONS OF INDIVIDUALS

1. Definitions

The term "basic revolutionary organization" or "basic revolutionary group" when used hereinafter in this subsection shall apply to any one or all of the following organizations or groups in order to distinguish the organizations from front organizations:

- a. Communist Party, USA
- b. Socialist Workers Party
- c. Progressive Labor [Party]
- d. Proletarian Party of America
- e. Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico
- f. Johnson-Forest Group
- g. American Socialist Clubs
- h. See also 87C 1d.

2. Responsibility of the Bureau

- a. To conduct thorough investigation into the background and subversive activities of all persons in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security. Each SAC will be held responsible for the proper investigation of all persons in his area who, because of membership or affiliation with basic revolutionary organizations or other Marxist revolutionary organizations including splinter groups, may be potentially dangerous.
- b. To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of individuals constituting a threat to the internal security and develop sufficient information and evidence through investigation to sustain appropriate action by the Bureau should it become necessary for the Federal Government to institute prosecutive action against such individuals in courts of law or control their movement and activities in the event of a national emergency

3. Purpose of investigation

The primary purpose of these investigations is twofold, namely:

a. Determination of dangerousness

To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who, because of their membership in, activity in, or association with one or more of the revolutionary groups defined above or related groups, are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country, and the consequent collection of sufficient information concerning their subversive activities to justify apprehension in event of a national emergency

b. Determination of violations of Federal statutes

To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals who have been or may be violating laws of the U. S.

- (1) Direct investigation towards obtaining admissible evidence to establish the violation.
- (2) Be alert for any information indicating a violation of the Federal statutes relating to espionage, sabotage, and sedition.
- (3) Title 18, USC, § 2385, paragraph (1), prohibits the advocacy, etc., of forceful or violent overthrow of the Government. Paragraph (2) prohibits the printing and distribution of propaganda advocating the forceful overthrow of the Government. (Affiliation with an organization is not a prerequisite to prosecution under paragraphs (1) and (2).) Paragraph (3) makes it unlawful to organize or help to organize any society, etc., of persons who advocate overthrow of the Government by force or violence, or to be or become a member of or become affiliated with any such society knowing the purposes thereof. Conspiracy to violate this section is covered by Title 18, USC, § 371 (general conspiracy statute).
- (4) Title 18, USC, § 2387, penalizes attempts to undermine the loyalty, discipline, or morale of the armed forces. Alleged violations should be reported immediately to the Bureau.

- (5) Title 5, USC, §§ 118p, 118q, and 118r (Public Law 330, 84th Congress, approved 9-9-55), prohibits Government employment of persons who are disloyal or who assert the right to strike against the Government. The law provides that an individual accepting office or employment in the Government of the U. S. shall, within 60 days, execute an affidavit certifying that he does not advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government, etc. The execution of a false affidavit constitutes a fraud on, or attempt to defraud, the Government within the purview of Title 5, USC, § 93, so as to authorize Special Agents of the Bureau to administer oaths in investigations arising out of this law. Alleged violations of this law called to your attention should be furnished to the Bureau promptly and no investigation should be initiated on the basis of complaints received without prior Bureau authority. Refer to section [69H] of this manual entitled "Security of Government Employees - Fraud Against the Government" for procedures to be followed regarding possible violations of this law discovered or received in connection with security of Government employees investigations.
- (6) Title 18, USC, § 1001, includes possible fraud against the Government violations wherein there are concealments or falsifications relating to subversive information. These violations must be presented to the Department by the Bureau for a prosecutive opinion rather than being presented locally to USAs. They ordinarily involve the execution of U. S. Government forms. Common violators are employees of private concerns having Government contracts who execute Government forms required for clearance for access to classified information.

Upon receipt of information indicating a violation of this type, investigation under the "Security Matter - Fraud Against the Government" character should be initiated and the Bureau immediately advised. The Department has advised that it is essential, to establish jurisdiction, to prove that the form was presented to a Government agency for action or determination. This, therefore, should be the first investigative step. If the form was not presented to a Government agency, no further investigation should be made and the Bureau so advised. In this case, however, remain alert for information the form is later presented to Government agency. The fact subject actually signed the form must be established by testimony of witnesses to the signature, handwriting examination, or other conclusive evidence. The original of the form must be located. Sources that furnished pertinent information concerning subject during previous investigations and other potential witnesses should be thoroughly interviewed to determine the basis for each item of pertinent information furnished and to obtain the identities of other potential witnesses. Where affiliation with subversive organizations is involved, interview individuals who were members of same units of these organizations as subject for indicia of his membership, such as attendance at closed meetings, payment of dues, holding of office, etc. If possible, develop evidence to support pertinent information furnished by current informants. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview the subject. Interview subject and potential witnesses furnishing pertinent information under oath and obtain sworn signed statements if possible. An exception may be made when interviewing established sources, such as current informants, if oath and/or signed statements not considered desirable under circumstances. Be guided by instructions in section 6b, (7), below when interviewing potential witnesses with subversive backgrounds.

Upon posting of security index flash notices in security index cases, the field will be furnished the FBI number and fingerprint classification which should be affixed to reverse side of the security index cards filed in geographical, special and unavailable sections.
 - III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special, or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

- d. Other Marxist revolutionary groups
A long-established group which would come under this category is the Proletarian Party of America, a relatively small organization.

There also are a few small groups composed of ex-members of the Communist Party, USA, who have voluntarily left the party or who have been expelled, usually for factionalism.

e. General

Communist investigations must be conducted in a most discreet and thorough manner at all times. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority. Bureau employees should not discuss communist or related investigations with any unauthorized individual. The subject of communism is not to be used in speeches of Bureau employees without specific authorization. However, there is considerable mimeographed material in each office, including speeches, testimony, and magazine articles prepared by the Director which could be furnished outside individuals interested in the subject of communism without any discussion.

2. Purposes of investigation

- a. The investigation of the Communist Party, USA, and other similar-type organizations is of twofold purpose: (1) to obtain legally admissible evidence against these organizations for prosecution under existing Federal statutes set out above and (2) to follow closely the activities of these organizations from an intelligence viewpoint to have a day-to-day appraisal of the strength, dangerousness, and activities of these organizations seeking the overthrow of the U. S. Government.
- b. Suggestions for proper coverage of the investigation of the Communist Party as an organization and similar organizations should include:
- (1) The assignment of sufficient Agent personnel to insure that all of the important ramifications of party activities are properly covered
 - (2) Development of confidential informants in all party levels, including the national headquarters organization
 - (3) [Deleted]
 - (4) The constant effort to develop admissible evidence against party officials for violation of Federal laws
- c. Brief to establish illegal status of Communist Party, USA
- (1) Purpose of brief is to collect all legally admissible evidence to prove illegality of party in one file. (Bufile 100-3-74)
 - (2) Reports on brief to establish illegal status must be submitted by each office quarterly and should include only legally admissible evidence obtained during preceding three-month period. If there is no information to report, include a statement to that effect in the cover pages of the quarterly report for the same period entitled "Communist Party, USA, Internal Security - C" (no copy needed for Bufile 100-3-74).
 - (3) It is advisable to use the following breakdown in preparing reports:
 - (a) Origin and continuity of the party
 - (b) Pertinent statements, writings, and instructions relating to (1) Marxism-Leninism, (2) imperialism, (3) proletarian internationalism, (4) defense of USSR, (5) revolutionary statements
 - (c) Internal Security Act of 1950. Include under this heading any admissible evidence which would tend to prove a violation of section 4(a) of this act.

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions

This section contains detailed investigative guides for use in investigating and reporting activities of the Communist Party, USA.

a. To accurately and clearly show the true nature of the Communist Party, USA, data concerning the following topics must be fully developed and reported. When material contains information that would be logically reported under more than one topic heading but to do so would make the separate accounts unintelligible, report all the material under the main heading and only refer to the information under the other breakdowns. Do not repeat same data under separate headings. Reports on the Communist Party, USA, as an organization must be submitted by each office quarterly and should cover activities for the preceding three-month period. All offices are required to use the following breakdown in preparing quarterly reports on the Communist Party, USA. Each subfile caption must start on a separate page.

(1) Organization (Bureau file 100-3-69)

- (a) Security setup of district and/or state organization. Office covering district headquarters, describe the location and size of Communist Party office facilities, rent paid, and name and number of office employees. List address and/or post office box number of party headquarters.
- (b) Identify principal district officials and important functionaries, together with titles, and furnish a short resume of important activities of each during three-month period.
- (c) Names of new commissions or special committees, identity and capacity of individual members thereof. Submit resume of activities of groups under appropriate subfile captions.
- (d) Special meetings embracing only organizational matters. Other pertinent matters discussed at meetings concerning policy or strategy to be submitted under appropriate subfile captions.
- (e) Extend this outline as far as necessary for clarity and to meet needs of office under this or any succeeding subsection. Auxiliary offices submit pertinent data concerning above matters which do not normally come to attention of office covering district headquarters.

(2) Membership (Bureau file 100-3-68)

- (a) Quarterly reports are not to contain any membership statistics. Cover pages accompanying each quarterly report must contain latest available statistics relating to total number of Communist Party members in the district. Membership data must start on a separate cover page, [which page(s) must be devoted exclusively to such data.] Office of origin, which is office covering Communist Party district headquarters, should submit following figures:
 - I. For entire Communist Party district
 - II. For individual states covered by Communist Party district
 - III. For number of Communist Party members in area covered by field office

Auxiliary offices should submit following membership figures to the Bureau and office of origin:

- I. For state or portion of state covered by that field office
- II. For number of Communist Party members in the area covered by that field office

[The total number of Communist Party members in the area covered by field office, either origin or auxiliary, should be broken down as to the total number of Negroes in the overall numerical strength of the Communist Party, USA, in the

- (b) Where potential dangerousness of a subject has been established and inclusion of that subject in security index is warranted, the office of origin shall submit a recommendation for inclusion in security index by submitting form FD-122 to Bureau. Form must be prepared in triplicate. Original and one copy shall be forwarded to Bureau and one copy will be placed in subject's investigative case file.

Nothing should appear on FD-122 or subsequently on the security index card which is not in the subject's case file. Form FD-122 has two uses: (1) to recommend a subject for inclusion in the security index and (2) to submit changes to data which appears on face of security index cards already existent.

Proper selection should be made in the opening paragraph option. FD-122 is submitted with abstract when used to recommend the subject for inclusion in the security index and without abstract when used to indicate additions, deletions, or changes in data appearing on existing cards.

- (c) When form FD-122 is submitted to Bureau recommending inclusion of a name in security index, attach additional page or pages setting out a succinct summary of facts on which recommendation has been based. Facts must be in detail to clearly show soundness of recommendation. Statements of conclusion are not enough and original sources must be characterized as to reliability. Summary must contain pertinent dates of subject's activities.
- (d) When, at conclusion of investigation, subject's name is not being recommended for security index, set out a brief summary statement in the appropriate communication closing the case showing reasons for the decision.
- (e) Security index cards shall be recommended by and maintained by office of origin only.
- (f) A current report must be in possession of the Bureau when subject is recommended for security index. If it is the initial report in the case, it must be a summary report. If, however, prior investigative reports have been submitted which are suitable for dissemination and are appropriately documented, a summary report need not be submitted.
- (g) To assure that subject recommended for security index will receive proper attention, case shall be kept in pending or pending-inactive status until security index card has been received from Bureau and filed in office security index. If case continues in pending status because of outstanding investigation, reports shall carry a lead to follow authorization of security index card by the Bureau and if approved to [disseminate a copy of the report to] Secret Service in addition to other leads. If outstanding investigation has been completed and case would otherwise be closed upon submission of the report and form FD-122, case shall be placed in pending-inactive status with lead to follow authorization of security index card by Bureau and if approved [to disseminate the copy of the report] to Secret Service. In latter instance, upon receipt of security index card and following local dissemination to Secret Service, case may be closed administratively.
- (h) Recommendation for security index card should not be delayed because of absence of information concerning race, sex, citizenship, date and place of birth, or description where security index card is warranted. In such instances, recommendation for the card should be submitted with a current report and case retained in pending status with active investigation continuing to determine missing items of information.

- (i) Subjects missing or out of country may be recommended for the security index provided instructions set forth in 87D 6b (3) and (4) are followed. Forms FD-122 submitted on subjects should include data required in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV below.
- (j) When form FD-122 is submitted recommending a security index card be prepared on a subject who is of Chinese extraction, the words "Other - Chinese" must be included in the space on the form calling for a statement as to the subject's race. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending that a security index card be prepared on a person who is not of Chinese extraction but who has shown definite sympathies with communist China, the form should include under "Miscellaneous" a statement to the effect "sympathetic to Communist China."
- (k) Upon receipt of form FD-122 at Bureau, the case of the subject will be reviewed and if recommendation of field is concurred in, security index cards will be prepared. Duplicate copy of form will be returned to office of origin stamped "Security Index card approved and prepared, three copies attached. Place description and photograph on reverse side of Geographical card. Cards should be filed in your Security Index." The three cards shall be filed in security index as outlined below. The returned copy of FD-122 shall be placed in subject's main investigative case file. Offices with a geographical breakdown by residence and employment will receive an extra card.
- (l) When security index cards are received from Bureau, data thereon must be checked for accuracy. Cards will be complete except for description and photograph. Descriptions and photographs are maintained on separate cards of similar size to security index cards which are stapled to back of two of the cards. One card will then be filed in the geographical section of office security index. (except special section cards and unavailable section cards - see 87D 7b (6) (b) III and IV below), and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. The other card is filed in alphabetical section of security index. No information shall be permanently added, deleted, or changed on face of security index card without complying with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (8).

(5) Content and appearance of security index card

(a) Data to appear on face of card

When complete, face of security index card should contain the following information. If any of items enumerated in I through XIV are missing at time the security index card is made, the case should be continued as pending and investigation conducted to obtain the necessary information. Set forth under each item below are possible categories in which subject may be classified, together with code letters which should be placed in appropriate space on form FD-122 when sending form to Bureau recommending security index card be prepared. Code letters should subsequently appear on security index cards received from Bureau.

I. Name and aliases

The full and correct name and aliases of the subject must be contained on the security index card. When the true name of a subject or any aliases are changed, added, deleted, or are found to be incorrect, form FD-122 must be submitted [showing] the correct data to be placed on the security index card.

In any event, if subject is employed in a defense facility so designated by the Secretary of Defense pursuant to section 5 of the Internal Security Act of 1950, as amended, add the additional character "Internal Security Act of 1950" if the organizational activity of the subject is of a communist nature.

The cases shall be opened and assigned 45 days prior to the date the annual report is due. Such cases shall also be opened and assigned six months after submission of the annual report to accomplish verification of addresses. Upon such verification, the cases should be closed administratively.

 (B) History of activity in, attendance at meetings of, and positions held in subversive movement with which subject is identified

in a key facility. copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as shown in sections 69, volume III, and 87D 7e (2), of this manual.

- Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including policy, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section 69, volume III, of this manual.
- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
- (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal Aviation Agency
Federal Aviation Agency issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way; individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to Federal Aviation Agency. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau.
- (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
[Under the agreement between the Bureau and the Secret Service concerning Presidential protection dated 2-3-65, which is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual, reports are to be disseminated henceforth to Secret Service in all security index cases. An extra copy of the report in these cases should be furnished the Bureau. At the time the agreement was entered into, letterhead memoranda in all security index cases had been disseminated to Secret Service. Therefore, prior reports in these cases will not be disseminated.

Under the terms of the agreement, it is essential to advise Secret Service of the reason or reasons for referral - statement of the class or classes in appendix B of the agreement which the individual referred fits. For this purpose utilize form FD-376, which is designed to serve as a letter of transmittal for both local dissemination and dissemination at the SOG. The original and one copy of this form should be forwarded to the Bureau. A copy is to be maintained in the main case file and upon transferral of office of origin in any case, the new office of origin is to be furnished a copy. Careful consideration must be given to insure that the individual is properly categorized. In the case of subject being recommended for the security index, withhold dissemination pending Bureau approval of his security index status; forward FD-376 as in any other case.

In the case of individual subject of prior investigation who is currently being recommended for the security index, do not disseminate prior reports. However, prepare a letterhead memorandum including pertinent information previously developed which should be disseminated to Secret Service, together with the current report. Copies of this letterhead memorandum should be forwarded to the Bureau for dissemination at headquarters level.]

After initial [dissemination to Secret Service] in security index cases, as changes occur in the status of the individuals involved with respect to residence and employment, advise Secret Service locally and furnish two copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Form FD-366 may be used for this purpose. The letterhead memorandum should contain a reference to the previous communication disseminated to Secret Service.

When reporting changes in residence and/or employment concerning Chinese and Cuban aliens on the security index, in addition to dissemination to Secret Service, also advise the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) locally, and furnish four copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Bear in mind in filling out the reference that some [letterhead] memoranda have been expressly prepared for dissemination to Secret Service only and have not been furnished to the Department or INS; therefore, the copy furnished INS locally and two of the copies furnished the Bureau should reference the last communication to INS.

For instructions pertaining to dissemination to Secret Service in other than security index cases, refer to section 83K, volume III, of this manual.

Upon transfer of office of origin in one of these cases, the old office of origin is to furnish Secret Service locally with the subject's new residence and business address and advise the Bureau that such has been done by the submission of two copies of the letterhead memorandum disseminated locally. The new office of origin need take no action regarding dissemination to Secret Service until such time as further changes occur with respect to the subject's status [or until preparation of the next periodic report in the case.].

(10) Dissemination at the Bureau

There are some situations in which dissemination is made at the Bureau instead of in the field. In the majority of instances, information received by the FBI should properly be furnished immediately to some other agency within the executive branch of the Government so that the responsibilities of the other agency might be fulfilled properly. Care must be taken, however, not to disseminate information to any field branch of another Government agency where such a procedure is deemed inadvisable because of the inadequacy of security measures in that branch. In these instances the data should be brought to the immediate attention of the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. An example of the latter is, of course, the Atomic Energy Commission, which receives reports only through the Bureau, as noted in section 87D 7c (3) of this manual. Information relating to foreign travel plans of security subjects is disseminated to interested agencies, including the State Department, only at the SOG, as set out in 87D 6b (4). Dissemination is also made at the SOG to the State Department, unless it appears undesirable, in those cases in which subjects have been indicted for violations grounded on subversive activities. Dissemination in these cases is made to preclude these subjects from utilizing the fact they obtained a passport to refute allegations of subversive connections. The State Department, therefore, will be in possession of data concerning a defendant should he attempt to utilize this tactic in such an action.

b. Data developed concerning individuals who are not within the Bureau's investigative jurisdiction

(1) Members of the armed forces

The Delimitations Agreement between the FBI and the armed forces intelligence agencies states that the responsibility assumed by one organization in a given field carries with it the obligation to exchange freely and directly with other subscribing organizations all information of mutual interest.

Thus, in discharging our basic responsibilities in the internal security field, it is imperative that information concerning members of the military services be referred immediately to the appropriate branch having primary responsibility for its personnel. This procedure is mandatory, even though the security aspects of the data have not been fully resolved or verified. It should be specifically pointed out in such instances that the information has not been verified.

Section 87D 5b of this manual instructs that if it is determined a security subject is a member of the armed services the investigation must at that point be discontinued immediately and reported to the Bureau. The basis for such instruction lies in the fact that the subject is no longer within our investigative jurisdiction. In addition, dissemination of pertinent reports must be made locally in the field to the appropriate intelligence agency.

Our responsibility with regard to military personnel is not confined to those who have been the subjects of security investigations. It extends to any subversive derogatory data developed against a member of the armed services during any of our investigations of either individuals or organizations. For instance, if it is determined that a member of the armed forces has been in contact with a security subject or with any individual or group raising security implications, the appropriate intelligence service should be immediately advised locally. This should be done even though the security aspects of the contact have not been resolved, so that the military services may be in a position to discharge their responsibilities. It must be pointed out to them specifically in such instances that the data are unverified, and pertinent developments must be transmitted to them thereafter immediately upon receipt.

Section 87D 6b (1) (h) provides that during the course of security investigations it must be determined whether the subjects have any close relatives in the armed forces. Our responsibilities require that such associations be called to the attention of the appropriate military intelligence services, together with pertinent data, including reports, on the security subjects involved. The evaluation of these associations lies entirely within the province of the intelligence services, but for the reasons stated previously herein it is incumbent upon the Bureau to disseminate this information immediately upon receipt.

Any subversive contacts or information developed concerning military personnel must be set out in a letter to the Bureau, together with a statement as to the local dissemination made in the field. Such letter should be accompanied by a [letterhead] memorandum setting out with particularity the subversive data in a form entirely suitable for dissemination.

- (10) Communist infiltration of mass organizations program
- (a) Submit semiannual letters March 1 and September 1 under caption of above program, Bufile 100-3-106, using following topical outline and headings:
- I. Information concerning Communist Party program
Furnish summary of information received concerning over-all Communist Party program to infiltrate mass organizations, nationally and locally; steps taken to carry out program; identity specific groups which are targets for infiltration or which have been infiltrated by party members; and success being achieved by party.
- II. Organizations concerning which information previously submitted
Only list names and Bureau file numbers concerning those cases wherein, since submission of last semiannual letter, letters using the five-point outline set out under item (4) above were furnished to Bureau. Do not list those cases which were under investigation by Bureau authority at time of submission of last semiannual letter.
- III. Organizations concerning which information being submitted for first time with instant letter
Only list names and Bureau file numbers (if known) of those organizations concerning which information has not previously been furnished Bureau but which is being furnished, together with recommendations regarding future investigations, for first time with instant letter. Submit information, using five-point outline as set out under item (4) above, as enclosure to letter. Submit separate enclosure on each organization listed in this category. Furnish two copies of each enclosure and sufficient copies of cover letter in order that one copy each of semiannual letter and enclosure can be placed in Bureau file on organization. This will eliminate necessity of submitting separate summary letter under each individual case caption. Do not use T symbols in enclosure, but set out identities of sources.
- f. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Bureau Agents during course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority.
- g. Photographic surveillances
- (1) No photographic surveillances are to be conducted in communist front organization cases unless it is essential to protect Bureau's interests in internal security field by supplementing live informant coverage of a particular meeting with such a surveillance.
- (2) Request Bureau authority to institute such a surveillance and outline manner in which it will be conducted and supervision which will be afforded it.
- (3) No such surveillances should be instituted without specific Bureau authority.

[h. Dissemination of information to Secret Service regarding plots against the President

On 2-3-65, an "Agreement Between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service Concerning Presidential Protection" was signed and became effective. This agreement is set out in its entirety in section 102, volume IV, of this manual.

The agreement provides that the FBI, in its investigations of organizations whose activities are inimical to the welfare of the U. S., will be alert to and promptly notify Secret Service of any information indicating a plot against the person of the President; thereafter, it is the responsibility of Secret Service to initiate such action as is necessary to neutralize such a plot.

The field must be alert during the course of the investigation of an organization for information indicating a plot against the person of the President. Upon receipt of such information, immediately furnish complete details to the nearest office of Secret Service and appropriate local law enforcement agencies and advise the Bureau at that time by teletype, or telephone if the facts warrant, of the information furnished and the fact it has been so disseminated. An immediate attempt should be made to verify the information received but no evaluation of the information should be attempted.

Prepare at once a letterhead memorandum which should include complete details disseminated and the identities of the Secret Service officer and the local law enforcement officers to whom given and the date and time of notification. Promptly disseminate the letterhead memorandum locally to Secret Service and any other appropriate Government agency and furnish sufficient copies to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Thereafter, copies of all letterhead memoranda and reports concerning the organization should be disseminated locally to Secret Service on a continuing basis and extra copies of such communications should be furnished the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG.

The field should insure that the identities of the members of the organization who are "in" on the plot are determined. Background information concerning the individuals (see items 1 and 3 of appendix A to the agreement) should be fully developed and included in the communications prepared and disseminated to Secret Service. If such identities and information are known at the time the initial information is received, they should be included in the first letterhead memorandum prepared in the matter.]

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions re communist front organizations To accurately and clearly show true nature of communist front groups, data concerning the following topics, where applicable, should be fully developed and reported on:
- a. Origin and scope
Date of formation. Circumstances under which founded. Determine who in Communist Party instructed organization be set up; whether decision to set up group made at meeting of party functionaries and, if so, identify functionaries present; identity of individual or individuals responsible for organizing group. Identify all known chapters, if any, and location thereof.
 - b. Whether incorporated
Many organizations are incorporated requiring filing of incorporation papers with appropriate state officials.
 - c. Aims and purposes
 - d. Location of headquarters
 - e. Officers
List principal officers, board of directors, etc., and appropriate characterization of each showing communist affiliation.
 - f. Membership
Ascertain estimated membership. Whenever possible, secure membership lists, mailing lists, or other records reflecting affiliation with organization. Usually obtainable through informant coverage or utilization of various investigative techniques. Secure accurate description of all lists to make sure there is no confusion as to the exact identity or significance of list being reported on.
 - g. Official organ, if any, and other literature
 - (1) May be obtained through confidential mailbox, panel sources, and confidential informants
 - (2) All such literature should be appropriately identified.
 - (3) At least one copy of each pertinent piece of literature should be promptly furnished to Bureau.
 - h. General activities
 - i. Finances
Special efforts must be made to locate and monitor bank accounts of organizations. Location of bank accounts frequently obtainable through confidential informants, credit records, public utility records, records of rental agent, and monitoring of other organizations' bank accounts.
 - j. Support given to Communist Party
Preponderance of evidence should be developed reflecting support, financial or otherwise, given by the organization to the Communist Party.
 - k. Support received from Communist Party
Preponderance of evidence should be developed reflecting support, financial or otherwise, received by the organization from the Communist Party.
 - l. Implementation of Communist Party line
Can usually be shown through comparison of programs and literature of organization with those of Communist Party during any particular period.

Data concerning above topics can usually be secured through the following sources: confidential informants, incorporation records, bank records, literature and publications of organization, newspapers, public meetings and rallies, confidential investigative techniques, various types of public records, panel sources, confidential sources and other sources of information, interviews with past or present

of the source, date of activity, date received, and name of the Agent receiving the information are known, it is not necessary to request the office originally obtaining the information to document it further by furnishing information showing the location of the original in the office files. If all documentation, except the latter item, is not in the possession of the office preparing the report, it should be obtained.

V. If it is found desirable to include in a report the identities of individuals who are known communists and have been associates of the subject to lend weight to evidence of the subject's potential dangerousness, only the source of the information showing the associate to be a communist need be identified.

VI. In a very limited number of instances it may be necessary to obtain a thumbnail sketch or characterization of an individual or organization from another office or the Bureau. When such information is received in your office, it should be placed in thumbnail sketch files so that it will be available to and can be readily located by Agents having future need for it, thereby eliminating repeated requests of another office for the same information.

g. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of Channelizing memoranda in organizational and individual security case files may be destroyed following submission of reports in these cases.

[Copies of informant's statements designated for the 100 classification case files of informants may be destroyed when one year old on an annual basis.]

In destroying these [communications,] be guided by instructions for destruction of channelizing memoranda as set out in Manual of Rules and Regulations.

8. Dissemination of data developed in security investigations

The proper utilization of information received by the Bureau is foremost among our responsibilities as an investigative agency. It is the Bureau's duty to keep the proper intelligence agencies informed concerning information of interest to them. Further, information which comes to the attention of the Bureau in connection with the conduct of investigations normally and regularly within the jurisdiction of the Bureau, which information is believed to be of interest to another agency within the executive branch of the Government, should be forwarded to the interested agency unless there are good and compelling reasons not to do so. This is in line with the Delimitations Agreement and Presidential directives which provide for the dissemination to other agencies of information relating to espionage, sabotage, subversive activities, and related matters where the specific agency has a present or potential interest in the information.

Set out hereafter is a summarization of existing Bureau requirements regarding dissemination of security information developed on individuals during the course of regular investigations in the security field. It should be apparent that all conceivable situations cannot be anticipated. For that reason, the data below should be considered as pertaining to representative situations which occur frequently enough to warrant specific treatment. The basic rule to follow is, of course, that security information must be furnished promptly to interested agencies in the executive branch of the Government and that the term "interested agency" must be interpreted in the light of reason and common sense. Any unusual situations should be brought to the attention of the Bureau promptly for consideration and disposition.

Considerations affecting the national defense in Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico necessitate that the broadest possible construction be given to the existing requirements of dissemination to the intelligence services located in those areas. The Anchorage, Honolulu, and San Juan Offices should adhere to such policy and effect such dissemination as to discharge fully our responsibilities as laid down in Bureau instructions, together with practices which have been dictated by circumstances within those particular offices.

The material set out below must be read in conjunction with the Manual of Rules and Regulations, part II, section 5, which discusses the Bureau's over-all responsibilities in dissemination, together with existing policies, qualifications, and exceptions.

a. Data developed concerning subjects of security investigations and other persons coming within investigative jurisdiction of the Bureau

(1) Aliens and naturalized citizens

Information concerning aliens and naturalized citizens which might have a bearing on the deportation or denaturalization of such individuals should in all instances be forwarded to the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Refer to the Manual of Rules and Regulations, part II, section 5. If any doubt exists, the matter should in all instances be resolved in favor of dissemination.

(2) Employees of or persons having regular access to key facilities or employees of plants having contracts with the military services

Dissemination in these cases is treated specifically in section 87D 7c(3) of this manual.

(3) Employees of public utilities (including state and municipal facilities) which are not on the key facilities list or otherwise falling into the category defined in (2) above, and facilities which are or may become engaged in the manufacture of materials vital to the national defense

Dissemination should be made locally to G-2 and, in addition, to other intelligence services if their interest is apparent in individual cases or in specific facilities.

(4) Individuals on inactive duty but who are members of or hold commissions in the reserve branches or National Guard

Dissemination should be made locally to the appropriate military intelligence service. Dissemination to headquarters of the appropriate services will be made at SOG.

(5) Seamen and subjects employed in the maritime industry, including longshoremen and other water-front employees

Dissemination should be made to the Coast Guard on a local level and, when circumstances dictate, to other intelligence agencies, including ONI, which have an interest in the data reported. Appropriate dissemination on a headquarters level will be made at SOG.

(6) Employees of the Federal Government within the purview of Executive Order 10450

No dissemination of the reports in security of Government employees cases may be made in the field. If, however, subject is employed

- (b) Where potential dangerousness of a subject has been established and inclusion of that subject in security index is warranted, the office of origin shall submit a recommendation for inclusion in security index by submitting form FD-122 to Bureau. Form must be prepared in triplicate. Original and one copy shall be forwarded to Bureau and one copy will be placed in subject's investigative case file.

Nothing should appear on FD-122 or subsequently on the security index card which is not in the subject's case file. Form FD-122 has two uses: (1) to recommend a subject for inclusion in the security index and (2) to submit changes to data which appears on face of security index cards already existent.

- Proper selection should be made in the opening paragraph option. FD-122 is submitted with abstract when used to recommend the subject for inclusion in the security index and without abstract when used to indicate additions, deletions, or changes in data appearing on existing cards.
- (c) When form FD-122 is submitted to Bureau recommending inclusion of a name in security index, attach an additional page or pages setting out a succinct summary of facts on which recommendation has been based. Facts must be in detail to clearly show soundness of recommendation. Statements of conclusion are not enough and original sources must be characterized as to reliability. Summary must contain pertinent dates of subject's activities.
- (d) When, at conclusion of investigation, subject's name is not being recommended for security index, set out a brief summary statement in the appropriate communication closing the case showing reasons for the decision.
- (e) Security index cards shall be recommended by and maintained by office of origin only.
- (f) A current report must be in possession of the Bureau when subject is recommended for security index. If it is the initial report in the case, it must be a summary report. If, however, prior investigative reports have been submitted which are suitable for dissemination and are appropriately documented, a summary report need not be submitted.
- (g) To assure that subject recommended for security index will receive proper attention, case shall be kept in pending or pending-inactive status until security index card has been received from Bureau and filed in office security index. If case continues in pending status because of outstanding investigation, reports shall carry a lead to follow authorization of security index card by the Bureau [and if approved to submit letterhead memorandum for Secret Service] in addition to other leads. If outstanding investigation has been completed and case would otherwise be closed upon submission of the report and form FD-122, case shall be placed in pending-inactive status with lead to follow authorization of security index card by Bureau [and if approved submit letterhead memorandum for dissemination to Secret Service.] In latter instance, upon receipt of [security index card and following local dissemination to Secret Service of Bureau-approved letterhead memorandum,] case may be closed administratively.
- (h) Recommendation for security index card should not be delayed because of absence of information concerning race, sex, citizenship, date and place of birth, or description where security index card is warranted. In such instances, recommendation for the card should be submitted with a current report and case retained in pending status with active investigation continuing to determine missing items of information.

- (i) Subjects missing or out of country may be recommended for the security index provided instructions set forth in 87D 6b (3) and (4) are followed. Forms FD-122 submitted on subjects should include data required in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV below.
- (j) When form FD-122 is submitted recommending a security index card be prepared on a subject who is of Chinese extraction, the words "Other - Chinese" must be included in the space on the form calling for a statement as to the subject's race. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending that a security index card be prepared on a person who is not of Chinese extraction but who has shown definite sympathies with communist China, the form should include under "Miscellaneous" a statement to the effect "sympathetic to Communist China."
- (k) Upon receipt of form FD-122 at Bureau, the case of the subject will be reviewed and if recommendation of field is concurred in, security index cards will be prepared. Duplicate copy of form will be returned to office of origin stamped "Security Index card approved and prepared, three copies attached. Place description and photograph on reverse side of Geographical card. Cards should be filed in your Security Index." The three cards shall be filed in security index as outlined below. The returned copy of FD-122 shall be placed in subject's main investigative case file. Offices with a geographical breakdown by residence and employment will receive an extra card.
- (l) When security index cards are received from Bureau, data thereon must be checked for accuracy. Cards will be complete except for description and photograph. Descriptions and photographs are maintained on separate cards of similar size to security index cards which are stapled to back of two of the cards. One card will then be filed in the geographical section of office security index (except special section cards and unavailable section cards - see 87D 7b (6) (b) III and IV below), and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. The other card is filed in alphabetical section of security index. No information shall be permanently added, deleted, or changed on face of security index card without complying with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (8).
- (5) Content and appearance of security index card
- (a) Data to appear on face of card
- When complete, face of security index card should contain the following information. If any of items enumerated in I through XIV are missing at time the security index card is made, the case should be continued as pending and investigation conducted to obtain the necessary information. Set forth under each item below are possible categories in which subject may be classified, together with code letters which should be placed in appropriate space on form FD-122 when sending form to Bureau recommending security index card be prepared. Code letters should subsequently appear on security index cards received from Bureau.
- I. Name and aliases
- The full and correct name and aliases of the subject must be contained on the security index card. When the true name of a subject or any aliases are changed, added, deleted, or are found to be incorrect, form FD-122 must be submitted [showing] the correct data to be placed on the security index card.

II. If descriptive data have not been obtained, case must be kept pending and investigation conducted to develop this information. Upon posting of security index flash notices in security index cases, the field will be furnished the FBI number and fingerprint classification which should be affixed to reverse side of the security index cards filed in geographical, special and unavailable sections.

III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special, or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

When it is determined that a security index subject is imprisoned, make arrangements with the confining institutions to be informed of the subject's release. An administrative tickler should be set up for a date shortly prior to the expected date of the subject's release to assure that you are informed of the subject's release. Upon receipt of advice of the release of the subject, ascertain whether the subject should be continued in the security index. If so, submit FD-122 in accordance with instructions set forth below.

Standards for inclusion of such subjects in the unavailable section of the security index are the same as those for any other potentially dangerous subject.

When submitting a recommendation for inclusion of a subject in the unavailable section who has not previously been included in the security index or changing an existing security index card from the geographical or special sections to the unavailable section, FD-122 must include the words "Unavailable Section" typed in the upper right portion thereof.

Places of former residence or former employment are not to be included on security index cards of subjects who are missing, who are out of the country, or who are imprisoned inasmuch as such data serves no useful purpose on the card.

Security index cards to be placed in the unavailable section shall bear code letters in the upper right portion designating the subsection in which the cards should be placed. Upon receipt of the three cards from the Bureau for each subject in one of these categories, place the required additional data on two which shall be filed alphabetically in the appropriate subsection of the unavailable section. File the third card in the alphabetical section of the security index.

When a subject who has been included in the unavailable section as a missing subject is located in your office territory or a subject who has been out of the country has returned to your territory or an imprisoned subject has been released, submit FD-122 [showing] the subject's current residence and place of employment. The words "Remove from Unavailable Section" shall be typed in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)" on FD-122. If the subject's card is to be placed in the special section, the statement "Place in Special Section - Espionage (or Foreign Government Employee, etc.)" should be added in this space. When the new cards are received from the Bureau, they shall be checked for accuracy and the description and photograph, if available, shall be placed on two of the three cards. These two cards shall then be filed in the geographical or special section (where applicable) and the other card shall then be filed in the alphabetical section. The old cards in the unavailable and alphabetical sections shall be destroyed.

When a subject who has been included in the unavailable section is located in another division, FD-128 shall be submitted to the Bureau and the new office of origin with the pertinent data placed thereon including his current residence and business addresses. The notation "remove from Unavailable Section" shall be typed in the space to the right of the addresses. New security index cards will then be submitted to the new office of origin by the Bureau.

(D) Exception - re special section

Security index cards relating to special section subjects will continue to be maintained in the special section rather than in the unavailable section. When it is determined that a special section subject is out of the country, imprisoned, or missing, FD-122 shall be submitted to the Bureau with the appropriate unavailable category designated as set forth above. New cards retaining the special section designation, as well as indicating the unavailable category, will be prepared. Upon receipt of these amended cards from the Bureau, two copies will be filed in the special section of the field office security index and one copy will be filed in the alphabetical section.

V. Inactive section

Each office shall maintain an inactive section in its security index which will contain the security index cards of individuals who were included in the active security index at the time they were inducted into the armed forces.

Upon learning of the induction of a subject into one of the armed forces, a letter is to be submitted to the Bureau advising of the identity of the branch of service into which the subject was inducted, together with the date and place of induction.

