h. Title and character of communications

(1) Communist Party, USA

Entitle all communications covering a national convention or national organizational activity of the party:

Communist Party, USA
Internal Security - C

Caption all communications covering activities in a particular district:

Communist Party, USA
District _____
Division _____
Internal Security - C

Caption all communications covering activities in states not included in a district:

Communist Party, USA
State of _____ Division _____
Internal Security - C

(2) Socialist Workers Party

Entitle all communications covering a national convention or national organizational activity of the Socialist Workers Party:

Socialist Workers Party
Internal Security - SWP

Caption all communications covering activities within a particular field division:

Socialist Workers Party
Division _____
Internal Security - SWP

(3) Other Marxist revolutionary groups

All communications covering other Marxist revolutionary groups should carry the name of the organization and the classification, Internal Security; e.g.,

Proletarian Party of America
Internal Security - PPA

The above is not all-inclusive. Facts developed in each case will produce information which will be indicative of the necessity for conducting further investigation along lines which will necessitate the use of various investigative techniques to develop the case fully. The successful investigation of an individual will depend upon the resourcefulness of the investigating Agents in developing techniques which will further establish the subversive activity of a subject.

Discretion must be used in those instances in which contact with persons known to the subject is believed desirable. Where such contact is contemplated, the Agent should assure himself of the character, loyalty, and reliability of the person to be contacted concerning the subject by reviewing the office indices and in some instances conducting preliminary inquiry, possibly under pretext, with others to ascertain the character, reliability, and loyalty of the person of whom inquiry concerning the subject is intended.

In conducting security investigations the necessity of obtaining admissible evidence must be continually borne in mind. However, sources furnishing information of a confidential nature are valuable and should be continued and enlarged for the purpose of obtaining information which can be corroborated by other sources which can be disclosed, thus rendering the information admissible as evidence.

The danger of relying upon evidence from only one confidential informant or other source is obvious and every effort should be made to obtain evidence from various types of sources and through various investigative techniques.

Information obtained from one source should be corroborated by contacts with confidential informants, public and private sources, through physical and photographic surveillances and mail covers, review of office files, and other sources. Adequate coordination of information received from confidential sources with active investigation should be maintained at all times. For example, when it is ascertained through one of these sources that an important meeting is to occur, the nature of the meeting should be confirmed if possible by independent sources which can furnish evidence of an admissible character. The meeting should be covered by arrangement for attendance by confidential informants to obtain admissible evidence of the proceedings. The meetings should be placed under physical surveillance, licenses of automobiles parked near the meeting place noted, and attendants identified. If possible and advisable, photographic surveillances should be established. Other types of information received from confidential sources should receive similar attention in order that verification may be made and admissible evidence developed.

(6) Preservation of evidence

- (a) Identify, preserve, and maintain continuity of evidence obtained with a view to its possible admission in Federal proceedings. Identify specifically as to source and date.

- (b) Satisfactory notes or [statements] from informants necessary from which to refresh their recollection in the event they are called upon to testify at some future date. Such notes [and statements] must be in sufficient detail to serve this purpose and must contain no material which would make their use inadvisable or inadmissible.
 - (c) Informant's original notes or [statements] not to be blocked, stamped, serialized, or mutilated in any way which would render them unsatisfactory for use in Federal proceedings
 - (d) The above applies to Agent's notes taken during surveillances or evidence otherwise obtained by Agents.
- (7) Interviews with subjects of security investigations
- (a) Purpose
 - I. To determine a subject's sympathies when investigation is inconclusive or to determine whether he continues to adhere to revolutionary doctrines
 - II. To develop information concerning subject's activities and those of others known to him to have been associated with a subversive movement
 - III. To develop security informants
 - (b) Subjects not included in the security index

No security investigation of an individual shall be closed unless the subject is included in the security index or consideration given to interviewing him.
 - (c) Security index subjects
 - I. Bureau will not authorize cancellation of a security index card on an individual by reason of inactivity in a subversive movement until he has been interviewed or Bureau advised why an interview is inadvisable or impossible.
 - II. Active subversives should be considered as potential informants. Consider interviews with selected individuals currently active in subversive organizations for development of additional active informants. Proper selection of individuals for interview is most important. They must possess necessary attributes for security informant work.
 - (d) Without Bureau authority the SAC may:
 - I. Authorize interviews with individuals who have not been subjects of security investigations and the available subversive information against them is not sufficient to warrant opening cases at this time
 - II. Grant authority to interview subjects of security cases where the persons have previously been interviewed with prior Bureau authority, provided no change has taken place in the subjects' status and the interviews are conducted under the same conditions as previously authorized
 - III. Authorize interviews of all persons who were the subjects of security investigations where the cases are now closed (This will include persons who were previously on the security index but whose names have been removed and the cases now closed.)
 - IV. In authorizing these interviews no communication to the Bureau will be necessary and if there is a closed file, it should be reopened. If there is no closed file, a new case file of 134 category should be opened. The case should be assigned to an Agent to determine the residence of the subject, to make certain that the subject is identical with the information in the files, and [to determine] his current employment.
 - (A) The Agent to whom the case is assigned will prepare a memorandum for the SAC setting forth the information and requesting authority to conduct an interview with the subject solely for the purpose of determining his attitude toward cooperating with the FBI.

attention to the existence of a security index card for that individual. In all such instances a specific recommendation must be made concerning the cancellation of the card. The card may be destroyed upon receipt of Bureau authority to designate the subject as a [security] informant.