If pertinent information which has not previously been set forth in report form exists in the office files, the same shall be included in an investigative report which is to be forwarded as an enclosure to the letter advising of the subject's entrance into the armed forces. The Bureau will then furnish appropriate intelligence agencies with pertinent information concerning that subject and request notification in the event of the subject's discharge from the service.

The geographical security index cards for such subjects shall be placed in the inactive section of the field security index. Destroy the alphabetical cards.

Set up an administrative tickler for each subject in the inactive section. At the termination of each six-month period, appropriate inquiry is to be made by the field to determine if the subject has been discharged from military service. Such checks should be made locally through pretext inquiries if necessary. If such information is not obtainable locally, submit a letter requesting a check to the field office covering the records for the appropriate service.

Upon learning that a subject carried in the inactive section of the security index has returned to civilian status, determine whether his activities warrant inclusion in the active security index. If so, FD-122

When a security matter subject is designated a key figure, the first report after the designation and all subsequent reports shall bear the internal security character. In any event, if subject is employed in a [defense facility so designated by the Secretary of Defense pursuant to section 5 of the Internal Security Act of 1950, as amended,] add the additional character "Internal Security Act of 1950" if the organizational activity of the subject is of a communist nature.

The cases shall be opened and assigned 45 days prior to the date the annual report is due. However, in preparing and maintaining the security index, to all practical effects, the Bureau is making the decision as to those persons who will be apprehended in the event of an emergency, inasmuch as the Attorney General has advised that he does not have funds or

- manpower to review security index cases.
- (e) Names shall be included in the security index only when investigation has established and reports [show] sufficient facts and evidence to justify the inclusion of each subject in the security index.
 - (f) The contents of the security index must be accurate and correct at all times. Matters pertaining to its preparation and maintenance must be given preferred, expeditious, continuous, and detailed attention.
 - (g) Matters pertaining to the security index are strictly confidential and are not to be mentioned or alluded to in investigative reports.
 - (h) The general operation and content of the security index must not be discussed by field personnel of the Bureau without prior Bureau authority.
 - (i) Matters pertaining to the security index may be discussed with duly qualified representatives of other Federal intelligence agencies only on a strictly confidential basis and only in instances in which an individual subject of prime interest to one of these services is involved.
- (2) Determination of dangerousness of an individual
- (a) The dangerousness of a member or affiliate of a subversive organization does not necessarily depend entirely upon his personal characteristics, such as aggressiveness or a disposition to violence. Although these factors must be taken into consideration in evaluating an individual's potential dangerousness, other factors are essential in making this determination. An individual's dangerousness also depends upon the contribution he has made or is making in the advancement of the principles and aims of the subversive movement with which he is connected or his subversive potentialities in the event of a national emergency. Bear in mind that a subject active in a subversive organization is not merely an isolated individual but is a part of an organization of which the purposes are opposed to the best interests of the U. S. An individual's loyalty to a subversive organization and the principles thereof is a primary factor to take into consideration in evaluating his potential dangerousness; [however, regardless of evidence of subversive affiliation, all evidence developed during the course of a security investigation must be carefully weighed for the purpose of determining whether the subject's activities depict him as a potentially dangerous individual in time of a national emergency. Factors having a bearing upon an individual's potential dangerousness are numerous and will vary in each case in degree.]
- Among such factors are:
- I. Long continued membership in a subversive organization
 - II. Affiliation with or attendance at training schools, especially leadership schools
 - III. Frequent or regular attendance at organizational meetings and functions
 - IV. Subscriptions to publications of a subversive organization
 - V. Possession of or continued study of revolutionary literature
 - VI. Preparation or distribution of subversive propaganda and/or literature
 - VII. Holding positions in the subversive organization or in other organizations of a front character which indicate confidence of such organizations in his loyalty
 - VIII. Espousal of a subversive doctrine exemplified in his acts and utterances

The above is not all-inclusive. Facts developed in each case will produce information which will be indicative of the necessity for conducting further investigation along lines which will necessitate the use of various investigative techniques to develop the case fully. The successful investigation of an individual will depend upon the resourcefulness of the investigating Agents in developing techniques which will further establish the subversive activity of a subject.

Discretion must be used in those instances in which contact with persons known to the subject is believed desirable. Where such contact is contemplated, the Agent should assure himself of the character, loyalty, and reliability of the person to be contacted concerning the subject by reviewing the office indices and in some instances conducting preliminary inquiry, possibly under pretext, with others to ascertain the character, reliability, and loyalty of the person of whom inquiry concerning the subject is intended.

In conducting security investigations the necessity of obtaining admissible evidence must be continually borne in mind. However, sources furnishing information of a confidential nature are valuable and should be continued and enlarged for the purpose of obtaining information which can be corroborated by other sources which can be disclosed, thus rendering the information admissible as evidence.

The danger of relying upon evidence from only one confidential informant or other source is obvious and every effort should be made to obtain evidence from various types of sources and through various investigative techniques.

Information obtained from one source should be corroborated by contacts with confidential informants, public and private sources, through physical and photographic surveillances, review of office files, and other sources. Adequate coordination of information received from confidential sources with active investigation should be maintained at all times. For example, when it is ascertained through one of these sources that an important meeting is to occur, the nature of the meeting should be confirmed if possible by independent sources which can furnish evidence of an admissible character. The meeting should be covered by arrangement for attendance by confidential informants to obtain admissible evidence of the proceedings. The meetings should be placed under physical surveillance, licenses of automobiles parked near the meeting place noted, and attendants identified. If possible and advisable, photographic surveillances should be established. Other types of information received from confidential sources should receive similar attention in order that verification may be made and admissible evidence developed.

(6) Preservation of evidence

- (a) Identify, preserve, and maintain continuity of evidence obtained with a view to its possible admission in Federal proceedings. Identify specifically as to source and date.

- (b) Satisfactory notes or [statements] from informants necessary from which to refresh their recollection in the event they are called upon to testify at some future date. Such notes [and statements] must be in sufficient detail to serve this purpose and must contain no material which would make their use inadvisable or inadmissible.
 - (c) Informant's original notes or [statements] not to be blocked, stamped, serialized, or mutilated in any way which would render them unsatisfactory for use in Federal proceedings
 - (d) The above applies to Agent's notes taken during surveillances or evidence otherwise obtained by Agents.
- (7) Interviews with subjects of security investigations
- (a) Purpose
 - I. To determine a subject's sympathies when investigation is inconclusive or to determine whether he continues to adhere to revolutionary doctrines
 - II. To develop information concerning subject's activities and those of others known to him to have been associated with a subversive movement
 - III. To develop security informants
 - (b) Subjects not included in the security index

No security investigation of an individual shall be closed unless the subject is included in the security index or consideration given to interviewing him.
 - (c) Security index subjects
 - I. Bureau will not authorize cancellation of a security index card on an individual by reason of inactivity in a subversive movement until he has been interviewed or Bureau advised why an interview is inadvisable or impossible.
 - II. Active subversives should be considered as potential informants. Consider interviews with selected individuals currently active in subversive organizations for development of additional active informants. Proper selection of individuals for interview is most important. They must possess necessary attributes for security informant work.
 - (d) Without Bureau authority the SAC may:
 - I. Authorize interviews with individuals who have not been subjects of security investigations and the available subversive information against them is not sufficient to warrant opening cases at this time
 - II. Grant authority to interview subjects of security cases where the persons have previously been interviewed with prior Bureau authority, provided no change has taken place in the subjects' status and the interviews are conducted under the same conditions as previously authorized
 - III. Authorize interviews of all persons who were the subjects of security investigations where the cases are now closed (This will include persons who were previously on the security index but whose names have been removed and the cases now closed.)
 - IV. In authorizing these interviews no communication to the Bureau will be necessary and if there is a closed file, it should be reopened. If there is no closed file, a new case file of 134 category should be opened. The case should be assigned to an agent to determine the residence of the subject, to make certain that the subject is identical with the information in the files, and to determine his current employment.
 - (A) The Agent to whom the case is assigned will prepare a memorandum for the SAC setting forth the information and requesting authority to conduct an interview with the subject solely for the purpose of determining his attitude toward cooperating with the FBI.

D. SECURITY INVESTIGATIONS OF INDIVIDUALS

1. Definitions

The term "basic revolutionary organization" or "basic revolutionary group" when used hereinafter in this subsection shall apply to any one or all of the following organizations or groups in order to distinguish the organizations from front organizations:

- a. Communist Party, USA
- b. Socialist Workers Party
- c. [Progressive Labor Movement]
- d. Proletarian Party of America
- e. Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico
- f. Johnson-Forest Group
- g. American Socialist Clubs
- h. See also 87C 1d.

2. Responsibility of the Bureau

- a. To conduct thorough investigation into the background and subversive activities of all persons in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security. Each SAC will be held responsible for the proper investigation of all persons in his area who, because of membership or affiliation with basic revolutionary organizations or other Marxist revolutionary organizations including splinter groups, may be potentially dangerous.
- b. To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of individuals constituting a threat to the internal security and develop sufficient information and evidence through investigation to sustain appropriate action by the Bureau should it become necessary for the Federal Government to institute prosecutive action against such individuals in courts of law or control their movement and activities in the event of a national emergency

3. Purpose of investigation

The primary purpose of these investigations is twofold, namely:

a. Determination of dangerousness

To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals in the U. S. and Puerto Rico who, because of their membership in, activity in, or association with one or more of the revolutionary groups defined above or related groups, are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country, and the consequent collection of sufficient information concerning their subversive activities to justify apprehension in event of a national emergency

b. Determination of violations of Federal statutes

To determine the identities, whereabouts, and activities of all individuals who have been or may be violating laws of the U. S.

- (1) Direct investigation towards obtaining admissible evidence to establish the violation.
- (2) Be alert for any information indicating a violation of the Federal statutes relating to espionage, sabotage, and sedition.
- (3) Title 18, USC, § 2385, paragraph (1), prohibits the advocacy, etc., of forceful or violent overthrow of the Government. Paragraph (2) prohibits the printing and distribution of propaganda advocating the forceful overthrow of the Government. (Affiliation with an organization is not a prerequisite to prosecution under paragraphs (1) and (2).) Paragraph (3) makes it unlawful to organize or help to organize any society, etc., of persons who advocate overthrow of the Government by force or violence, or to be or become a member of or become affiliated with any such society knowing the purposes thereof. Conspiracy to violate this section is covered by Title 18, USC, § 371 (general conspiracy statute).
- (4) Title 18, USC, § 2387, penalizes attempts to undermine the loyalty, discipline, or morale of the armed forces. Alleged violations should be reported immediately to the Bureau.

- (5) Title 5, USC, §§ 118p, 118q, and 118r (Public Law 330, 84th Congress, approved 9-9-55), prohibits Government employment of persons who are disloyal or who assert the right to strike against the Government. The law provides that an individual accepting office or employment in the Government of the U. S. shall, within 60 days, execute an affidavit certifying that he does not advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government, etc. The execution of a false affidavit constitutes a fraud on, or attempt to defraud, the Government within the purview of Title 5, USC, § 93, so as to authorize Special Agents of the Bureau to administer oaths in investigations arising out of this law. Alleged violations of this law called to your attention should be furnished to the Bureau promptly and no investigation should be initiated on the basis of complaints received without prior Bureau authority. Refer to section [69H] of this manual entitled "Security of Government Employees - Fraud Against the Government" for procedures to be followed regarding possible violations of this law discovered or received in connection with security of Government employees investigations.
- (6) Title 18, USC, § 1001, includes possible fraud against the Government violations wherein there are concealments or falsifications relating to subversive information. These violations must be presented to the Department by the Bureau for a prosecutive opinion rather than being presented locally to USAs. They ordinarily involve the execution of U. S. Government forms. Common violators are employees of private concerns having Government contracts who execute Government forms required for clearance for access to classified information.

Upon receipt of information indicating a violation of this type, investigation under the "Security Matter - Fraud Against the Government" character should be initiated and the Bureau immediately advised. The Department has advised that it is essential, to establish jurisdiction, to prove that the form was presented to a Government agency for action or determination. This, therefore, should be the first investigative step. If the form was not presented to a Government agency, no further investigation should be made and the Bureau so advised. In this case, however, remain alert for information the form is later presented to Government agency. The fact subject actually signed the form must be established by testimony of witnesses to the signature, handwriting examination, or other conclusive evidence. The original of the form must be located. Sources that furnished pertinent information concerning subject during previous investigations and other potential witnesses should be thoroughly interviewed to determine the basis for each item of pertinent information furnished and to obtain the identities of other potential witnesses. Where affiliation with subversive organizations is involved, interview individuals who were members of same units of these organizations as subject for indicia of his membership, such as attendance at closed meetings, payment of dues, holding of office, etc. If possible, develop evidence to supplant pertinent information furnished by current informants. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview the subject. Interview subject and potential witnesses furnishing pertinent information under oath and obtain sworn signed statements if possible. An exception may be made when interviewing established sources, such as current informants, if oath and/or signed statements not considered desirable under circumstances. Be guided by instructions in section 6b, (7), below when interviewing potential witnesses with subversive backgrounds.

(c) Physical surveillances

- I. Intelligence information and admissible evidence obtained through the use of physical surveillances in these investigations are of extreme value. Physical surveillances should be used whenever, in the opinion of the SAC, information of sufficient value might be obtained to justify their use in light of the existing circumstances and available manpower.
- II. When information is received through other sources indicating that unit or mass meetings of subversive organizations are to take place, or clandestine meetings of certain individuals in a subversive movement are to be held with other unidentified individuals, physical surveillances should be used when practical to corroborate such information and further develop details concerning such meetings; that is, details of action taken at the meetings, identification of individuals in attendance, and extent of participation of the various individuals present.
- III. Proper and well-coordinated physical surveillances of various individuals in leadership or underground capacities of a subversive movement will develop a chain of activity within the movement, which not only establishes the importance and position of those individuals directly involved but will also serve to identify others who may not yet be identified with the movement.
- IV. The success of physical surveillances depends upon the resourcefulness and ingenuity of the Agents assigned to them. The Agents must at all times exercise sound judgment and discretion in the performance of such duties to avoid embarrassment to the Bureau. They must be alert at all times not only to observe the specific activity of the subject but to observe countersurveillance which may be used to identify the Agents and thereafter embarrass the Bureau.

(d) Photographic surveillances

- I. Photographic evidence which establishes meetings between individuals involved in these investigations and which establishes that subjects enter or leave certain buildings, etc., at the time it is known that meetings of subversive organizations are taking place therein is invaluable in establishing a complete chain of evidence. Photographs of such activities add convincing, admissible, physical evidence in establishing the subversive activities of individuals.
- II. Photographic surveillances must be properly correlated with other investigative techniques to assure that maximum of evidence is being obtained. They must be well planned and conducted in a discreet manner. Care should be taken to conceal properly the equipment used to avoid detection of the surveillances not only by the subject but also by any other individuals in the proximity of the surveillance.

- (e) Public sources
Full use must be made of all sources of information which are public in nature. Obtain background and lineage data from public birth records at local bureaus of vital statistics, credit agencies, city, county, and state recorders' offices, public utility records, school records, etc., whenever contact with such sources can be expected to produce information of value. Publications of subversive organizations and records of state and Federal committees which have conducted hearings concerning subversive activities should be obtained and indexed as reference material to assist in obtaining complete coverage of a subversive movement and the individuals connected therewith.
- (f) Records of private firms
Where pertinent information is indicated to be available in the records of private business firms, such as past or present employers, insurance companies, merchants with whom an individual may have conducted business, etc., contact should be had with such firms provided that contact will not jeopardize the investigation by enabling the subject to become unduly cognizant of our investigative interest in him.
- (g) [Deleted]
(h) [Deleted]
(i) Channelizing information to case files
- I. When information is received as a result of subversive activities concerning various individuals [showing] their membership or activities in subversive groups and organizations, such information should be channelized to the main case files of the individuals involved. A mimeographed form (FD-306) may be used provided it is limited to reporting attendance at meetings.
 - II. When information received from live informants, physical surveillances, and photographic surveillances is channelized to the individual case files, the channelizing memoranda or other documents being placed in the individual files must be documented.

- (b) Data to appear on separate attached card
- I. The following data must be placed on a separate card to be attached to reverse side of the security index card being filed in the geographical, special, or unavailable sections. Data will not be attached to the security index card filed in the alphabetical section. These cards contain printed captions to assist in recording the descriptive information. Captions are not all-inclusive and should be augmented by other data required.
 - (A) Complete description
 - (B) Notation that security index flash notice has been submitted for posting in Identification Division
 - (C) Photograph, with date taken placed below
 - (D) Dangerous characteristics of subject, including notation if subject possesses firearms
 - (E) Other data which will assist in effecting apprehension of subject, such as directions to residence or employment, where subject not situated in usual locations, listing of number of minor children and aged dependents
 - II. If descriptive data have not been obtained, case must be kept pending and investigation conducted to develop this information. Upon posting of security index flash notices in security index cases, the field will be furnished the FBI number and fingerprint classification which should be affixed to reverse side of the security index cards filed in geographical, special and unavailable sections.
 - III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

- (6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

should be completely filled out just as if a first recommendation is being made, and submitted with a current report. If not, the Bureau should be advised of the reasons for not reactivating his security index card. In either case, cancel the inactive card.

(7) Periodic verification of addresses

- (a) The data recorded on security index cards shall be in an up-to-date status at all times.
- (b) The whereabouts of all security index subjects should be known at all times. The residence and business addresses of all security index subjects must be checked at least once each six months, [except those imprisoned and those who were included in the security index because of disaffection for the U. S. (defection to a Sino-Soviet bloc country) (see section 105G, item 3, volume IV, of this manual). The residence and employment of those who were included in the security index because of disaffection for the U. S. must be verified every thirty days.] The case of any security index subject who is out of the country must be followed at least each six months to determine if he has returned to this country.

Perfect arrangements to be advised [on a current basis of any indication that the subject is engaged in subversive activities, is exhibiting violent tendencies, or plans to change his residence or employment.] Periodic checks to verify residence or business addresses may be made under appropriate pretext by telephone, or other expeditious means.

- (c) The physical characteristics and description of each security index subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation and the individual case file of each security index subject shall show that this has been done. If a security index subject has not been personally observed previously, this should be done during the next verification of the subject's residence and/or business addresses.
- (d) Use form FD-154 in verifying addresses of security index subjects when its use will facilitate the checking of the addresses. When FD-154 is not used in verifying addresses, a notation must be made on the last FD-154, FD-122, or FD-128 in the subject's case file showing the subject's current residence and business addresses and the date such addresses were verified. This must be done to assure that the file will contain all information concerning the status of the case and that the file will come to the attention of the Agent or field supervisor to determine if additional action is warranted at the time of the verification of addresses. Each time that a security index subject's residence and employment are verified, the case must be re-evaluated to assure that the subject is qualified for inclusion in the security index under the criteria for such inclusion. A notation to the effect that the case has been reviewed for this purpose shall be made in the file.
- (e) If it is determined that the residence or business address or both have been changed from those appearing on the security index card, FD-122 should be submitted to the Bureau with the current residence or business address shown thereon. In such instances, FD-122 should show only the changes to be made on the security index card. [FD-122 should be accompanied by form FD-366 for dissemination to Secret Service. Secret Service should be advised locally by dissemination of FD-366.]

- (f) The project of verifying addresses of security index subjects (other than top functionaries and key figures) shall be handled by reopening and assigning the cases for verification and closing the cases administratively upon accomplishment of verifications. Top functionary and key figure cases are to be handled as provided in section 87D 7f (8). Verifications should also be made at the time of submission of all annual investigative reports and should be reported therein.
- (8) Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing on security index cards
- (a) Submit to Bureau by FD-122 any changes, additions, or deletions involving name, aliases, citizenship, organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies, datcom classification, date or place of birth, key facility geographical reference number, abbreviation of agency having security responsibility (see 87D 7c (2) below), residence or business address. Exception: Change office of origin by form FD-128.
 - (b) Insertion or removal of cards from special section or unavailable section should be handled pursuant to 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV.
 - (c) Temporary handwritten notations may be made on existing security index cards pending receipt of corrected cards from Bureau.
 - (d) Indicate use of FD-122 for changes by checking proper opening paragraph and submit without abstract.
 - (e) Set out only items being changed, added, or deleted. If being deleted, specify "Delete."
 - (f) Upon receipt from Bureau of corrected security index cards with duplicate copy of FD-122 (stamped "Corrected Security Index cards attached. Substitute for cards in file and destroy old cards. Place photograph and description on reverse side of geographical cards."), action to be taken includes:
 - I. Check accuracy of data on cards.
 - II. Transfer separate cards with descriptive data and photograph from back of old geographical section cards to back of corrected cards, staple them and file in geographical section. Exception: For special or unavailable section subjects, see 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV above.
 - III. File third card in alphabetical section of security index.
 - IV. Destroy old cards.
- (9) Movement of subjects between offices and transfers of security index cards
- (a) Subjects of security index cards other than key figures and top functionaries
 - I. Requests to verify addresses of security index subjects from other offices must be assigned immediately and results of investigation to verify the new address must be transmitted to the office of origin within two weeks.
 - II. Office of origin, upon receipt of verification of address, should submit FD-128 immediately transferring office of origin. Forms regarding unavailable section subjects should be prepared in accordance with 87D 7b (6) (b) IV above.
 - III. Submit original and one copy of FD-128 to Bureau. Submit two copies thereof to office covering subject's new address, enclosing copies of all previous reports, other pertinent serials, photograph if available, and security index cards. FD-128 should show full title.
 - IV. Information concerning key facility employment of subject in new office should be furnished by that office to old office of origin so that geographical reference

in a key facility, copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as shown in sections 69, volume III, and 87D 7e (2), of this manual.

Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including policy, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section 69, volume III, of this manual.

- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
- (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal Aviation Agency
Federal Aviation Agency issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way; individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to Federal Aviation Agency. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau.
- (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Letterhead memoranda are to be disseminated to Secret Service in all security index cases. These letterhead memoranda should contain background data on the individuals involved, residence, employment, and a description. They should contain any information indicative of emotional instability or any factors indicative of a propensity for violence, as well as any information indicating that the subject is in possession of firearms. The above should be followed by a succinct statement concerning the subject's affiliation with or participation in a subversive movement. They are not to contain any reference to the security index program.

Dissemination of these letterhead memoranda to Secret Service will be made both at the Bureau and in the field following review at the Bureau. Submit in quadruplicate under the individual caption. Instructions regarding dissemination in the field will be issued after Bureau review.

After initial submission of letterhead memoranda in security index cases, as changes occur in the status of the individuals involved with respect to residence and employment, advise Secret Service locally and furnish two copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Form FD-366 may be used for this purpose. The letterhead memorandum should contain a reference to the previous communication disseminated to Secret Service.

[When reporting changes in residence and/or employment concerning Chinese and Cuban aliens on the security index, in addition to dissemination to Secret Service, also advise the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) locally, and furnish four copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. Bear in mind in filling out the reference that some memoranda have been expressly prepared for dissemination to Secret Service only and have not been furnished to the Department or INS; therefore, the copy furnished INS locally and two of the copies furnished the Bureau should reference the last communication to INS.]

For instructions pertaining to dissemination to Secret Service in other than security index cases, refer to section 83K, volume III, of this manual.

Copies of letterhead memoranda prepared in security index cases should be retained in the individual case files only.

Upon transfer of office of origin in one of these cases, the [old]office of origin is to furnish Secret Service locally with [the subject's new residence and business address]and advise the Bureau that such has been done by the submission of two copies of the letterhead memorandum disseminated locally. [The new office of origin need take no action regarding dissemination to Secret Service until such time as further changes occur with respect to the subject's status.]

(10) Dissemination at the Bureau

There are some situations in which dissemination is made at the Bureau instead of in the field. In the majority of instances, information received by the FBI should properly be furnished immediately to some other agency within the executive branch of the Government so that the responsibilities of the other agency might be fulfilled properly. Care must be taken, however, not to disseminate information to any field branch of another Government agency where such a procedure is deemed inadvisable because of the inadequacy of security measures in that branch. In these instances the data should be brought to the immediate attention of the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. An example of the latter is, of course, the Atomic Energy Commission, which receives reports only through the Bureau, as noted in section 87D 7c (3) of this manual. Information relating to foreign travel plans of security subjects is disseminated to interested agencies, including the State Department, only at the SOG, as set out in 87D 6b (4). Dissemination is also made at the SOG to the State Department, unless it appears undesirable, in those cases in which subjects have been indicted for violations grounded on subversive activities. Dissemination in these cases is made to preclude these subjects from utilizing the fact they obtained a passport to refute allegations of subversive connections. The State Department, therefore, will be in possession of data concerning a defendant should he attempt to utilize this tactic in such an action.

b. Data developed concerning individuals who are not within the Bureau's investigative jurisdiction

(1) Members of the armed forces

The Delimitations Agreement between the FBI and the armed forces intelligence agencies states that the responsibility assumed by one organization in a given field carries with it the obligation to exchange freely and directly with other subscribing organizations all information of mutual interest.

Thus, in discharging our basic responsibilities in the internal security field, it is imperative that information concerning members of the military services be referred immediately to the appropriate branch having primary responsibility for its personnel. This procedure is mandatory, even though the security aspects of the data have not been fully resolved or verified. It should be specifically pointed out in such instances that the information has not been verified.

Section 87D 5b of this manual instructs that if it is determined a security subject is a member of the armed services the investigation must at that point be discontinued immediately and reported to the Bureau. The basis for such instruction lies in the fact that the subject is no longer within our investigative jurisdiction. In addition, dissemination of pertinent reports must be made locally in the field to the appropriate intelligence agency.

Our responsibility with regard to military personnel is not confined to those who have been the subjects of security investigations. It extends to any subversive derogatory data developed against a member of the armed services during any of our investigations of either individuals or organizations. For instance, if it is determined that a member of the armed forces has been in contact with a security subject or with any individual or group raising security implications, the appropriate intelligence service should be immediately advised locally. This should be done even though the security aspects of the contact have not been resolved, so that the military services may be in a position to discharge their responsibilities. It must be pointed out to them specifically in such instances that the data are unverified, and pertinent developments must be transmitted to them thereafter immediately upon receipt.

Section 87D 6b (1) (h) provides that during the course of security investigations it must be determined whether the subjects have any close relatives in the armed forces. Our responsibilities require that such associations be called to the attention of the appropriate military intelligence services, together with pertinent data, including reports, on the security subjects involved. The evaluation of these associations lies entirely within the province of the intelligence services, but for the reasons stated previously herein it is incumbent upon the Bureau to disseminate this information immediately upon receipt.

Any subversive contacts or information developed concerning military personnel must be set out in a letter to the Bureau, together with a statement as to the local dissemination made in the field. Such letter should be accompanied by a [letterhead] memorandum setting out with particularity the subversive data in a form entirely suitable for dissemination.

4. Annual Communist Party, USA, organizational and membership survey. Each office is instructed to initiate by February 1 of each year a detailed and analytical survey of the organization and membership of the Communist Party in its territory, results to be forwarded to the Bureau by April 1. Set forth in detail the complete organizational structure of each Communist Party district or state organization including district and county committees, together with the identities of officers from the club through the district level. Identify each Communist Party club and section in the district, together with the identities of individual club members and most recent date each member was so identified. Where identification of an individual is tentative, this fact should be indicated by placing the word "tentative" after the individual's name. Note the informant coverage in each club, as well as on district and county committees, by setting forth the symbol numbers of the informants. In those instances in which no informant coverage exists in a particular club or on a district or county committee, this fact should be noted. In addition, summarize the over-all findings by setting forth the estimated Communist Party membership in the field office territory, together with the number of members who have been positively and tentatively identified as such within the immediately preceding 12-month period. Charts and maps should be used in setting forth the geographic distribution of the Communist Party whenever feasible. Offices which are auxiliary offices in investigation of a Communist Party district should furnish the required information to the office of origin for inclusion in its survey by March 15 of each year.

Following the organizational breakdown, each office should critically appraise its knowledge of the Communist Party organization within its division and set forth its comments and recommendations concerning investigative activity to be undertaken to eliminate any weaknesses detected. In those instances in which the disclosed weakness is that of lack of adequate informant coverage, advise in detail of the number of Bureau-approved potential security informants being developed in the particular area, as well as concrete plans to obtain additional informant coverage in the future.

- [5. Communist Influence in Racial Matters, Internal Security - C (code name "CIRM"). Bufile 100-442529. Office of origin: New York.
- a. Quarterly reports (to reach the Bureau by February 1, May 1, August 1, and November 1) should be submitted by each field office for the purpose of reporting, in a centralized manner, all available information bearing upon the communist influence in racial matters. Included should be information developed under the title of a variety of matters, such as CPUSA, Negro question, communist influence in racial matters; communist infiltration of various organizations, such as the Congress of Racial Equality, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and the like; investigations of subversive individuals active in the racial movement; investigations of communist fronts and other miscellaneous organizations; and racial disturbances and other racial matters investigated under the racial matter character. Information should be included in these quarterly reports, notwithstanding the fact that it will duplicate reporting in the other substantive matters referred to above. These reports shall be designed to precisely spell out the full extent of the communist influence in racial matters. They should separate words and intentions from actions; mere participation from direct influence; and the bona fide communist from the mere "do-gooder." They should not include information concerning legitimate efforts in the racial movement where there is no communist taint.

- (10) Political activities (Bureau file 100-3-72)
 - (a) Political activities in which party is engaged, including names and identities of party member candidates or party-sponsored candidates for public office
 - (b) Details relating to party sponsorship of third party movements
- (11) Legislative activities (Bureau file 100-3-70)
 - (a) Activities of the Communist Party and/or its members in connection with legislation or proposed legislation which affects status of the party or activities of the party and its members
 - (b) Activities of the Communist Party and/or its members in connection with legislation which does not directly affect the party or its members but which party deems expedient to promote so it may appear to be closely aligned or in favor of a worthy cause
- (12) Domestic administration issues (Bureau file 100-3-83)
 - (a) Communist Party activities with relation to domestic administration issues, such as antilynching laws, poll tax, etc. Only the over-all policy of the party in these matters should be included in quarterly reports.

- (14) Youth matters (Bureau file 100-3-76)

- (17) Cultural activities (Bureau file 100-3-90)

The cultural commissions are, for the most part, composed of secret members of the party. These commissions propagate the cultural activities of the Communist Party which are displayed primarily through communist front organizations, as well as the carrying out of the Communist Party line in the fields of radio, publishing, education, science, and arts. Individual members of the cultural sections have close ties in many instances with suspected international communist representatives. The following of this phase of the Communist Party movement is most important to develop the full and complete picture of Communist Party activities.

Communist Party policy and activities of a significant character directed toward the exploiting of veterans and their problems
- (19) National group commissions (Bureau file 100-3-91)

(b) Forward to Bureau by letter any important Communist Party publications published within a field division. Mention the publication in quarterly report, but do not describe in detail in the report.
- (22) Education (Bureau file 100-3-71)
(a) Statements or class material which advocates overthrow of the U. S. Government by force and violence
(b) Pertinent evidence and information relating to educational programs of the party. The following are deemed of utmost importance:
I. Instructions from national and/or district headquarters relative to the education of both new and experienced members
II. Courses or curricula given, together with any educational outlines and assigned or suggested reading. (There should be no long quotations in reports and any exhibits or enclosures should be forwarded to Bureau by separate letter.)
III. Important statements and remarks by instructors who should in turn be sufficiently identified so as to establish their status as duly designated or qualified party instructors
IV. Succinct digest of notes or memoranda of informants who attend the classes or schools. (Copies of the actual notes or memoranda should be submitted promptly by separate letter.)
V. Identities, if available, of members receiving instructions. Concentrate on having confidential informants

- b. Information should be reported according to the following outline. All main headings denoted by Roman numerals must be accounted for. If there is no information to report under a particular main heading, the heading should appear, followed by a statement "No information developed."

I. COMMUNIST STRATEGY

(A) COMMUNIST PARTY, USA

- (1) Plans, strategy, party line, and the like made at national meetings, including expressions by national and other functionaries
- (2) Plans, etc., made at district and lower level meetings, including expressions by local leaders and rank-and-file members
- (3) Plans, etc., as revealed in party publications and other propaganda media, such as written directives, press releases, and the like

Information under item 3 should be reported by the office covering the origin of the publications, such as the New York Office for "The Worker," "Political Affairs," and directives from party headquarters; San Francisco Office for "People's World"; etc. Party expressions, oral or written, when directly related to a specific event covered under II, should be included under II.

(B) OTHER COMMUNIST GROUPS (Such as Socialist Workers Party, Progressive Labor, Workers World Party, and the like)

Under (B), report information under separate numbered sub-headings for each organization. Report here information generally along the same lines as for (A) above.

II. COMMUNIST TACTICS

In this part report information on communist direction and influence of and participation in racial demonstrations, disturbances, drives, boycotts, and any other similar activities with racial overtones. This part will illustrate how communist activities attempt to exploit racial situations and expand communist influence, thus furthering communist objectives. List activities in chronological order with lettered subheadings, such as:

- (A) DEMONSTRATION, CLEVELAND, OHIO, 1-10-63
- (B) STORE BOYCOTT, YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, 3-6-63

Under each subheading include such information as nature of event; sponsoring and participating groups; total participants; number and identities of subversives involved; specifics as to whether subversives directed, controlled, instigated, or merely participated; whether violence resulted and, if so, whether subversives involved; arrests of subversives and court disposition; and any other information believed pertinent to the over-all picture of communist influence. Efforts by supporting groups to avoid communist involvement should also be reported. If a particular event had no communist involvement, it should, of course, not be included in the report.

III. COMMUNIST PENETRATION AND INFLUENCE IN RACIAL AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

Field offices should set out information concerning only the local branches of the organizations which are in its territory. The office covering the national headquarters of an organization should set out pertinent data as to the national headquarters, as well as any local affiliates in its territory, separating the national from the locals. The number of members, nationally and by locals, should be indicated. Include under each organization information as to officers and others in positions of influence who have present or past subversive connections; information as to other subversives who are merely members; specific evidence of influence wielded by subversives; policy concerning communist participation in the organization's activities, such as prohibition of communists holding office or membership (if no such stated policy, so indicate); and use and distribution of communist propaganda.

IV. MISCELLANEOUS

If at all possible, information to be included should be set out under the basic main headings I, II, or III. However, should there be some pertinent information to report which does not lend itself to the first three parts, it will be permissible to include it in part IV - MISCELLANEOUS.

- c. The term "communist" should be interpreted in its broad sense as including persons not only adhering to the principles of the CPUSA itself, but also to such splinter and offshoot groups as the Socialist Workers Party, Progressive Labor, and the like.
- d. Any office which has no information to report should so advise the Bureau by letter in lieu of a report. If any positive information, however limited, is available, it must be submitted by report. The same appropriate local dissemination to other agencies should be made as is made for the quarterly reports concerning the CPUSA. Except as otherwise indicated above, the regular report writing rules for security reports shall be applicable.]

- IV. Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing in section A of reserve index cards
 - (A) Changes in data appearing on section A reserve index cards should be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a.
 - (B) Deletions from section A of the reserve index should be recommended by letter. The letter should set forth the basis for the recommendation.
 - (C) Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section A cards to new office of origin.

(b) Section B

- I. This section is to contain the names of all other individuals included in the reserve index. This section is to be maintained only in the field office.
- II. Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section B cards to new office of origin.

(4) Content

- (a) Each card in section A and section B should contain, as a minimum, the following:
 - I. Name and aliases
 - II. Race
 - III. Sex
 - IV. Organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency
 - V. Citizenship
 - VI. Residence
 - VII. Employment
 - VIII. Birth data
 - IX. Office file number
 - [X. The letters "SS" if dissemination has been made to Secret Service in accordance with instructions in section 83K, item 2, volume III, of this manual]
 - (b) In addition, membership and position or association in a subversive group or groups, together with the source and date of the information, may be added.
- (5) Removal and deletion of cards
- (a) Destroy cards on individuals who subsequently become security informants or sources or who subsequently become subjects of security index cards.
 - (b) Advise the Bureau of the destruction only in the case of section A cards.

b. Security index

(1) Purpose

- (a) Security index cards are prepared and maintained by the Bureau to serve as operational guide for apprehension of persons deemed dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country in the event of a national emergency.
- (b) It shall contain the names of all persons who have been determined through investigation to be dangerous or potentially dangerous because of their membership in or affiliation with or espousal of doctrines of basic revolutionary organizations and/or front organizations and who will be apprehended upon receipt of instructions from the Attorney General.
- (c) It shall include subjects of espionage investigations and any other type of Bureau investigation provided their activities bring them within the scope of the security index criteria.
- (d) Action shall be taken against individuals included in the security index only upon authorization of warrants of arrest by the Attorney General. However, in preparing and maintaining the security index, to all practical effects, the Bureau is making the decision as to those persons who will be apprehended in the event of an emergency, inasmuch as the Attorney General has advised that he does not have funds or

- manpower to review security index cases.
- (e) Names shall be included in the security index only when investigation has established and reports[show] sufficient facts and evidence to justify the inclusion of each subject in the security index.
 - (f) The contents of the security index must be accurate and correct at all times. Matters pertaining to its preparation and maintenance must be given preferred, expeditious, continuous, and detailed attention.
 - (g) Matters pertaining to the security index are strictly confidential and are not to be mentioned or alluded to in investigative reports.
 - (h) The general operation and content of the security index must not be discussed by field personnel of the Bureau without prior Bureau authority.
 - (i) Matters pertaining to the security index may be discussed with duly qualified representatives of other Federal intelligence agencies only on a strictly confidential basis and only in instances in which an individual subject of prime interest to one of these services is involved.
- (2) Determination of dangerousness of an individual
- (a) The dangerousness of a member or affiliate of a subversive organization does not necessarily depend entirely upon his personal characteristics, such as aggressiveness or a disposition to violence. Although these factors must be taken into consideration in evaluating an individual's potential dangerousness, other factors are essential in making this determination. An individual's dangerousness also depends upon the contribution he has made or is making in the advancement of the principles and aims of the subversive movement with which he is connected or his subversive potentialities in the event of a national emergency. Bear in mind that a subject active in a subversive organization is not merely an isolated individual but is a part of an organization of which the purposes are opposed to the best interests of the U. S. An individual's loyalty to a subversive organization and the principles thereof is a primary factor to take into consideration in evaluating his potential dangerousness; [however, regardless of evidence of subversive affiliation, all evidence developed during the course of a security investigation must be carefully weighed for the purpose of determining whether the subject's activities depict him as a potentially dangerous individual in time of a national emergency. Factors having a bearing upon an individual's potential dangerousness are numerous and will vary in each case in degree.] Among such factors are:
 - I. Long continued membership in a subversive organization
 - II. Affiliation with or attendance at training schools, especially leadership schools
 - III. Frequent or regular attendance at organizational meetings and functions
 - IV. Subscriptions to publications of a subversive organization
 - V. Possession of or continued study of revolutionary literature
 - VI. Preparation or distribution of subversive propaganda and/or literature
 - VII. Holding positions in the subversive organization or in other organizations of a front character which indicate confidence of such organizations in his loyalty
 - VIII. Espousal of a subversive doctrine exemplified in his acts and utterances

in a key facility, copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as shown in sections 69, volume III, and 87D 7c (2), of this manual.

Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including policy, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section 69, volume III, of this manual.

- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
- (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal Aviation Agency
Federal Aviation Agency issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way; individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to Federal Aviation Agency. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau.
- (9) Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Letterhead memoranda are to be disseminated to Secret Service in all security index cases. These letterhead memoranda should contain background data on the individuals involved, residence, employment, and a description. They should contain any information indicative of emotional instability or any factors indicative of a propensity for violence, as well as any information indicating that the subject is in possession of firearms. The above should be followed by a succinct statement concerning the subject's affiliation with or participation in a subversive movement. They are not to contain any reference to the security index program.

Dissemination of these letterhead memoranda to Secret Service will be made both at the Bureau and in the field following review at the Bureau. Submit in quadruplicate under the individual caption. Instructions regarding dissemination in the field will be issued after Bureau review.

After initial submission of letterhead memoranda in security index cases, as changes occur in the status of the individuals involved with respect to residence and employment, advise Secret Service locally and furnish two copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. [Form FD-366 may be used for this purpose.] The letterhead memorandum should contain a reference to the previous communication disseminated to Secret Service.

For instructions pertaining to dissemination to Secret Service in other than security index cases, refer to section 83K, volume III, of this manual.

Copies of letterhead memoranda prepared in security index cases should be retained in the individual case files only.

Upon transfer of office of origin in one of these cases, the new office of origin is to furnish Secret Service locally with pertinent data concerning the subject and advise the Bureau that such has been done by the submission of two copies of the letterhead memorandum disseminated locally.

agency responsible for such action. Forward such data to Bureau and incorporate in next report submitted concerning individual in question. Where no investigation has been conducted by Bureau and there is no case on individual being denied clearance, give consideration to opening a security investigation if information received from intelligence agency warrants such action.

(2) Inclusion in security index

In recommending key facility employee for inclusion in security index, FD-122 is to contain:

- (a) Key facility geographical reference number
- (b) Abbreviation for agency having security responsibility
- (c) Abbreviations for [other] agencies [known to have classified contracts with the key facility.] Interested agencies should be identified on FD-122 to assure proper dissemination of reports but will not appear on security index cards returned from Bureau.
- (d) Abbreviation AEC immediately following abbreviation for agency having security responsibility when abbreviation of responsible agency on key facilities list is followed by asterisk, which denotes Atomic Energy Commission is involved in security responsibility. This data will appear on security index cards returned from the Bureau.

If subject of existing security index card is found to have become employed in a key facility, FD-122 must be submitted to Bureau with above-required key facility data set forth thereon. Case is then to be handled in accordance with instructions set forth below concerning key facility cases.

(3) Dissemination

Upon receipt of original complaint or allegation concerning key facility employee from source other than interested intelligence agency, a summary of complaint and information concerning the individual should be furnished immediately by letter to interested intelligence agency. Intelligence agency should then be advised whether a security investigation is being conducted of the individual and, if investigation is being conducted, that copies of reports will be furnished upon completion of investigation. Letter to intelligence agency should clearly point out that information is unsubstantiated and has not been verified through investigation by FBI.

These instructions do not apply to allegations of espionage or those of such a confidential character as would not ordinarily be disseminated. Such information appearing to be of immediate interest to other intelligence agencies should be submitted to Bureau by most expeditious means, depending upon the circumstances, with a request that the Bureau consider advisability of disseminating it.

Disseminate copies of each report to the local representative of agency having security responsibility, as well as to local representative of other intelligence agencies known to have

classified contracts with the key facility.] Copies of reports for the Marine Corps should be disseminated locally to ONI.

Dissemination to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA) (formerly Armed Forces Special Weapons Project), the Research and Development Board (RDB), and the Maritime Administration (MA) will be made at the Bureau, and not in the field.

- (4) Status of cases
After all active investigation conducted, place in a closed status. Forty-five days before report due, make case pending active and check with armed services representative at the key facility, or with other reliable sources, to determine whether subject has access to classified or restricted material.

d. Key figure and top functionary program

(1) General

Purpose of key figure and top functionary program is to select for special attention those individuals in a subversive movement who are of outstanding importance to the effectiveness of the movement.

Key figure and top functionary program is described below as pertaining to the Communist Party, USA. However, it also applies to important individuals active in or on behalf of other basic revolutionary groups.

(2) Key figures

(a) Definition

A key figure is an individual, either a member or non-member of the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organization, who, by reason of his official position in the organization or his connections with the communist movement and his activities on its behalf, is considered of sufficient importance and potential dangerousness from an internal security standpoint to require immediate apprehension or detention in the event of an emergency. Individuals coming within the following categories shall be considered within the definition of a key figure:

- I. National, district, and state officers and the principal officers of the local clubs of the Communist Party
- II. The principal organizers of the Communist Party
- III. Those communists who are executive officers or outstanding figures in established communist front or communist-controlled organizations, foreign language groups, and Negro organizations infiltrated by communists
- IV. Individuals extensively engaged in communist infiltration of the labor movement, including principal officers of labor organizations who are members of or closely affiliated with the Communist Party. In

(10) Dissemination at the Bureau
There are some situations in which dissemination is made at the Bureau instead of in the field. In the majority of instances, information received by the FBI should properly be furnished immediately to some other agency within the executive branch of the Government so that the responsibilities of the other agency might be fulfilled properly. Care must be taken, however, not to disseminate information to any field branch of another Government agency where such a procedure is deemed inadvisable because of the inadequacy of security measures in that branch. In these instances the data should be brought to the immediate attention of the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. An example of the latter is, of course, the Atomic Energy Commission, which receives reports only through the Bureau, as noted in section 87D 7c(3) of this manual. Information relating to foreign travel plans of security subjects is disseminated to interested agencies, including the State Department, only at the SOG, as set out in 87D 6b (4). Dissemination is also made at the SOG to the State Department, unless it appears undesirable, in those cases in which subjects have been indicted for violations grounded on subversive activities. Dissemination in these cases is made to preclude these subjects from utilizing the fact they obtained a passport to refute allegations of subversive connections. The State Department, therefore, will be in possession of data concerning a defendant should he attempt to utilize this tactic in such an action.

b. Data developed concerning individuals who are not within the Bureau's investigative jurisdiction

(1) Members of the armed forces

The Delimitations Agreement between the FBI and the armed forces intelligence agencies states that the responsibility assumed by one organization in a given field carries with it the obligation to exchange freely and directly with other subscribing organizations all information of mutual interest.

Thus, in discharging our basic responsibilities in the internal security field, it is imperative that information concerning members of the military services be referred immediately to the appropriate branch having primary responsibility for its personnel. This procedure is mandatory, even though the security aspects of the data have not been fully resolved or verified. It should be specifically pointed out in such instances that the information has not been verified.

Section 87D 5b of this manual instructs that if it is determined a security subject is a member of the armed services the investigation must at that point be discontinued immediately and reported to the Bureau. The basis for such instruction lies in the fact that the subject is no longer within our investigative jurisdiction. In addition, dissemination of pertinent reports must be made locally in the field to the appropriate intelligence agency.

Our responsibility with regard to military personnel is not confined to those who have been the subjects of security investigations. It extends to any subversive derogatory data developed against a member of the armed services during any of our investigations of either individuals or organizations. For instance, if it is determined that a member of the armed forces has been in contact with a security subject or with any individual or group raising security implications, the appropriate intelligence service should be immediately advised locally. This should be done even though the security aspects of the contact have not been resolved, so that the military services may be in a position to discharge their responsibilities. It must be pointed out to them specifically in such instances that the data are unverified, and pertinent developments must be transmitted to them thereafter immediately upon receipt.

Section 87D 6b (1) (h) provides that during the course of security investigations it must be determined whether the subjects have any close relatives in the armed forces. Our responsibilities require that such associations be called to the attention of the appropriate military intelligence services, together with pertinent data, including reports, on the security subjects involved. The evaluation of these associations lies entirely within the province of the intelligence services, but for the reasons stated previously herein it is incumbent upon the Bureau to disseminate this information immediately upon receipt.

Any subversive contacts or information developed concerning military personnel must be set out in a letter to the Bureau, together with a statement as to the local dissemination made in the field. Such letter should be accompanied by a [letterhead] memorandum setting out with particularity the subversive data in a form entirely suitable for dissemination.

in a key facility, copies of reports bearing the dual character, "Security of Government Employees; Security Matter - C," should be furnished to appropriate intelligence agencies of the armed services by the field offices as [shown] in sections 69, [volume III,] and 87D 7e (2), [of this manual.]

Specific instructions with regard to all phases of our responsibilities under Executive Order 10450, including policy, investigative procedures, and dissemination are set out in section 69, [volume III,] of this manual.

- (7) Individuals who own property or reside in the immediate vicinity of an installation or other premises under the cognizance of a branch of the armed services
Dissemination should be made locally to the intelligence service of the military branch involved.
- (8) Airmen issued certificates by Federal Aviation Agency
Federal Aviation Agency issues certificates to airmen who are defined as persons in command or acting as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew in the navigation of aircraft while under way; individuals directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual serving in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air-traffic control tower operator. Subversive data developed concerning persons within such definitions should be furnished to the Bureau by report or letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination, together with cover communication recommending that such data be furnished to Federal Aviation Agency. Such dissemination will be made only at the Bureau.
- (9) [Security index - dissemination of information to Secret Service
Letterhead memoranda are to be disseminated to Secret Service in all security index cases. These letterhead memoranda should contain background data on the individuals involved, residence, employment, and a description. They should contain any information indicative of emotional instability or any factors indicative of a propensity for violence, as well as any information indicating that the subject is in possession of firearms. The above should be followed by a succinct statement concerning the subject's affiliation with or participation in a subversive movement. They are not to contain any reference to the security index program.

Dissemination of these letterhead memoranda to Secret Service will be made both at the Bureau and in the field following review at the Bureau. Submit in quadruplicate under the individual caption. Instructions regarding dissemination in the field will be issued after Bureau review.

After initial submission of letterhead memoranda in security index cases, as changes occur in the status of the individuals involved with respect to residence and employment, advise Secret Service locally and furnish two copies of the letterhead memorandum to the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. The letterhead memorandum should contain a reference to the previous communication disseminated to Secret Service.

For instructions pertaining to dissemination to Secret Service in other than security index cases, refer to section 83K, volume III, of this manual.

Copies of letterhead memoranda prepared in security index cases should be retained in the individual case files only.

Upon transfer of office of origin in one of these cases, the new office of origin is to furnish Secret Service locally with pertinent data concerning the subject and advise the Bureau that such has been done by the submission of two copies of the letterhead memorandum disseminated locally.]

[(10)] Dissemination at the Bureau
There are some situations in which dissemination is made at the Bureau instead of in the field. In the majority of instances, information received by the FBI should properly be furnished immediately to some other agency within the executive branch of the Government so that the responsibilities of the other agency might be fulfilled properly. Care must be taken, however, not to disseminate information to any field branch of another Government agency where such a procedure is deemed inadvisable because of the inadequacy of security measures in that branch. In these instances the data should be brought to the immediate attention of the Bureau for dissemination at the SOG. An example of the latter is, of course, the Atomic Energy Commission, which receives reports only through the Bureau, as noted in section 87D 7c (4) of this manual. Information relating to foreign travel plans of security subjects is disseminated to interested agencies, including the State Department, only at the SOG, as set out in 87D 6b (4). Dissemination is also made at the SOG to the State Department, unless it appears undesirable, in those cases in which subjects have been indicted for violations grounded on subversive activities. Dissemination in these cases is made to preclude these subjects from utilizing the fact they obtained a passport to refute allegations of subversive connections. The State Department, therefore, will be in possession of data concerning a defendant should he attempt to utilize this tactic in such an action.

b. Data developed concerning individuals who are not within the Bureau's investigative jurisdiction

(1) Members of the armed forces

The Delimitations Agreement between the FBI and the armed forces intelligence agencies states that the responsibility assumed by one organization in a given field carries with it the obligation to exchange freely and directly with other subscribing organizations all information of mutual interest.

Thus, in discharging our basic responsibilities in the internal security field, it is imperative that information concerning members of the military services be referred immediately to the appropriate branch having primary responsibility for its personnel. This procedure is mandatory, even though the security aspects of the data have not been fully resolved or verified. It should be specifically pointed out in such instances that the information has not been verified.

Section 87D 5b of this manual instructs that if it is determined a security subject is a member of the armed services the investigation must at that point be discontinued immediately and reported to the Bureau. The basis for such instruction lies in the fact that the subject is no longer within our investigative jurisdiction. In addition, dissemination of pertinent reports must be made locally in the field to the appropriate intelligence agency.

Our responsibility with regard to military personnel is not confined to those who have been the subjects of security investigations. It extends to any subversive derogatory data developed against a member of the armed services during any of our investigations of either individuals or organizations. For instance, if it is determined that a member of the armed forces has been in contact with a security subject or with any individual or group raising security implications, the appropriate intelligence service should be immediately advised locally. This should be done even though the security aspects of the contact have not been resolved, so that the military services may be in a position to discharge their responsibilities. It must be pointed out to them specifically in such instances that the data are unverified, and pertinent developments must be transmitted to them thereafter immediately upon receipt.

Section 87D 6b (1) (h) provides that during the course of security investigations it must be determined whether the subjects have any close relatives in the armed forces. Our responsibilities require that such associations be called to the attention of the appropriate military intelligence services, together with pertinent data, including reports, on the security subjects involved. The evaluation of these associations lies entirely within the province of the intelligence services, but for the reasons stated previously herein it is incumbent upon the Bureau to disseminate this information immediately upon receipt.

Any subversive contacts or information developed concerning military personnel must be set out in a letter to the Bureau, together with a statement as to the local dissemination made in the field. Such letter should be accompanied by a [letterhead] memorandum setting out with particularity the subversive data in a form entirely suitable for dissemination.

- (j) In connection with periodic reports in security index cases, there are instances in which evidence of extensive activity in subversive organizations will be developed. In these cases it is permissible to report such information in narrative-type statements without indicating exact dates of activity; however, the period of time involved must be shown, as well as the inclusive dates of the informant reports.

This type reporting is not to be utilized in Smith Act of 1940 cases or Internal Security Act of 1950 cases. The narrative statements must be statements of facts and not conclusions and information from each source must be reported in separate narrative statements.

- (k) The above instructions in no way remove responsibility for reporting all items of pertinence to the Bureau, bearing in mind the fact that Bureau files must be complete insofar as matters of substance are concerned, nor is responsibility removed for the reporting in detail of information tending to establish a subject's knowledge of the basic aims and purposes of the subversive organizations with which affiliated or information tending to establish that a subject holds revolutionary and/or anarchist beliefs.

In the documentation of narrative statements set forth the location of the original documents in the field office files by the file number and serial scope.

(10) Administrative data

(a) General

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. Reserve index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, key figure or top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, FD-122a, FD-128, and FD-128a; and Bureau instructions for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature

- II. Whenever reports relating to security index subjects contain data affecting material included on subject's existing security index card, the cover pages accompanying the report shall include as the last page form FD-305, appropriately checked, which form contains items pertaining to the following:
- (A) That subject is included in the security index
 - (B) That data appearing on security index card is current
 - (C) That FD-122 has been submitted to Bureau where security index card changes are necessary
 - (D) That a suitable photograph is or is not available
 - (E) That subject is employed in a key facility [and agency charged with security responsibility is specified] and that agencies interested in that facility are specified
 - (F) Reason for classifying report
 - (G) Dates subject was previously interviewed and reason for not reinterviewing subject
 - (H) That subject no longer meets security index criteria and a letter has been directed to the Bureau recommending cancellation of the security index card
 - (I) That subject's case has been re-evaluated and reasons are set forth as to why subject's activities continue to fall within security index criteria
 - (J) That subject's security index card is or is not tabbed detcom and [reasons why] subject's activities warrant detcom tabbing

III. Form FD-305a containing items pertinent to reserve index subjects will be similarly utilized in connection with the submission of reports in reserve index cases.

(b) Documentation of reports

- I. Deleted
- II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.
- III. Extensive investigation should not be conducted to further identify and locate outside individuals who have in the past furnished background information or to obtain documentary evidence of background information. For example, if previous investigation revealed that subject, according to reliable records, such as birth records, school records, or records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was born at a certain place on a certain date, such information will be sufficient for inclusion in report. Further verification will not be necessary.
- IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of Photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity

- selecting key figures in the labor field, give consideration to the critical nature of the industry or trade involved and the fact that certain industries, such as transportation and communication, are particularly vulnerable to Communist infiltration and sudden disruptive action.
- V. Editors, publishers and business managers of generally recognized Communist publications or Communist publishing houses and operators of the important Communist bookstores
 - VI. Prominent figures in the Communist-owned and -controlled educational institutions, generally referred to as workers schools
 - VII. Attorneys and bondsmen who are active in the Communist movement and are known to furnish important assistance to the Communist movement
 - VIII. Espionage or nationalistic tendency subjects whose activities are connected to a significant degree with the program of the Communist Party, provided they have no recognized diplomatic status. Investigation and preparation, submission and dissemination of reports governed by instructions issued in individual cases in this category and the general rules governing key figures as subsequently set forth in this section are not applicable to these subjects.

The above list is not all-inclusive. There may be individuals who, because of their profession, position in public life, Government employment or other associations, may not see fit to serve outwardly in behalf of the Communist Party or its related groups but who, because of their established Communist sympathies and their contributions to the Communist movement, might well conform to the general key figure definition set out above. Membership in the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations is not a prerequisite to being a key figure and the designation may apply to both citizens and aliens.

(b) Regulations governing the handling of the key figure program

I. Designation and deletion of key figure status

Designate or remove a subject as a key figure by individual letter to the Bureau carrying the subject in the caption and containing a brief statement as to the reason for designation or deletion.

Where office of origin for key figures is transferred, deletions in the old office of origin and additions in the new office are handled in accordance with 87D 7b (9) (b) above.

II. Photographs

Photographs must be obtained for each key figure. Whenever possible, the photographs should be obtained from public records, law enforcement agencies, state or Federal Government agencies and similar sources. Where more direct means employed, use extreme care to avoid prejudicing the investigation. Send one copy of photograph of each key figure to the Bureau, either by cover letter or as enclosure to a report. Maintain a copy of each photograph in the subject's individual case file in the field. If album of key figure photographs maintained, be sure duplicates are also filed in each individual subject's file.

III. Handwriting specimens

Suitable handwriting specimens of each key figure must be obtained. Whenever possible, obtain handwriting specimens from public records, law enforcement agencies, and similar sources. Again, if more direct means employed, use extreme care. Send specimens to the Bureau under a separate cover letter by registered mail for the attention of the FBI Laboratory. Letter should bear caption of individual case.

Handwriting specimens should be sufficiently extensive to permit possible future comparisons by the Laboratory. When specimens submitted may be of value as evidence, letter of transmittal should so state and Bureau should be requested to return specimens after copies have been made.

IV. Security index cards

Request preparation by FD-122 at the earliest possible moment. Same rules apply to preparation and maintenance as apply to other security index cards. All security index cards for key figures shall be tabbed for detcom. under the priority apprehension program.

V. Change of office of origin

FD-128 changing office of origin on a key figure automatically deletes him as key figure in old office and adds him as a key figure in new office. For further instructions concerning the change of office of origin in these cases, see 87D 7b (9) (b).

VI. Reports

(A) Character - Internal Security - (followed by appropriate letter designating the organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency)

(B) Submit reports every six months [showing] the subject's activities since last report. The key figure designations should be continuously evaluated so that their status will not be continued unless justified. These cases may be placed in a pending-inactive status as soon as the following conditions exist:

- i. Reports have been submitted [showing] complete investigation definitely establishing by information of evidentiary nature subject's communist connections and activities and his importance in the communist movement plus essential background information.
- ii. When no further action necessary other than maintaining contact with informants, keeping informed of subject's whereabouts, and generally following his activities. It is imperative that established sources of information be continued and still further informant coverage effected.

iii. Do not advise the Bureau by letter that case placed in pending-inactive status. Place cases on six-month ticklers to insure prompt submission of reports at six-month intervals.

iv. Cases involving key figures and top functionaries should be maintained in a pending status until such time as suitable photographs of subjects are obtained unless, of course, circumstances dictate to the contrary, in which case the Bureau should be so advised. The fact that handwriting specimens of key figures and top functionaries have not been secured should not prevent placing these cases in a pending-inactive status when all reasonable efforts have been made to secure them.

(C) Key figure cases may be closed and the designations deleted when subject enters the armed forces or other circumstances arise warranting such action. Additional information received shall be channeled to the closed file.

- IV. Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing in section A of reserve index cards
 - (A) Changes in data appearing on section A reserve index cards should be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a.
 - (B) Deletions from section A of the reserve index should be recommended by letter. The letter should set forth the basis for the recommendation.
 - (C) Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section A cards to new office of origin.
- (b) Section B
 - I. This section is to contain the names of all other individuals included in the reserve index. This section is to be maintained only in the field office.
 - II. Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section B cards to new office of origin.

- (2) Determination of dangerousness of an individual
- (a) The dangerousness of a member or affiliate of a subversive organization does not necessarily depend entirely upon his personal characteristics, such as aggressiveness or a disposition to violence. Although these factors must be taken into consideration in evaluating an individual's potential dangerousness, other factors are essential in making this determination. An individual's dangerousness also depends upon the contribution he has made or is making in the advancement of the principles and aims of the subversive movement with which he is connected or his subversive potentialities in the event of a national emergency. Bear in mind that a subject active in a subversive organization is not merely an isolated individual but is a part of an organization of which the purposes are opposed to the best interests of the U. S. An individual's loyalty to a subversive organization and the principles thereof is a primary factor to take into consideration in evaluating his potential dangerousness; [however, regardless of evidence of subversive affiliation, all evidence developed during the course of a security investigation must be carefully weighed for the purpose of determining whether the subject's activities depict him as a potentially dangerous individual in time of a national emergency. Factors having a bearing upon an individual's potential dangerousness are numerous and will vary in each case in degree.]
- Among such factors are:

 - XXII. Training and/or participation in espionage, sabotage, or intelligence activities
 - XXIII. A history of emotional instability or irrational behavior on the part of an individual with a subversive background whose prior acts depict a propensity for violence and hatred against organized government
- (b) The security index criteria which governs whether an individual's name is to be added to the security index and/or retained thereon are set forth below. The above factors, while not all-inclusive, must be taken into consideration in each individual security case in arriving at a determination as to whether the subject thereof falls within the security index criteria and thus should be included in the security index.]
- (c) An individual shall not be deemed dangerous merely because one or more of the above factors are applicable in his case.

- (3) Criteria for placing and retaining names in the security index
- (a) The addition to and retention of names in the security index shall be governed by the following criteria:
- I. No name shall be added to or retained in the security index unless one or more of the following situations have been established through investigation:

- (B) Subject has had membership or participation in the affairs of one or more front organizations, which adhere to the policies and doctrines of a revolutionary group, in a leadership capacity or by active substantial participation in the furtherance of the aims or purposes of the front organizations within the last 3 years as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals.
- (C) Investigation has developed information that an individual, though not a member or a participant in the activities of a subversive organization, has anarchist or revolutionary beliefs and is likely to seize upon the opportunity presented by a national emergency to endanger the public safety as shown by overt acts or statements within the last 3 years established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals.
- (D) Although investigation has failed to establish overt acts or statements on the part of a subject within the time limits set out above, facts have been developed which clearly and unmistakably depict the subject as a dangerous individual who could be expected to commit acts inimical to the national defense and public safety of the U. S. in time of emergency.

II. Activity in support of Cuban regime

Careful consideration should be given to recommending for inclusion in the security index those individuals who in the light of the clear identification of the Cuban Government as procommunist, pro-Soviet bloc, and anti-U. S., would be deemed dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the U. S. in the event of an emergency involving Cuba and the U. S. In connection therewith, there should be a substantial showing of data within the following standards:

- (A) An individual has served as a leader or officer or has substantially participated in the activities of a pro-Castro organization and has engaged in activities which have included either the preparation or distribution of pro-Cuban or anti-U. S. propaganda; the active collection of funds for any agency or representative of the Cuban Government or for a pro-Castro group, which funds are not intended for the relief of human suffering or other charitable purposes; active participation in acts of violence against anti-Castro individuals or groups or against the U. S.; or the active collection of intelligence data regarding the national defense of the U. S. or which would serve the purposes of the Cuban Government as opposed to the interests of the U. S., where there are reasonable grounds to believe that such data is to be or has been conveyed to any agency or representative of the Cuban Government.
- (B) An individual, whether he has participated in organizational activity or not, has engaged in one or more activities specified in (A) above and it has been clearly established, by overt acts or statements or other evidence, that there are reasonable grounds to believe the loyalty of the individual would lie with the Cuban Government in the event of armed conflict between the Cuban Government and the U. S.
- (C) Aliens of Cuban nationality and aliens holding Cuban citizenship should be considered for the security index when it is determined that one of these (1) is likely to foster, encourage, or promote the policies, programs, or objectives of the Cuban Government, or collaborate with the Cuban Government or (2) is likely to engage in or attempt to engage in acts of espionage, sabotage, or other activities inimical or detrimental to the defense or public safety of the U. S. as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals. Activities on a subject's part which should be considered in determining whether his name should be added to the security index under the foregoing would include but should not be limited to (1) participation in organizations supporting the Castro regime, (2) participation in picket lines formed in support of the Cuban Government, (3) contacts with Cuban agents operating in this country on behalf of the Cuban Government, or (4) statements or activities on a subject's part establishing reasonable grounds to believe that his loyalty would lie with the Cuban Government in the event of armed conflict between the U. S. and Cuba.

locate subjects are not to be submitted. The Bureau will closely follow investigative action to locate missing security index subjects.

- II. If you receive indications that the subject went to Mexico or Canada, request the Bureau to alert other appropriate Government agencies to this possibility and to determine any available verifying information through liaison channels.
- III. If the subject is reported to have gone to any other foreign country, the Washington Field Office should be requested to check the records of the Passport Office of the State Department for verification.
- IV. When all logical leads have been exhausted in the case of a missing important functionary, consideration should be given to circularizing all field offices with the subject's photograph and background information for the purpose of alerting the entire field to the identity of the subject. Bureau authority must be obtained before circularization is made. In seeking Bureau authority, advise the Bureau as to the position held by the subject and what efforts have already been made to locate him.

If this procedure is to be effective, its application must necessarily be restrictive in the number of subjects to which it is applied. Therefore, requests to circularize must be made only after every possible lead has been exhausted and then only in the cases of the most important missing functionaries.

- (4) Individuals traveling abroad (Also consider section 105G, volume IV, of this manual.)

When information is received indicating that a subject of a current or past security investigation, a past member of a basic revolutionary organization, a member since July, 1950, of an organization designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450, a member since July, 1950, of an organization declared subversive by the House Committee on Un-American Activities or other legislative committees, or a member since July, 1950, of an organization described by reliable informants or sources as being dominated or controlled by one of the basic revolutionary organizations intends to travel abroad or has already departed this country for foreign travel, take the following action:

- (a) Immediately advise the Bureau [by letterhead memorandum] setting forth complete available details concerning the foreign travel, including places and dates of departure and intended return, destination and itinerary, purpose of trip, the exact name under which the passport was issued, the number of the passport, and the office issuing the passport, if known. Include in the letterhead memorandum a full description of the subject, including all aliases, and in the case of Chinese and Korean subjects Chinese telegraphic code [and Korean telegraphic code] numbers, as well as a concise resume of available subversive data regarding the subject. Do not delay in advising the Bureau of the actual or intended travel while developing the details of the travel as time is of the essence in this matter.
- (b) Set out a lead for the Washington Field Office for a check of the records of the Passport Office, Department of State; however, do not limit efforts to develop above information to a check of such records.

- d. Other Marxist revolutionary groups
A long-established group which would come under this category is the Proletarian Party of America, a relatively small organization.

There also are a few small groups composed of ex-members of the Communist Party, USA, who have voluntarily left the party or who have been expelled, usually for factionalism.

e. General

Communist investigations must be conducted in a most discreet and thorough manner at all times. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority. Bureau employees should not discuss communist or related investigations with any unauthorized individual. The subject of communism is not to be used in speeches of Bureau employees without specific authorization. However, there is considerable mimeographed material in each office, including speeches, testimony, and magazine articles prepared by the Director which could be furnished outside individuals interested in the subject of communism without any discussion.

2. Purposes of investigation

- a. The investigation of the Communist Party, USA, and other similar-type organizations is of twofold purpose: (1) to obtain legally admissible evidence against these organizations for prosecution under existing Federal statutes set out above and (2) to follow closely the activities of these organizations from an intelligence viewpoint to have a day-to-day appraisal of the strength, dangerousness, and activities of these organizations seeking the overthrow of the U. S. Government.
- b. Suggestions for proper coverage of the investigation of the Communist Party as an organization and similar organizations should include:
- (1) The assignment of sufficient Agent personnel to insure that all of the important ramifications of party activities are properly covered
 - (2) Development of confidential informants in all party levels, including the national headquarters organization
 - (3) The establishment of trash and mail covers on pertinent headquarters and party functionaries
 - (4) The constant effort to develop admissible evidence against party officials for violation of Federal laws
- c. Brief to establish illegal status of Communist Party, USA
- (1) Purpose of brief is to collect all legally admissible evidence to prove illegality of party in one file. (Bufile 100-3-74)
 - (2) Reports on brief to establish illegal status must be submitted by each office quarterly and should include only legally admissible evidence obtained during preceding three-month period. [If there is no information to report, include a statement to that effect in the cover pages of the quarterly report for the same period entitled "Communist Party, USA, Internal Security - C" (no copy needed for Bufile 100-3-74).]
 - (3) It is advisable to use the following breakdown in preparing reports:
 - (a) Origin and continuity of the party
 - (b) Pertinent statements, writings, and instructions relating to (1) Marxism-Leninism, (2) imperialism, (3) proletarian internationalism, (4) defense of USSR, (5) revolutionary statements
 - (c) Internal Security Act of 1950. Include under this heading any admissible evidence which would tend to prove a violation of section 4(a) of this act.

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions

This section contains detailed investigative guides for use in investigating and reporting activities of the Communist Party, USA.

a. To accurately and clearly show the true nature of the Communist Party, USA, data concerning the following topics must be fully developed and reported. When material contains information that would be logically reported under more than one topic heading but to do so would make the separate accounts unintelligible, report all the material under the main heading and only refer to the information under the other breakdowns. Do not repeat same data under separate headings. Reports on the Communist Party, USA, as an organization must be submitted by each office quarterly and should cover activities for the preceding three-month period. All offices are required to use the following breakdown in preparing quarterly reports on the Communist Party, USA. Each subfile caption must start on a separate page.

(1) Organization (Bureau file 100-3-69)

- (a) Security setup of district and/or state organization. Office covering district headquarters, describe the location and size of Communist Party office facilities, rent paid, and name and number of office employees. List address and/or post office box number of party headquarters.
- (b) Identify principal district officials and important functionaries, together with titles, and furnish a short resume of important activities of each during three-month period.
- (c) Names of new commissions or special committees, identity and capacity of individual members thereof. Submit resume of activities of groups under appropriate subfile captions.
- (d) Special meetings embracing only organizational matters. Other pertinent matters discussed at meetings concerning policy or strategy to be submitted under appropriate subfile captions.

(2) Membership (Bureau file 100-3-68)

- (a) Quarterly reports are not to contain any membership statistics. Cover pages accompanying each quarterly report must contain latest available statistics relating to total number of Communist Party members in the district. Membership data must start on a separate cover page, [which page(s) must be devoted exclusively to such data.] Office of origin, which is office covering Communist Party district headquarters, should submit following figures:
 - I. For entire Communist Party district
 - II. For individual states covered by Communist Party district
 - III. For number of Communist Party members in area covered by field office

Auxiliary offices should submit following membership figures to the Bureau and office of origin:

- I. For state or portion of state covered by that field office
- II. For number of Communist Party members in the area covered by that field office

[The total number of Communist Party members in the area covered by field office, either origin or auxiliary, should be broken down as to the total number of Negroes in the overall numerical strength of the Communist Party, USA, in the field office territory, the name and title of each Negro included in this total who maintains a national level position, and the name and title of each Negro included in this total who maintains a district level position above the status of "club chairman." Members of the Communist Party, USA, who are now carried as unidentified but who are known to be members of the Negro race should be included in the total number of Negroes.]

When possible, totals should be broken down as to nationality, sex, employment, veterans, and membership in unions. Auxiliary offices which, due to lack of Communist Party activity in their divisions, have been authorized to submit data by quarterly letter should include membership figures in these letters to the Bureau and office of origin. These letters to be submitted by auxiliary offices prior to first day of month in which quarterly report is due. Office of origin responsible to obtain complete figures from its auxiliary offices.

- (b) In preparing estimates, best available informants and sources must be used. Also include in cover pages total number of individuals positively identified as Communist Party members and total number of individuals tentatively identified as party members within the twelve-month period immediately preceding the submission of the quarterly report. In reporting membership figures, information from one source only is not acceptable unless facts are set forth demonstrating information from this source is the most accurate and most reliable information available.
- (c) Explain in detail any increase or decrease in membership figures previously submitted. Where informants use such terms as "inactive" or "paper" members, their exact understanding of the meaning of the terms used and the number of individuals so described must be clearly explained. Full explanation must be made as to whether individuals so described are included in final membership figures submitted, together with reason for their inclusion or exclusion.

Communist Party members, review of field office files, pretext interviews, surveillances, Special Agents attending mass meetings, etc.

4. Internal Security Act of 1950

To insure successful proceedings against a communist front organization under this act, a preponderance of admissible evidence must be secured to [show] extent to which

- a. Persons active in management, direction, or supervision of an organization are active in management, direction, or supervision, or as representatives, of
- b. Its support, financial or otherwise, is derived from
- c. Its funds, resources, or personnel are used to further or promote objectives of
- d. Positions taken or advanced by it from time to time do not deviate from those of

Any communist-action organization, communist foreign government, or the world communist movement.

5. Panel sources

a. Purpose

To develop potential witnesses who will be willing to obtain and introduce legally admissible evidence re subversive nature of organizations in future prosecutive action.

b. Program

- (1) Since Special Agent and active security informant testimony is undesirable, field should recruit panel of potential witnesses locally. Some may be found among American Legion contacts, plant informants, former and exposed security informants, etc.
- (2) Panel members should attend public rallies and meetings, as well as obtain literature of organizations they are covering.
- (3) To aid panelists, exhibit photographs of individuals they will most likely encounter at front organization functions.
- (4) Handle notes, statements, and exhibits of panelists in same manner as other evidence. As panelists may subsequently become security informants, the same procedure should be followed in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panelists as is afforded that received from security informants. (See section 107, volume IV, of this manual.)
- (5) Legitimate expenses incurred by panel members should be reimbursed in same manner as security informants.
- (6) Eliminate inactive, ineffective, or unsatisfactory panelists on a continuing basis. At time of submission of semiannual letter, office panel should be reviewed to make certain all such panelists have been removed.
- (7) Identities of panelists should be concealed.

c. Administrative handling

- (1) Check prospective panelists through office indices, local police department, credit records, and established informants. If no undesirable information is developed, initial contact may be made with panelist to ascertain cooperativeness.
- (2) Submit names of cooperative panelists to Bureau by letter outlining complete background and recommendation as to inclusion in office panel. [One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When approving the field's recommendation, this single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" by Bureau and will be returned.] Be certain such individuals are not plants and will consider relationship with Bureau in confidence.

- (3) Open 134 file when active investigation of prospective panelist is initiated. When preliminary investigation completed and Bureau has approved panelist, close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly.

Regular contacts with panelists should be noted in their respective files.

- (4) Only Agents designated should handle panelists.
 (5) Every four months submit letter of justification to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. See section 107N, 3b, volume IV, of this manual for form of letter. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling source must prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

[Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.]

- (6) Summary letter captioned "Panel Source Program" (Bufile 134-1113) to be prepared and submitted to Bureau March 25 and September 25 each year. Use following topical outline:

- (a) Status of program
 Include progress in panel development. Show total number of new panelists developed and total number of panelists discontinued during six months' period.
 (b) Total number panel sources active
 (c) Names of organizations covered
 (d) Number and identities of panelists redesignated to informant or potential informant status since institution of panel program

d. Suggestion

Designate, where practicable, coordinating Agent to maintain roster of current panel members and current list of scheduled organization activities, who will notify Agents handling individual panelists of scheduled organizational functions to be covered. Coordinating Agent receives notice of coming events from Agents handling organization cases, security informants, and communist publications; e.g., "The Worker."

6. Classification - 100

7. Character - Internal Security - letters for organizational activity or nationalistic tendency; e.g., (C), (SWP), (Miscellaneous), etc.

- locate subjects are not to be submitted. The Bureau will closely follow investigative action to locate missing security index subjects.
- II. If you receive indications that the subject went to Mexico or Canada, request the Bureau to alert other appropriate Government agencies to this possibility and to determine any available verifying information through liaison channels.
 - III. If the subject is reported to have gone to any other foreign country, the Washington Field Office should be requested to check the records of the Passport Office of the State Department for verification.
 - IV. When all logical leads have been exhausted in the case of a missing important functionary, consideration should be given to circularizing all field offices with the subject's photograph and background information for the purpose of alerting the entire field to the identity of the subject. Bureau authority must be obtained before circularization is made. In seeking Bureau authority, advise the Bureau as to the position held by the subject and what efforts have already been made to locate him.