- (f) Subject no longer dangerous or potentially dangerous
Instructions set out below should be read in conjunction with 87D 6b (7) (c) herein relating to interviews with security index subjects.

Frequently, after a subject is included in the security index, information is received or investigation develops information reflecting that he is no longer a threat to the internal security by reason of defection or expulsion from the subversive movement, membership in or affiliation with which was the reason for placing him in the security index. Such defection may be reflected by lack of activity and obvious disinterest over an extended period of time or upon declaration of opposition to the principles of the subversive movement. The latter may manifest itself in declarations by a subject in the presence of confidential informants or other sources, statements to the press, or actual contact with Bureau representatives and admission of previous subversive activity.

When sufficient information is at hand regarding subject's present sympathies to reach conclusion that he should no longer be scheduled for apprehension as a dangerous subversive, request authority to interview subject or advise Bureau of reasons why subject should not be interviewed. Bureau will not cancel security index card without consideration being given to interview of subject. See 87D 6b (7) (c) and (d).

If, upon interview, subject proves cooperative to extent that his security index card should be cancelled, advise Bureau by letter of results together with a recommendation for cancellation which must be approved by Bureau.

- (g) Subjects removed from security index solely upon basis of application of security index criteria, with no affirmative indication of defection

As security index cases are reviewed upon reopening in the field, there will be instances in which removal will be required by application of the security index criteria set out in 87D 7b (3). With the passage of time, limits specified in criteria will operate to remove certain subjects even though there is no affirmative indication of defection.

Although these subjects will in fact be removed from security index, the following procedure should be followed to allow for possible future reference to these cases.

- I. When subjects are removed from security index solely on basis of application of security index criteria as cases are reopened and reviewed in the field, retain security index cards pertaining to such subjects bearing the descriptive matter on reverse sides; i.e., the cards previously filed in geographical, special, or unavailable sections. Destroy cards previously filed in alphabetical section. Those offices maintaining two sets of geographical cards under provisions of 87D 7b (6) (b) I should retain but one card in each instance, destroying second geographical card as well as card previously filed in alphabetical section.

- II. Mark canceled across face of each such card being retained and file it in the reserve index.
- III. Consider whether the subject's name should be placed in section A of the reserve index. If his name should be included in section A, submit form FD-122a.
- [IV. The above instructions do not apply in the case of individuals removed from the security index based upon activity in the Nation of Islam. Security index cards in such cases should be destroyed.]

(h) Subjects of Chinese extraction

In any communication recommending cancellation of a security index card on a subject of Chinese extraction, such communication must contain the words "Other - Chinese." This regulation relates specifically to those subjects placed on the security index following a recommendation submitted in accordance with the instructions contained in section 87D 7b (4) (j) above.

(ii) Priority apprehension program (DETCOM)

(a) Purpose

Many individuals included in security index because of their training, violent tendencies, or prominence in subversive activity are extremely dangerous and would be more inclined to commit or capable of committing overt acts against the U. S. in time of national emergency than would others in security index. Degree of dangerousness of such individuals is so pronounced that in interest of security they must be immobilized in the least possible time prior to others in security index. The administrative procedure developed to make apprehensions on a priority basis is referred to as the detcom program. Subjects designated for priority apprehension are referred to as detcom subjects.

Individuals in security index tabbed detcom would be arrested first in event of a limited but grave emergency, probably without the arrest of other security index subjects.

In an all-out emergency, all subjects whose names are in the security index will be considered for immediate apprehension.

Subjects tabbed for detcom should comprise a hard core of subversives. Each individual case should stand on its own merits and decision to consider subjects for priority of apprehension should be based on subject's subversive activities and revolutionary tendencies.

(b) Subjects to be tabbed detcom

Each security index subject should be considered for detcom tabbing (priority of arrest) who falls within one or more of following categories:

- I. All top functionaries and key figures
- II. Currently active communists or members of any basic revolutionary organization (active within past year) when there is evidence of one or more of following:
 - (A) Activity as local organizers or leaders in the organization
 - (B) Special training at Lenin School or Far Eastern Institute in Moscow
 - (C) Experience as picket captains, strong-arm men, or active participation in violent strikes, riots, or demonstrations
 - (D) Violent statements or strong revolutionary tendencies as shown by their activities

- (j) In reporting activities of a subject since January 1, 1949, a greater percentage of repetitious and cumulative items and in most instances all such items should be specifically reported.

It will be particularly incumbent upon the reporting Agent to report specifically such items in those cases in which there is little information [indicating] subversive activity of a subject since January 1, 1949. In those cases in which there is an enormous number of such items, you may be more liberal in the selection of those items to be reported specifically.