If this procedure is to be effective, its application must necessarily be restrictive in the number of subjects to which it is applied. Therefore, requests to circularize must be made only after every possible lead has been exhausted and then only in the cases of the most important missing functionaries.

- (4) Individuals traveling abroad (Also consider section 105G, volume IV, of this manual.)

When information is received indicating that a subject of a current or past security investigation, a past member of a basic revolutionary organization, a member since July, 1950, of an organization designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450, a member since July, 1950, of an organization declared subversive by the House Committee on Un-American Activities or other legislative committees, or a member since July, 1950, of an organization described by reliable informants or sources as being dominated or controlled by one of the basic revolutionary organizations intends to travel abroad or has already departed this country for foreign travel, take the following action:

- (a) Immediately advise the Bureau [by letterhead memorandum] setting forth complete available details concerning the foreign travel, including places and dates of departure and intended return, destination and itinerary, purpose of trip, the exact name under which the passport was issued, the number of the passport, and the office issuing the passport, if known. [Include in the letterhead memorandum a full description of the subject, including all aliases, and in the case of Chinese and Korean subjects CTC numbers, as well as a concise resume of available subversive data regarding the subject.] Do not delay [in] advising the Bureau of the actual or intended travel while developing [the details of the travel] as time is of the essence in this matter.
- (b) Set out a lead for the Washington Field Office for a check of the records of the Passport Office, Department of State; however, do not limit efforts to develop above information to a check of such records.

- [(c)] Information concerning these subjects' proposed travel abroad, including information concerning their subversive activities, is furnished by the Bureau to the Department of State, Central Intelligence Agency, and legal attaches if the proposed travel is in areas covered by such. [If the travel is in areas covered by legal attaches, forward sufficient copies of the letterhead memorandum to enable dissemination of three copies to each of the legal attaches involved. For each legal attaché to whom dissemination is to be made, forward one photograph of the subject, if available. In the cover letter accompanying the letterhead memorandum, indicate extent of foreign investigation recommended or whether only stops should be placed with appropriate security services abroad.
- (d) Subsequent reports in individual cases should contain the details regarding subject's travel.] In nonsecurity index cases [in which letterhead memoranda are submitted,] all available data regarding subject's subversive activities and affiliations should be carefully evaluated with a view toward determining whether a full security investigation should be conducted and the communication transmitting data regarding a subject's travel should contain a statement as to whether a security investigation is being initiated and, if not, reasons therefor.
- (e) When information is received that an individual with a subversive background falling within the categories set out previously herein is forming a tour group for foreign travel or an organization which is considered subversive is sponsoring such a tour, advise appropriate offices under the caption of the tour name or the organization sponsoring the tour of the identities of the individuals participating in the tour and furnish the Bureau a letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination to the State Department, the Central Intelligence Agency, and appropriate legal attaches, including therein all readily available information pertaining to the tour, such as itinerary, pertinent dates, names of individuals making up the tour with addresses, if available, and a thumbnail sketch of the organization or individual sponsoring the tour.

Letterhead memoranda relating to the tours will be disseminated by the Bureau with a statement that, as individuals participating are identified, recipients will be furnished with memoranda under the individual case caption where those individuals are found to have subversive backgrounds. Therefore, the appropriate field offices should immediately identify and submit individual memoranda concerning such individuals. The details of travel will be replaced by a reference to the memorandum previously prepared under the caption of the organization sponsoring the tour. Prepare individual memoranda only in the cases of individuals with subversive backgrounds falling within the categories set out previously herein.

In addition, appropriate offices should submit a letter to the Bureau under the organization caption listing the names of those individuals residing within their territory who are traveling with the tour group and on whom no subversive information is found.

- (f) Advise the Bureau promptly in form suitable for dissemination of a subject's return from travel abroad in those instances in which stops have been placed with security services abroad through the agencies listed above. In instances in which an individual against whom stops have been placed has traveled to any country behind the Iron Curtain, the Bureau shall also be furnished at that time with recommendations as to the desirability of interview of such person and with advice as to whether additional investigation concerning him is contemplated. In the event such an interview is authorized, it shall be conducted promptly and the case shall not be closed until such interview is had and the results thereof submitted in report form.
- (g) In some instances a security investigation of a subject not yet included in the security index may be in progress at the time it is found that the subject has recently departed for a foreign country. If the evidence developed at that time warrants the inclusion of the subject in the security index were it not for the fact that he is outside the U. S., form FD-122 should be submitted recommending his inclusion in the unavailable section of the security index. After all initial investigation is completed, the subject's case will be handled the same as those of other subjects of a similar status who are included in the unavailable section as out of the country.

If the subject is an alien who has been deported or has otherwise permanently departed from the U. S., he should not be included in the security index.

When it is determined that a security index subject has departed for a foreign country, his security index card shall be placed in the unavailable section and his case handled in accordance with the instructions set forth under 87D 7b (6) (b) IV.

(5) Investigative techniques

While it is not possible to enumerate all investigative techniques which can and should be employed in these investigations, there are certain proven techniques which have been used with continued success and should be applied wherever possible.

(a) File reviews

Upon the initiation of a security investigation of an individual, check the office indices and review files thoroughly for any pertinent information on record showing background and subversive activity of each individual subject. Include such information in the initial investigative report.

Once a main security file has been opened for an individual, subsequent information received concerning him should be channelized to that file. The reference cards pertaining to the subject should be consolidated in the indices after each check and review of files has been made.

(b) Security informants

Success of security investigations of individuals is primarily dependent upon a broad confidential informant coverage within every phase of subversive activity. Information and evidence developed through such sources are unsurpassed in value because of possible use not only for intelligence purposes but also as admissible evidence.

VII. Maintenance of key figure list

- (A) Each office must maintain current list of key figures including top functionaries. List may be kept by simple list system, by maintaining a file wherein all additions and deletions to the list are reported, or by a card index system. Maintain key figure list separate from security index.
- (B) Key figures should retain their designation notwithstanding their departure for foreign travel or other circumstances requiring temporary discontinuance of investigation.
- (C) Should a key figure become subject of a security of Government employees investigation, his name should continue to appear on the key figure list, but the investigation shall proceed in accordance with existing instructions governing SGE cases.

VIII. [Deleted]

(3) Top functionaries

(a) Definition

A top functionary is an individual, either a member or a nonmember of the Communist Party, to whom, because of his importance, it is necessary to give continuous investigative attention in order to keep abreast of communism on a national basis in the U. S. Necessarily, such an individual would be on a high policy level in the movement.

The term "top functionary" is not to be construed as requiring that individuals in this category must actually hold official positions in party organizations but shall be given a broad enough construction to include others who are of equal importance because of their influence in the movement itself, or their position and activities outside the party in labor, front, or similar organizations or movements.

(b) Manner of designation

Prior Bureau authority necessary to designate a subject as a top functionary. Submit such recommendation to Bureau by letter containing reasons for the recommendation. Bureau desires to be very selective in this matter and to concentrate on individuals who, on a national basis, are the guiding hands in the communist movement.

At the seat of Government a careful appraisal will be made of the field's recommendation, following which the office will be advised concerning the Bureau's decision on the recommendation.

- (c) Regulations governing top functionaries
- I. Regulations set forth under (2) (b) above pertaining to key figures relative to photographs, handwriting specimens, security index cards, change of office of origin, detcom tabbing, character of reports, and inclusion in the key figure list apply to individuals designated as top functionaries.
 - II. Reports
Submit reports on top functionaries quarterly. Make status pending-inactive if there are no outstanding leads for active investigation.

- e. Correlation of other investigations with the security index and reserve index
Individuals investigated by the Bureau under any character against whom subversive information is developed must be constantly borne in mind for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

- (1) Espionage and foreign intelligence investigations
Subjects of these investigations must be included in the security index and/or the reserve index if they meet the standards for inclusion therein. It is the responsibility of the investigating Agent and field supervising official to make appropriate recommendations for preparation of the security index card and/or the reserve index card, whenever appropriate.
- (2) Security of Government employees (SGE) investigations
Subjects of all SGE investigations against whom subversive derogatory information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or reserve index.

The Agent conducting investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer such cases to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling. Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the field office covering the subject's residence, when developed by any other office.

When an individual who has previously been investigated under the SGE character is the subject of a security index card and is still employed by the Federal Government or is being considered for Federal employment, the dual character of "Security of Government Employees" and the character of the subject's security case should be used in the report being submitted. This will insure that the reports are referred to the appropriate desks for supervision at the Bureau, as well as in the field. These reports should be written according to the standards prevailing for SGE reports.

Disseminate these dual character reports the same as any other security report. Representatives of other intelligence agencies requesting reports showing the actual SGE investigation should be informed to direct the request to their Washington headquarters for referral to the Bureau.

- (3) Atomic Energy Act, [U. S. Information Agency] applicant, departmental applicant, Bureau applicant, and other Bureau investigations
Subjects of all above investigations against whom subversive information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or the reserve index. In each such case the Agent conducting the investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer the matter to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling.

Copies of reports showing disloyal information must be submitted to the office covering the subject's residence, whenever developed by another office.

of the source, date of activity, date received, and name of the Agent receiving the information are known, it is not necessary to request the office originally obtaining the information to document it further by furnishing information showing the location of the original in the office files. If all documentation, except the latter item, is not in the possession of the office preparing the report, it should be obtained.

V. If it is found desirable to include in a report the identities of individuals who are known communists and have been associates of the subject to lend weight to evidence of the subject's potential dangerousness, only the source of the information showing the associate to be a communist need be identified.

VI. In a very limited number of instances it may be necessary to obtain a thumbnail sketch or characterization of an individual or organization from another office or the Bureau. When such information is received in your office, it should be placed in thumbnail sketch files so that it will be available to and can be readily located by Agents having future need for it, thereby eliminating repeated requests of another office for the same information.

g. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of Channelizing memoranda in organizational and individual security case files may be destroyed following submission of reports in these cases.

[Copies of informant's statements designated for the 100 classification case files of informants may be destroyed when one year old on an annual basis.]

In destroying these [communications,] be guided by instructions for destruction of channelizing memoranda as set out in Manual of Rules and Regulations.

8. Dissemination of data developed in security investigations
The proper utilization of information received by the Bureau is foremost among our responsibilities as an investigative agency. It is the Bureau's duty to keep the proper intelligence agencies informed concerning information of interest to them. Further, information which comes to the attention of the Bureau in connection with the conduct of investigations normally and regularly within the jurisdiction of the Bureau, which information is believed to be of interest to another agency within the executive branch of the Government, should be forwarded to the interested agency unless there are good and compelling reasons not to do so. This is in line with the Delimitations Agreement and Presidential directives which provide for the dissemination to other agencies of information relating to espionage, sabotage, subversive activities, and related matters where the specific agency has a present or potential interest in the information.

Set out hereafter is a summarization of existing Bureau requirements regarding dissemination of security information developed on individuals during the course of regular investigations in the security field. It should be apparent that all conceivable situations cannot be anticipated. For that reason, the data below should be considered as pertaining to representative situations which occur frequently enough to warrant specific treatment. The basic rule to follow is, of course, that security information must be furnished promptly to interested agencies in the executive branch of the Government and that the term "interested agency" must be interpreted in the light of reason and common sense. Any unusual situations should be brought to the attention of the Bureau promptly for consideration and disposition.

Considerations affecting the national defense in Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico necessitate that the broadest possible construction be given to the existing requirements of dissemination to the intelligence services located in those areas. The Anchorage, Honolulu, and San Juan Offices should adhere to such policy and effect such dissemination as to discharge fully our responsibilities as laid down in Bureau instructions, together with practices which have been dictated by circumstances within those particular offices.

The material set out below must be read in conjunction with the Manual of Rules and Regulations, [part II,] section 5, which discusses the Bureau's over-all responsibilities in dissemination, together with existing policies, qualifications, and exceptions.

- a. Data developed concerning subjects of security investigations and other persons coming within investigative jurisdiction of the Bureau
- (1) Aliens and naturalized citizens
Information concerning aliens and naturalized citizens which might have a bearing on the deportation or denaturalization of such individuals should in all instances be forwarded to the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Refer to the Manual of Rules and Regulations, [part II,] section 5. If any doubt exists, the matter should in all instances be resolved in favor of dissemination.
 - (2) Employees of or persons having regular access to key facilities or employees of plants having contracts with the military services
Dissemination in these cases is treated specifically in section 87D 7c (4) of this manual.
 - (3) Employees of public utilities (including state and municipal facilities) which are not on the key facilities list or otherwise falling into the category defined in (2) above, and facilities which are or may become engaged in the manufacture of materials vital to the national defense
Dissemination should be made locally to G-2 and, in addition, to other intelligence services if their interest is apparent in individual cases or in specific facilities.
 - (4) Individuals on inactive duty but who are members of or hold commissions in the reserve branches or National Guard
Dissemination should be made locally to the appropriate military intelligence service. Dissemination to headquarters of the appropriate services will be made at SOG.
 - (5) Seamen and subjects employed in the maritime industry, including longshoremens and other water-front employees
Dissemination should be made to the Coast Guard on a local level and, when circumstances dictate, to other intelligence agencies, including ONI, which have an interest in the data reported. Appropriate dissemination on a headquarters level will be made at SOG.
 - (6) Employees of the Federal Government within the purview of Executive Order 10450
No dissemination of the reports in security of Government employees cases may be made in the field. If, however, subject is employed

Furnish two copies of each enclosure and sufficient copies of cover letter in order that[one]copy[each]of semiannual letter and enclosure can be placed in Bureau file on organization. This will eliminate necessity of submitting[separate] summary letter under each individual case caption. Do not use T symbols in enclosure, but set out[identities] of sources.

f. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Bureau Agents during course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority.

g. Photographic surveillances

- (1) No photographic surveillances are to be conducted in communist front organization cases unless it is essential to protect Bureau's interests in internal security field by supplementing live informant coverage of a particular meeting with such a surveillance.
- (2) Request Bureau authority to institute such a surveillance and outline manner in which it will be conducted and supervision which will be afforded it.
- (3) No such surveillances should be instituted without specific Bureau authority.

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions re communist front organizations To accurately and clearly show true nature of communist front groups, data concerning the following topics, where applicable, should be fully developed and reported on:
- a. Origin and scope
Date of formation. Circumstances under which founded. Determine who in Communist Party instructed organization be set up; whether decision to set up group made at meeting of party functionaries and, if so, identify functionaries present; identity of individual or individuals responsible for organizing group.  - b. Whether incorporated
Many organizations are incorporated requiring filing of incorporation papers with appropriate state officials.
 - c. Aims and purposes
 - d. Location of headquarters
 - e. Officers
List principal officers, board of directors, etc., and appropriate characterization of each showing communist affiliation.
 - f. Membership
Ascertain estimated membership. Whenever possible, secure membership lists, mailing lists, or other records reflecting affiliation with organization. Usually obtainable through informant coverage or utilization of various investigative techniques. Secure accurate description of all lists to make sure there is no confusion as to the exact identity or significance of list being reported on.
 - g. Official organ, if any, and other literature
 - (1) May be obtained through confidential mailbox, panel sources, and confidential informants
 - (2) All such literature should be appropriately identified.
 - (3) At least one copy of each pertinent piece of literature should be promptly furnished to Bureau.
 - h. General activities
 - i. Finances
Special efforts must be made to locate and monitor bank accounts of organizations. Location of bank accounts frequently obtainable through confidential informants, credit records, public utility records, records of rental agent, and monitoring of other organizations' bank accounts.
 - j. Support given to Communist Party
Preponderance of evidence should be developed reflecting support, financial or otherwise, given by the organization to the Communist Party.
 - k. Support received from Communist Party
Preponderance of evidence should be developed reflecting support, financial or otherwise, received by the organization from the Communist Party.
 - l. Implementation of Communist Party line
Can usually be shown through comparison of programs and literature of organization with those of Communist Party during any particular period.

Data concerning above topics can usually be secured through the following sources: confidential informants, incorporation records, bank records, literature and publications of organization, newspapers, public meetings and rallies, confidential investigative techniques, various types of public records, panel sources, confidential sources and other sources of information, interviews with past or present

- d. Other Marxist Revolutionary groups
A long-established group which would come under this category is the Proletarian Party of America, a relatively small organization.

There also are a few small groups composed of ex-members of the Communist Party, USA, who have voluntarily left the party or who have been expelled, usually for factionalism.

e. General

Communist investigations must be conducted in a most discreet and thorough manner at all times. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority. Bureau employees should not discuss communist or related investigations with any unauthorized individual. The subject of communism is not to be used in speeches of Bureau employees without specific authorization. However, there is considerable mimeographed material in each office, including speeches, testimony, and magazine articles prepared by the Director which could be furnished outside individuals interested in the subject of communism without any discussion.

2. Purposes of investigation

- a. The investigation of the Communist Party, USA, and other similar-type organizations is of twofold purpose: (1) to obtain legally admissible evidence against these organizations for prosecution under existing Federal statutes set out above and (2) to follow closely the activities of these organizations from an intelligence viewpoint to have a day-to-day appraisal of the strength, dangerousness, and activities of these organizations seeking the overthrow of the U. S. Government.
- b. Suggestions for proper coverage of the investigation of the Communist Party as an organization and similar organizations should include:
- (1) The assignment of sufficient Agent personnel to insure that all of the important ramifications of party activities are properly covered
 - (2) Development of confidential informants in all party levels, including the national headquarters organization
 - (3) The establishment of trash and mail covers on pertinent headquarters and party functionaries
 - (4) The constant effort to develop admissible evidence against party officials for violation of Federal laws
- c. Brief to establish illegal status of Communist Party, USA
- (1) Purpose of brief is to collect all legally admissible evidence to prove illegality of party in one file. (Bufile 100-3-74)
 - (2) Reports on brief to establish illegal status must be submitted by each office quarterly and should include only legally admissible evidence obtained during preceding three-month period. [If there is no information to report, include a statement to that effect in the cover pages of the quarterly report for the same period entitled "Communist Party, USA, Internal Security - C" (no copy needed for Bufile 100-3-74).]
 - (3) It is advisable to use the following breakdown in preparing reports:
 - (a) Origin and continuity of the party
 - (b) Pertinent statements, writings, and instructions relating to (1) Marxism-Leninism, (2) imperialism, (3) proletarian internationalism, (4) defense of USSR, (5) revolutionary statements
 - (c) Internal Security Act of 1950. Include under this heading any admissible evidence which would tend to prove a violation of section 4(a) of this act.

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions

This section contains detailed investigative guides for use in investigating and reporting activities of the Communist Party, USA.

- a. To accurately and clearly show the true nature of the Communist Party, USA, data concerning the following topics must be fully developed and reported. [When material contains information that would be logically reported under more than one topic heading but to do so would make the separate accounts unintelligible, report all the material under the main heading and only refer to the information under the other breakdowns. Do not repeat same data under separate headings.] Reports on the Communist Party, USA, as an organization must be submitted by each office quarterly and should cover activities for the preceding three-month period. All offices are required to use the following breakdown in preparing quarterly reports on the Communist Party, USA. Each subfile caption must start on a separate page.

(1) Organization (Bureau file 100-3-69)

- (a) Security setup of district and/or state organization. Office covering district headquarters, describe the location and size of Communist Party office facilities, rent paid, and name and number of office employees. [List address and/or post office box number of party headquarters.]
- (b) [Identify] principal district officials and important functionaries, together with [titles, and furnish a] short resume of important activities of each during three-month period.
- (c) Names of new commissions or special committees, identity and capacity of individual members thereof. Submit resume of activities of groups under appropriate subfile captions.
- (d) Special meetings embracing only organizational matters. Other pertinent matters discussed at meetings concerning policy or strategy to be submitted under appropriate subfile captions.
- (e) Extend this outline as far as necessary for clarity and to meet needs of office under this or any succeeding subsection. Auxiliary offices submit pertinent data concerning above matters which do not normally come to attention of office covering district headquarters.

(2) Membership (Bureau file 100-3-68)

- (a) Quarterly reports are not to contain any membership statistics. Cover pages accompanying each quarterly report must contain latest available statistics relating to total number of Communist Party members in the district. Membership data must start on a separate cover page. Office of origin, which is office covering Communist Party district headquarters, should submit following figures:
- I. For entire Communist Party district
 - II. For individual states covered by Communist Party district
 - III. For number of Communist Party members in area covered by field office

Auxiliary offices should submit following membership figures to the Bureau and office of origin:

- I. For state or portion of state covered by that field office
- II. For number of Communist Party members in the area covered by that field office

If a question of law arises as to existence of violation, advise Bureau and hold investigation in abeyance until opinion is obtained from Department. Where the materiality of the denial or omission indicates a full investigation is not warranted, a limited investigation may be conducted; e.g., where denial of past International Workers Order (IWO) membership made and files show membership in IWO but no participation in its activities. However, the Department has advised it is unable to adopt any fixed policy as to whether prosecution is warranted in any particular category of cases of this type and desires to review and consider each case individually. Therefore, the basic facts concerning the execution and filing of the document and the subversive activity denied should be submitted in report form for presentation to the Department, even though the basis for the concealment or fraudulent statement does not appear to be material.

Investigate and report criminal fraud violation (such as concealment of arrests) arising during security-type fraud investigation on same subject in conjunction with the investigation of the security-type fraud. Both violations will be presented to the Department by the Bureau. If, however, the security-type fraud investigation is discontinued, handle the criminal fraud separately in accordance with section 47 of this manual. Military intelligence agencies often refer cases for security investigations under Delimitations Agreement in which security-type fraud violations also involved. If the subversive information does not warrant full security investigation but does indicate a possible fraud violation, advise the interested agency the Bureau's investigation will be directed toward proving the possible violation of law and that any background investigation contemplated by it pursuant to its administrative responsibilities will not interfere with our investigation. Advise agency any pertinent information developed during our investigation will be furnished it and request it to do likewise. Thereafter, immediately initiate the security matter - fraud against the Government investigation. If the subversive information warrants full security investigation and also indicates a fraud violation, advise interested agency the Bureau is initiating a full security investigation in conjunction with investigation of the possible violation of law and results will be furnished it upon receipt. Thereafter, immediately institute such an investigation looking toward inclusion of subject on security index and proving possible violation of law. Expedite investigation where military has referred case.

If admissible evidence developed does not warrant submission of prosecutive summary report, submit results of investigation in investigative report.

- (7) Public Law 87-835, approved 10-16-62, amended the National Defense Education Act of 1958 and the National Science Foundation Act of 1950 which provide Federal funds for scholarships and fellowships. Members of organizations which have registered under the Internal Security Act of 1950 or have been ordered to register by the Subversive Activities Control Board are prohibited from applying for, using, or attempting to use a scholarship or fellowship if any part of the funds therefor is appropriated under these acts. Penalty for violation is $10,000 fine or five years' imprisonment or both. Acts also require full disclosure of any criminal conviction since applicant's sixteenth birthday and concerning any pending criminal charges punishable by confinement over 30 days. Title 18, USC, § 1001, applies to the latter provision.
- [(8) Refer to section 87G captioned "Internal Security Act of 1950" for possible additional violations that may arise under the provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950.]

4. Individuals to be investigated

It is not possible to formulate any hard-and-fast standards by which the dangerousness of individual members or affiliates of revolutionary organizations may be automatically measured because of manner revolutionary organizations function and great scope and variety of activities. Exercise sound judgment and discretion in evaluating importance and dangerousness of individual members or affiliates.

As a general policy, investigate the activities of any individual falling within one or more of the following categories who does not come within one of the restrictions on investigations listed under 87D, 5, below:

- a. Membership in basic revolutionary organizations subsequent to 1-1-49
- b. Espousing line of revolutionary movements
 - (1) Any individual who, since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea (6-25-50), continued to espouse the line of one or more of the above-mentioned revolutionary organizations or related groups thereby defining his or her adherence to policies opposed to best interests of the U. S.
 - (2) Espousal mentioned above encompasses a wide variety and range of activities. Membership in one or more of the basic revolutionary organizations is not a prerequisite to the institution of an investigation of an individual within this category.
 - (3) Espousal expressed by membership or active participation in subversive front groups (whether or not cited by the Attorney General) must be evaluated in each case. Consider nature and type of front organization, as well as extent of individual's activities on behalf of the front organization or in support of the basic revolutionary organization. Open investigation in every instance in which information available indicates a subject is actively engaged in the affairs of a subversive front organization in a leadership capacity or by active participation in the furtherance of the aims and purposes of the front organization.
 - (4) Do not open an investigation on mere membership alone in a front organization in the absence of allegations of active participation or leadership in the group unless information is available indicating past membership at any time in a basic revolutionary organization or sufficient other derogatory information is known.

Data will not be attached to the security index card filed in the alphabetical section. These cards contain printed captions to assist in recording the descriptive information. Captions are not all-inclusive and should be augmented by other data required.
 - (A) Complete description
 - (B) Notation that security index flash notice has been submitted for posting in Identification Division
 - (C) Photograph, with date taken placed below
 - (D) Dangerous characteristics of subject, including notation if subject possesses firearms
 - (E) Other data which will assist in effecting apprehension of subject, such as directions to residence or employment, where subject not situated in usual locations, listing of number of minor children and aged dependents
- II. If descriptive data have not been obtained, case must be kept pending and investigation conducted to develop this information. Upon posting of security index flash notices in security index cases, the field will be furnished the FBI number and fingerprint classification which should be affixed to reverse side of the security index cards filed in geographical, special and unavailable sections.
- III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

- III. Persons active in Communist Party underground
- IV. Any other security index subject whose activities, past or present, regardless of membership in a revolutionary organization, clearly and unmistakably depict the individual as a potential saboteur, espionage agent, or disruptionist in the event of an emergency

(c) Recommendations for and removal of detcom designation

I. Approval of SAC

Designation of each subject for detcom program or removal of any subject therefrom must be personally approved by SAC, or in offices having more than 1,000 security index subjects by SAC, ASAC, or Bureau-approved security supervisor. If individual subjects being recommended for inclusion in security index are also being recommended for detcom, above-required approval by SAC may be handled in conjunction with requirements specified in 87D 7b (4).

- II. [When form FD-122 is submitted recommending either tabbing for detcom or deletion of such tabbing, attach an additional page setting out a brief summary of facts upon which the recommendation is based.]

III. [Deleted]

(d) Administrative procedures for handling detcom program

Take following action to assure that security index cards for subjects tabbed detcom for priority of apprehension will be readily available for emergency action in your office:

- I. Consider each security index case for detcom tabbing whether subject's security index card is filed in geographical, special, or unavailable sections of security index.

II. Geographical section

Divide geographical section of security index into two distinct parts.

- (A) Part I of geographical section shall include only security index cards for subjects who are tabbed detcom under instructions noted above.
- (B) Part II of geographical section shall contain security index cards for all subjects that are NOT tabbed detcom.
- (C) In offices having two separate and distinct geographical sections, i.e., geographical-employment and geographical-residence, as provided under 87D 7b (6) herein, each such geographical section must be broken into parts I and II, in line with foregoing, so that cards tabbed detcom will be separated and maintained apart from other security index cards.
- (D) No colored tabs necessary on cards of detcom subjects in geographical section.

III. Alphabetical section

- (A) One security index card for each subject is to be filed in alphabetical section in strict alphabetical order with no other breakdown whatsoever.
- (B) Affix a colored tab to each security index card designated for detcom in alphabetical section to readily identify such subjects.
- (C) Detcom tabbings approved at Bureau will be shown on security index cards forwarded to field by code letters "DC" in first line on cards and by word "DETCOM" stamped in large red letters.

- IV. Special section and unavailable section
Security index cards of detcom subjects filed in special and unavailable sections are to be designated by affixing colored tabs.

(e) General

I. Tabbing of cards

No security index card is to contain tabs for any purpose other than to designate detcom classification under foregoing provisions with the following exception. The alphabetical security index cards on those individuals designated as "Pro-Cuban" should be tabbed with a metal tab of a color different from those used to tab detcom subjects.

II. Removal from detcom category

Careful analysis must be made of each case in which deletion from detcom category is proposed. For instance, when a key figure is being removed from such status, file review may well disclose that subject qualifies for detcom tabbing for reasons covered in 87D 7b (11) (b), above, independent of key figure status.

- c. Individuals employed in or having access to key facilities [and defense facilities]

(1) Responsibility

FBI is responsible by Presidential directive for keeping other Federal agencies advised of developments within their jurisdiction affecting plants having armed forces contracts, as well as other facilities, utilities, and critical points of transportation and communications systems which have been designated as vital to the national defense and welfare by the Department of Defense.

FBI is responsible under Delimitations Agreement for investigating employees of private contractors who have contracts with agencies of Department of Defense where credible subversive information concerning employee is obtained. Thorough investigation must be conducted and consideration for inclusion in security index given concerning any individual employed in or having access to a key facility who is alleged to have been, at any time in the past, a member of any basic revolutionary organization or against whom sufficient other subversive information is in our possession which warrants such action.

(a) Requests for investigation from another agency

When another agency requests investigation of individual employed in key facility [and/or defense facility], institute investigation immediately if basis of request so warrants. Advise Bureau of request, basis thereof, and that investigation is being conducted.

(b) Verification of key facility [or defense facility] status of place of employment

Department of Defense Key Facilities List [and Defense Facilities List] (maintained in each office) must be checked for verification of information that a security investigation subject's place of employment may be included in such list.

(c) Individuals denied access to restricted information

Intelligence agencies of armed forces frequently advise that an individual has been denied clearance to work in a defense plant or to handle classified or restricted information. In some instances clearance is denied based on information furnished by Bureau. At other times, information in Bureau files is very meager or possibly negative and basis for such denial of clearance is not known. The intelligence agency is responsible for furnishing Bureau with any information involving disloyalty or subversiveness.

Office receiving notification that an individual has been denied clearance must ascertain promptly basis for such denial and obtain all pertinent data contained in file of

When the subject of such an investigation is presently in the security index, a letter must be directed to the Bureau at the time the report is submitted advising that the subject is in the security index.

Information of interest to FBI and/or AEC obtained subsequent to completion of Atomic Energy Act - applicant investigations concerning AEC employees or persons having access to restricted data should be handled according to instructions in section 20, volume II, of this manual.

f. [Submission of and general rules concerning security reports]
(1) General

[Submission of summary reports should not be delayed for the purpose of conducting current investigation in previously closed cases, but appropriate leads should be set out.]

Cases of all security index subjects must be reopened or placed in a pending status for the purpose of preparing investigative reports in accordance with the schedule outlined in 87D 7f (8).

Office indexes and any material channclized to the case file since the most recent report should be reviewed and the case brought up to date by appropriate investigation to determine subject's current activities.

If no subversive information is available, the fact that appropriate confidential informants have been contacted with negative results should be submitted in report form. This is necessary in order that the Department can be advised of the status of the case of each individual who is listed for apprehension in the case of an emergency.

Each time that a case is reopened and brought up to date, it should be critically analyzed in the light of the security index criteria set out in 87D 7b (3) herein. This procedure must be followed on a continuing basis for each security index subject.

Origin

The office of origin will be that office covering the territory wherein the subject's subversive activities occur. In most instances this will also be the office in which territory the subject resides and is employed. In those cases in which the subject's subversive activities take place in the territory of an office other than the office covering the place of residence and/or employment, the office of origin shall be that office which can best cover the subversive activities of the subject.

 (B) History of activity in, attendance at meetings of, and positions held in subversive movement with which subject is identified

- (j) In connection with periodic reports in security index cases, there are instances in which evidence of extensive activity in subversive organizations will be developed. In these cases it is permissible to report such information in narrative-type statements without indicating exact dates of activity; however, the period of time involved must be shown, as well as the inclusive dates of the informant reports.

This type reporting is not to be utilized in Smith Act of 1940 cases or Internal Security Act of 1950 cases. The narrative statements must be statements of facts and not conclusions and information from each source must be reported in separate narrative statements.

- (k) The above instructions in no way remove responsibility for reporting all items of pertinence to the Bureau, bearing in mind the fact that Bureau files must be complete insofar as matters of substance are concerned, nor is responsibility removed for the reporting in detail of information tending to establish a subject's knowledge of the basic aims and purposes of the subversive organizations with which affiliated or information tending to establish that a subject holds revolutionary and/or anarchist beliefs.

In the documentation of narrative statements set forth the location of the original documents in the field office files by the file number and serial scope.

(10) Administrative data

(a) General

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. Reserve index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, key figure or top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, FD-122a, FD-128, and FD-128a, and Bureau instructions for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature

 - (K) That subject's security index card is or is not tabbed detcom and that subject's activities do or do not warrant detcom tabbing
- III. Form FD-305a containing items pertinent to reserve index subjects will be similarly utilized in connection with the submission of reports in reserve index cases.
- (b) Documentation of reports
- I. Deleted
 - II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.
 - III. Further verification will not be necessary.
 - IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of Photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity

- (D) Whether or not defector available for interview by all Agents
- (E) Whether he is in position to testify and willing to do so

- III. Do not include information concerning security informants for security reasons.
- IV. Proper maintenance of this file will be useful in identifying persons who may be in a position to furnish information of value in the future and will obviate necessity of extensive file reviews in this connection.
- V. A special index may be used for this file if desirable. If used, it should contain cards filed alphabetically indicating names, times, and places defectors were in a subversive movement and a brief description of information available from them. Break index down geographically and subdivide by years if desirable.

7. Administrative procedures

[a. Reserve index

(1) Purpose

The reserve index is designed to represent those persons who, in the light of ever-changing conditions, should be continually borne in mind from the standpoint of the security of the country with a view toward possible investigation, interrogation, or action under the security index program. This index may serve as an administrative aid and working index containing a central repository of the names of individuals having sympathy for or affiliation with the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations.

(2) Individuals to be included

This index is to contain names of individuals when, following investigation, the information does not justify the inclusion of the subject's name in the security index when there is evidence of:

- (a) Membership in a basic revolutionary organization subsequent to January 1, 1949, together with some indication of sympathy or association with such an organization or a subversive front organization subsequent to the reported membership and no reliable evidence of defection
- (b) Investigation has failed to substantiate allegations of membership in a revolutionary organization within the past five years, coupled with some evidence or information indicating activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within the same period, and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (c) The individual, within the past five years, by his associations, writings, financial support, or conduct in relation to and support of subversive organizations or the international communist movement is in a position to influence others at the time of a national emergency and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (d) Leadership or substantial activities in a major subversive front group over three years ago, together with some evidence of continuing activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within three years and no reliable evidence of defection
- (e) Membership in a subversive front organization within the past three years and no reliable evidence of defection

(3) Arrangement

This index is to be maintained in two sections, section A and section B. Each section will be maintained alphabetically on 5- by 8-inch cards.

(a) Section A

Section A of the reserve index is designed to represent a special group of individuals who should receive priority consideration with respect to investigation and/or other action following the apprehension of security index subjects.

I. Section A should include those individuals whose subversive activities do not bring them within the security index criteria but who, in a time of national emergency, are in a position to influence others against the national interest or are likely to furnish material financial aid to subversive elements due to their subversive associations and ideology. Include in this section those individuals meeting the standards for inclusion in the reserve index and who fall within the following categories:

- (A) Professors, teachers, and educators
- (B) Labor union organizers or leaders
- (C) Writers, lecturers, newsmen, entertainers, and others in the mass media field
- (D) Lawyers, doctors, and scientists
- (E) Other potentially influential persons on a local or national level
- (F) Individuals who could potentially furnish material financial aid

II. Recommendations for inclusion of names in the reserve index (section A)

- (A) Recommendations for inclusion of names in section A of the reserve index are to be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a. A succinct summary setting forth the basis for the recommendation should be attached to the form FD-122a [unless the recommendation is made simultaneously with a recommendation that the subject's name be deleted from the security index.] In addition, if no report is accompanying the recommendation, a statement to that effect should appear on the page containing the succinct summary.
- (B) Upon Bureau approval of recommendation for the inclusion of an individual's name in section A of the reserve index, two reserve index cards will be forwarded to the field. Add on the reverse side available descriptive data. One card is to be filed in your office, and one card is to be filed away from headquarters city at the same location as the extra set of security index cards are now stored.

III. Periodic review of section A of the reserve index
Investigations of individuals listed in section A of the reserve index are to be brought up to date annually and considered for security index status or retention in the reserve index. Form FD-154 may be used for the annual review by amending it for use in reserve index cases. This investigation should include, as a minimum:

- (A) Verification of residence and employment
- (B) Indices search and file review to determine whether additional investigation is warranted or whether an interview with the individual is desirable
- (C) If additional investigation is conducted or if there is unreported information of a subversive nature contained in the files, submit a report.

If a question of law arises as to existence of violation, advise Bureau and hold investigation in abeyance until opinion is obtained from Department. Where the materiality of the denial or omission indicates a full investigation is not warranted, a limited investigation may be conducted; e.g., where denial of past International Workers Order (IWO) membership made and files show membership in IWO but no participation in its activities. However, the Department has advised it is unable to adopt any fixed policy as to whether prosecution is warranted in any particular category of cases of this type and desires to review and consider each case individually. Therefore, the basic facts concerning the execution and filing of the document and the subversive activity denied should be submitted in report form for presentation to the Department, even though the basis for the concealment or fraudulent statement does not appear to be material.

Investigate and report criminal fraud violation (such as concealment of arrests) arising during security-type fraud investigation on same subject in conjunction with the investigation of the security-type fraud. Both violations will be presented to the Department by the Bureau. If, however, the security-type fraud investigation is discontinued, handle the criminal fraud separately in accordance with section 47 of this manual. Military intelligence agencies often refer cases for security investigations under Delimitations Agreement in which security-type fraud violations also involved. If the subversive information does not warrant full security investigation but does indicate a possible fraud violation, advise the interested agency the Bureau's investigation will be directed toward proving the possible violation of law and that any background investigation contemplated by it pursuant to its administrative responsibilities will not interfere with our investigation. Advise agency any pertinent information developed during our investigation will be furnished it and request it to do likewise. Thereafter, immediately initiate the security-matter - fraud against the Government investigation. If the subversive information warrants full security investigation and also indicates a fraud violation, advise interested agency the Bureau is initiating a full security investigation in conjunction with investigation of the possible violation of law and results will be furnished it upon receipt. Thereafter, immediately institute such an investigation looking toward inclusion of subject on security index and proving possible violation of law. Expedite investigation where military has referred case.