(10) Administrative data

(a) General

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. [Reserve]index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, key figure or top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, [FD-122a,]FD-128, and [FD-128a,]and Bureau instructions for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature

- II. Whenever reports relating to security index subjects contain data affecting material included on subject's existing security index card, the cover pages accompanying the report shall include as the last page form FD-305, appropriately checked, which form contains items pertaining to the following:
- (A) That subject is included in the security index
 - (B) That data appearing on security index card is current or requires change
 - (C) That FD-122 has been submitted to Bureau where security index card changes are necessary
 - (D) That a suitable photograph is or is not available
 - (E) That consideration has been given to the use of T symbols
 - (F) That subject is employed in a key facility and that agencies interested in that facility are specified
 - (G) Reason for classifying report
 - (H) Dates subject was previously interviewed and reason for not reinterviewing subject
 - (I) That subject no longer meets security index criteria and a letter has been directed to the Bureau recommending cancellation of the security index card
 - (J) That subject's case has been re-evaluated and reasons are set forth as to why subject's activities continue to fall within security index criteria
 - (K) That subject's security index card is or is not tabbed detcom and that subject's activities do or do not warrant detcom tabbing

[III. Form FD-305a containing items pertinent to reserve index subjects will be similarly utilized in connection with the submission of reports in reserve index cases.]

(b) Documentation of reports

I. Deleted

II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.

III. Extensive investigation should not be conducted to further identify and locate outside individuals who have in the past furnished background information or to obtain documentary evidence of background information. For example, if previous investigation revealed that subject, according to reliable records, such as birth records, school records, or records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was born at a certain place on a certain date, such information will be sufficient for inclusion in report. Further verification will not be necessary.

IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of Photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity

- (3) By force or violence, or
By assassination of any officer of such government
It will be necessary to show:

- (a) The identity and official capacity of such officer
- (b) The identity of persons conspiring to assassinate, or actually assassinating such officer
- (c) Full details surrounding the assassination or attempted assassination
- (d) Reasons for the assassination, and ends to be gained by such assassinations, or

b. Printed, published, edited, issued, or circulated

- (1) The person with the intent to cause the overthrow or destruction of the Government of the U.S., or the government of any state, territory, district, or possession thereof, or the government of any political subdivision thereof
- (2) Printed, published, edited, issued, circulated, sold, distributed, or publicly displayed written or printed matter
- (3) Advocating, advising, or teaching the duty, necessity, desirability, or propriety of overthrowing or destroying the Government of the U. S. by force or the government of any state, territory, district, or possession thereof, or the government of any political subdivision thereof, or

- c. Organized society, group, or assembly
 - (1) The person organized, or helped organize a society, group, or assembly of persons
 - (2) Which taught, advocated, or encouraged the overthrowing or destruction of the Government of the U. S., or the government of any state, territory, district, or possession thereof, or the government of any political subdivision thereof
 - (3) By force or violence, or
 - (4) The person became a member of, or affiliated with such society, group, or assembly of persons
 - (5) Knowing the purpose thereof

B. SUBMISSION TO THE BUREAU OF SUBVERSIVE DEROGATORY INFORMATION ON INDIVIDUALS

1. To insure the proper discharge of the Bureau's responsibility to furnish information at the seat of Government at the request of other agencies and to have it available at the seat of Government when such requests are received from other agencies, the Bureau must be promptly furnished, for indexing purposes by offices covering the national and local headquarters of the various subversive organizations, the names of, and identifying data concerning, persons affiliated with and becoming affiliated with the following types of organizations listed below.

- a. Basic revolutionary organizations or groups
 - Communist Party, USA
 - Socialist Workers Party
 - Independent Socialist League
 - Proletarian Party of America
 - Other Marxist revolutionary organizations including splinter groups, if any, of the preceding four organizations
 - Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico
- b. Nationalist and fascist-type groups
- c. Front organizations of 1, a and b above, including those
 - (1) Cited by the Attorney General
 - (2) Cited or declared by the House Committee on Un-American Activities or by any of the various legislative committees
 - (3) Described as such or as an organization dominated or controlled by one of the basic revolutionary organizations or groups by security informants or other sources of known reliability

Such lists should include the organization's membership list and any other record showing affiliation.

- 2. Field offices obtaining information concerning such affiliation of individuals residing outside their territory must expeditiously furnish such information to the office covering the address of the person.
- 3. The information should be submitted to the Bureau in duplicate by letter captioned with the title of the organizational case file, for example, "Communist Party, USA, _____ District, _____ Division; Internal Security - C" or "International Workers Order, _____ Division; Internal Security - C" and should clearly indicate that the list is being furnished to the Bureau for indexing purposes only.
- 4. Information received from all sources, including that received from trash covers, confidential sources, highly confidential sources, reports of security informants and sources, and public and other sources, should be reviewed to insure that the Bureau has been furnished in the past and will be furnished in the future lists of all individuals (together with identifying data) affiliated with all organizations set forth in 1 a, b, and c.
- 5. In forwarding such information to the Bureau, the offices should incorporate, insofar as possible, information concerning a number of individuals in one letter. The letter should contain sufficient identifying data concerning each individual to enable the Bureau to identify that individual attention to the existence of a security index card for that individual. In all such instances a specific recommendation must be made concerning the cancellation of the card. The card may be destroyed upon receipt of Bureau authority to designate the subject as a [security] informant.

- (f) Subject no longer dangerous or potentially dangerous

Frequently, after a subject is included in the security index, information is received or investigation develops information reflecting that he is no longer a threat to the internal security by reason of defection or expulsion from the subversive movement, membership in or affiliation with which was the reason for placing him in the security index. Such defection may be reflected by lack of activity and obvious disinterest over an extended period of time or upon declaration of opposition to the principles of the subversive movement. The latter may manifest itself in declarations by a subject in the presence of confidential informants or other sources, statements to the press, or actual contact with Bureau representatives and admission of previous subversive activity.

When sufficient information is at hand regarding subject's present sympathies to reach conclusion that he should no longer be scheduled for apprehension as a dangerous subversive, request authority to interview subject or advise Bureau of reasons why subject should not be interviewed. Bureau will not cancel security index card without consideration being given to interview of subject. See 87D 6b (7) (c) and (d).

If, upon interview, subject proves cooperative to extent that his security index card should be cancelled, advise Bureau by letter of results together with a recommendation for cancellation which must be approved by Bureau.

- (g) Subjects removed from security index solely upon basis of application of security index criteria, with no affirmative indication of defection

As security index cases are reviewed upon reopening in the field, there will be instances in which removal will be required by application of the security index criteria set out in 87D 7b (3). With the passage of time, limits specified in criteria will operate to remove certain subjects even though there is no affirmative indication of defection.

Although these subjects will in fact be removed from security index, the following procedure should be followed to allow for possible future reference to these cases.

- I. When subjects are removed from security index solely on basis of application of security index criteria as cases are reopened and reviewed in the field, retain security index cards pertaining to such subjects bearing the descriptive matter on reverse sides; i.e., the cards previously filed in geographical, special, or unavailable sections. Destroy cards previously filed in alphabetical section. Those offices maintaining two sets of geographical cards under provisions of 87D 7b (6) (b) I should retain but one card in each instance, destroying second geographical card as well as card previously filed in alphabetical section.

- II. Mark canceled across face of each such card being retained and file it in the [reserve] index.
- III. [Consider whether the subject's name should be placed in section A of the reserve index. If his name should be included in section A, submit form FD-122a.]

(h) Subjects of Chinese extraction
 In any communication recommending cancellation of a security index card on a subject of Chinese extraction, such communication must contain the words "Other - Chinese." This regulation relates specifically to those subjects placed on the security index following a recommendation submitted in accordance with the instructions contained in section 87D 7b (4) (j) above.

(11) Priority apprehension program (DETCOM).

(a) Purpose

Many individuals included in security index because of their training, violent tendencies, or prominence in subversive activity are extremely dangerous and would be more inclined to commit or capable of committing overt acts against the U. S. in time of national emergency than would others in security index. Degree of dangerousness of such individuals is so pronounced that in interest of security they must be immobilized in the least possible time prior to others in security index. The administrative procedure developed to make apprehensions on a priority basis is referred to as the detcom program. Subjects designated for priority apprehension are referred to as detcom subjects.

Individuals in security index tabbed detcom would be arrested first in event of a limited but grave emergency, probably without the arrest of other security index subjects.

In an all-out emergency, all subjects whose names are in the security index will be considered for immediate apprehension.

Subjects tabbed for detcom should comprise a hard core of subversives. Each individual case should stand on its own merits and decision to consider subjects for priority of apprehension should be based on subject's subversive activities and revolutionary tendencies.

(b) Subjects to be tabbed detcom

Each security index subject should be considered for detcom tabbing (priority of arrest) who falls within one or more of following categories:

- I. All top functionaries and key figures
- II. Currently active communists or members of any basic revolutionary organization (active within past year) when there is evidence of one or more of following:
 - (A) Activity as local organizers or leaders in the organization
 - (B) Special training at Lenin School or Far Eastern Institute in Moscow
 - (C) Experience as picket captains, strong-arm men, or active participation in violent strikes, riots, or demonstrations
 - (D) Violent statements or strong revolutionary tendencies as shown by their activities

VII. Maintenance of key figure list

- (A) Each office must maintain current list of key figures including top functionaries. List may be kept by simple list system, by maintaining a file wherein all additions and deletions to the list are reported, or by a card index system. Maintain key figure list separate from security index.
- (B) Key figures should retain their designation notwithstanding their departure for foreign travel or other circumstances requiring temporary discontinuance of investigation.
- (C) Should a key figure become subject of a security of Government employees investigation, his name should continue to appear on the key figure list, but the investigation shall proceed in accordance with existing instructions governing SGE cases.