If admissible evidence developed does not warrant submission of prosecutive summary report, submit results of investigation in investigative report.

[(7) Public Law 87-835, approved 10-16-62, amended the National Defense Education Act of 1958 and the National Science Foundation Act of 1950 which provide Federal funds for scholarships and fellowships. Members of organizations which have registered under the Internal Security Act of 1950 or have been ordered to register by the Subversive Activities Control Board are prohibited from applying for, using, or attempting to use a scholarship or fellowship if any part of the funds therefor is appropriated under these acts. Penalty for violation is $10,000 fine or five years' imprisonment or both. Acts also require full disclosure of any criminal conviction since applicant's sixteenth birthday and concerning any pending criminal charges punishable by confinement over 30 days. Title 18, USC, § 1001, applies to the latter provision.]

4. Individuals to be investigated

It is not possible to formulate any hard-and-fast standards by which the dangerousness of individual members or affiliates of revolutionary organizations may be automatically measured because of manner revolutionary organizations function and great scope and variety of activities. Exercise sound judgment and discretion in evaluating importance and dangerousness of individual members or affiliates.

As a general policy, investigate the activities of any individual falling within one or more of the following categories who does not come within one of the restrictions on investigations listed under 87D, 5, below:

- a. Membership in basic revolutionary organizations subsequent to 1-1-49
- b. Espousing line of revolutionary movements
 - (1) Any individual who, since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea (6-25-50), continued to espouse the line of one or more of the above-mentioned revolutionary organizations or related groups thereby defining his or her adherence to policies opposed to best interests of the U. S.
 - (2) Espousal mentioned above encompasses a wide variety and range of activities. Membership in one or more of the basic revolutionary organizations is not a prerequisite to the institution of an investigation of an individual within this category.
 - (3) Espousal expressed by membership or active participation in subversive front groups (whether or not cited by the Attorney General) must be evaluated in each case. Consider nature and type of front organization, as well as extent of individual's activities on behalf of the front organization or in support of the basic revolutionary organization. Open investigation in every instance in which information available indicates a subject is actively engaged in the affairs of a subversive front organization in a leadership capacity or by active participation in the furtherance of the aims and purposes of the front organization.
 - (4) Do not open an investigation on mere membership alone in a front organization in the absence of allegations of active participation or leadership in the group unless information is available indicating past membership at any time in a basic revolutionary organization or sufficient other derogatory information is known.

- XIII. Violation of penal laws arising out of activities as a subversive
 - XIV. Active service in armed forces supported by a subversive movement, such as service in the Loyalist Forces during the Spanish Civil War which were supported by communism
 - XV. Constant support of the Soviet Union in acts and utterances
 - XVI. Acting as a courier for the subversive movement or as a confidential mail drop therefor
 - XVII. Constant participation in the activities of a subversive organization or advancement of the organization's aims or interests, especially when such participation involves financial sacrifices or personal inconvenience or disadvantage
- (b) The above factors, while not all-inclusive, should be used as a guide for determination of potential dangerousness. They are not to be considered as criteria for placing an individual on the security index; however, should be considered as indicating loyalty to a subversive organization.
- (c) An individual shall not be deemed dangerous merely because one or more of the above factors are applicable in his case.
- (3) Criteria for placing and retaining names in the security index
- (a) The addition to and retention of names in the security index shall be governed by the following criteria:
- I. No name shall be added to or retained in the security index unless one or more of the following situations have been established through investigation:
 - (A) Subject has had membership or participation in the activities of a basic revolutionary organization within the last 5 years as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals.
 - (B) Subject has had membership or participation in the affairs of one or more front organizations, which adhere to the policies and doctrines of a revolutionary group, in a leadership capacity or by active substantial participation in the furtherance of the aims or purposes of the front organizations within the last 3 years as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals.
 - (C) Investigation has developed information that an individual, though not a member or a participant in the activities of a subversive organization, has anarchist or revolutionary beliefs and is likely to seize upon the opportunity presented by a national emergency to endanger the public safety as shown by overt acts or statements within the last 3 years established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals.
 - (D) Although investigation has failed to establish overt acts or statements on the part of a subject within the time limits set out above, facts have been developed which clearly and unmistakably depict the subject as a dangerous individual who could be expected to commit acts inimical to the national defense and public safety of the U. S. in time of emergency.

II. [Activity in support of Cuban regime

Careful consideration should be given to recommending for inclusion in the security index those individuals who in the light of the clear identification of the Cuban Government as procommunist, pro-Soviet bloc, and anti-U. S., would be deemed dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the U. S. in the event of an emergency involving Cuba and the U. S.

In connection therewith, there should be a substantial showing of data within the following standards:

- (A) An individual has served as a leader or officer or has substantially participated in the activities of a pro-Castro organization and has engaged in activities which have included either the preparation or distribution of pro-Cuban or anti-U. S. propaganda; the active collection of funds for any agency or representative of the Cuban Government or for a pro-Castro group, which funds are not intended for the relief of human suffering or other charitable purposes; active participation in acts of violence against anti-Castro individuals or groups or against the U. S.; or the active collection of intelligence data regarding the national defense of the U. S. or which would serve the purposes of the Cuban Government as opposed to the interests of the U. S., where there are reasonable grounds to believe that such data is to be or has been conveyed to any agency or representative of the Cuban Government.
- (B) An individual, whether he has participated in organizational activity or not, has engaged in one or more activities specified in (A) above and it has been clearly established, by overt acts or statements or other evidence, that there are reasonable grounds to believe the loyalty of the individual would lie with the Cuban Government in the event of armed conflict between the Cuban Government and the U. S.
- (C) Aliens of Cuban nationality and aliens holding Cuban citizenship should be considered for the security index when it is determined that one of these (1) is likely to foster, encourage, or promote the policies, programs, or objectives of the Cuban Government, or collaborate with the Cuban Government or (2) is likely to engage in or attempt to engage in acts of espionage, sabotage, or other activities inimical or detrimental to the defense or public safety of the U. S. as shown by overt acts or statements established through reliable sources, informants, or individuals. Activities on a subject's part which should be considered in determining whether his name should be added to the security index under the foregoing would include but should not be limited to (1) participation in organizations supporting the Castro regime, (2) participation in picket lines formed in support of the Cuban Government, (3) contacts with Cuban agents operating in this country on behalf of the Cuban Government, or (4) statements or activities on a subject's part establishing reasonable grounds to believe that his loyalty would lie with the Cuban Government in the event of armed conflict between the U. S. and Cuba.

- (D) In connection with all individuals recommended for admission to the security index in consideration of the above-mentioned standards there must be a clear showing, by overt acts or statements or other evidence, that there has been a continuing sympathy for the aims and objectives of the Cuban Government since 10-1-60.

Since the course of action which might be followed in the event of a limited emergency between Cuba and the U. S. would, in all probability, be different for aliens as distinguished from U. S. citizens it is imperative that the citizenship status of individuals recommended under criteria set forth above be clearly established.

III. Pro-Cuban activity

All individuals now on, or subsequently added to, the security index under criteria set forth in paragraphs (3) (a) I (A) (B) (C) (D) above should be tabbed as "Pro-Cuban" if their activities and sympathies have been such that they warrant special consideration in the event of a limited emergency involving Cuba and the U. S. This tabbing will include not only Cubans but also non-Cubans who have been engaged in substantial activities in furtherance of the aims and purposes of the Cuban Government, in support of pro-Castro groups or organizations, or in furtherance of the communist or subversive infiltration of pro-Castro groups. In effect this tabbing, submit form FD-122 to the Bureau with the notation "Pro-Cuban" typed directly opposite the words "Miscellaneous (specify)" in the space provided on the form. Attached to the form FD-122 should be an additional page containing a concise summary of facts which prompt the recommendation for this tabbing. These instructions in no way affect the character of cases under which subjects are currently being investigated. Security index cards sent to the field on such subjects will contain the capital letter "C" on the left side of the card at the beginning of the second line. These cards should not be kept in the "Cuban" special section of the index and these cards should be tabbed with a metal tab as mentioned in 87D 7b (11) (e) I under tabbing of cards.]

IV.] In evaluating interviews insofar as security index status is concerned, be guided as follows:

- (A) Whenever a subject of a security investigation by a positive statement to interviewing Agents clearly indicates a continued adherence to the doctrines, aims or purposes of a revolutionary organization or a front organization, the positive statement shall be considered an overt act on the part of subject in establishing continued adherence.

- (B) Other than as indicated above, interviews with security index subjects or potential security index subjects are not to be considered as factors requiring the placing or retaining of names of persons on the security index; for example, lack of cooperation or partial cooperation are not to be regarded as such factors.
- (b) Item I (D), above, must be given strict interpretation. It is not to be construed as a "catchall" for cases not otherwise meeting security index standards, and there must be overwhelming evidence to support any security index case, predicated upon the terms of item I (D). Further, any recommendation for retention in or addition to the security index based upon item I (D) must note specifically those factors which bring the individual cases within its provisions.
- (c) With regard to the effect of resort to the fifth amendment by a witness appearing before a governmental body, the Department was requested to advise as to whether such action should be considered an overt act within the terms of the security index criteria under the following circumstances: (1) when the subject was asked directly concerning present membership in a subversive organization and (2) when the question calls for a response as to past membership in such organization. The Department's reply was as follows: "A refusal to answer these two questions must be considered an overt act within the Security Index criteria. There is, of course, the rare possibility that some individual who is not and never has been a member of a subversive organization, may take refuge in the Fifth Amendment, for idealistic reasons. However, your question is limited to those cases where the available information would seem to bring the subject within the criteria except for an overt act within the required period. A subsequent resort to the Fifth Amendment by such a person as outlined in your letter would seem to supply the missing element and negate any inference that he may have changed his beliefs or turned against the organizations or subversive persons with which he was known to have sympathized or supported."

This does not mean that refuge in the fifth amendment will automatically require the inclusion or retention of a subject in the security index. It must be construed in the light of the information available as to the scope and extent of subversive activity of the individual subject. It is imperative our security index cases be reviewed critically on a continuing basis to insure that they are completely sound and that it is established beyond question that such subjects are potentially dangerous.

- (d) [The Department has advised that, from its study of available evidence concerning the Nation of Islam, it appears that the antiwhite and anti-U. S. Government teachings of this organization would constitute it a potentially dangerous instrumentality in the event of a national emergency, and that statements and activities on the part of individual members of the Nation of Islam indicating anarchist and revolutionary beliefs should be considered in making a judgment as to whether or not such individual members should be included in the security index. - (b) Data to appear on separate attached card
- I. The following data must be placed on a separate card to be attached to reverse side of the security index card being filed in the geographical, special, or unavailable sections. Data will not be attached to the security index card filed in the alphabetical section. These cards contain printed captions to assist in recording the descriptive information. Captions are not all-inclusive and should be augmented by other data required.
 - (A) Complete description
 - (B) Notation that security index flash notice has been submitted for posting in Identification Division
 - (C) Photograph, with date taken placed below
 - (D) Dangerous characteristics of subject, including notation if subject possesses firearms
 - (E) Other data which will assist in effecting apprehension of subject, such as directions to residence or employment, where subject not situated in usual locations, listing of number of minor children and aged dependents
 - II. If descriptive data have not been obtained, case must be kept pending and investigation conducted to develop this information. Upon posting of security index flash notices in security index cases, the field will be furnished the FBI number and fingerprint classification which should be affixed to reverse side of the security index cards filed in geographical, special and unavailable sections.
 - III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

- (6) Arrangement of the security index

- (a) At Bureau
- The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

(b) In the field office

[The active security index in each field office is maintained in four sections: geographical, alphabetical, unavailable, and special sections. In addition, a complete set of each field office's security index is maintained away from headquarters city. This additional set is to be maintained in exactly the same manner as the geographical section security index breakdown with the unavailable and special section cards filed in back of the geographical section cards.]

I. Geographical section

Procedures affecting the geographical section of the security index are set out in 87D 7b (11) pertaining to the priority of apprehension of subjects and should be read in conjunction with the material noted hereinafter.

After receipt of the three 5- by 8-inch security index cards from the Bureau and after the necessary data have been added to two of the cards, one card shall be filed in the geographical section of the office security index (except special section and unavailable section cards; see III and IV below) and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. This section shall be broken down geographically by residence address in accordance with the needs of each office. For example, where such breakdown is logical, it should be broken down by state, county, city and, if conditions in the city so warrant, into boroughs or suburbs and precincts. There will be instances involving routine change of residence in which the security index cards will reflect "unknown" residence. To facilitate filing such cards in the geographical section, a breakdown therein should be utilized, designated "Verification Pending," to contain the security index cards of (1) subjects whose addresses are listed as "unknown" but leads outstanding are expected to result in the prompt location of those persons within the division and (2) subjects whose whereabouts in another division is actually in the process of verification, the cards bearing the address in the interim as "unknown." The security index cards in the geographical section shall be filed alphabetically under each geographical breakdown.

The geographical section of the field office security index will be the section to be used should apprehension of the subjects in the index become necessary. Cards contained therein will be withdrawn and used by the apprehending Agents.

It may be feasible in offices covering large industrial areas to set up a second geographical section in which the security index cards are filed according to the employment of the subjects. Such procedure may be established only upon receipt of specific Bureau authority. Apprehensions may thus be made by using either the geographical-residence or the geographical-employment sections, the choice depending upon the time of day the apprehensions are initiated.

II. Alphabetical section

Procedures affecting the alphabetical section of the security index are set out in 87D 7b (11) pertaining to the priority of apprehension of subjects and should be read in conjunction with the material noted hereinafter.

The duplicate card shall be filed in the alphabetical section which will be maintained in strict alphabetical order with no other breakdown whatsoever.

The alphabetical card will be in the nature of a control card. Should the original or geographical card be withdrawn from the geographical section for apprehension purposes, an appropriate notation shall be made on the alphabetical card for the purpose of administrative handling.

III. Special section

Security index cards of individuals coming within the categories enumerated below shall be retained in the special section of the security index for the reasons stated. This section shall be broken down into [seven] subsections headed by tabs designating the categories. The special section is to be maintained in accordance with the following instructions:

- (A) Espionage subjects
When apprehension of the subject will destroy chances of penetration and control of an operating espionage parallel or would destroy known chances of penetration and control of a "sleeper" parallel
- (B) U. S. Government employees
In order that the identities of the subjects so employed can be readily determined and specific consideration given to each such subject before apprehension is ordered
- (C) Atomic energy program employees
Because their apprehension must be cleared with the Atomic Energy Commission representatives to avoid interference with atomic energy work
- (D) Foreign government employees
So that individual consideration may be given to each individual on the basis of the relations then existing between the U. S. Government and the country by which the subject is employed
- (E) United Nations Secretariat and other international organization employees
Because of the fact that they are employees of such organizations, regardless of their national origin, and the State Department must be notified after such apprehensions take place. In this category would be citizens of the U. S. and those immigrants or stateless persons not holding diplomatic visas and who do not have protection of the International Organization Immunities Act.
- (F) Pro-Tito individuals
Because such individuals, although pro-Marxist-Leninist, adhere to the Tito form of communism as opposed to the Stalin or Russian form of communism. In light of the current international situation, it is not possible to predict whether Tito would become aligned with Russia in the event of open hostilities or would align himself on the side of the U. S. and its allies. Therefore, Tito adherents in the security index must receive consideration for apprehension separate from others included in the index.

Supporters of the Tito government are not considered to include members of any communist splinter groups who from time to time make statements in support of Tito, but should include only those individuals, particularly those of Yugoslav birth or descent, whose support of Tito is clear and unequivocal regardless of Yugoslavia's foreign policies.

[(G)

Cuban

In order that, in the event of an emergency involving Cuba and the U. S., special handling may be afforded those subjects whose organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies are shown as "Cuban." Security index cards denoting such will contain the code "CUB" on line 1.]

Standards for inclusion of subjects in the special section of the security index are the same as those for any other potentially dangerous subject.

When submitting a recommendation for preparation of a security index card on an individual falling in one of the above categories, form FD-122 must include the words "Special Section" typed in the upper right portion thereof. The proper category should be typed on FD-122 in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)."

Security index cards to be placed in the special section shall bear the appropriate code letters in the upper right portion designating the subsection in which the cards should be placed. Upon receipt from the Bureau of the three security index cards of subjects in these categories, the required additional data shall be placed on two which shall be filed alphabetically in the appropriate subsection of the special section. The third card shall be filed in the alphabetical section of the security index. Under no circumstances should special section security index cards be filed in the geographical section of the index.

When a security index subject whose card is maintained in the special section no longer comes within one of the categories of the special section, FD-122 must be submitted with the words "Remove from Special Section" typed in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." If the card should be placed in the unavailable section, the statement "Place in Unavailable Section" should be added in this space. When the new cards are received from the Bureau, they should be checked for accuracy and the description and photograph, if available, should be placed on separate cards of similar size and attached to the back of two of the cards. These two cards should then be filed in the geographical or unavailable section (where applicable) and the other card filed in the alphabetical section of the security index. The old cards should be destroyed.

When a special section subject is scheduled for priority apprehension under the detcom program, the special section card shall be appropriately tabbed.

It is not contemplated that subjects of security index cards maintained in the special section will be apprehended under a mass apprehension program. The cases of such subjects shall be given individual attention upon the inception of the apprehension program and the subjects will not be apprehended in the absence of specific Bureau instructions in each case.

IV. Unavailable section

Security index cards of individuals who are missing, out of the country, or are imprisoned shall be retained in the unavailable section. This section shall be broken down into three subsections headed by tabs marked "Missing,"

"Out of the Country," and "Imprisoned." The unavailable section shall be maintained in accordance with the following instructions:

(A) Missing subjects

Security index subjects are not to be included in the unavailable section as missing immediately upon determination that they are no longer located at their previously known places of residence or employment. The action required in 87D 6b (3) above must be taken prior to submitting FD-122 placing a subject in the unavailable section as a missing subject. The Bureau must be periodically advised of the investigative steps taken to locate missing security index subjects in accordance with 87D 6b (3).

If the subject is missing, the word "Missing" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)."

(B) Subjects out of the country

The security index cards of subjects who are found to have departed from the U. S. or Puerto Rico for a foreign country shall be placed in this subsection of the unavailable section of the security index unless their cards should be cancelled in accordance with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (10) (b).

If the subject is out of the country, the words "Out of the Country" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." If the foreign address is known, place it on FD-122 in the space provided for the residence address. If the subject is only known to be in a certain foreign country and his residence there is not known or is only known to be traveling abroad, include this information on FD-122. If the subject's current employment abroad is known, include it on FD-122.

The case of any security index subject who is out of the country must be followed at least each six months for verification of the subject's address, the same as any other security index case, to determine if the subject has returned to this country.

Appropriate stops should be placed with the Immigration and Naturalization Service to be advised of information which may become available to it indicating the subject's return to this country.

(C) Imprisoned subjects

The cards of security index subjects who are found to be imprisoned shall be placed in the unavailable section of the security index.

If the subject is in prison, the word "Imprisoned" shall be typed on the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." The identity of the institution in which the subject is incarcerated shall be typed in the space provided for the residence address. The space for the business address shall be left blank.

- III. Persons active in Communist Party underground
- IV. Any other security index subject whose activities, past or present, regardless of membership in a revolutionary organization, clearly and unmistakably depict the individual as a potential saboteur, espionage agent, or disruptionist in the event of an emergency

(c) Recommendations for and removal of detcom designation

I. Approval of SAC

Designation of each subject for detcom program or removal of any subject therefrom must be personally approved by SAC, or in offices having more than 1,000 security index subjects by SAC, ASAC, or Bureau-approved security supervisor. If individual subjects being recommended for inclusion in security index are also being recommended for detcom, above-required approval by SAC may be handled in conjunction with requirements specified in 87D 7b (4).

- II. [When form FD-122 is submitted recommending either tabbing for detcom or deletion of such tabbing, attach an additional page setting out a brief summary of facts upon which the recommendation is based.]

III. [Deleted]

(d) Administrative procedures for handling detcom program

Take following action to assure that security index cards for subjects tabbed detcom for priority of apprehension will be readily available for emergency action in your office:

- I. Consider each security index case for detcom tabbing whether subject's security index card is filed in geographical, special, or unavailable sections of security index.

II. Geographical section

Divide geographical section of security index into two distinct parts.

- (A) Part I of geographical section shall include only security index cards for subjects who are tabbed detcom under instructions noted above.
- (B) Part II of geographical section shall contain security index cards for all subjects that are NOT tabbed detcom.
- (C) In offices having two separate and distinct geographical sections, i.e., geographical-employment and geographical-residence, as provided under 87D 7b (6) herein, each such geographical section must be broken into parts I and II, in line with foregoing, so that cards tabbed detcom will be separated and maintained apart from other security index cards.
- (D) No colored tabs necessary on cards of detcom subjects in geographical section.

III. Alphabetical section

- (A) One security index card for each subject is to be filed in alphabetical section in strict alphabetical order with no other breakdown whatsoever.
- (B) Affix a colored tab to each security index card designated for detcom in alphabetical section to readily identify such subjects.
- (C) Detcom tabbings approved at Bureau will be shown on security index cards forwarded to field by code letters "DC" in first line on cards and by word "DETCOM" stamped in large red letters.

- IV. Special section and unavailable section
Security index cards of detcom subjects filed in special and unavailable sections are to be designated by affixing colored tabs.

(c) General

I. Tabbing of cards

No security index card is to contain tabs for any purpose other than to designate detcom classification under foregoing provisions [with the following exception. The alphabetical security index cards on those individuals designated as "Pro-Cuban" should be tabbed with a metal tab of a color different from those used to tab detcom subjects.]

II. Removal from detcom category

Careful analysis must be made of each case in which deletion from detcom category is proposed. For instance, when a key figure is being removed from such status, file review may well disclose that subject qualifies for detcom tabbing for reasons covered in 87D 7b (11) (b), above, independent of key figure status.

c. Individuals employed in or having access to key facilities

(1) Responsibility

FBI is responsible by Presidential directive for keeping other Federal agencies advised of developments within their jurisdiction affecting plants having armed forces contracts, as well as other facilities, utilities, and critical points of transportation and communications systems which have been designated as vital to the national defense and welfare by the Department of Defense.

FBI is responsible under Delimitations Agreement for investigating employees of private contractors who have contracts with agencies of Department of Defense where credible subversive information concerning employee is obtained. Thorough investigation must be conducted and consideration for inclusion in security index given concerning any individual employed in or having access to a key facility who is alleged to have been, at any time in the past, a member of any basic revolutionary organization or against whom sufficient other subversive information is in our possession which warrants such action.

(a) Requests for investigation from another agency

When another agency requests investigation of individual employed in key facility, institute investigation immediately if basis of request so warrants. Advise Bureau of request, basis thereof, and that investigation is being conducted.

(b) Verification of key facility status of place of employment

Department of Defense key facilities list (maintained in each office) must be checked for verification of information that a security investigation subject's place of employment may be included in such list.

(c) Individuals denied access to restricted information

Intelligence agencies of armed forces frequently advise that an individual has been denied clearance to work in a defense plant or to handle classified or restricted information. In some instances clearance is denied based on information furnished by Bureau. At other times, information in Bureau files is very meager or possibly negative and basis for such denial of clearance is not known. The intelligence agency is responsible for furnishing Bureau with any information involving disloyalty or subversiveness.

Office receiving notification that an individual has been denied clearance must ascertain promptly basis for such denial and obtain all pertinent data contained in file of

- (j) In connection with periodic reports in security index cases, there are instances in which evidence of extensive activity in subversive organizations will be developed. In these cases it is permissible to report such information in narrative-type statements without indicating exact dates of activity; however, the period of time involved must be shown, [as well as the inclusive dates of the informant reports.]

This type reporting is not to be utilized in Smith Act of 1940 cases or Internal Security Act of 1950 cases with the exception of key facility cases. The narrative statements must be statements of facts and not conclusions and information from each source must be reported in separate narrative statements.

- (k) The above instructions in no way remove responsibility for reporting all items of pertinence to the Bureau, bearing in mind the fact that Bureau files must be complete insofar as matters of substance are concerned, nor is responsibility removed for the reporting in detail of information tending to establish a subject's knowledge of the basic aims and purposes of the subversive organizations with which affiliated or information tending to establish that a subject holds revolutionary and/or anarchist beliefs.

In the documentation of narrative statements set forth the location of the original documents in the field office files by the file number and serial scope.

(10) Administrative data

(a) General

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. Reserve index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, key figure or top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, FD-122a, FD-128, and FD-128a, and Bureau instructions for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature

- II. Whenever reports relating to security index subjects contain data affecting material included on subject's existing security index card, the cover pages accompanying the report shall include as the last page form FD-305, appropriately checked, which form contains items pertaining to the following:
- (A) That subject is included in the security index
 - (B) That data appearing on security index card is current or requires change
 - (C) That FD-122 has been submitted to Bureau where security index card changes are necessary
 - (D) That a suitable photograph is or is not available
 - (E) [Deleted]
 - (F) That subject is employed in a key facility and that agencies interested in that facility are specified
 - (G) Reason for classifying report
 - (H) Dates subject was previously interviewed and reason for not reinterviewing subject
 - (I) That subject no longer meets security index criteria and a letter has been directed to the Bureau recommending cancellation of the security index card
 - (J) That subject's case has been re-evaluated and reasons are set forth as to why subject's activities continue to fall within security index criteria
 - (K) That subject's security index card is or is not tabbed detcom and that subject's activities do or do not warrant detcom tabbing
- III. Form FD-305a containing items pertinent to reserve index subjects will be similarly utilized in connection with the submission of reports in reserve index cases.
- (b) Documentation of reports
- I. Deleted
 - II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.
 - III. Extensive investigation should not be conducted to further identify and locate outside individuals who have in the past furnished background information or to obtain documentary evidence of background information. For example, if previous investigation revealed that subject, according to reliable records, such as birth records, school records, or records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was born at a certain place on a certain date, such information will be sufficient for inclusion in report. Further verification will not be necessary.
 - IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of Photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity

- (c) In the case of an individual previously the subject of investigation, the case should be brought up to date by the prompt submission of a report in the event there is unreported information contained in the file. If reports have not previously been submitted in the case, a letterhead memorandum summarizing the available subversive data should accompany the initial letter advising the Bureau of the proposed travel. [In nonsecurity index cases all available data regarding subject's subversive activities and affiliations should be carefully evaluated with a view toward determining whether a full security investigation should be conducted and the communication transmitting data regarding a subject's travel should contain a statement as to whether a security investigation is being initiated and, if not, reasons therefor.]
- (d) Information concerning these subjects' proposed travel abroad, including information concerning their subversive activities, is furnished by the Bureau to the Department of State, Central Intelligence Agency, and legal attaches if the proposed travel is in areas covered by such and, frequently, requests are made of one or all of the above to place stops with appropriate security services abroad to be advised of the activities of these subjects.
- (e) When information is received that an individual with a subversive background falling within the categories set out previously herein is forming a tour group for foreign travel or an organization which is considered subversive is sponsoring such a tour, advise appropriate offices under the caption of the tour name or the organization sponsoring the tour of the identities of the individuals participating in the tour and furnish the Bureau a letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination to the State Department, the Central Intelligence Agency, and appropriate legal attaches, including therein all readily available information pertaining to the tour, such as itinerary, pertinent dates, names of individuals making up the tour with addresses, if available, and a thumbnail sketch of the organization or individual sponsoring the tour.

Letterhead memoranda relating to the tours will be disseminated by the Bureau with a statement that, as individuals participating are identified, recipients will be furnished with memoranda under the individual case caption where those individuals are found to have subversive backgrounds. Therefore, the appropriate field offices should immediately identify and submit individual memoranda concerning such individuals. The details of travel will be replaced by a reference to the memorandum previously prepared under the caption of the organization sponsoring the tour. Prepare individual memoranda only in the cases of individuals with subversive backgrounds falling within the categories set out previously herein.

In addition, appropriate offices should submit a letter to the Bureau under the organization caption listing the names of those individuals residing within their territory who are traveling with the tour group and on whom no subversive information is found.

- (f) Advise the Bureau promptly in form suitable for dissemination of a subject's return from travel abroad in those instances in which stops have been placed with security services abroad through the agencies listed above. In instances in which an individual against whom stops have been placed has traveled to any country behind the Iron Curtain, the Bureau shall also be furnished at that time with recommendations as to the desirability of interview of such person and with advice as to whether additional investigation concerning him is contemplated. In the event such an interview is authorized, it shall be conducted promptly and the case shall not be closed until such interview is had and the results thereof submitted in report form.
- (g) In some instances a security investigation of a subject not yet included in the security index may be in progress at the time it is found that the subject has recently departed for a foreign country. If the evidence developed at that time warrants the inclusion of the subject in the security index were it not for the fact that he is outside the U. S., form FD-122 should be submitted recommending his inclusion in the unavailable section of the security index. After all initial investigation is completed, the subject's case will be handled the same as those of other subjects of a similar status who are included in the unavailable section as out of the country.

If the subject is an alien who has been deported or has otherwise permanently departed from the U. S., he should not be included in the security index.

When it is determined that a security index subject has departed for a foreign country, his security index card shall be placed in the unavailable section and his case handled in accordance with the instructions set forth under 87D 7b (6) (b) IV.

- (5) Investigative techniques
- While it is not possible to enumerate all investigative techniques which can and should be employed in these investigations, there are certain proven techniques which have been used with continued success and should be applied wherever possible.
- (a) File reviews
- Upon the initiation of a security investigation of an individual, check the office indices and review files thoroughly for any pertinent information on record showing background and subversive activity of each individual subject. Include such information in the initial investigative report.
- Once a main security file has been opened for an individual, subsequent information received concerning him should be channeled to that file. The reference cards pertaining to the subject should be consolidated in the indices after each check and review of files has been made.
- (b) Security informants
- Success of security investigations of individuals is primarily dependent upon a broad confidential informant coverage within every phase of subversive activity. Information and evidence developed through such sources are unsurpassed in value because of possible use not only for intelligence purposes but also as admissible evidence.

- (b) Where potential dangerousness of a subject has been established and inclusion of that subject in security index is warranted, the office of origin shall submit a recommendation for inclusion in security index by submitting form FD-122 to Bureau. Form must be prepared in triplicate. Original and one copy shall be forwarded to Bureau and one copy will be placed in subject's investigative case file.

Nothing should appear on FD-122 or subsequently on the security index card which is not in the subject's case file. Form FD-122 has two uses: (1) to recommend a subject for inclusion in the security index and (2) to submit changes to data which appears on face of security index cards already existent.

- Proper selection should be made in the opening paragraph option. FD-122 is submitted with abstract when used to recommend the subject for inclusion in the security index and without abstract when used to indicate additions, deletions, or changes in data appearing on existing cards.
- (c) When form FD-122 is submitted to Bureau recommending inclusion of a name in security index, attach an additional page or pages setting out a succinct summary of facts on which recommendation has been based. Facts must be in detail to clearly show soundness of recommendation. Statements of conclusion are not enough and original sources must be characterized as to reliability. Summary must contain pertinent dates of subject's activities.
- (d) When, at conclusion of investigation, subject's name is not being recommended for security index, set out a brief summary statement in the appropriate communication closing the case showing reasons for the decision.
- (e) Security index cards shall be recommended by and maintained by office of origin only.
- (f) A current report must be in possession of the Bureau when subject is recommended for security index. If it is the initial report in the case, it must be a summary report. If, however, prior investigative reports have been submitted which are suitable for dissemination and are appropriately documented, a summary report need not be submitted.
- (g) To assure that subject recommended for security index will receive proper attention, case shall be kept in pending or pending-inactive status until security index card has been received from Bureau and filed in office security index. If case continues in pending status because of outstanding investigation, reports shall carry a lead to follow authorization of security index card by the Bureau in addition to other leads. If outstanding investigation has been completed and case would otherwise be closed upon submission of the report and form FD-122, case shall be placed in pending-inactive status with lead to follow authorization of security index card by Bureau. In latter instance, upon receipt of Bureau's response, case may be closed administratively.
- (h) Recommendation for security index card should not be delayed because of absence of information concerning race, sex, citizenship, date and place of birth, or description where security index card is warranted. In such instances, recommendation for the card should be submitted with a current report and case retained in pending status with active investigation continuing to determine missing items of information.

- (i) Subjects missing or out of country may be recommended for the security index provided instructions set forth in 87D 6b (3) and (4) are followed. Forms FD-122 submitted on subjects should include data required in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV below.
- (j) When form FD-122 is submitted recommending a security index card be prepared on a subject who is of Chinese extraction, the words "Other - Chinese" must be included in the space on the form calling for a statement as to the subject's race. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending that a security index card be prepared on a person who is not of Chinese extraction but who has shown definite sympathies with communist China, the form should include under "Miscellaneous" a statement to the effect "sympathetic to Communist China."
- (k) Upon receipt of form FD-122 at Bureau, the case of the subject will be reviewed and if recommendation of field is concurred in, security index cards will be prepared. Duplicate copy of form will be returned to office of origin stamped "Security Index card approved and prepared, three copies attached. Place description and photograph on reverse side of Geographical card. Cards should be filed in your Security Index." The three cards shall be filed in security index as outlined below. The returned copy of FD-122 shall be placed in subject's main investigative case file. Offices with a geographical breakdown by residence and employment will receive an extra card.
- (l) When security index cards are received from Bureau, data thereon must be checked for accuracy. Cards will be complete except for description and photograph. Descriptions and photographs are maintained on separate cards of similar size to security index cards which are stapled to back of two of the cards. One card will then be filed in the geographical section of office security index (except special section cards and unavailable section cards - see 87D 7b (6) (b) III and IV below), and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. The other card is filed in alphabetical section of security index. No information shall be permanently added, deleted, or changed on face of security index card without complying with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (8).
- (5) Content and appearance of security index card
- (a) Data to appear on face of card
- When complete, face of security index card should contain the following information. If any of items enumerated in I through XIV are missing at time the security index card is made, the case should be continued as pending and investigation conducted to obtain the necessary information. Set forth under each item below are possible categories in which a subject may be classified, together with code letters which should be placed in appropriate space on form FD-122 when sending form to Bureau recommending security index card be prepared. Code letters should subsequently appear on security index cards received from Bureau.
- I. Name and aliases
- The full and correct name and aliases of the subject must be contained on the security index card. When the true name of a subject or any aliases are changed, added, deleted, or are found to be incorrect, form FD-122 must be submitted [showing] the correct data to be placed on the security index card.

attention to the existence of a security index card for that individual. In all such instances a specific recommendation must be made concerning the cancellation of the card. The card may be destroyed upon receipt of Bureau authority to designate the subject as a security informant.

- (f) Subject no longer dangerous or potentially dangerous. Instructions set out below should be read in conjunction with 87D 6b (7) (c) herein relating to interviews with security index subjects.

Frequently, after a subject is included in the security index, information is received or investigation develops information [indicating] that he is no longer a threat to the internal security by reason of defection or expulsion from the subversive movement, membership in or affiliation with which was the reason for placing him in the security index. Such defection may be [shown] by lack of activity and obvious disinterest over an extended period of time or upon declaration of opposition to the principles of the subversive movement. The latter may manifest itself in declarations by a subject in the presence of confidential informants or other sources, statements to the press, or actual contact with Bureau representatives and admission of previous subversive activity.

When sufficient information is at hand regarding subject's present sympathies to reach conclusion that he should no longer be scheduled for apprehension as a dangerous subversive, request authority to interview subject or advise Bureau of reasons why subject should not be interviewed. Bureau will not cancel security index card without consideration being given to interview of subject. See 87D 6b (7) (c) and (d).

- If, upon interview, subject proves cooperative to extent that his security index card should be cancelled, advise Bureau by letter of results together with a recommendation for cancellation which must be approved by Bureau.
- (g) Subjects removed from security index solely upon basis of application of security index criteria, with no affirmative indication of defection.
- As security index cards are reviewed upon reopening in the field, there will be instances in which removal will be required by application of the security index criteria set out in 87D 7b (3). With the passage of time, limits specified in criteria will operate to remove certain subjects even though there is no affirmative indication of defection.

[Letters recommending removal of a subject's name from the security index should be accompanied by form FD-122a if facts in the case warrant the inclusion of subject's name in section A of the reserve index.]

The following [procedures] should be followed [in the case of those individuals not being recommended for inclusion in section A of the reserve index:]

- I. When subjects are removed from security index solely on basis of application of security index criteria as cases are reopened and reviewed in the field, retain security index cards pertaining to such subjects bearing the descriptive matter on reverse sides; i.e., the cards previously filed in geographical, special, or unavailable sections. Destroy cards previously filed in alphabetical section. Those offices maintaining two sets of geographical cards under provisions of 87D 7b (6) (b) I should retain but one card in each instance, destroying second geographical card as well as card previously filed in alphabetical section.

- II. Mark canceled across face of each card being retained and file in the reserve index, [section B.]
- III. [Deleted]
- IV. The above instructions do not apply in the case of individuals removed from the security index based upon activity in the Nation of Islam. Security index cards in such cases should be destroyed.

(h) Subjects of Chinese extraction
 In any communication recommending cancellation of a security index card on a subject of Chinese extraction, such communication must contain the words "Other - Chinese." This regulation relates specifically to those subjects placed on the security index following a recommendation submitted in accordance with the instructions contained in section 87D 7b (4) (j) above.

(11) Priority apprehension program (DETCOM)

(a) Purpose

Many individuals included in security index because of their training, violent tendencies, or prominence in subversive activity are extremely dangerous and would be more inclined to commit or capable of committing overt acts against the U. S. in time of national emergency than would others in security index. Degree of dangerousness of such individuals is so pronounced that in interest of security they must be immobilized in the least possible time prior to others in security index. The administrative procedure developed to make apprehensions on a priority basis is referred to as the detcom program. Subjects designated for priority apprehension are referred to as detcom subjects.

Individuals in security index tabbed detcom would be arrested first in event of a limited but grave emergency, probably without the arrest of other security index subjects.