VIII. Transmitting list of key figures to Bureau

- (A) Submit list of key figures to the Bureau by letter on April 1 and October 1 each year. Letter should list key figures alphabetically and set forth in separate columns after each name the following:
 - i. Status of case
 - ii. [Deleted]
 - iii. Whether a photograph has been sent to the Bureau
 - iv. Whether a handwriting specimen has been sent to the Bureau
 - v. Any position held in the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations and in any labor union
- (B) List only the most important offices in the party or union if subject holds several, or the most important office he holds in a front organization if no party office is held.
- (C) Caption letter as are all letters submitted in the main Communist Party case for each field office; viz., "Communist Party, USA, _____ District, New York Division, Internal Security - C, Key Figure List."

(3) Top functionaries

(a) Definition

A top functionary is an individual, either a member or a nonmember of the Communist Party, to whom, because of his importance, it is necessary to give continuous investigative attention in order to keep abreast of communism on a national basis in the U. S. Necessarily, such an individual would be on a high policy level in the movement.

The term "top functionary" is not to be construed as requiring that individuals in this category must actually hold official positions in party organizations but shall be given a broad enough construction to include others who are of equal importance because of their influence in the movement itself, or their position and activities outside the party in labor, front, or similar organizations or movements.

(b) Manner of designation

Prior Bureau authority necessary to designate a subject as a top functionary. Submit such recommendation to Bureau by letter containing reasons for the recommendation. Bureau desires to be very selective in this matter and to concentrate on individuals who, on a national basis, are the guiding hands in the communist movement.

At the seat of Government a careful appraisal will be made of the field's recommendation, following which the office will be advised concerning the Bureau's decision on the recommendation.

(c) Regulations governing top functionaries

I. Regulations set forth under (2) (b) above pertaining to key figures relative to photographs, handwriting specimens, security index cards, change of office of origin, detcom tabbing, character of reports, and inclusion in the key figure list apply to individuals designated as top functionaries.

II. Reports

Submit reports on top functionaries quarterly. Make status pending-inactive if there are no outstanding leads for active investigation.

e. Correlation of other investigations with the security index and [reserve]index

Individuals investigated by the Bureau under any character against whom subversive information is developed must be constantly borne in mind for inclusion in the security index and/or [reserve]index.

(1) Espionage and foreign intelligence investigations

Subjects of these investigations must be included in the security index and/or the [reserve]index if they meet the standards for inclusion therein. It is the responsibility of the investigating Agent and field supervising official to make appropriate recommendations for preparation of the security index card and/or the [reserve]index card, whenever appropriate.

(2) Security of Government employees (SGE) investigations

Subjects of all SGE investigations against whom subversive derogatory information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or [reserve]index.

The Agent conducting investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer such cases to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling. Copies of reports [showing] disloyal information must be submitted to the field office covering the subject's residence, when developed by any other office.

When an individual who has previously been investigated under the SGE character is the subject of a security index card and is still employed by the Federal Government or is being considered for Federal employment, the dual character of "Security of Government Employees" and the character of the subject's security case should be used in the report being submitted. This will insure that the reports are referred to the appropriate desks for supervision at the Bureau, as well as in the field. These reports should be written according to the standards prevailing for SGE reports.

Disseminate these dual character reports the same as any other security report. Representatives of other intelligence agencies requesting reports [showing] the actual SGE investigation should be informed to direct the request to their Washington headquarters for referral to the Bureau.

(3) Atomic Energy Act, Voice of America applicant, departmental applicant, Bureau applicant, and other Bureau investigations

Subjects of all above investigations against whom subversive information has been developed must be considered for inclusion in the security index and/or the [reserve]index. In each such case the Agent conducting the investigation in the office covering the subject's residence must refer the matter to the field supervisor in charge of the security index program for appropriate handling.

Copies of reports [showing] disloyal information must be submitted to the office covering the subject's residence, whenever developed by another office.

- (j) In reporting activities of a subject since January 1, 1949, a greater percentage of repetitious and cumulative items and in most instances all such items should be specifically reported.

It will be particularly incumbent upon the reporting Agent to report specifically such items in those cases in which there is little information [indicating] subversive activity of a subject since January 1, 1949. In those cases in which there is an enormous number of such items, you may be more liberal in the selection of those items to be reported specifically.

(10) Administrative data

(a) General

All references to the following items, all administrative in nature, should be contained in cover pages accompanying reports:

- I. [Reserve]index, security index, file numbers and titles of other cases, priority apprehension program, key figure or top functionary status, security index flash notices (FD-165), forms FD-122, [FD-122a,]FD-128, and [FD-128a,]and Bureau instruction for handling cases or any information contained in Bureau or field correspondence which is not investigative in nature

- II. Whenever reports relating to security index subjects contain data affecting material included on subject's existing security index card, the cover pages accompanying the report shall include as the last page form FD-305, appropriately checked, which form contains items pertaining to the following:
- (A) That subject is included in the security index
 - (B) That data appearing on security index card is current or requires change
 - (C) That FD-122 has been submitted to Bureau where security index card changes are necessary
 - (D) That a suitable photograph is or is not available
 - (E) That consideration has been given to the use of T symbols
 - (F) That subject is employed in a key facility and that agencies interested in that facility are specified
 - (G) Reason for classifying report
 - (H) [Dates subject was previously interviewed and] reason for not reinterviewing subject
 - (I) That subject no longer meets security index criteria and a letter has been directed to the Bureau recommending cancellation of the security index card
 - (J) That subject's case has been re-evaluated and reasons are set forth as to why subject's activities continue to fall within security index criteria
 - (K) That subject's security index card is or is not tabbed detcom and that [subject's] activities do or do not warrant detcom tabbing