In an all-out emergency, all subjects whose names are in the security index will be considered for immediate apprehension.

Subjects tabbed for detcom should comprise a hard core of subversives. Each individual case should stand on its own merits and decision to consider subjects for priority of apprehension should be based on subject's subversive activities and revolutionary tendencies.

(b) Subjects to be tabbed detcom

Each security index subject should be considered for detcom tabbing (priority of arrest) who falls within one or more of following categories:

- I. All top functionaries and key figures
- II. Currently active communists or members of any basic revolutionary organization (active within past year) when there is evidence of one or more of following:
 - (A) Activity as local organizers or leaders in the organization
 - (B) Special training at Lenin School or Far Eastern Institute in Moscow
 - (C) Experience as picket captains, strong-arm men; or active participation in violent strikes, riots, or demonstrations
 - (D) Violent statements or strong revolutionary tendencies as shown by their activities

- (2) The act provides that any individual who is or becomes a member of any organization concerning which there is in effect a final order of the Board requiring such organization to register under the act as a Communist-action organization, more than thirty days have lapsed since such order has become final and the organization is not so registered, shall within sixty days after said order has become final, or within thirty days after becoming a member of such organization, whichever is later, register with the Attorney General as a member of such organization. (§ 8 (a)) (Title 50, USC, § 787 (a))
 - (3) Each individual who is or becomes a member of any organization which he knows to be registered under the act as a Communist-action organization, but which has failed to include the individual's name upon a list of members thereof filed with the Attorney General, as required by the act, shall, within sixty days after obtaining such knowledge, register with the Attorney General as a member of such organization. (§ 8 (b)) (Title 50, USC, § 787 (b))
 - (4) It is unlawful for any member of a Communist-action organization which has registered under the act, or there is in effect a final order of the Board requiring such organization to register, with knowledge or notice that such organization is so registered or that such order has become final: to conceal or fail to disclose the fact that he is a member of such organization in seeking, accepting or holding any nonelective office or employment under the U.S.; or, to hold any nonelective office or employment under the U.S.; or, to conceal or fail to disclose the fact that he is a member of such organization in seeking, accepting or holding employment in any defense facility; or, to engage in any employment in any defense facility if such organization is a Communist-action organization; or, to hold office or employment with any labor organization, as that term is defined in section 2 (5) of the National Labor Relations Act, as amended (Title 29, USC, § 152), or to represent any employer in any matter or proceeding arising or pending under that act. (§ 5 (a) (1)) (Title 50, USC, § 784(a) (1))

of the source, date of activity, date received, and name of the Agent receiving the information are known, it is not necessary to request the office originally obtaining the information to document it further by furnishing information showing the location of the original in the office files. If all documentation, except the latter item, is not in the possession of the office preparing the report, it should be obtained.

V. If it is found desirable to include in a report the identities of individuals who are known communists and have been associates of the subject to lend weight to evidence of the subject's potential dangerousness, only the source of the information showing the associate to be a communist need be identified.

VI. In a very limited number of instances it may be necessary to obtain a thumbnail sketch or characterization of an individual or organization from another office or the Bureau. When such information is received in your office, it should be placed in thumbnail sketch files so that it will be available to and can be readily located by Agents having future need for it, thereby eliminating repeated requests of another office for the same information.

g. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of following submission of reports in security cases

Channelizing memoranda in organizational and individual security case files may be destroyed following submission of reports in these cases. In destroying these memoranda, be guided by instructions [for destruction of channelizing memoranda as set out in Manual of Rules and Regulations.]

8. Dissemination of data developed in security investigations

The proper utilization of information received by the Bureau is foremost among our responsibilities as an investigative agency. It is the Bureau's duty to keep the proper intelligence agencies informed concerning information of interest to them. Further, information which comes to the attention of the Bureau in connection with the conduct of investigations normally and regularly within the jurisdiction of the Bureau, which information is believed to be of interest to another agency within the executive branch of the Government, should be forwarded to the interested agency unless there are good and compelling reasons not to do so. This is in line with the Deletions Agreement and Presidential directives which provide for the dissemination to other agencies of information relating to espionage, sabotage, subversive activities, and related matters where the specific agency has a present or potential interest in the information.

Set out hereafter is a summarization of existing Bureau requirements regarding dissemination of security information developed on individuals during the course of regular investigations in the security field. It should be apparent that all conceivable situations cannot be anticipated. For that reason, the data below should be considered as pertaining to representative situations which occur frequently enough to warrant specific treatment. The basic rule to follow is, of course, that security information must be furnished promptly to interested agencies in the executive branch of the Government and that the term "interested agency" must be interpreted in the light of reason and common sense. Any unusual situations should be brought to the attention of the Bureau promptly for consideration and disposition.

Considerations affecting the national defense in Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico necessitate that the broadest possible construction be given to the existing requirements of dissemination to the intelligence services located in those areas. The Anchorage, Honolulu, and San Juan Offices should adhere to such policy and effect such dissemination as to discharge fully our responsibilities as laid down in Bureau instructions, together with practices which have been dictated by circumstances within those particular offices.

The material set out below must be read in conjunction with the Manual of Rules and Regulations, [part II,] section 5, which discusses the Bureau's over-all responsibilities in dissemination, together with existing policies, qualifications, and exceptions.

- a. Data developed concerning subjects of security investigations and other persons coming within investigative jurisdiction of the Bureau
 - (1) Aliens and naturalized citizens
Information concerning aliens and naturalized citizens which might have a bearing on the deportation or denaturalization of such individuals should in all instances be forwarded to the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Refer to the Manual of Rules and Regulations, [part II,] section 5. If any doubt exists, the matter should in all instances be resolved in favor of dissemination.
 - (2) Employees of or persons having regular access to key facilities or employees of plants having contracts with the military services
Dissemination in these cases is treated specifically in section 87D 7c (4) of this manual.
 - (3) Employees of public utilities (including state and municipal facilities) which are not on the key facilities list or otherwise falling into the category defined in (2) above, and facilities which are or may become engaged in the manufacture of materials vital to the national defense
Dissemination should be made locally to G-2 and, in addition, to other intelligence services if their interest is apparent in individual cases or in specific facilities.
 - (4) Individuals on inactive duty but who are members of or hold commissions in the reserve branches or National Guard
Dissemination should be made locally to the appropriate military intelligence service. Dissemination to headquarters of the appropriate services will be made at SOG.
 - (5) Seamen and subjects employed in the maritime industry, including longshoremen and other water-front employees
Dissemination should be made to the Coast Guard on a local level and, when circumstances dictate, to other intelligence agencies, including ONI, which have an interest in the data reported. Appropriate dissemination on a headquarters level will be made at SOG.
 - (6) Employees of the Federal Government within the purview of Executive Order 10450
No dissemination of the reports in security of Government employees cases may be made in the field. If, however, subject is employed

(c) Recommendations for and removal of detcom designation

I. Approval of SAC

Designation of each subject for detcom program or removal of any subject therefrom must be personally approved by SAC, or in offices having more than 1,000 security index subjects by SAC, ASAC, or Bureau-approved security supervisor. If individual subjects being recommended for inclusion in security index are also being recommended for detcom, above-required approval by SAC may be handled in conjunction with requirements specified in 87D 7b (4).

- II. [When form FD-122 is submitted recommending either tabbing for detcom or deletion of such tabbing, attach an additional page setting out a brief summary of facts upon which the recommendation is based.]

III. [Deleted]

(d) Administrative procedures for handling detcom program
Take following action to assure that security index cards for subjects tabbed detcom for priority of apprehension will be readily available for emergency action in your office:

- I. Consider each security index case for detcom tabbing whether subject's security index card is filed in geographical, special, or unavailable sections of security index.

II. Geographical section

Divide geographical section of security index into two distinct parts.

- (A) Part I of geographical section shall include only security index cards for subjects who are tabbed detcom under instructions noted above.
- (B) Part II of geographical section shall contain security index cards for all subjects that are NOT tabbed detcom.
- (C) In offices having two separate and distinct geographical sections, i.e., geographical-employment and geographical-residence, as provided under 87D 7b (6) hereof, each such geographical section must be broken into parts I and II, in line with foregoing, so that cards tabbed detcom will be separated and maintained apart from other security index cards.
- (D) No colored tabs necessary on cards of detcom subjects in geographical section.

III. Alphabetical section

- (A) One security index card for each subject is to be filed in alphabetical section in strict alphabetical order with no other breakdown whatsoever.
- (B) Affix a colored tab to each security index card designated for detcom in alphabetical section to readily identify such subjects.
- (C) Detcom tabbings approved at Bureau will be shown on security index cards forwarded to field by code letters "DC" in first line on cards and by word "DETCOM" stamped in large red letters.

IV. Special section and unavailable section
Security index cards of Detcom subjects filed in special and unavailable sections are to be designated by affixing colored tabs.

(e) General

I. Tabbing of cards

No security index card is to contain tabs for any purpose other than to designate Detcom classification under foregoing provisions.

II. Removal from Detcom category

Careful analysis must be made of each case in which deletion from Detcom category is proposed. For instance, when a key figure is being removed from such status, file review may well disclose that subject qualifies for Detcom tabbing for reasons covered in 87D 7b (11) (b), above, independent of key figure status.

c. Individuals employed in or having access to key facilities

(1) Responsibility

FBI is responsible by Presidential directive for keeping other Federal agencies advised of developments within their jurisdiction affecting plants having armed forces contracts, as well as other facilities, utilities, and critical points of transportation and communications systems which have been designated as vital to the national defense and welfare by the Department of Defense.

FBI is responsible under Delimitations Agreement for investigating employees of private contractors who have contracts with agencies of Department of Defense where credible subversive information concerning employee is obtained. Thorough investigation must be conducted and consideration for inclusion in security index given concerning any individual employed in or having access to a key facility who is alleged to have been, at any time in the past, a member of any basic revolutionary organization or against whom sufficient other subversive information is in our possession which warrants such action.

(a) Requests for investigation from another agency

When another agency requests investigation of individual employed in key facility, institute investigation immediately if basis of request so warrants. Advise Bureau of request, basis thereof, and that investigation is being conducted.

(b) Verification of key facility status of place of employment

Department of Defense key facilities list (maintained at each office) must be checked for verification of information that a security investigation subject's place of employment may be included in such list.

(c) Individuals denied access to restricted information

Intelligence agencies of armed forces frequently advise that an individual has been denied clearance to work in a defense plant or to handle classified or restricted information. In some instances clearance is denied based on information furnished by Bureau. At other times, information in Bureau files is very meager or possibly negative and basis for such denial of clearance is not known. The intelligence agency is responsible for furnishing Bureau with any information involving disloyalty or subversiveness.

Office receiving notification that an individual has been denied clearance must ascertain promptly basis for such denial and obtain all pertinent data contained in file of

- d. Other Marxist revolutionary groups
A long-established group which would come under this category is the Proletarian Party of America, a relatively small organization.

There also are a few small groups composed of ex-members of the Communist Party, USA, who have voluntarily left the party or who have been expelled, usually for factionalism.

e. General

Communist investigations must be conducted in a most discreet and thorough manner at all times. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority. Bureau employees should not discuss communist or related investigations with any unauthorized individual. The subject of communism is not to be used in speeches of Bureau employees without specific authorization. However, there is considerable mimeographed material in each office, including speeches, testimony, and magazine articles prepared by the Director which could be furnished outside individuals interested in the subject of communism without any discussion.

2. Purposes of investigation

- a. The investigation of the Communist Party, USA, and other similar-type organizations is of twofold purpose: (1) to obtain legally admissible evidence against these organizations for prosecution under existing Federal statutes set out above and (2) to follow closely the activities of these organizations from an intelligence viewpoint to have a day-to-day appraisal of the strength, dangerousness and activities of these organizations seeking the overthrow of the U. S. Government.
- b. Suggestions for proper coverage of the investigation of the Communist Party as an organization and similar organizations should include:
- (1) The assignment of sufficient Agent personnel to insure that all of the important ramifications of party activities are properly covered
 - (2) Development of confidential informants in all party levels, including the national headquarters organization
 - (3) The establishment of trash and mail covers on pertinent headquarters and party functionaries
 - (4) The constant effort to develop admissible evidence against party officials for violation of Federal laws
- [c. Brief to establish illegal status of Communist Party, USA
- (1) Purpose of brief is to collect all legally admissible evidence to prove illegality of party in one file. (Bufile 100-3-74)
 - (2) Reports on brief to establish illegal status must be submitted by each office quarterly and should include only legally admissible evidence obtained during preceding three-month period. (If no information to report, letter may be submitted.)
 - (3) It is advisable to use the following breakdown in preparing reports:
 - (a) Origin and continuity of the party
 - (b) Pertinent statements, writings, and instructions relating to (1) Marxism-Leninism, (2) imperialism, (3) proletarian internationalism, (4) defense of USSR, (5) revolutionary statements
 - (c) Internal Security Act of 1950. Include under this heading any admissible evidence which would tend to prove a violation of section 4(a) of this act.]

3. Investigative Procedures and suggestions

This section contains detailed investigative guides for use in investigating and reporting activities of the Communist Party, USA.

- a. To accurately and clearly show the true nature of the Communist Party, USA, data concerning the following topics must be fully developed and reported. [When material contains information that would be logically reported under more than one topic heading but to do so would make the separate accounts unintelligible, report all the material under the main heading and only refer to the information under the other breakdowns. Do not repeat same data under separate headings.] Reports on the Communist Party, USA, as an organization must be submitted by each office quarterly and should cover activities for the preceding three-month period. All offices are required to use the following breakdown in preparing quarterly reports on the Communist Party, USA. Each subfile caption must start on a separate page.

(1) Organization (Bureau file 100-3-69)

- (a) Security setup of district and/or state organization. Office covering district headquarters, describe the location and size of Communist Party office facilities, rent paid, and name and number of office employees. [List address and/or post office box number of party headquarters.]
- (b) [Identify] principal district officials and important functionaries, together with [titles, and furnish a] short resume of important activities of each during three-month period.
- (c) Names of new commissions or special committees, identity and capacity of individual members thereof. Submit resume of activities of groups under appropriate subfile captions.
- (d) Special meetings embracing only organizational matters. Other pertinent matters discussed at meetings concerning policy or strategy to be submitted under appropriate subfile captions.
- (e) Extend this outline as far as necessary for clarity and to meet needs of office under this or any succeeding subsection. Auxiliary offices submit pertinent data concerning above matters which do not normally come to attention of office covering district headquarters.

(2) Membership (Bureau file 100-3-68)

- (a) Quarterly reports are not to contain any membership statistics. Cover pages accompanying each quarterly report must contain latest available statistics relating to total number of Communist Party members in the district. Membership data must start on a separate cover page. Office of origin, which is office covering Communist Party district headquarters, should submit following figures:

- I. For entire Communist Party district
- II. For individual states covered by Communist Party district
- III. For number of Communist Party members in area covered by field office

Auxiliary offices should submit following membership figures to the Bureau and office of origin:

- I. For state or portion of state covered by that field office
- II. For number of Communist Party members in the area covered by that field office

(D) Whether or not defector available for interview by all Agents

(E) Whether he is in position to testify and willing to do so

III. Do not include information concerning security informants for security reasons.

IV. Proper maintenance of this file will be useful in identifying persons who may be in a position to furnish information of value in the future and will obviate necessity of extensive file reviews in this connection.

V. A special index may be used for this file if desirable. If used, it should contain cards filed alphabetically indicating names, times, and places defectors were in a subversive movement and a brief description of information available from them. Break index down geographically and subdivide by years if desirable.

7. Administrative procedures

(a. Reserve index

(1) Purpose

The reserve index is designed to represent those persons who, in the light of ever-changing conditions, should be continually borne in mind from the standpoint of the security of the country with a view toward possible investigation, interrogation, or action under the security index program. This index may serve as an administrative aid and working index containing a central repository of the names of individuals having sympathy for or affiliation with the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations.

(2) Individuals to be included

This index is to contain names of individuals when, following investigation, the information does not justify the inclusion of the subject's name in the security index when there is evidence of:

- (a) Membership in a basic revolutionary organization subsequent to January 1, 1945, together with some indication of sympathy or association with such an organization or a subversive front organization subsequent to the reported membership and no reliable evidence of defection
- (b) Investigation has failed to substantiate allegations of membership in a revolutionary organization within the past five years, coupled with some evidence or information indicating activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within the same period, and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (c) The individual, within the past five years, by his associations, writings, financial support, or conduct in relation to and support of subversive organizations or the international communist movement is in a position to influence others at the time of a national emergency and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (d) Leadership or substantial activities in a major subversive front group over three years ago, together with some evidence of continuing activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within three years and no reliable evidence of defection
- (e) Membership in a subversive front organization within the past three years and no reliable evidence of defection

(3) Arrangement

This index is to be maintained in two sections, section A and section B. Each section will be maintained alphabetically on 5- by 8-inch cards.

(a) Section A

Section A of the reserve index is designed to represent a special group of individuals who should receive priority consideration with respect to investigation and/or other action following the apprehension of security index subjects.

I. Section A should include those individuals whose subversive activities do not bring them within the security index criteria but who, in a time of national emergency, are in a position to influence others against the national interest or are likely to furnish material financial aid to subversive elements due to their subversive associations and ideology. Include in this section those individuals meeting the standards for inclusion in the reserve index and who fall within the following categories:

- (A) Professors, teachers, and educators
- (B) Labor union organizers or leaders
- (C) Writers, lecturers, newsmen, entertainers, and others in the mass media field
- (D) Lawyers, doctors, and scientists
- (E) Other potentially influential persons on a local or national level
- (F) Individuals who could potentially furnish material financial aid

II. Recommendations for inclusion of names in the reserve index (section A)

- (A) Recommendations for inclusion of names in section A of the reserve index are to be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a. A succinct summary setting forth the basis for the recommendation should be attached to the form FD-122a. In addition, if no report is accompanying the recommendation, a statement to that effect should appear on the page containing the succinct summary.
- (B) Upon Bureau approval of recommendation for the inclusion of an individual's name in section A of the reserve index, two reserve index cards will be forwarded to the field. [Add] on the reverse side available descriptive data. One card is to be filed in your office, and one card is to be filed away from headquarters city at the same location as the extra set of security index cards are now stored.

III. Periodic review of section A of the reserve index
Investigations of individuals listed in section A of the reserve index are to be brought to date annually and considered for security index status or retention in the reserve index. Form FD-154 may be used for the annual review by amending it for use in reserve index cases. This investigation should include, as a minimum:

- (A) Verification of residence and employment
- (B) Indices search and file review to determine whether additional investigation is warranted or whether an interview with the individual is desirable
- (C) If additional investigation is conducted or if there is unreported information of a subversive nature contained in the files, submit a report.

- (b) Where potential dangerousness of a subject has been established and inclusion of that subject in security index is warranted, the office of origin shall submit a recommendation for inclusion in security index by submitting form FD-122 to Bureau. Form must be prepared in triplicate. Original and one copy shall be forwarded to Bureau and one copy will be placed in subject's investigative case file.

Nothing should appear on FD-122 or subsequently on the security index card which is not in the subject's case file. Form FD-122 has two uses: (1) to recommend a subject for inclusion in the security index and (2) to submit changes to data which appears on face of security index cards already existent.

Proper selection should be made in the opening paragraph option. FD-122 is submitted with abstract when used to recommend the subject for inclusion in the security index and without abstract when used to indicate additions, deletions, or changes in data appearing on existing cards.

- (c) When form FD-122 is submitted to Bureau recommending inclusion of a name in security index, attach an additional page or pages setting out a succinct summary of facts on which recommendation has been based. Facts must be in detail to clearly reflect soundness of recommendation. Statements of conclusion are not enough and original sources must be characterized as to reliability. Summary must contain pertinent dates of subject's activities.
- (d) When, at conclusion of investigation, subject's name is not being recommended for security index, set out a brief summary statement in the cover page(s) accompanying closing report[showing]reasons for decision.
- (e) Security index cards shall be recommended by and maintained by office of origin only.
- (f) [A current report must be in possession of the Bureau when subject is recommended for security index. If it is the initial report in the case, it must be a summary report. If, however, prior investigative reports have been submitted which are suitable for dissemination and are appropriately documented, a summary report need not be submitted.]
- (g) To assure that subject recommended for security index will receive proper attention, case shall be kept in pending or pending-inactive status until security index card has been received from Bureau and filed in office security index. If case continues in pending status because of outstanding investigation, reports shall carry a lead to follow authorization of security index card by the Bureau in addition to other leads. If outstanding investigation has been completed and case would otherwise be closed upon submission of the report and form FD-122, case shall be placed in pending-inactive status with lead to follow authorization of security index card by Bureau. In latter instance, upon receipt of Bureau's response, case may be closed administratively.
- (h) Recommendation for security index card should not be delayed because of absence of information concerning race, sex, citizenship, date and place of birth, or description where security index card is warranted. In such instances, recommendation for the card should be submitted with a current report and case retained in pending status with active investigation continuing to determine missing items of information.

- (i) Subjects missing or out of country may be recommended for the security index provided instructions set forth in 87D 6b (3) and (4) are followed. Forms FD-122 submitted on subjects should include data required in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV below.
- (j) When form FD-122 is submitted recommending a security index card be prepared on a subject who is of Chinese extraction, the words "Other - Chinese" must be included in the space on the form calling for a statement as to the subject's race. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending that a security index card be prepared on a person who is not of Chinese extraction but who has shown definite sympathies with communist China, the form should include under "Miscellaneous" a statement to the effect "sympathetic to Communist China."
- (k) Upon receipt of form FD-122 at Bureau, the case of the subject will be reviewed and if recommendation of field is concurred in, security index cards will be prepared. Duplicate copy of form will be returned to office of origin stamped "Security Index card approved and prepared, three copies attached. Place description and photograph on reverse side of Geographical card. Cards should be filed in your Security Index." The three cards shall be filed in security index as outlined below. The returned copy of FD-122 shall be placed in subject's main investigative case file. Offices with a geographical breakdown by residence and employment will receive an extra card.
- (l) When security index cards are received from Bureau, data thereon must be checked for accuracy. Cards will be complete except for description and photograph. Descriptions and photographs are maintained on separate cards of similar size to security index cards which are stapled to back of two of the cards. One card will then be filed in the geographical section of office security index (except special section cards and unavailable section cards - see 87D 7b (6) (b) III and IV below), and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. The other card is filed in alphabetical section of security index. Code letters should subsequently appear on security index cards received from Bureau.
- I. Name and aliases
- The full and correct name and aliases of the subject must be contained on the security index card. Data will not be attached to the security index card filed in the alphabetical section. These cards contain printed captions to assist in recording the descriptive information. Captions are not all-inclusive and should be augmented by other data required.

 - III. Form FD-186 is used for purpose of compiling information to be posted on the separate card attached to back of the security index card filed in the geographical section of index. Form may be filled in by the Agent handling the case in legible handwriting and forwarded to clerical employee designated to post this information on the attachment to the geographical, special or unavailable sections. After the security index card has been prepared at Bureau and sent to field and information appearing on FD-186 has been posted on the card to be attached, it shall be filed in the investigative case file.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

unequivocal regardless of Yugoslavia's foreign policies.

Standards for inclusion of subjects in the special section of the security index are the same as those for any other potentially dangerous subject.

When submitting a recommendation for preparation of a security index card on an individual falling in one of the above categories, form FD-122 must include the words "Special Section" typed in the upper right portion thereof. The proper category should be typed on FD-122 in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)."

Security index cards to be placed in the special section shall bear the appropriate code letters in the upper right portion designating the subsection in which the cards should be placed. Upon receipt from the Bureau of the three security index cards of subjects in these categories, the required additional data shall be placed on two which shall be filed alphabetically in the appropriate subsection of the special section. The third card shall be filed in the alphabetical section of the security index. Under no circumstances should special section security index cards be filed in the geographical section of the index.

When a security index subject whose card is maintained in the special section no longer comes within one of the categories of the special section, FD-122 must be submitted with the words "Remove from Special Section" typed in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." If the card should be placed in the unavailable section, the statement "Place in Unavailable Section" should be added in this space. When the new cards are received from the Bureau, they should be checked for accuracy and the description and photograph, if available, should be placed on separate cards of similar size and attached to the back of two of the cards. These two cards should then be filed in the geographical or unavailable section (where applicable) and the other card filed in the alphabetical section of the security index. The old cards should be destroyed.

When a special section subject is scheduled for priority apprehension under the detcom program, the special section card shall be appropriately tabbed.

It is not contemplated that subjects of security index cards maintained in the special section will be apprehended under a mass apprehension program. The cases of such subjects shall be given individual attention upon the inception of the apprehension program and the subjects will not be apprehended in the absence of specific Bureau instructions in each case.

IV. Unavailable section

Security index cards of individuals who are missing, out of the country, or are imprisoned shall be retained in the unavailable section. This section shall be broken down into three subsections headed by tabs marked "Missing,"

"Out of the Country," and "Imprisoned." The unavailable section shall be maintained in accordance with the following instructions:

(A) Missing subjects

Security index subjects are not to be included in the unavailable section as missing immediately upon determination that they are no longer located at their previously known places of residence or employment. The action required in 87D 6b (3) above must be taken prior to submitting FD-122 placing a subject in the unavailable section as a missing subject. The Bureau must be periodically advised of the investigative steps taken to locate missing security index subjects in accordance with 87D 6b (3).

If the subject is missing, the word "Missing" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)."

(B) Subjects out of the country

The security index cards of subjects who are found to have departed from the U. S. or Puerto Rico for a foreign country shall be placed in this subsection of the unavailable section of the security index unless their cards should be cancelled in accordance with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (10) (b).

If the subject is out of the country, the words "Out of the Country" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." If the foreign address is known, place it on FD-122 in the space provided for the residence address. If the subject is only known to be in a certain foreign country and his residence there is not known or is only known to be traveling abroad, include this information on FD-122. If the subject's current employment abroad is known, include it on FD-122.

The case of any security index subject who is of the country must be followed at least each month for verification of the subject's address the same as any other security index case, to determine if the subject has returned to this country.

Appropriate stops should be placed with the Immigration and Naturalization Service to be advised of information which may become available to it indicating the subject's return to this country.

(C) Imprisoned subjects

The cards of security index subjects who are found to be imprisoned shall be placed in the unavailable section of the security index.

If the subject is in prison, the word "Imprisoned" shall be typed in the space provided on FD-122 behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)." The identity of the institution in which the subject is incarcerated shall be typed in the space provided for the residence address. The space for the business address shall be left blank.

When it is determined that a security index subject is imprisoned, make arrangements with the confining institutions to be informed of the subject's release. An administrative tickler should be set up for a date shortly prior to the expected date of the subject's release to assure that you are informed of the subject's release. Upon receipt of advice of the release of the subject, ascertain whether the subject should be continued in the security index. If so, submit FD-122 in accordance with instructions set forth below.

Standards for inclusion of such subjects in the unavailable section of the security index are the same as those for any other potentially dangerous subject.

When submitting a recommendation for inclusion of a subject in the unavailable section who has not previously been included in the security index or changing an existing security index card from the geographical or special sections to the unavailable section, FD-122 must include the words "Unavailable Section" typed in the upper right portion thereof.

Places of former residence or former employment are not to be included on security index cards of subjects who are missing, who are out of the country, or who are imprisoned inasmuch as such data serves no useful purpose on the card.

Security index cards to be placed in the unavailable section shall bear code letters in the upper right portion designating the subsection in which the cards should be placed. Upon receipt of the three cards from the Bureau for each subject in one of these categories, place the required additional data on two which shall be filed alphabetically in the appropriate subsection of the unavailable section. File the third card in the alphabetical section of the security index.

When a subject who has been included in the unavailable section as a missing subject is located in your office territory or a subject who has been out of the country has returned to your territory or an imprisoned subject has been released, submit FD-122 [showing] the subject's current residence and place of employment. The words "Remove from Unavailable Section" shall be typed in the space provided behind the words "MISCELLANEOUS (Specify)" on FD-122. If the subject's card is to be placed in the special section, the statement "Place in Special Section - Espionage (or Foreign Government Employee, etc.)" should be added in this space. When the new cards are received from the Bureau, they shall be checked for accuracy and the description and photograph, if available, shall be placed on two of the three cards. These two cards shall then be filed in the geographical or special section (where applicable) and the other card shall then be filed in the alphabetical section. The old cards in the unavailable and alphabetical sections shall be destroyed.

When a subject who has been included in the unavailable section is located in another division, FD-128 shall should be completely filled out just as if a first recommendation is being made, and submitted with a current report. If not, the Bureau should be advised of the reasons for not reactivating his security index card. In either case, cancel the inactive card.

- (7) Periodic verification of addresses
- (a) The data recorded on security index cards shall be in an up-to-date status at all times.
 - (b) The whereabouts of all security index subjects should be known at all times. The residence and business addresses of all security index subjects except those who are imprisoned must be checked at least once each six months. The case of any security index subject who is out of the country must be followed at least each six months to determine if he has returned to this country.
- Perfect arrangements to be advised of any change in the subject's residence and/or business addresses. Periodic checks to verify residence or business addresses may be made under appropriate pretext by telephone, or other expeditious means.
- (c) The physical characteristics and description of each security index subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation and the individual case file of each security index subject shall [show] that this has been done. If a security index subject has not been personally observed previously, this should be done during the next verification of the subject's residence and/or business addresses.
 - (d) Use form FD-154 in verifying addresses of security index subjects when its use will facilitate the checking of the addresses. When FD-154 is not used in verifying addresses, a notation must be made on the last FD-154, FD-122, or FD-128 in the subject's case file [showing] the subject's current residence and business addresses and the date such addresses were verified. This must be done to assure that the file will contain all information concerning the status of the case and that the file will come to the attention of the Agent or field supervisor to determine if additional action is warranted at the time of the verification of addresses. Each time that a security index subject's residence and employment are verified, the case must be re-evaluated to assure that the subject is qualified for inclusion in the security index under the criteria for such inclusion. A notation to the effect that the case has been reviewed for this purpose shall be made in the file.
 - (e) If it is determined that the residence or business address or both have been changed from those appearing on the security index card, FD-122 should be submitted to the Bureau with the current residence or business address [shown] thereon. In such instances, FD-122 should [show] only the changes to be made on the security index card.
 - (f) The project of verifying addresses of security index subjects (other than top functionaries [and] key figures) shall be handled by reopening and assigning the cases for verification and closing the cases administratively upon accomplishment of verifications. Top functionary [and] key figure cases are to be handled as provided in section 87D, 7f, (8). Verifications should also be made at the time of submission of all annual investigative reports and should be reported therein.
 - (g) [Deleted]

- (8) Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing on security index cards
- (a) Submit to Bureau by FD-122 any changes, additions, or deletions involving name, aliases, citizenship, organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies, detcom classification, date or place of birth, key facility geographical reference number, abbreviation of agency having security responsibility (see 87D 7c (2) below), residence or business address. Exception: Change office of origin by form FD-128.
 - (b) Insertion or removal of cards from special section or unavailable section should be handled pursuant to 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV.
 - (c) Temporary handwritten notations may be made on existing security index cards pending receipt of corrected cards from Bureau.
 - (d) Indicate use of FD-122 for changes by checking proper opening paragraph and submit without abstract.
 - (e) Set out only items being changed, added, or deleted. If being deleted, specify "Delete."
 - (f) Upon receipt from Bureau of corrected security index cards with duplicate copy of FD-122 (stamped "Corrected Security Index cards attached. Substitute for cards in file and destroy old cards. Place photograph and description on reverse side of geographical cards."), action to be taken includes:
 - I. Check accuracy of data on cards.
 - II. [Deleted]
 - III. Transfer separate cards with descriptive data and photograph from back of old geographical section cards to back of corrected cards, staple them and file in geographical section. Exception: For special or unavailable section subjects, see 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV above.
 - IV. File third card in alphabetical section of security index.
 - V. Destroy old cards.
- (9) Movement of subjects between offices and transfers of security index cards
- (a) Subjects of security index cards other than key figures and top functionaries
 - I. Requests to verify addresses of security index subjects from other offices must be assigned immediately and results of investigation to verify the new address must be transmitted to the office of origin within two weeks.
 - II. Office of origin, upon receipt of verification of address, should submit FD-128 immediately transferring office of origin. Forms regarding unavailable section subjects should be prepared in accordance with 87D 7b (6) (b) IV above.
 - III. Submit original and one copy of FD-128 to Bureau. Submit two copies thereof to office covering subject's new address, enclosing copies of all previous reports, other pertinent serials, photograph if available, and security index cards. FD-128 should show full title.
 - IV. Information concerning key facility employment of subject in new office should be furnished by that office to old office of origin so that geographical reference of the source, date of activity, date received, and name of the Agent receiving the information are known, it is not necessary to request the office originally obtaining the information to document it further by furnishing information showing the location of the original in the office files. If all documentation, except the latter item, is not in the possession of the office preparing the report, it should be obtained.

V. If it is found desirable to include in a report the identities of individuals who are known communists and have been associates of the subject to lend weight to evidence of the subject's potential dangerousness, only the source of the information showing the associate to be a communist need be identified.

VI. In a very limited number of instances it may be necessary to obtain a thumbnail sketch or characterization of an individual or organization from another office or the Bureau. When such information is received in your office, it should be placed in thumbnail sketch files so that it will be available to and can be readily located by Agents having future need for it, thereby eliminating repeated requests of another office for the same information.

g. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of following submission of reports in security cases

Channelizing memoranda in organizational and individual security case files may be destroyed following submission of reports in these cases.

In destroying these memoranda, be guided by the following instructions:

- (1) The Agent, at the time he dictates the report, is to prepare a memorandum listing the channelizing memoranda to be destroyed by serial or serial scope and requesting the chief clerk's office to destroy. This memorandum should indicate that pertinent information contained in the serials to be destroyed was incorporated in the report. Use form FD-338 for this purpose.
- (2) The cover pages accompanying the report will list the file and serial number of the original informant reports or master channelizing memoranda.
- (3) In the case of multiple volumes the destruction memorandum should be prepared by the Agent in sufficient numbers so that one copy will appear in each volume of the multiple volume file being scrapped.
- (4) Prior to destruction, the Agent's recommendations are to be reviewed and approved by the supervisor at the time he reviews and approves the report.
- (5) Employee destroying the channelizing memoranda must place date of destruction and his initials on the destruction memorandum. Thereafter, this memorandum will be filed in the case file as a permanent record of the serials destroyed.
- (6) Channelizing memoranda [based on confidential investigative techniques] may be destroyed without the necessity of identifying in the cover pages of the report the exact location in the office files of the original information. The use of an asterisk identifies the source and the original information can be readily located.
- (7) Channelizing memoranda of translations of foreign language newspapers and periodicals may be destroyed provided the original translation is maintained in the main file of the publication concerned.
- (8) Do not destroy channelizing memoranda in the following instances:

locate subjects are not to be submitted. The Bureau will closely follow investigative action to locate missing security index subjects.

- II. If you receive indications that the subject went to Mexico or Canada, request the Bureau to alert other appropriate Government agencies to this possibility and to determine any available verifying information through liaison channels.
- III. If the subject is reported to have gone to any other foreign country, the Washington Field Office should be requested to check the records of the Passport Office of the State Department for verification.
- IV. When all logical leads have been exhausted in the case of a missing important functionary, consideration should be given to circularizing all field offices with the subject's photograph and background information for the purpose of alerting the entire field to the identity of the subject. Bureau authority must be obtained before circularization is made. In seeking Bureau authority, advise the Bureau as to the position held by the subject and what efforts have already been made to locate him.

If this procedure is to be effective, its application must necessarily be restrictive in the number of subjects to which it is applied. Therefore, requests to circularize must be made only after every possible lead has been exhausted and then only in the cases of the most important missing functionaries.

- (4) Individuals traveling abroad (Also consider section [105G,] volume IV, of this manual.)

When information is received indicating that

- a subject of a current or past security investigation,
- a past member of a basic revolutionary organization,
- a member since July, 1950, of an organization designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450,
- a member since July, 1950, of an organization declared subversive by the House Committee on Un-American Activities or other legislative committees, or
- a member since July, 1950, of an organization described by reliable informants or sources as being dominated or controlled by one of the basic revolutionary organizations intends to travel abroad or has already departed this country for foreign travel, take the following action:

- (a) Immediately advise the Bureau in form suitable for dissemination, setting forth complete available details concerning the foreign travel, including places and dates of departure and intended return, destination and itinerary, purpose of trip, the exact name under which the passport was issued, the number of the passport, and the office issuing the passport, if known. However, do not delay advising the Bureau of the actual or intended travel while developing the above information as time is of the essence in this matter.
- (b) Set out a lead for the Washington Field Office for a check of the records of the Passport Office, Department of State; however, do not limit efforts to develop above information to a check of such records.

- (D) Whether or not defector available for interview by all Agents
- (E) Whether he is in position to testify and willing to do so
- III. Do not include information concerning security informants for security reasons.
- IV. Proper maintenance of this file will be useful in identifying persons who may be in a position to furnish information of value in the future and will obviate necessity of extensive file reviews in this connection.
- V. A special index may be used for this file if desirable. If used, it should contain cards filed alphabetically indicating names, times, and places defectors were in a subversive movement and a brief description of information available from them. Break index down geographically and subdivide by years if desirable.

7. Administrative procedures

[a. Reserve index

(1) Purpose

The reserve index is designed to represent those persons who, in the light of ever-changing conditions, should be continually borne in mind from the standpoint of the security of the country with a view toward possible investigation, interrogation, or action under the security index program. This index may serve as an administrative aid and working index containing a central repository of the names of individuals having sympathy for or affiliation with the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations.

(2) Individuals to be included

This index is to contain names of individuals when, following investigation, the information does not justify the inclusion of the subject's name in the security index when there is evidence of:

- (a) Membership in a basic revolutionary organization subsequent to January 1, 1949, together with some indication of sympathy or association with such an organization or a subversive front organization subsequent to the reported membership and no reliable evidence of defection
- (b) Investigation has failed to substantiate allegations of membership in a revolutionary organization within the past five years, coupled with some evidence or information indicating activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within the same period, and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (c) The individual, within the past five years, by his associations, writings, financial support, or conduct in relation to and support of subversive organizations or the international communist movement is in a position to influence others at the time of a national emergency and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (d) Leadership or substantial activities in a major subversive front group over three years ago, together with some evidence of continuing activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within three years and no reliable evidence of defection
- (e) Membership in a subversive front organization within the past three years and no reliable evidence of defection

- (3) Arrangement
This index is to be maintained in two sections, section A and section B. Each section will be maintained alphabetically on 5- by 8-inch cards.