(b) Documentation of reports

- I. Deleted
- II. If information necessary for complete documentation is not available in subject's case file, necessary review of other office files should be made. If not obtainable, this fact must be indicated in the cover page(s) accompanying report to the Bureau.
- III. Extensive investigation should not be conducted to further identify and locate outside individuals who have in the past furnished background information or to obtain documentary evidence of background information. For example, if previous investigation [revealed] that subject, according to reliable records, such as birth records, school records, or records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was born at a certain place on a certain date, such information will be sufficient for inclusion in report. Further verification will not be necessary.
- IV. During the preparation of summary reports it is often found that information being incorporated into a report was originally obtained by another office and all of the necessary information for complete documentation will not be in the possession of the office preparing the report. In such an instance, if the office preparing the report is in possession of Photostats of documents obtained by the other offices and the identity

During the first contact, the interviewing Agent will introduce himself as a Special Agent of the FBI by use of credentials or badge and will open the conversation by using an appropriate pretext or by reciting the Bureau's responsibilities in the security field and asking the subject whether he can be of assistance to the Government. If the individual has been a member of a basic revolutionary organization and indicates he might cooperate, he may be questioned during the initial contact about his own activities in order to further ascertain the extent to which he will cooperate. This original interview is for the sole purpose of allowing the Agent to determine whether the individual being interviewed might be cooperative.

(e) Prior Bureau authority

- I. Subjects of active current investigations where no interview with prior Bureau authority has previously been conducted
- II. Closed cases where the subject is on the security index and no prior interview has been conducted
- III. Subjects of investigations requested by the Bureau, both open and closed, such as applicant-type cases, loyalty cases, etc.
- IV. Any persons where circumstances indicate a delicate situation exists and a greater than usual risk is involved, such as individuals employed in the newspaper field, educational field, radio and television industry, religious field, publishing houses, labor leaders, and the like. Bureau authority must be requested with respect to situations of this kind even though prior interviews have been had with these interviewees.
- V. Security subjects who have publicly disclosed previous contacts

In any of the above cases, no report need be submitted when requesting Bureau authority to interview a subject of a security investigation except those persons under IV above. This does not relieve you of the responsibility of submitting reports in security cases when due; for example, annual reports in routine security index cases and six-month reports in key figure cases.

- VI. Letters requesting Bureau authority for the interview must contain the following information, if available:
 - (A) Residence address, occupation, employment and race of subject, date and place of birth, citizenship, and status of health
 - (B) Marital status. If married, the occupation, employment, and race of the spouse.
 - (C) Length of time subject a member of or affiliated with subversive organizations and positions he held in such organizations. [In cases in which investigation is based on some allegation or circumstances of a security nature other than membership in or affiliation with subversive organizations, facts upon which investigation is predicated should be briefly set forth.]
 - (D) If married, information indicating the spouse is or has been a member of or affiliated with subversive groups, the position held in such groups, and the length of time of such membership or affiliation

- (G) Membership or affiliation of any other close relatives in subversive groups
 - (F) Information regarding defection, expulsion, inactivity, and present sympathies of the subject and, if married, of the spouse
 - (G) What is expected to be gained by the interview
- VII. In each letter, pertinent information, if available, regarding the seven items listed above must be set out under the appropriate number but the above headings need not be restated. If no pertinent data is available regarding any of the items, you should make the appropriate comments after the respective number.
- VIII. In addition, unless you are recommending a special manner or procedure for conducting the interview, such as interviewing under pretext, the last paragraph of each letter should contain the following statement: "Bureau authority is requested to interview subject in accordance with existing instructions relating to interviews of security subjects." The last paragraph should also contain the statement: "If this subject is cooperative, no affirmative steps will be taken during the initial interview to direct his activities and complete background investigation required by section 107C of the Manual of Instructions is being conducted and Bureau will be requested to authorize recontact with subject as a PSI." This statement in no way precludes interviewing Agents during initial contacts and recontacts from obtaining all subversive information subject is willing to furnish or other data which will assist in determining his potentialities as an informant.
- IX. All letters requesting Bureau authority to interview the subject of a security investigation must be personally approved by the SAC.
- X. [One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter.] When unnecessary for Bureau to issue specific instructions or comments in connection with authorizing an interview, the Bureau will approve [the request] by placing an appropriate rubber-stamp impression on [the single-page] copy of the incoming letter and return [it] by routing slip.
- XI. Upon receipt of Bureau authority, the interview must be conducted within 30 days. If this is impossible, advise Bureau of the reasons why the interview was not effected and state that the subject will be contacted within the next 30 days. At the end of the second 30-day period if the interview has not been conducted, request additional authority. Include in the letters any new information bearing upon the advisability of conducting the interview.
- (f) Preparations for and conduct of interviews
- I. Interviews must be conducted by two Special Agents. An Agent experienced in security investigations who has knowledge of Bureau regulations regarding development of informants must conduct the actual interrogation. Approach need not be made by both Agents at the same time and one Agent may observe from a secure distance. Background of subject and individual circumstances will determine exactly how approach should be handled in each case. Two Agents should be physically present during any interview or contact with known or suspected Nation of Islam members in all types of Bureau cases.
 - II. Preparations for interview must be thorough and conducted so that interviewing Agents will not be compromised, the Bureau will not be embarrassed, and confidential informants will not be exposed.

Communist Party members, review of field office : pretext interviews, surveillances, Special Agents attending mass meetings, etc.

4. Internal Security Act of 1950

To insure successful proceedings against a communist front organization under this act, a preponderance of admissible evidence must be secured to [show] extent to which

- a. Persons active in management, direction, or supervision of an organization are active in management, direction, or supervision, or as representatives, of
- b. Its support, financial or otherwise, is derived from
- c. Its funds, resources, or personnel are used to further or promote objectives of
- d. Positions taken or advanced by it from time to time do not deviate from those of Any communist-action organization, communist foreign government, or the world communist movement.

5. Panel sources

a. Purpose

To develop potential witnesses who will be willing to obtain and introduce legally admissible evidence re subversive nature of organizations in future prosecutive action

b. Program

- (1) Since Special Agent and active security informant testimony is undesirable, field should recruit panel of potential witnesses locally. Some may be found among American Legion contacts, plant informants, former and exposed security informants, etc.
- (2) Panel members should attend public rallies and meetings, as well as obtain literature of organizations they are covering.
- (3) To aid panelists, exhibit photographs of individuals they will most likely encounter at front organization functions.
- (4) Handle notes, statements, and exhibits of panelists in same manner as other evidence. As panelists may subsequently become security informants, the same procedure should be followed in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panelists as is afforded that received from security informants. (See section 107, volume IV, of this manual.)
- (5) Legitimate expenses incurred by panel members should be reimbursed in same manner as security informants.
- (6) Eliminate inactive, ineffective, or unsatisfactory panelists on a continuing basis. At time of submission of semiannual letter, office panel should be reviewed to make certain all such panelists have been removed.
- (7) Identities of panelists should be concealed.

c. Administrative handling

- (1) Check prospective panelists through office indices, local police department, credit records, and established informants. If no undesirable information is developed, initial contact may be made with panelist to ascertain cooperativeness.
- (2) Submit names of cooperative panelists to Bureau by letter outlining complete background and recommendation as to inclusion in office panel. [One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When approving the field's recommendation, this single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" by Bureau and will be returned.] Be certain such individuals are not plants and will consider relationship with Bureau in confidence.

- (3) Open 134 file when active investigation of prospective panelist is initiated. When preliminary investigation completed and Bureau has approved panelist, close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly.

Regular contacts with panelists should be noted in their respective files.

- (4) Only Agents designated should handle panelists.
 (5) Every four months submit letter of justification to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. See section 107N, [3b,] volume IV, of this manual for form of letter. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling source must prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

- (6) Gifts to sources shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items. Summary letter captioned "Panel Source Program" (Bufile 134-1113) to be prepared and submitted to Bureau March 25 and September 25 each year. Use following topical outline:

- (a) Status of program
 Include progress in panel development. [Show] total number of new panelists developed and total number of panelists discontinued during six months' period.
 (b) Total number panel sources active
 (c) Names of organizations covered
 (d) Number and identities of panelists redesignated to informant or potential informant status since institution of panel program

d. Suggestion

Designate, where practicable, coordinating Agent to maintain roster of current panel members and current list of scheduled organization activities, who will notify Agents handling individual panelists of scheduled organizational functions to be covered. Coordinating Agent receives notice of coming events from Agents handling organization cases, security informants, and communist publications; e.g., "The Worker."

6. Classification - 100

7. Character - Internal Security - letters for organizational activity or nationalistic tendency; e.g., (C), (SWP), (Miscellaneous), etc.

locate subjects are not to be submitted. The Bureau will closely follow investigative action to locate missing security index subjects.

- II. If you receive indications that the subject went to Mexico or Canada, request the Bureau to alert other appropriate Government agencies to this possibility and to determine any available verifying information through liaison channels.
- III. If the subject is reported to have gone to any other foreign country, the Washington Field Office should be requested to check the records of the Passport Office of the State Department for verification.
- IV. When all logical leads have been exhausted in the case of a missing important functionary, consideration should be given to circularizing all field offices with the subject's photograph and background information for the purpose of alerting the entire field to the identity of the subject. Bureau authority must be obtained before circularization is made. In seeking Bureau authority, advise the Bureau as to the position held by the subject and what efforts have already been made to locate him.

If this procedure is to be effective, its application must necessarily be restrictive in the number of subjects to which it is applied. Therefore, requests to circularize must be made only after every possible lead has been exhausted and then only in the cases of the most important functionaries.