(a) Section A

Section A of the reserve index is designed to represent a special group of individuals who should receive priority consideration with respect to investigation and or other action following the apprehension of security index subjects.

- I. Section A should include those individuals whose subversive activities do not bring them within the security index criteria but who, in a time of national emergency, are in a position to influence others against the national interest or are likely to furnish material financial aid to subversive elements due to their subversive associations and ideology. Include in this section those individuals meeting the standards for inclusion in the reserve index and who fall within the following categories:

- (A) Professors, teachers, and educators
- (B) Labor union organizers or leaders
- (C) Writers, lecturers, newsmen, entertainers, and others in the mass media field
- (D) Lawyers, doctors, and scientists
- (E) Other potentially influential persons on a local or national level
- (F) Individuals who could potentially furnish material financial aid

- II. Recommendations for inclusion of names in the reserve index (section A)

- (A) Recommendations for inclusion of names in section A of the reserve index are to be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a. A succinct summary setting forth the basis for the recommendation should be attached to the form FD-122a. In addition, if no report is accompanying the recommendation, a statement to that effect should appear on the page containing the succinct summary.
- (B) Upon Bureau approval of recommendation for the inclusion of an individual's name in section A of the reserve index, two reserve index cards will be forwarded to the field. To these cards should be added the office file number and on the reverse side should be added available descriptive data. One card is to be filed in your office, and one card is to be filed away from headquarters city at the same location as the extra set of security index cards are now stored.

- III. Periodic review of section A of the reserve index
Investigations of individuals listed in section A of the reserve index are to be brought up to date annually and considered for security index status or retention in the reserve index. [Form FD-154 may be used for the annual review by amending it for use in reserve index cases.] This investigation should include, as a minimum:

- (A) Verification of residence and employment
- (B) Indices search and file review to determine whether additional investigation is warranted or whether an interview with the individual is desirable
- (C) If additional investigation is conducted or if there is unreported information of a subversive nature contained in the files, submit a report.

- d. Other Marxist revolutionary groups
A long-established group which would come under this category is the Proletarian Party of America, a relatively small organization.

There also are a few small groups composed of ex-members of the Communist Party, USA, who have voluntarily left the party or who have been expelled, usually for factionalism.

e. General

Communist investigations must be conducted in a most discreet and thorough manner at all times. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority. Bureau employees should not discuss communist or related investigations with any unauthorized individual. The subject of communism is not to be used in speeches of Bureau employees without specific authorization. However, there is considerable mimeographed material in each office, including speeches, testimony, and magazine articles prepared by the Director which could be furnished outside individuals interested in the subject of communism without any discussion.

2. Purposes of investigation

- a. The investigation of the Communist Party, USA, and other similar-type organizations is of twofold purpose: (1) to obtain legally admissible evidence against these organizations for prosecution under existing Federal statutes set out above and (2) to follow closely the activities of these organizations from an intelligence viewpoint to have a day-to-day appraisal of the strength, dangerousness, and activities of these organizations seeking the overthrow of the U. S. Government.
- b. Suggestions for proper coverage of the investigation of the Communist Party as an organization and similar organizations should include:
- (1) The assignment of sufficient Agent personnel to insure that all of the important ramifications of party activities are properly covered
 - (2) Development of confidential informants in all party levels, including the national headquarters organization
 - (3) The establishment of trash and mail covers on pertinent headquarters and party functionaries
 - (4) The constant effort to develop admissible evidence against party officials for violation of Federal laws
- [c. Brief to establish illegal status of Communist Party, USA
- (1) Purpose of brief is to collect all legally admissible evidence to prove illegality of party in one file. (Bufile 100-3-74)
 - (2) Reports on brief to establish illegal status must be submitted by each office quarterly and should include only legally admissible evidence obtained during preceding three-month period. (If no information to report, letter may be submitted.)
 - (3) It is advisable to use the following breakdown in preparing reports:
 - (a) Origin and continuity of the party
 - (b) Pertinent statements, writings, and instructions relating to (1) Marxism-Leninism, (2) imperialism, (3) proletarian internationalism, (4) defense of USSR, (5) revolutionary statements
 - (c) Internal Security Act of 1950. Include under this heading any admissible evidence which would tend to prove a violation of section 4(a) of this act.]

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions

This section contains detailed investigative guides for use in investigating and reporting activities of the Communist Party, USA.

a. To accurately and clearly show the true nature of the Communist Party, USA, data concerning the following topics must be fully developed and reported. Reports on the Communist Party, USA, as an organization must be submitted by each office quarterly and should cover activities for the preceding three-month period. All offices are required to use the following breakdown in preparing quarterly reports on the Communist Party, USA. Each subfile caption must start on a separate page.

(1) Organization (Bureau file 100-3-69)

- (a) Security setup of district and/or state organization. Office covering district headquarters, describe the population, the location, and size of Communist Party office facilities, rent paid, and name and number of office employees.
- (b) Identities and short biographic sketches of principal district officials including chairman, secretary, and other paid and/or important functionaries, together with short resume of important activities of each during three-month period.
- (c) Names of new commissions or special committees, identity and capacity of individual members thereof. Submit resume of activities of groups under appropriate subfile captions.
- (d) Special meetings embracing only organizational matters. Other pertinent matters discussed at meetings concerning policy or strategy to be submitted under appropriate subfile captions.
- (e) Extend this outline as far as necessary for clarity and to meet needs of office under this or any succeeding subsection. Auxiliary offices submit pertinent data concerning above matters which do not normally come to attention of office covering district headquarters.

(2) Membership (Bureau file 100-3-68)

(a) [Quarterly reports are not to contain any membership statistics. Cover pages accompanying each quarterly report must contain latest available statistics relating to total number of Communist Party members in the district. Membership data must start on a separate cover page.] Office of origin, which is office covering Communist Party district headquarters, should submit following figures:

- I. For entire Communist Party district
- II. For individual states covered by Communist Party district
- III. For number of Communist Party members in area covered by field office

Auxiliary offices should submit following membership figures to the Bureau and office of origin:

- I. For state or portion of state covered by that field office
- II. For number of Communist Party members in the area covered by that field office

When possible, totals should be broken down as to nationality, race, sex, employment, veterans, and membership in unions. Auxiliary offices which, due to lack of Communist Party activity in their divisions, have been authorized to submit data by quarterly letter should include membership figures in these letters to the Bureau and office of origin. These letters to be submitted by auxiliary offices prior to first day of month in which quarterly report is due. Office of origin responsible to obtain complete figures from its auxiliary offices.

- (b) In preparing estimates, best available informants and sources must be used. Include in cover pages of quarterly reports evaluation of degree of reliability of figures furnished by each source and of final figures submitted. Also include in cover pages total number of individuals positively identified as Communist Party members and total number of individuals tentatively identified as party members [within the twelve-month period immediately preceding the submission of the quarterly report.] In reporting membership figures, information from one source only is not acceptable unless facts are set forth demonstrating information from this source is the most accurate and most reliable information available.
 - (c) Explain in detail any increase or decrease in membership figures previously submitted. Where informants use such terms as "inactive" or "paper" members, their exact understanding of the meaning of the terms used and the number of individuals so described must be clearly explained. Full explanation must be made as to whether individuals so described are included in final membership figures submitted, together with reason for their inclusion or exclusion.

- (5) Underground operations (Bureau file 100-3-94)
Pertinent general information suitable for dissemination relating to underground operations of Communist Party. No information should be included in quarterly reports which would jeopardize informants or special investigative techniques. Current investigations relating to expanded underground operations during period 1951-1955 should be submitted by separate letter under individual case caption and should not be included in quarterly reports except for general information relating to methods of operation.
- (6) Factionalism (Bureau file 100-3-88)
 - (a) Submit pertinent information reflecting that any ranking Communist Party members or group of members have developed views as "left-wing sectarianists" or "right-wing opportunists" inasmuch as the party has a policy of expelling members who develop such views.

- III. Revolutionary statements made by subject showing advocacy of overthrow of Government by force or violence
 - (A) [Determine]each statement and[ascertain]full details surrounding each.
 - (B) [Determine]all statements by subject showing complete adherence to principles of Marxism-Leninism or other revolutionary doctrines espoused by subversive groups with which subject is identified.
 - IV. All other activities of subject indicating furtherance of program of subversive organizations with which he is associated
 - (A) Speeches
 - (B) Writings
 - (C) Organizational directives and/or educational outlines signed by or issued by subject, or issued while subject was officer of organization
 - (D) [Determine]all pertinent contacts between subject and leaders of party.
 - (E) [Ascertain]details concerning the subject's attendance at Lenin School, attendance at training schools of subversive organizations with which subject has been identified, or activity as instructor at such schools.
 - V. False statements made by subject including use of aliases. Such evidence obtained from passports, voting, marital records, income tax returns, employment and selective service records, among others, may be in your files.
 - VI. Miscellaneous
 - [Consider]pertinent items not falling under the above categories.
- (b) So far as possible all reports on individuals should be confined to:
- I. Proof of membership and activity in basic revolutionary organization and/or front organizations with knowledge of purpose thereof
 - II. Information concerning position and importance of subject in subversive movement
 - III. Pertinent background information

Include in security reports only information pertinent to determining whether or not subject is engaged in subversive activities. [Be certain to set out the date or period to which it pertains; e.g., John Doe advised on January 15, 1958, that subject attended Communist Party meetings in January, 1942, in Syracuse, New York.]

- (c) Information suggestive of additional leads and information of particular significance in showing subject's knowledge of and adherence to revolutionary aims of organization or organizations with which he is associated should be fully and carefully reported.
- (d) Each report is to include all information having any pertinency as to whether or not there is justification for security index card. This includes pertinent information concerning background and subversive activities.
- (e) When previous summary reports which have been prepared are not suitable for dissemination because of disclosure of sources, information contained therein should be included in current summary reports with sources fully protected. Each office must be certain that all pertinent information has been incorporated in either a past or current disseminative summary report.
- (f) Frequently information will have been obtained [reporting] subject's presence at numerous meetings of subversive organizations over a period of years. In many instances these facts will have been reported by only one informant. In others, two or three informants will have reported subject's attendance at meetings. The question of pertinency of all such items is dependent upon the weight of all of the evidence obtained against the subject.
- (g) Such repetitious and cumulative items to be specifically set forth in reports may be reduced in number to the point where they will be limited to a representative number of such items. Each such item specifically set forth must be fully documented.
- (h) The number of such items to be included in each instance will be dependent upon the preponderance of other evidence available for inclusion in the report which will lend weight to our case against the subject.
- (i) Selection of such items with regard to period of time will be dependent upon all facts developed against subject. Selection should be based upon the objective of specifically reporting data sufficient to justify continued detention of each subject if apprehended.

When selection of representative number of such items is made, they should be followed by a general statement summarizing any other items furnished by source. The summarizing statement should indicate that source advised during a specified period of time that subject also attended a certain number of other meetings during a certain period.

In the documentation of a summarizing statement set out the file number and serial scope.

- (j) [In connection with periodic reports in security index cases, there are instances in which evidence of extensive activity in subversive organizations will be developed. In these cases it is permissible to report such information in narrative-type statements without indicating exact dates of activity; however, the period of time involved must be shown; e.g., June, 1960 - June, 1961.

This type reporting is not to be utilized in Smith Act of 1940 cases or Internal Security Act of 1950 cases with the exception of key facility cases. The narrative statements must be statements of facts and not conclusions and information from each source must be reported in separate narrative statements.

- (k) The above instructions in no way remove responsibility for reporting all items of pertinence to the Bureau, bearing in mind the fact that Bureau files must be complete insofar as matters of substance are concerned, nor is responsibility removed for the reporting in detail of information tending to establish a subject's knowledge of the basic aims and purposes of the subversive organizations with which affiliated or information tending to establish that a subject holds revolutionary and/or anarchist beliefs.

In the documentation of narrative statements set forth the location of the original documents in the field office files by the file number and serial scope.]

(10) Administrative data

(a) General

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. Reserve index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, key figure or top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, FD-122a, FD-128, and FD-128a, and Bureau instructions for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature

- II. Whenever reports relating to security index subjects contain data affecting material included on subject's existing security index card, the cover pages accompanying the report shall include as the last page form FD-305, appropriately checked, which form contains items pertaining to the following:
- (A) That subject is included in the security index
 - (B) That data appearing on security index card is current or requires change
 - (C) That FD-122 has been submitted to Bureau where security index card changes are necessary

 - (I) That subject no longer meets security index criteria and a letter has been directed to the Bureau recommending cancellation of the security index card
 - (J) That subject's case has been re-evaluated and reasons are set forth as to why subject's activities continue to fall within security index criteria
 - (K) That subject's security index card is or is not tabbed detcom and that subject's activities do or do not warrant detcom tabbing

III. Form FD-305a containing items pertinent to reserve index subjects will be similarly utilized in connection with the submission of reports in reserve index cases.]

(b) Documentation of reports

- I. Deleted
- II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.
- III. Extensive investigation should not be conducted to further identify and locate outside individuals who have in the past furnished background information or to obtain documentary evidence of background information. For example, if previous investigation revealed that subject, according to reliable records, such as birth records, school records, or records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was born at a certain place on a certain date, such information will be sufficient for inclusion in report. Further verification will not be necessary.
- IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of Photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity attend party educational classes and schools within dictates of discretion and without jeopardizing their security.

- (23) Communist Party attempts to infiltrate mass organizations (Bureau file 100-3-106)

Information regarding Communist Party programs and attempts to infiltrate mass organizations, such as parent-teacher associations, church groups, and civic groups

- [(24) Public appearances of party leaders (Bureau file 100-3-114)]

(b) Date and place of appearance, identity of group sponsoring speaker, and succinct summary of subject matter discussed]

- b. Communist Party, USA - strategy in industry (Bureau file 100-3-89)

A separate case shall be maintained by each office on this basic phase of Communist Party activity. Offices of origin will be the same as in the Communist Party, USA, case. Reports will be submitted quarterly. Offices with no activity to report may submit letters. The instructions in paragraphs g and h will apply, with the addition of "Strategy in Industry" to the designated captions.

The investigation in this case shall cover all plans, strategy, tactics, and infiltration activities by the Communist Party, USA, directed against all industry, with special emphasis on activities connected with basic and vital industries. Particular attention shall be given to the composition, meetings, plans, and activities of Communist Party industrial and trade-union commissions and industrial and trade-union districts and clubs. Pertinent activities of individual communists charged with Communist Party duties in this field shall be included in reports. The information reported shall be grouped according to the industry involved, rather than according to individual labor unions. Refer to the subsection F on investigation of communist infiltration of labor unions and subsection H on Communist Control Act of 1954 for instructions regarding investigations concerning communist infiltration of specific labor unions.

- c. Any important developments concerning pertinent phases of Communist Party activity, such as certain security measures, important national or regional Communist Party meetings, changes in personnel in national Communist Party organization, underground activities, and other important matters should be brought to attention of Bureau by teletype, airtel, or letter as circumstances may require and later incorporated in quarterly reports. Such information, where pertinent, is disseminated on high level to other Government officials. Each office is to carefully evaluate data thus submitted so Bureau will at all times be advised of important developments and so no unnecessary duplication will result in reporting such information.

- d. Extreme care must be used to assure statements relating to affiliations or membership in proscribed or subversive organization are accurate in all respects. Identification of suspected organizations or individuals with information of a possible subversive nature must be accomplished by showing exact basis for such identification, plus corroboration for same wherever possible. In no case should a person be referred to as a "known communist" unless he is publicly known as such. Whenever an individual other than the subject of a report is mentioned for the purpose of showing subversive activity or sympathy on the part of the subject, the individual so mentioned should be described with an authoritative statement showing the subversive connection; e.g., "Reported by T_____ to have been a member of the White Collar Club of the Communist Party in 1945."

- e. Specific requirements relating to Communist Party, USA, investigations
 (1) New York Office has responsibility of investigating and reporting separately on national committee meetings, national training schools, and other important national meetings. New York is responsible for reporting activities of the New York District.

- f. Socialist Workers Party and other Marxist-Leninist or Trotskyite groups

The New York Office should submit quarterly reports on the Socialist Workers Party designating reports as pending. Separate reports should be submitted: one pertaining to local activities, the other pertaining to activities on a national basis. Auxiliary offices should submit reports each six months and may carry their cases in a pending-inactive status. Reports on less active Marxist-Leninist groups should be submitted semiannually and also may be carried as pending inactive.

FD-186 may also be used to record information that a security index subject has been physically observed. Descriptive data developed during observation of the subject should be noted on FD-186 for posting.

(6) Arrangement of the security index

(a) At Bureau

The entire security index is maintained at the Bureau through the utilization of IBM tabulating cards. The white 5- by 8-inch security index cards are printed by this machine and transmitted to the field. Through the use of this device, the security index can be broken down into the various categories of information appearing on the security index cards when such breakdowns become necessary for administrative purposes at the Bureau. This procedure makes it possible to maintain the content of the security index in the field and at the Bureau in an identical condition at all times.

An alphabetical breakdown of the true names and all aliases of security index subjects is also maintained at the Bureau for administrative purposes.

- (b) Where potential dangerousness of a subject has been established and inclusion of that subject in security index is warranted, the office of origin shall submit a recommendation for inclusion in security index by submitting form FD-122 to Bureau. Form must be prepared in triplicate. Original and one copy shall be forwarded to Bureau and one copy will be placed in subject's investigative case file.

Nothing should appear on FD-122 or subsequently on the security index card which is not in the subject's case file. Form FD-122 has two uses: (1) to recommend a subject for inclusion in the security index and (2) to submit changes to data which appears on face of security index cards already existent.

- Proper selection should be made in the opening paragraph of report. FD-122 is submitted with abstract when used to recommend the subject for inclusion in the security index and without abstract when used to indicate additions, deletions, or changes in data appearing on existing cards.
- (c) When form FD-122 is submitted to Bureau recommending inclusion of a name in security index, attach an additional page or pages setting out a succinct summary of facts on which recommendation has been based. Facts must be in detail to clearly reflect soundness of recommendation. Statements of conclusion are not enough and original sources must be characterized as to reliability. Summary must contain pertinent dates of subject's activities.
- (d) When, at conclusion of investigation, subject's name is not being recommended for security index, set out a brief summary statement in the cover page(s) accompanying closing report[showing]reasons for decision.
- (e) Security index cards shall be recommended by and maintained by office of origin only.
- (f) [A current report must be in possession of the Bureau when subject is recommended for security index. If it is the initial report in the case, it must be a summary report. If, however, prior investigative reports have been submitted which are suitable for dissemination and are appropriately documented, a summary report need not be submitted.]
- (g) To assure that subject recommended for security index will receive proper attention, case shall be kept in pending or pending-inactive status until security index card has been received from Bureau and filed in office security index. If case continues in pending status because of outstanding investigation, reports shall carry a lead to follow authorization of security index card by the Bureau in addition to other leads. If outstanding investigation has been completed and case would otherwise be closed upon submission of the report and form FD-122, case shall be placed in pending-inactive status with lead to follow authorization of security index card by Bureau. In latter instance, upon receipt of Bureau's response, case may be closed administratively.
- (h) Recommendation for security index card should not be delayed because of absence of information concerning race, sex, citizenship, date and place of birth, or description where security index card is warranted. In such instances, recommendation for the card should be submitted with a current report and case retained in pending status with active investigation continuing to determine missing items of information.

- (i) Subjects missing or out of country may be recommended for the security index provided instructions set forth in 87D 6b (3) and (4) are followed. Forms FD-122 submitted on subjects should include data required in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV below.
- (j) [When form FD-122 is submitted recommending a security index card be prepared on a subject who is of Chinese extraction, the words "Other - Chinese" must be included in the space on the form calling for a statement as to the subject's race. When form FD-122 is submitted recommending that a security index card be prepared on a person who is not of Chinese extraction but who has shown definite sympathies with Communist China, the form should include under "Miscellaneous" a statement to the effect "sympathetic to Communist China."]
- (k) Upon receipt of form FD-122 at Bureau, the case of the subject will be reviewed and if recommendation of field is concurred in, security index cards will be prepared. Duplicate copy of form will be returned to office of origin stamped "Security Index card approved and prepared, three copies attached. Place description and photograph on reverse side of Geographical card. Cards should be filed in your Security Index." The three cards shall be filed in security index as outlined below. The returned copy of FD-122 shall be placed in subject's main investigative case file. Offices with a geographical breakdown by residence and employment will receive an extra card.
- (1) When security index cards are received from Bureau, data thereon must be checked for accuracy. Cards will be complete except for field office file number, description, and photograph. Office file number should be placed on face of all cards. Descriptions and photographs are maintained on separate cards of similar size to security index cards which are stapled to back of two of the cards. One card will then be filed in the geographical section of office security index (except special section cards and unavailable section cards - see 87D 7b (6) (b) III and IV below), and one card shall be filed in the duplicate security index maintained away from headquarters city. The other card is filed in alphabetical section of security index. No information other than office file number shall be permanently added, deleted, or changed on face of security index card without complying with instructions set forth below under 87D 7b (8).
- (5) Content and appearance of security index card
- (a) Data to appear on face of card
- When complete, face of security index card should contain the following information. If any of items enumerated in I through XIV are missing at time the security index card is made, the case should be continued as pending and investigation conducted to obtain the necessary information. Set forth under each item below are possible categories in which subject may be classified, together with code letters which should be placed in appropriate space on form FD-122 when sending form to Bureau recommending security index card be prepared. Code letters should subsequently appear on security index cards received from Bureau.
- I. Name and aliases
- The full and correct name and aliases of the subject must be contained on the security index card. When the true name of a subject or any aliases are changed, added, deleted, or are found to be incorrect, form FD-122 must be submitted reflecting the correct data to be placed on the security index card.

should be completely filled out just as if a first recommendation is being made, and submitted with a current report. If not, the Bureau should be advised of the reasons for not reactivating his security index card. In either case, cancel the inactive card.

- (7) Periodic verification of addresses
- (a) The data recorded on security index cards shall be in an up-to-date status at all times.
 - (b) The whereabouts of all security index subjects should be known at all times. The residence and business addresses of all security index subjects except those who are imprisoned must be checked at least once each six months. The case of any security index subject who is out of the country must be followed at least each six months to determine if he has returned to this country.
Perfect arrangements to be advised of any change in the subject's residence and/or business addresses. Periodic checks to verify residence or business addresses may be made under appropriate pretext by telephone, or other expeditious means.
 - (c) The physical characteristics and description of each security index subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation and the individual case file of each security index subject shall [show] that this has been done. If a security index subject has not been personally observed previously, this should be done during the next verification of the subject's residence and/or business addresses.
 - (d) Use form FD-154 in verifying addresses of security index subjects when its use will facilitate the checking of the addresses. When FD-154 is not used in verifying addresses, a notation must be made on the last FD-154, FD-122, or FD-128 in the subject's case file [showing] the subject's current residence and business addresses and the date such addresses were verified. This must be done to assure that the file will contain all information concerning the status of the case and that the file will come to the attention of the Agent or field supervisor to determine if additional action is warranted at the time of the verification of addresses. Each time that a security index subject's residence and employment are verified, the case must be re-evaluated to assure that the subject is qualified for inclusion in the security index under the criteria for such inclusion. A notation to the effect that the case has been reviewed for this purpose shall be made in the file.
 - (e) If it is determined that the residence or business address or both have been changed from those appearing on the security index card, FD-122 should be submitted to the Bureau with the current residence or business address [shown] thereon. In such instances, FD-122 should [show] only the changes to be made on the security index card.
 - (f) The project of verifying addresses of security index subjects (other than top functionaries [and] key figures) shall be handled by reopening and assigning the cases for verification and closing the cases administratively upon accomplishment of verifications. Top functionary [and] key figure cases are to be handled as provided in section 87D, 7f, (8). Verifications should also be made at the time of submission of all annual investigative reports and should be reported therein.

 - (f) Upon receipt from Bureau of corrected security index cards with duplicate copy of FD-122 (stamped "Corrected Security Index cards attached. Substitute for cards in file and destroy old cards. Place photograph and description on reverse side of geographical cards."), action to be taken includes:
 - I. Check accuracy of data on cards.
 - II. Place office file number on face of all cards.
 - III. Transfer separate cards with descriptive data and photograph from back of old geographical section cards to back of corrected cards, staple them and file in geographical section. Exception: For special or unavailable section subjects, see 87D 7b (6) (b) III or IV above.
 - IV. File [third] card in alphabetical section of security index.
 - V. Destroy old cards.
- (9) Movement of subjects between offices and transfers of security index cards
- (a) Subjects of security index cards other than key figures and top functionaries
 - I. Requests to verify addresses of security index subjects from other offices must be assigned immediately and results of investigation to verify the new address must be transmitted to the office of origin within two weeks.
 - II. Office of origin, upon receipt of verification of address, should submit FD-128 immediately transferring office of origin. Forms regarding unavailable section subjects should be prepared in accordance with 87D 7b (6) (b) IV above.

 - IV. Information concerning key facility employment of subject in new office should be furnished by that office to old office of origin so that geographical reference agency responsible for such action. Forward such data to Bureau and incorporate in next report submitted concerning individual in question. Where no investigation has been conducted by Bureau and there is no case on individual being denied clearance, give consideration to opening a security investigation if information received from intelligence agency warrants such action.

- (2) Inclusion in security index /
 In recommending key facility employee for inclusion in security index, FD-122 is to contain:
- (a) Key facility geographical reference number
 - (b) Abbreviation for agency having security responsibility
 - (c) Abbreviations for interested agencies obtained from Department of Defense Key Facilities List. Interested agencies should be identified on FD-122 to assure proper dissemination of reports but will not appear on security index cards returned from Bureau.
 - (d) Abbreviation AEC immediately following abbreviation for agency having security responsibility when abbreviation of responsible agency on key facilities list is followed by asterisk, which denotes Atomic Energy Commission is involved in security responsibility. This data will appear on security index cards returned from the Bureau.

If subject of existing security index card is found to have become employed in a key facility, FD-122 must be submitted to Bureau with above-required key facility data set forth thereon. Case is then to be handled in accordance with instructions set forth below concerning key facility cases.

- (3) [Deleted]
- (4) Dissemination
 Upon receipt of original complaint or allegation concerning key facility employee from source other than interested intelligence agency, a summary of complaint and information concerning the individual should be furnished immediately by [letter] to interested intelligence agency. Intelligence agency should then be advised whether a security investigation is being conducted of the individual and, if investigation is being conducted, that copies of reports will be furnished upon completion of investigation. Letter to intelligence agency should clearly point out that information is unsubstantiated and has not been verified through investigation by FBI.

These instructions do not apply to allegations of espionage or those of such a confidential character as would not ordinarily be disseminated. Such information appearing to be of immediate interest to other intelligence agencies should be submitted to Bureau by most expeditious means, depending upon the circumstances, with a request that the Bureau consider advisability of disseminating it.

Disseminate copies of each report to local representatives of interested intelligence agencies as reflected in key facilities list, including in all cases the agency having security responsibility. Copies of reports for the Marine Corps should be disseminated locally to ONI.

Dissemination to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA) (formerly Armed Forces Special Weapons Project), the Research and Development Board (RDB), and the Maritime Administration (MA) will be made at the Bureau, and not in the field.

(5) Status of cases

After all active investigation conducted, place in a [closed] status. Forty-five days before report due, make case pending active and check with armed services representative at the key facility, or with other reliable sources, to determine whether subject has access to classified or restricted material.

d. Key figure and top functionary program

(1) General

Purpose of key figure and top functionary program is to select for special attention those individuals in a subversive movement who are of outstanding importance to the effectiveness of the movement.

Key figure and top functionary program is described below as pertaining to the Communist Party, USA. However, it also applies to important individuals active in or on behalf of other basic revolutionary groups.

(2) Key figures

(a) Definition

A key figure is an individual, either a member or non-member of the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organization, who, by reason of his official position in the organization or his connections with the communist movement and his activities on its behalf, is considered of sufficient importance and potential dangerousness from an internal security standpoint to require immediate apprehension or detention in the event of an emergency. Individuals coming within the following categories shall be considered within the definition of a key figure:

- I. National, district, and state officers and the principal officers of the local clubs of the Communist Party
- II. The principal organizers of the Communist Party
- III. Those communists who are executive officers or outstanding figures in established communist front or controlled organizations, foreign language groups, and Negro organizations infiltrated by communists
- IV. Individuals extensively engaged in communist infiltration of the labor movement, including principal officers of labor organizations who are members of or closely affiliated with the Communist Party. In

VII. Maintenance of key figure list

- (A) Each office must maintain current list of key figures including top functionaries. List may be kept by simple list system, by maintaining a file wherein all additions and deletions to the list are reported, or by a card index system. Maintain key figure list separate from security index.
- (B) Key figures should retain their designation notwithstanding their departure for foreign travel or other circumstances requiring temporary discontinuance of investigation.
- (C) Should a key figure become subject of a security of Government employees investigation, his name should continue to appear on the key figure list, but the investigation shall proceed in accordance with existing instructions governing SGE cases.

(3) Top functionaries

(a) Definition

A top functionary is an individual, either a member or a nonmember of the Communist Party, to whom, because of his importance, it is necessary to give continuous investigative attention in order to keep abreast of communism on a national basis in the U. S. Necessarily, such an individual would be on a high policy level in the movement.

The term "top functionary" is not to be construed as requiring that individuals in this category must actually hold official positions in party organizations but shall be given a broad enough construction to include others who are of equal importance because of their influence in the movement itself, or their position and activities outside the party in labor, front, or similar organizations or movements.

(b) Manner of designation

Prior Bureau authority necessary to designate a subject as a top functionary. Submit such recommendation to Bureau by letter containing reasons for the recommendation. Bureau desires to be very selective in this matter and to concentrate on individuals who, on a national basis, are the guiding hands in the communist movement.

At the seat of Government a careful appraisal will be made of the field's recommendation, following which the office will be advised concerning the Bureau's decision on the recommendation.

- (c) Regulations governing top functionaries
- I. Regulations set forth under (2) (b) above pertaining to key figures relative to photographs, handwriting specimens, security index cards, change of office of origin, detcom tabbing, character of reports, and inclusion in the key figure list apply to individuals designated as top functionaries.
 - II. Reports
Submit reports on top functionaries quarterly. Make status pending-inactive if there are no outstanding leads for active investigation.

e. Correlation of other investigations with the security index and [reserve]index

Individuals investigated by the Bureau under any character against whom subversive information is developed must be constantly borne in mind for inclusion in the security index and/or [reserve] index.

- (1) Espionage and foreign intelligence investigations
Subjects of these investigations must be included in the security index and/or the [reserve]index if they meet the standards for inclusion therein. It is the responsibility of the investigating Agent and field supervising official to make appropriate recommendations for preparation of the security index card and/or the [reserve]index card, whenever appropriate.
- (2) Security of Government employes (SGE) investigations
Subjects of all SGE investigations against whom subversive derogatory information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or [reserve]index.

The Agent conducting investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer such cases to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling. Copies of reports [showing] disloyal information must be submitted to the field office covering the subject's residence, when developed by any other office.

When an individual who has previously been investigated under the SGE character is the subject of a security index card and is still employed by the Federal Government or is being considered for Federal employment, the dual character of "Security of Government Employees" and the character of the subject's security case should be used in the report being submitted. This will insure that the reports are referred to the appropriate desks for supervision at the Bureau, as well as in the field. These reports should be written according to the standards prevailing for SGE reports.

Disseminate these dual character reports the same as any other security report. Representatives of other intelligence agencies requesting reports [showing] the actual SGE investigation should be informed to direct the request to their Washington headquarters for referral to the Bureau.

- (3) Atomic Energy Act, Voice of America applicant, departmental applicant, Bureau applicant, and other Bureau investigations
Subjects of all above investigations against whom subversive information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or the [reserve]index. In each such case the Agent conducting the investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer the matter to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling.

Copies of reports [showing] disloyal information must be submitted to the office covering the subject's residence, whenever developed by another office.

(6) Character

- (a) Key figures and top functionaries
Internal Security - followed by the letters designating the organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies.
Examples:

Internal Security - C
Internal Security - SWP

- (b) Others
Security Matter - followed by the letters designating the organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendencies.
Examples:

Security Matter - C
Security Matter - SWP
Security Matter - X (native fascist)
Security Matter - M (miscellaneous)

When a subject is deleted as a key figure, the character shall be changed from internal security to security matter in the first report following the deletion and all subsequent reports. When a security matter subject is designated a key figure, the first report after the designation and all subsequent reports shall bear the internal security character. In any event, if subject is employed in a key facility, add the additional character "Internal Security Act of 1950" if the organizational activity of the subject is of a communist nature.

(7) Deleted

(a) Top functionaries

I. Pending inactive

(c) [Deleted]

- (d) Other security index subjects
- I. Closed
 - (A) Cases of all other security index subjects must be followed by administrative ticklers set up so as to insure submission of an annual investigative report. The cases shall be opened and assigned 45 days prior to the date the annual report is due. Such cases shall also be opened and assigned six months after submission of the annual report to accomplish verification of addresses. Upon such verification, the cases should be closed administratively.
 - (e) Cases of subjects recommended for security index
 - I. Pending inactive
 - (A) If all active investigation completed at the time FD-122 forwarded to Bureau
 - (B) Lead to follow Bureau for security index card should be set forth.
 - II. Closed
 - (A) Upon receipt of security index card from Bureau
 - (B) Thereafter follow by administrative tickler for investigative report as in (d) above.
 - (f) Subjects not in security index who are not to be included therein
 - I. Closed
 - (A) Prior to closing, instructions under 87D 6b (7) pertaining to interview must be complied with.
- (9) [Content]
- (a) [In order to insure completeness of investigation, the following items should be considered as pertinent to an investigation and subsequent reporting of such should be handled under topical headings where appropriate.]
 - I. Background
 - (A) Birth date
 - (B) Citizenship status
 - (C) Education
 - (D) Marital status
 - (E) Military service record (domestic or foreign, including type of discharge, citations, etc.)
 - (F) Identification record
 - (G) Employment
 - (H) Residence
 - (I) Status of health (if known)
 - II. Connections with Communist Party (or other basic revolutionary groups and/or front organizations)
 - (A) Information concerning admission to revolutionary group including sponsors, etc.
 - (B) History of activity in, attendance at meetings of, and positions held in subversive movement with which subject is identified

of the source, date of activity, date received, and name of the Agent receiving the information are known, it is not necessary to request the office originally obtaining the information to document it further by furnishing information showing the location of the original in the office files. If all documentation, except the latter item, is not in the possession of the office preparing the report, it should be obtained.

V. If it is found desirable to include in a report the identities of individuals who are known communists and have been associates of the subject to lend weight to evidence of the subject's potential dangerousness, only the source of the information showing the associate to be a communist need be identified.

VI. In a very limited number of instances it may be necessary to obtain a thumbnail sketch or characterization of an individual or organization from another office or the Bureau. When such information is received in your office, it should be placed in thumbnail sketch files so that it will be available to and can be readily located by Agents having future need for it, thereby eliminating repeated requests of another office for the same information.

g. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of following submission of reports in security cases

Channelizing memoranda in organizational and individual security case files may be destroyed following submission of reports in these cases. In destroying these memoranda, be guided by the following instructions:

- (1) The Agent, at the time he dictates the report, is to prepare a memorandum listing the channelizing memoranda to be destroyed by serial or serial scope and requesting the chief clerk's office to destroy. This memorandum should indicate that pertinent information contained in the serials to be destroyed was incorporated in the report. [Use form FD-338 for this purpose.]
- (2) The cover pages accompanying the report will list the file and serial number of the original informant reports or master channelizing memoranda.
- (3) In the case of multiple volumes the destruction memorandum should be prepared by the Agent in sufficient numbers so that one copy will appear in each volume of the multiple volume file being stripped.
- (4) Prior to destruction, the Agent's recommendations are to be reviewed and approved by the supervisor at the time he reviews and approves the report.
- (5) Employee destroying the channelizing memoranda must place date of destruction and his initials on the destruction memorandum. Thereafter, this memorandum will be filed in the case file as a permanent record of the serials destroyed.
- (6) Technical and microphone surveillance channelizing memoranda may be destroyed without the necessity of identifying in the cover pages of the report the exact location in the office files of the original information. The use of an asterisk identifies the source and the original information can be readily located.
- (7) [Channelizing memoranda of translations of foreign language newspapers and periodicals may be destroyed provided the original translation is maintained in the main file of the publication concerned.]
- (8) Do not destroy channelizing memoranda in the following instances:

locate subjects are not to be submitted. The Bureau will closely follow investigative action to locate missing security index subjects.

- II. If you receive indications that the subject went to Mexico or Canada, request the Bureau to alert other appropriate Government agencies to this possibility and to determine any available verifying information through liaison channels.
- III. If the subject is reported to have gone to any other foreign country, the Washington Field Office should be requested to check the records of the Passport Office of the State Department for verification.
- IV. When all logical leads have been exhausted in the case of a missing important functionary, consideration should be given to circularizing all field offices with the subject's photograph and background information for the purpose of alerting the entire field to the identity of the subject. Bureau authority must be obtained before circularization is made. In seeking Bureau authority, advise the Bureau as to the position held by the subject and what efforts have already been made to locate him.

If this procedure is to be effective, its application must necessarily be restrictive in the number of subjects to which it is applied. Therefore, requests to circularize must be made only after every possible lead has been exhausted and then only in the cases of the most important missing functionaries.

- (4) Individuals traveling abroad (If subject is a resident alien, also consider section 105E, 4, volume IV, of this manual.) When information is received indicating that
 - [a subject of a current or past security investigation, a past member of a basic revolutionary organization, a member since July, 1950, of an organization designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450, a member since July, 1950, of an organization declared subversive by the House Committee on Un-American Activities or other legislative committees, or a member since July, 1950, of an organization described by reliable informants or sources as being dominated or controlled by one of the basic revolutionary organizations] intends to travel abroad or has already departed this country for foreign travel, take the following action:
 - (a) Immediately advise the Bureau in form suitable for dissemination, setting forth complete available details concerning the foreign travel, including places and dates of departure and intended return, destination and itinerary, purpose of trip, the exact name under which the passport was issued, the number of the passport, and the office issuing the passport, if known. However, do not delay advising the Bureau of the actual or intended travel while developing the above information as time is of the essence in this matter.
 - (b) Set out a lead for the Washington Field Office for a check of the records of the Passport Office, Department of State; however, do not limit efforts to develop above information to a check of such records.

- (c) In the case of an individual previously the subject of investigation, the case should be brought up to date by the prompt submission of a report in the event there is unreported information contained in the file. If reports have not previously been submitted in the case, a letterhead memorandum summarizing the available subversive data should accompany the initial letter advising the Bureau of the proposed travel.
- (d) Information concerning these subjects' proposed travel abroad, including information concerning their subversive activities, is furnished by the Bureau to the Department of State, Central Intelligence Agency, and legal attaches if the proposed travel is in areas covered by such and, frequently, requests are made of one or all of the above to place stops with appropriate security services abroad to be advised of the activities of these subjects.
- (e) When information is received that an individual with a subversive background [falling within the categories set out previously herein] is forming a tour group for foreign travel or an organization which is considered subversive is sponsoring such a tour, advise appropriate offices under the caption of the tour name or the organization sponsoring the tour of the identities of the individuals participating in the tour and furnish the Bureau a letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination to the State Department, the Central Intelligence Agency, and appropriate legal attaches, including therein all readily available information pertaining to the tour, such as itinerary, pertinent dates, names of individuals making up the tour with addresses, if available, and a thumbnail sketch of the organization or individual sponsoring the tour.

Letterhead memoranda relating to the tours will be disseminated by the Bureau with a statement that, as individuals participating are identified, recipients will be furnished with memoranda under the individual case caption where those individuals are found to have subversive backgrounds. Therefore, the appropriate field offices should immediately identify and submit individual memoranda concerning such individuals. The details of travel will be replaced by a reference to the memorandum previously prepared under the caption of the organization sponsoring the tour. Prepare individual memoranda only in the cases of individuals with subversive backgrounds [falling within the categories set out previously herein.]

In addition, appropriate offices should submit a letter to the Bureau under the organization caption listing the names of those individuals residing within their territory who are traveling with the tour group and on whom no subversive information is found.

- (f) Advise the Bureau promptly in form suitable for dissemination of a subject's return from travel abroad in those instances in which stops have been placed with security services abroad through the agencies listed above. In instances in which an individual against whom stops have been placed has traveled to any country behind the Iron Curtain, the Bureau shall also be furnished at that time with recommendations as to the desirability of interview of such person and with advice as to whether additional investigation concerning him is contemplated. In the event such an interview is authorized, it shall be conducted promptly and the case shall not be closed until such interview is had and the results thereof submitted in report form.
- (g) In some instances a security investigation of a subject not yet included in the security index may be in progress at the time it is found that the subject has recently departed for a foreign country. If the evidence developed at that time warrants the inclusion of the subject in the security index were it not for the fact that he is outside the U. S., form FD-122 should be submitted recommending his inclusion in the unavailable section of the security index. After all initial investigation is completed, the subject's case will be handled the same as those of other subjects of a similar status who are included in the unavailable section as out of the country.

If the subject is an alien who has been deported or has otherwise permanently departed from the U. S., he should not be included in the security index.

When it is determined that a security index subject has departed for a foreign country, his security index card shall be placed in the unavailable section and his case handled in accordance with the instructions set forth under 87D 7b (6) (b) IV.

(5) Investigative techniques

While it is not possible to enumerate all investigative techniques which can and should be employed in these investigations, there are certain proven techniques which have been used with continued success and should be applied wherever possible.

(a) File reviews

Upon the initiation of a security investigation of an individual, check the office indices and review files thoroughly for any pertinent information on record showing background and subversive activity of each individual subject. Include such information in the initial investigative report.

Once a main security file has been opened for an individual, subsequent information received concerning him should be channelized to that file. The reference cards pertaining to the subject should be consolidated in the indices after each check and review of files has been made.

(b) Security informants

Success of security investigations of individuals is primarily dependent upon a broad confidential informant coverage within every phase of subversive activity. Information and evidence developed through such sources are unsurpassed in value because of possible use not only for intelligence purposes but also as admissible evidence.

(B) During the first contact, the interviewing Agent will introduce himself as a Special Agent of the FBI by use of credentials or badge and will open the conversation by using an appropriate pretext or by reciting the Bureau's responsibilities in the security field and asking the subject whether he can be of assistance to the Government. If the individual has been a member of a basic revolutionary organization and indicates he might cooperate, he may be questioned during the initial contact about his own activities in order to further ascertain the extent to which he will cooperate. This original interview is for the sole purpose of allowing the Agent to determine whether the individual being interviewed might be cooperative.

(e) Prior Bureau authority

- I. Subjects of active current investigations where no interview with prior Bureau authority has previously been conducted
 - II. Closed cases where the subject is on the security index and no prior interview has been conducted
 - III. Subjects of investigations requested by the Bureau, both open and closed, such as applicant-type cases, loyalty cases, etc.
 - IV. Any persons where circumstances indicate a delicate situation exists and a greater than usual risk is involved, such as individuals employed in the newspaper field, educational field, radio and television industry, religious field, publishing houses, labor leaders, and the like. Bureau authority must be requested with respect to situations of this kind even though prior interviews have been had with these interviewees.
 - V. Security subjects who have publicly disclosed previous contacts
 - VI. Subjects of section A reserve index cards
- In any of the above cases, no report need be submitted when requesting Bureau authority to interview a subject of a security investigation except those persons under IV above. This does not relieve you of the responsibility of submitting reports in security cases when due; e.g., annual reports in routine security index cases and six-month reports in key figure cases.
- VII. The request for Bureau authority for the interview should be set forth in the first paragraph of the letter and unless you are recommending a special manner or procedure for conducting the interview, the first paragraph should contain the following statements:

"Bureau authority is requested to interview subject in accordance with existing instructions relating to interviews of security subjects. If this subject is cooperative, no affirmative steps will be taken during the initial interview to direct his activities and complete background investigation required by section 107C of the Manual of Instructions [will be] conducted and Bureau will be requested to authorize recontact with subject as a PSI."

[Form FD-336 contains the above statement and may be used in requesting Bureau authority for the interview.]

The above statement in no way precludes interviewing Agents during initial contacts and recontacts from obtaining all subversive information subject is willing to furnish or other data which will assist in determining his potentialities as an informant.

- VIII. Letters requesting Bureau authority for the interview must contain the following information, if available:
- (A) Residence address, occupation, employment and race of subject, date and place of birth, citizenship, and status of health
 - (B) Marital status. If married, the occupation, employment, and race of the spouse.
 - (C) Length of time subject a member of or affiliated with subversive organizations and positions he held in such organizations. In cases in which investigation is based on some allegation or circumstances of a security nature other than membership in or affiliation with subversive organizations, facts upon which investigation is predicated should be briefly set forth.
 - (D) If married, information indicating the spouse is or has been a member of or affiliated with subversive groups, the position held in such groups, and the length of time of such membership or affiliation
 - (E) Membership or affiliation of any other close relatives in subversive groups
 - (F) Information regarding defection, expulsion, inactivity, and present sympathies of the subject and, if married, of the spouse
 - (G) What is expected to be gained by the interview
- IX. In each letter, pertinent information, if available, regarding the seven items listed above must be set out under the appropriate number but the above headings need not be restated. If no pertinent data is available regarding any of the items, you should make the appropriate comments after the respective number.
- X. All letters requesting Bureau authority to interview the subject of a security investigation must be personally approved by the SAC.
- XI. One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When unnecessary for Bureau to issue specific instructions or comments in connection with authorizing an interview, the Bureau will approve the request by placing an appropriate rubber-stamp impression on the single-page copy of the incoming letter and return it by routing slip.
- XII. Upon receipt of Bureau authority, the interview must be conducted within [45] days. If this is impossible, advise Bureau of the reasons why the interview was not effected and state that the subject will be contacted within the next [45] days. At the end of the second [45-day] period if the interview has not been conducted, request additional authority. Include in the letters any new information bearing upon the advisability of conducting the interview.
- (f) Preparations for and conduct of interviews
- I. Interviews must be conducted by two Special Agents. An Agent experienced in security investigations who has knowledge of Bureau regulations regarding development of informants must conduct the actual interrogation. Approach need not be made by both Agents at the same time and one Agent may observe from a secure distance. Background of subject and individual circumstances will determine exactly how approach should be handled in each case. Two Agents should be physically present during any interview or contact with known or suspected Nation of Islam members in all types of Bureau cases.
 - II. Preparations for interview must be thorough and conducted so that interviewing Agents will not be compromised, the Bureau will not be embarrassed, and confidential informants will not be exposed.

- (10) Submit semiannual letters March 1 and September 1 under caption "Communist Infiltration of Mass Organizations," Bufile 100-3-106. Set forth desired data utilizing following topical outline and headings:
- (a) I. Data concerning Communist Party program
Set forth details of data received concerning Communist Party's program, both nationally and locally, to infiltrate mass organizations; steps taken to carry out program; and success being achieved by party.
 - (b) II. Organizations concerning which data previously submitted [Only] list names and Bureau file numbers, if known, of those organizations concerning which data has been furnished to Bureau since submission of previous semi-annual letter.
 - (c) III. Organizations concerning which data being submitted by instant letter List the names and Bureau file numbers, if known, of those organizations concerning which data is being submitted with semiannual letter [for the first time.] Submit data as enclosure to letter. Utilize five-point outline set out under item (4) above. Submit separate enclosure on each organization listed in this category. Furnish two copies of each enclosure and sufficient copies of cover letter in order that copy of semiannual letter and enclosure can be placed in Bureau file on organization. This will eliminate necessity of submitting summary letter under each individual case caption. Do not use T symbols in enclosure, but set out identity of sources.
- f. Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Bureau Agents during course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority.
- g. Photographic surveillances
- (1) No photographic surveillances are to be conducted in communist front organization cases unless it is essential to protect Bureau's interests in internal security field by supplementing live informant coverage of a particular meeting with such a surveillance.
 - (2) Request Bureau authority to institute such a surveillance and outline manner in which it will be conducted and supervision which will be afforded it.
 - (3) No such surveillances should be instituted without specific Bureau authority.

3. Investigative procedures and suggestions re communist front organizations To accurately and clearly show true nature of communist front groups, data concerning the following topics, where applicable, should be fully developed and reported on:

- a. Origin and scope
 - Date of formation. Circumstances under which founded.
 - Determine who in Communist Party instructed organization be set up; whether decision to set up group made at meeting of party functionaries and, if so, identify functionaries present; identity of individual or individuals responsible for organizing group.
 - Identify all known chapters, if any, and location thereof.
- b. Whether incorporated
 - Many organizations are incorporated requiring filing of incorporation papers with appropriate state officials.
- c. Aims and purposes
- d. Location of headquarters
- e. Officers
 - List principal officers, board of directors, etc., and appropriate characterization of each showing communist affiliation.
- f. Membership
 - Ascertain estimated membership. Whenever possible, secure membership lists, mailing lists, or other records reflecting affiliation with organization. Usually obtainable through informant coverage or utilization of various investigative techniques. Secure accurate description of all lists to make sure there is no confusion as to the exact identity or significance of list being reported on.
- g. Official organ, if any, and other literature
 - (1) May be obtained through confidential mailbox, panel sources, and confidential informants
 - (2) All such literature should be appropriately identified.
 - (3) At least one copy of each pertinent piece of literature should be promptly furnished to Bureau.
- h. General activities
- i. Finances
 - Special efforts must be made to locate and monitor bank accounts of organizations. Location of bank accounts frequently obtainable through confidential informants, credit records, public utility records, records of rental agent, and monitoring of other organizations' bank accounts.
- j. Support given to Communist Party
 - Preponderance of evidence should be developed reflecting support, financial or otherwise, given by the organization to the Communist Party.
- k. Support received from Communist Party
 - Preponderance of evidence should be developed reflecting support, financial or otherwise, received by the organization from the Communist Party.
- l. Implementation of Communist Party line
 - Can usually be shown through comparison of programs and literature of organization with those of Communist Party during any particular period.

Data concerning above topics can usually be secured through the following sources: confidential informants, incorporation records, bank records, literature and publications of organization, newspapers, public meetings and rallies, confidential investigative techniques, various types of public records, panel sources, confidential sources and other sources of information, interviews with past or present locate subjects are not to be submitted. The Bureau will closely follow investigative action to locate missing security index subjects.

- II. If you receive indications that the subject went to Mexico or Canada, request the Bureau to alert other appropriate Government agencies to this possibility and to determine any available verifying information through liaison channels.
- III. If the subject is reported to have gone to any other foreign country, the Washington Field Office should be requested to check the records of the Passport Office of the State Department for verification.
- IV. When all logical leads have been exhausted in the case of a missing important functionary, consideration should be given to circularizing all field offices with the subject's photograph and background information for the purpose of alerting the entire field to the identity of the subject. Bureau authority must be obtained before circularization is made. In seeking Bureau authority, advise the Bureau as to the position held by the subject and what efforts have already been made to locate him.

If this procedure is to be effective, its application must necessarily be restrictive in the number of subjects to which it is applied. Therefore, requests to circularize must be made only after every possible lead has been exhausted and then only in the cases of the most important missing functionaries.

- (4) Individuals traveling abroad [(If subject is a resident alien, also consider section 105E, 4, volume IV, of this manual.)] When information is received indicating that any individual on whom we have subversive derogatory information intends to travel abroad or has already departed this country for foreign travel, take the following action:
 - (a) Immediately advise the Bureau in form suitable for dissemination, setting forth complete available details concerning the foreign travel, including places and dates of departure and intended return, destination and itinerary, purpose of trip, the exact name under which the passport was issued, the number of the passport, and the office issuing the passport, if known. However, do not delay advising the Bureau of the actual or intended travel while developing the above information as time is of the essence in this matter.
 - (b) Set out a lead for the Washington Field Office for a check of the records of the Passport Office, Department of State; however, do not limit efforts to develop above information to a check of such records.
 - (c) In the case of an individual previously the subject of investigation, the case should be brought up to date by the prompt submission of a report in the event there is unreported information contained in the file. If reports have not previously been submitted in the case, a letterhead memorandum summarizing the available subversive data should accompany the initial letter advising the Bureau of the proposed travel.
 - (d) Information concerning these subjects' proposed travel abroad, including information concerning their subversive activities, is furnished by the Bureau to the Department of State, Central Intelligence Agency, and legal attaches if the proposed travel is in areas covered by such and, frequently, requests are made of one or all of the above to place stops with appropriate security services abroad to be advised of the activities of these subjects.

of the source, date of activity, date received, and name of the Agent receiving the information are known, it is not necessary to request the office originally obtaining the information to document it further by furnishing information showing the location of the original in the office files. If all documentation, except the latter item, is not in the possession of the office preparing the report, it should be obtained.

V. If it is found desirable to include in a report the identities of individuals who are known communists and have been associates of the subject to lend weight to evidence of the subject's potential dangerousness, only the source of the information showing the associate to be a communist need be identified.

VI. In a very limited number of instances it may be necessary to obtain a thumbnail sketch or characterization of an individual or organization from another office or the Bureau. When such information is received in your office, it should be placed in thumbnail sketch files so that it will be available to and can be readily located by Agents having future need for it, thereby eliminating repeated requests of another office for the same information.

[g. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of following submission of reports in security cases

Channelizing memoranda in organizational and individual security case files may be destroyed following submission of reports in these cases. In destroying these memoranda, be guided by the following instructions:

- (1) The Agent, at the time he dictates the report, is to prepare a memorandum listing the channelizing memoranda to be destroyed by serial or serial scope and requesting the chief clerk's office to destroy. This memorandum should indicate that pertinent information contained in the serials to be destroyed was incorporated in the report.
- (2) The cover pages accompanying the report will list the file and serial number of the original informant reports or master channelizing memoranda.
- (3) In the case of multiple volumes the destruction memorandum should be prepared by the Agent in sufficient numbers so that one copy will appear in each volume of the multiple volume file being stripped.
- (4) Prior to destruction, the Agent's recommendations are to be reviewed and approved by the supervisor at the time he reviews and approves the report.
- (5) Employee destroying the channelizing memoranda must place date of destruction and his initials on the destruction memorandum. Thereafter, this memorandum will be filed in the case file as a permanent record of the serial destroyed.
- (6) Technical and microphone surveillance channelizing memoranda may be destroyed without the necessity of identifying in the cover pages of the report the exact location in the office files of the original information. The use of an asterisk identifies the source and the original information can be readily located.
- (7) Do not destroy channelizing memoranda in the following instances:

- (a) When the original information is not contained elsewhere in your office
- (b) Serial one of a file regardless of its nature
- (c) Serials containing indexing. It would appear that if indexing was necessary to channelizing memoranda, such indexing would only be done in the main case file as set forth in the title of the communication.
- (d) Serials showing "action" information; e.g., opening, closing, posting, or instructions given by a supervisor to an Agent concerning the case.

The destruction of these channelizing memoranda should be subject to close supervisory control to insure that all pertinent information contained in these memoranda is reported in the investigative report.]

8. Dissemination of data developed in security investigations

The proper utilization of information received by the Bureau is foremost among our responsibilities as an investigative agency. It is the Bureau's duty to keep the proper intelligence agencies informed concerning information of interest to them. Further, information which comes to the attention of the Bureau in connection with the conduct of investigations normally and regularly within the jurisdiction of the Bureau, which information is believed to be of interest to another agency within the executive branch of the Government, should be forwarded to the interested agency unless there are good and compelling reasons not to do so. This is in line with the Delimitations Agreement and Presidential directives which provide for the dissemination to other agencies of information relating to espionage, sabotage, subversive activities, and related matters where the specific agency has a present or potential interest in the information.

Set out hereafter is a summarization of existing Bureau requirements regarding dissemination of security information developed on individuals during the course of regular investigations in the security field. It should be apparent that all conceivable situations cannot be anticipated. For that reason, the data below should be considered as pertaining to representative situations which occur frequently enough to warrant specific treatment. The basic rule to follow is, of course, that security information must be furnished promptly to interested agencies in the executive branch of the Government and that the term "interested agency" must be interpreted in the light of reason and common sense. Any unusual situations should be brought to the attention of the Bureau promptly for consideration and disposition.

Considerations affecting the national defense in Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico necessitate that the broadest possible construction be given to the existing requirements of dissemination to the intelligence services located in those areas. The Anchorage, Honolulu, and San Juan Offices should adhere to such policy and effect such dissemination as to discharge fully our responsibilities as laid down in Bureau instructions, together with practices which have been dictated by circumstances within those particular offices.

The material set out below must be read in conjunction with the Manual of Rules and Regulations, [part II,] section 5, which discusses the Bureau's over-all responsibilities in dissemination, together with existing policies, qualifications, and exceptions.

a. Data developed concerning subjects of security investigations and other persons coming within investigative jurisdiction of the Bureau

- (1) Aliens and naturalized citizens
Information concerning aliens and naturalized citizens which might have a bearing on the deportation or denaturalization of such individuals should in all instances be forwarded to the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Refer to the Manual of Rules and Regulations, [part II,] section 5. If any doubt exists, the matter should in all instances be resolved in favor of dissemination.
- (2) Employees of or persons having regular access to key facilities or employees of plants having contracts with the military services
Dissemination in these cases is treated specifically in section 87D 7c (4) of this manual.
- (3) Employees of public utilities (including state and municipal facilities) which are not on the key facilities list or otherwise falling into the category defined in (2) above, and facilities which are or may become engaged in the manufacture of materials vital to the national defense
Dissemination should be made locally to G-2 and, in addition, to other intelligence services if their interest is apparent in individual cases or in specific facilities.
- (4) Individuals on inactive duty but who are members of or hold commissions in the reserve branches or National Guard
Dissemination should be made locally to the appropriate military intelligence service. Dissemination to headquarters of the appropriate services will be made at SOG.
- (5) Seamen and subjects employed in the maritime industry, including longshoremen and other water-front employees
Dissemination should be made to the Coast Guard on a local level and, when circumstances dictate, to other intelligence agencies, including ONI, which have an interest in the data reported. Appropriate dissemination on a headquarters level will be made at SOG.
- (6) Employees of the Federal Government within the purview of Executive Order 10450
No dissemination of the reports in security of Government employees cases may be made in the field. If, however, subject is employed

(1) Handwriting specimens

- I. If, during the investigation of security matter cases, it is disclosed that samples of the subject's handwriting are readily available, obtain specimens for possible future use and maintain in the file in the field.
- II. A case is not to be left in a pending status merely for the purpose of obtaining handwriting specimens.
- III. Handwriting specimens must be obtained for all key figures and forwarded to the Bureau.

[(m) Labor union membership

If the subject is being investigated because of Communist Party membership, ascertain the identity of any labor organization of which he is a member and what position he holds in the labor organization, if any. (See section 124, volume IV, of this manual for possible violations involved.)]

(2) Subversive activity

(a) Membership or affiliation

Obtain admissible and convincing evidence that the subject is a member of, or affiliated with, one of the basic revolutionary organizations and/or front organizations wherever possible. Such evidence may be either direct or circumstantial, or both. It is not possible to list the innumerable and varied forms in which such evidence may be found. Some of the more common types are:

- I. Oral or written statements or admissions of the subject made publicly or privately to other individuals
- II. Statements of confidential informants and other persons who are in a position to know the facts and can testify to them
- III. Official letterheads and documents of subversive organizations containing information which identifies the subjects with the organizations. This will include membership and dues records wherever obtainable.
- IV. Selective service records in which the subject admits membership in or position with a subversive organization
- V. Attendance at closed meetings and conventions of a subversive organization
- VI. Letters to publications, public officials, or other persons signed by the subject in an official position with a subversive organization or wherein the subject admits membership in or adherence to the principles of a subversive organization
- VII. Recruitment or attempt to recruit members for a subversive organization
- VIII. Solicitations or contributions of funds for subversive organization
- IX. Seeking public office as a candidate for a subversive organization
- X. Association with other individuals who are known to be members of or affiliated with subversive organizations

With regard to the question of membership, attention is directed to section 87H of this manual relating to the provisions of the Communist Control Act of 1954. This act sets out a list of 14 criteria itemized in 87H 2, which should be considered "in determining membership or participation in the Communist Party or any other organization defined in this Act, or knowledge of the purpose or objective of such party or organization...." These criteria include, e.g., listing as a member in organization records, contributions to the organization, and acceptance of organization discipline.

(b) Knowledge of aims and purposes

Admissible and convincing evidence that the subject knows the aims and purposes of the subversive organizations to overthrow the Government by force and violence should also be obtained. Mere proof of membership in or affiliation with such an organization is not sufficient to prove such knowledge.

Proof that the subject has such knowledge of the revolutionary purposes of the organization may be existent in several forms, several of which are discussed below:

- I. Direct admissible evidence, such as statements made by the subject, or by responsible officials of the subversive organization in the subject's presence at organizational classes or meetings expounding the organization's doctrine in which the necessity or advisability of using force or violence in the overthrow of the Government is asserted, should be obtained, if at all possible.

Occasionally, statements of this nature are available in the subject's writings, sometimes in an indirect or veiled form.

- II. Length of time in a subversive organization
- III. Official positions held in the organization especially in educational, propaganda, or policy-making capacities
- IV. Charter membership in the organization, participation in the original establishment of the organization
- V. Extensive and long-continued participation in various organizational activities
- VI. Attendance or teaching at organization schools or classes, especially leadership classes
- VII. Preparation or distribution of party propaganda
- VIII. Recruiting and fund-raising activities
- IX. Possession of Marxist or revolutionary literature
- X. Urging others to read literature of a revolutionary character, etc.

While none of the above types of evidence may be of sufficient value alone, a combination of a number of them may constitute convincing proof.

It should be remembered that the revolutionary purposes of a subversive organization are frequently cloaked in veiled language or in language significant only to persons familiar with Marxist or revolutionary terminology. Such obscure statements should not be ignored, but should be fully reported as it may be possible in legal proceedings to bring out the significance of such statements through expert witnesses, the testimony of informants, or the introduction of literature clarifying them. Confidential informants and other sources should be carefully interrogated and files thoroughly reviewed for the purpose of developing all revolutionary statements. In such instances, complete details should be obtained, together with all corroborating evidence. The names of all persons present when such statements are made should be ascertained and the facts reported in the individual case file of the person making the statement and of all persons present when the statement was made. The circumstances under which the statement was made should, of course, be ascertained and reported.

(c) Position and importance

- I. Information reflecting the importance of an individual to a subversive organization or movement should be fully developed and reported. The member or affiliate may be dangerous or important because of his position, influence or activities outside the organization, or both. The facts in this regard should be fully developed. The individual may hold an important and strategic position or exercise great influence in a labor organization or other mass organization; in a racial, nationality, youth or other group; in an important front organization; in radio, newspaper, motion picture or other cultural,

This should be done prior to requesting authority to institute the investigation where sufficient identifying information is not otherwise available.

(b) Contacts during investigation

I. Once Bureau authority is granted to conduct the investigation, it is permissible to contact:

- (A) All established reliable sources, including those connected with the institution of learning
- (B) All individuals not connected with the institution of learning who, consistent with discretion, would be contacted in a usual security case; e.g., neighbors, credit agencies, past employers, etc.
- (C) Registrars

If the registrar is reliable and can be depended upon not to divulge the Bureau's identity, Bureau authority is not needed in these cases to contact the registrar's office to obtain background data useful for identification purposes, to develop other proper investigative leads, or to verify connection with the institution of learning.

II. Superiors of faculty members

No contact should be made with the superiors of a subject who is a member of the faculty since the superiors might take action against the subject as a result of our contact.

III. Students, faculty members, or other employees

If, during the course of an investigation of a subject who is connected with an institution of learning, it is desired to interview a student, faculty member, or other employee of an institution of learning who is not an established reliable source, prior Bureau authority must be obtained. When requesting authority to interview such an individual, that individual's name, position, and a positive statement concerning his discretion and reliability should be furnished to the Bureau.

(c) Receiving voluntary information

These instructions must not deter or prevent the immediate and proper interview of any person connected with an institution of learning who desires of his own volition to furnish information to the Bureau or who desires to be contacted by an Agent.

(2) Subjects not connected with an institution of learning

When the subject of a security-type investigation is not connected with an institution of learning and you desire to interview, in connection with the case, a student, faculty member, or other employee of an institution of learning, prior Bureau authority must be obtained for such an interview unless the student, faculty member, or other employee is an established reliable contact of the office. In requesting authority, the name, position, and a positive statement concerning that person's discretion and reliability should be furnished to the Bureau.

(3) Contacts of foreign establishments

In connection with investigations of contacts of Soviet, satellite, and Yugoslav officials and official establishments, [except for inquiries of reliable established sources,] Bureau authority must be obtained before conducting any inquiries or surveillances at any school, college, or university. Submit complete facts and your recommendation when requesting such authority.

b. U. S. Government employees, individuals having foreign diplomatic or official status, employees of foreign official establishments, employees of the United Nations or international organizations, and members of the armed forces

Should information be received or investigation develop the fact that an individual being investigated under a security caption is or becomes an employee of the U.S. Government, of a foreign official establishment, of the United Nations or other international organizations, has foreign diplomatic or official status or is a member of the U.S. armed forces, the matter should be immediately reported to the Bureau and no further investigation should be conducted except upon specific Bureau authority.

6. Investigative procedures concerning individuals

a. General

These investigations must be thorough and exhaustive. Obviously, the dangerousness of an individual cannot be determined through cursory investigation. All pertinent information concerning the subject's background and subversive activity must be fully developed and reported to assure an accurate evaluation of his degree of dangerousness.

Due to the intelligence nature of these investigations, discretion must be used at all times to prevent subjects from becoming unduly apprised that they are under investigation by this Bureau.

Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority.

b. Scope of investigations

Set forth below are items which should be obtained during these investigations.

(1) Background

- (a) True name and aliases
- (b) Residence address
- (c) Occupation or business
- (d) Business or employment address
- (e) Citizenship status

Ascertain the citizenship status of the subject as early as possible in the investigation.

I. Alien

- (A) If the subject is an alien, determine the date and place of birth.
- (B) Determine his nationality (that is, the country of which he is a citizen or sovereign of which he is a subject), together with the date, port and vessel or other means of entry into the U.S.
- (C) Determine whether the subject entered as an immigrant or nonimmigrant.
- (D) Ascertain any steps taken toward naturalization and reason for denial of citizenship where such denial exists.
- (E) Ascertain any available facts indicating whether entry into the U.S. was legal or illegal.

II. Naturalized citizen

- (A) Ascertain date and place of birth, nationality prior to naturalization, date, port and vessel or other means of entry into the U.S.
- (B) Ascertain the date when, place and court where, subject was naturalized and any facts tending to indicate fraud or illegality in connection with his naturalization.
- (C) Ascertain the last place of foreign residence, place from which the subject emigrated to the U.S. and the date of such emigration.
- (D) Ascertain any absences from the U.S.

III. Native-born citizen

- (A) Determine date and place of birth.

(f) Nationality background

- I. During the course of investigation, efforts should be made to ascertain from sources contacted the date and place of birth of the subject's parents and spouse and the parents of the spouse.

- II. No investigation should be conducted solely to obtain such information but include such data in the report. Separate reports setting out such data are not desired.
- (g) Military record
- I. Determine whether the subject has ever served in the U. S. armed forces.
 - II. Determine the time, place, and circumstances of such service, as well as the type of discharge received.
 - III. Report information concerning membership in veterans' organizations.
 - IV. Determine whether subject ever served in the armed forces of any foreign government, in connection with which available pertinent facts should be obtained.
- (h) Close relatives in armed forces
- I. Determine whether the subject has any close relatives in the armed forces or in other positions of trust and confidence, whether public or private, having to do with national defense.
- (i) Identification record
- I. Be alert for indications a subject of a security investigation has an identification record[showing] arrests and/or civil data. Local police records should be checked.
 - II. When a subject has been approved for the security index[or reserve index A,]submit form FD-165 to request a check of the records of the Identification Division and the posting of a flash notice if fingerprints are found. FD-165 will be returned if a positive identification cannot be made with fingerprints already on file. In such cases, either copies of one or more identification records which may or may not pertain to the subject will be attached or the form will be stamped: "Unable to identify in Ident Division files. Bureau should be furnished fingerprints or additional identifying data."
 - III. The office of origin is responsible for effecting identification when a record has been furnished by the Identification Division as being possibly identical. If a positive identification cannot be made, it is not necessary to communicate with the Identification Division.
 - IV. Security flash notice (form FD-165)
 - (A) Flash notices shall be placed with the Identification Division on security index subjects[and reserve index A subjects]who have identification records. Form FD-165 is used to place and cancel these notices and to obtain a transcript of subject's record.
 - (B) Do not maintain a security flash notice for any security index[or reserve index A]subject when no identification record for subject exists in the Identification Division.
 - (C) Do not place a security flash notice on a subject of a security investigation who is not included in the security index[or reserve index A.]

- (D) When the office of origin for a security index [or reserve index A] subject against whose identification record a notice has been placed is changed, form FD-128 [or FD-128a,] submitted to change office of origin, should [show] that a security flash notice has been posted with the Identification Division. An extra copy of the form FD-128 [or FD-128a] should be specifically sent to the Identification Division in order that its records will [show] the new office of origin to which future records will be [submitted.]
- (E) Cancel a security flash notice when (1) it is learned that the subject of such is deceased or (2) such subject is determined to be no longer of security interest. Do not cancel the security flash notice when a subject is removed from the security index solely by application of the security index criteria.

(j) Physical description

- I. Obtain and report a detailed physical description.
- II. During the course of the initial investigation in any security-type case, including espionage and nationalistic tendency cases, the physical characteristics and description of the subject shall be determined or verified by personal observation. It is not necessary to observe personally the subject of any case where preliminary investigation determines the basis for opening the case is unfounded.
- III. The subject should be personally observed, if possible, early in the investigation after it is determined that a complete investigation is warranted to develop the extent of a subject's subversive activities and to consider whether the subject's name should be added to the security index. This action should be taken in the course of developing background information to determine the true identity and existence of the subject and to assist in establishing that the subject of the investigation is the person against whom the subversive allegations have been made. Each subject should be personally observed whenever a complete security investigation is conducted even though a security index card is not being recommended at the completion of the investigation.
- IV. Do not delay the submission of form FD-122 recommending the addition of a subject's name to the security index even though it has not been possible to observe personally the subject if it has been determined through investigation that the subject is dangerous or potentially dangerous.
- V. If a security index card is not being recommended after all logical investigation has been conducted and it has not been possible to observe personally the subject during the investigation, the case may be closed even though this has not been done. If a security index card has been recommended and prepared and it has not been possible to personally observe the subject, the case shall remain open until such time as the subject is personally observed, except when it has been determined that the subject is residing outside the continental U. S., Hawaii, Alaska, or Puerto Rico, in which event the case may be closed if there is no other pending investigation and the matter should be followed administratively to be certain that the subject is personally observed upon his return to this country.

(k) Photograph

- I. Reasonable efforts should be made during the investigation [of a security subject] to obtain a photograph of the subject through usual sources.
- II. [Deleted]
- III. [Cases on security index subjects are to be maintained in a pending status until such time as a suitable photograph is obtained unless circumstances dictate otherwise, in which case the Bureau should be advised.] Once a photograph has been obtained, continue to be alert for the existence of more recent photographs which may become available.
- IV. Do not forward a copy of the photograph to the Bureau unless the subject has been designated a key figure.

(B) During the first contact, the interviewing Agent will introduce himself as a Special Agent of the FBI by use of credentials or badge and will open the conversation by using an appropriate pretext or by reciting the Bureau's responsibilities in the security field and asking the subject whether he can be of assistance to the Government. If the individual has been a member of a basic revolutionary organization and indicates he might cooperate, he may be questioned during the initial contact about his own activities in order to further ascertain the extent to which he will cooperate. This original interview is for the sole purpose of allowing the Agent to determine whether the individual being interviewed might be cooperative.

(e) Prior Bureau authority

- I. Subjects of active current investigations where no interview with prior Bureau authority has previously been conducted
 - II. Closed cases where the subject is on the security index and no prior interview has been conducted
 - III. Subjects of investigations requested by the Bureau, both open and closed, such as applicant-type cases, loyalty cases, etc.
 - IV. Any persons where circumstances indicate a delicate situation exists and a greater than usual risk is involved, such as individuals employed in the newspaper field, educational field, radio and television industry, religious field, publishing houses, labor leaders, and the like. Bureau authority must be requested with respect to situations of this kind even though prior interviews have been had with these interviewees.
 - V. Security subjects who have publicly disclosed previous contacts
 - VI. Subjects of section A reserve index cards
- In any of the above cases, no report need be submitted when requesting Bureau authority to interview a subject of a security investigation except those persons under IV above. This does not relieve you of the responsibility of submitting reports in security cases when due; e.g., annual reports in routine security index cases and six-month reports in key figure cases.
- VII. [The request for Bureau authority for the interview should be set forth in the first paragraph of the letter and unless you are recommending a special manner or procedure for conducting the interview, the first paragraph should contain the following statements:

"Bureau authority is requested to interview subject in accordance with existing instructions relating to interviews of security subjects. If this subject is cooperative, no affirmative steps will be taken during the initial interview to direct his activities and complete background investigation required by section 107C of the Manual of Instructions is being conducted and Bureau will be requested to authorize recontact with subject as a PSI."

The above statement in no way precludes interviewing Agents during initial contacts and recontacts from obtaining all subversive information subject is willing to furnish or other data which will assist in determining his potentialities as an informant.]

- VIII. Letters requesting Bureau authority for the interview must contain the following information, if available:
- (A) Residence address, occupation, employment and race of subject, date and place of birth, citizenship, and status of health
 - (B) Marital status. If married, the occupation, employment, and race of the spouse.
 - (C) Length of time subject a member of or affiliated with subversive organizations and positions he held in such organizations. In cases in which investigation is based on some allegation or circumstances of a security nature other than membership in or affiliation with subversive organizations, facts upon which investigation is predicated should be briefly set forth.
 - (D) If married, information indicating the spouse is or has been a member of or affiliated with subversive groups, the position held in such groups, and the length of time of such membership or affiliation
 - (E) Membership or affiliation of any other close relatives in subversive groups
 - (F) Information regarding defection, expulsion, inactivity, and present sympathies of the subject and, if married, of the spouse
 - (G) What is expected to be gained by the interview
- IX. In each letter, pertinent information, if available, regarding the seven items listed above must be set out under the appropriate number but the above headings need not be restated. If no pertinent data is available regarding any of the items, you should make the appropriate comments after the respective number.
- X. All letters requesting Bureau authority to interview the subject of a security investigation must be personally approved by the SAC.
- XI. One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When unnecessary for Bureau to issue specific instructions or comments in connection with authorizing an interview, the Bureau will approve the request by placing an appropriate rubber-stamp impression on the single-page copy of the incoming letter and return it by routing slip.
- XII. Upon receipt of Bureau authority, the interview must be conducted within 30 days. If this is impossible, advise Bureau of the reasons why the interview was not effected and state that the subject will be contacted within the next 30 days. At the end of the second 30-day period if the interview has not been conducted, request additional authority. Include in the letters any new information bearing upon the advisability of conducting the interview.
- (f) Preparations for and conduct of interviews
- I. Interviews must be conducted by two Special Agents. An Agent experienced in security investigations who has knowledge of Bureau regulations regarding development of informants must conduct the actual interrogation. Approach need not be made by both Agents at the same time and one Agent may observe from a secure distance. Background of subject and individual circumstances will determine exactly how approach should be handled in each case. Two Agents should be physically present during any interview or contact with known or suspected Nation of Islam members in all types of Bureau cases.
 - II. Preparations for interview must be thorough and conducted so that interviewing Agents will not be compromised, the Bureau will not be embarrassed, and confidential informants will not be exposed.