- (4) Individuals traveling abroad
When information is received indicating that any individual on whom we have subversive derogatory information intends to travel abroad or has already departed this country for foreign travel, take the following action:
 - (a) Immediately advise the Bureau in form suitable for dissemination, setting forth complete available details concerning the foreign travel, including places and dates of departure and intended return, destination and itinerary, purpose of trip, the exact name under which the passport was issued, the number of the passport, and the office issuing the passport, if known. However, do not delay advising the Bureau of the actual or intended travel while developing the above information as time is of the essence in this matter.
 - (b) Set out a lead for the Washington Field Office for a check of the records of the Passport Office, Department of State; however, do not limit efforts to develop above information to a check of such records.
 - (c) In the case of an individual previously the subject of investigation, the case should be brought up to date by the prompt submission of a report in the event there is unreported information contained in the file. If reports have not previously been submitted in the case, a letterhead memorandum summarizing the available subversive data should accompany the initial letter advising the Bureau of the proposed travel.
 - (d) Information concerning these subjects' proposed travel abroad, including information concerning their subversive activities, is furnished by the Bureau to the Department of State, Central Intelligence Agency, and legal attaches if the proposed travel is in areas covered by such and, frequently, requests are made of one or all of the above to place stops with appropriate security services abroad to be advised of the activities of these subjects.

[(e) When information is received that an individual with a subversive background is forming a tour group for foreign travel or an organization which is considered subversive is sponsoring such a tour, advise appropriate offices under the caption of the tour name or the organization sponsoring the tour of the identities of the individuals participating in the tour and furnish the Bureau a letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination to the State Department, the Central Intelligence Agency, and appropriate legal attaches, including therein all readily available information pertaining to the tour, such as itinerary, pertinent dates, names of individuals making up the tour with addresses, if available, and a thumbnail sketch of the organization or individual sponsoring the tour.

Letterhead memoranda relating to the tours will be disseminated by the Bureau with a statement that, as individuals participating are identified, recipients will be furnished with memoranda under the individual case caption where those individuals are found to have subversive backgrounds. Therefore, the appropriate field offices should immediately identify and submit individual memoranda concerning such individuals. The details of travel will be replaced by a reference to the memorandum previously prepared under the caption of the organization sponsoring the tour. Prepare individual memoranda only in the cases of individuals with subversive backgrounds.

In addition, appropriate offices should submit a letter to the Bureau under the organization caption listing the names of those individuals residing within their territory who are traveling with the tour group and on whom no subversive information is found.]

- (f) Advise the Bureau promptly in form suitable for dissemination of a subject's return from travel abroad in those instances in which stops have been placed with security services abroad through the agencies listed above. In instances in which an individual against whom stops have been placed has traveled to any country behind the Iron Curtain, the Bureau shall also be furnished at that time with recommendations as to the desirability of interview of such person and with advice as to whether additional investigation concerning him is contemplated. In the event such an interview is authorized, it shall be conducted promptly and the case shall not be closed until such interview is had and the results thereof submitted in report form.
- (g) In some instances a security investigation of a subject not yet included in the security index may be in progress at the time it is found that the subject has recently departed for a foreign country. If the evidence developed at that time warrants the inclusion of the subject in the security index were it not for the fact that he is outside the U. S., form FD-122 should be submitted recommending his inclusion in the unavailable section of the security index. After all initial investigation is completed, the subject's case will be handled the same as those of other subjects of a similar status who are included in the unavailable section as out of the country.

If the subject is an alien who has been deported or has otherwise permanently departed from the U. S., he should not be included in the security index.

When it is determined that a security index subject has departed for a foreign country, his security index card shall be placed in the unavailable section and his case handled in accordance with the instructions set forth under 87D 7b (6) (b) IV.

(5) Investigative techniques

While it is not possible to enumerate all investigative techniques which can and should be employed in these investigations, there are certain proven techniques which have been used with continued success and should be applied wherever possible.

(a) File reviews

Upon the initiation of a security investigation of an individual, check the office indices and review files thoroughly for any pertinent information on record showing background and subversive activity of each individual subject. Include such information in the initial investigative report.

Once a main security file has been opened for an individual, subsequent information received concerning him should be channeled to that file. The reference cards pertaining to the subject should be consolidated in the indices after each check and review of files has been made.

(b) Security informants

Success of security investigations of individuals is primarily dependent upon a broad confidential informant coverage within every phase of subversive activity. Information and evidence developed through such sources are unsurpassed in value because of possible use not only for intelligence purposes but also as admissible evidence.

(B) During the first contact, the interviewing Agent will introduce himself as a Special Agent of the FBI by use of credentials or badge and will open the conversation by using an appropriate pretext or by reciting the Bureau's responsibilities in the security field and asking the subject whether he can be of assistance to the Government. If the individual has been a member of a basic revolutionary organization and indicates he might cooperate, he may be questioned during the initial contact about his own activities in order to further ascertain the extent to which he will cooperate. This original interview is for the sole purpose of allowing the Agent to determine whether the individual being interviewed might be cooperative.

(e) Prior Bureau authority

- I. Subjects of active current investigations where no interview with prior Bureau authority has previously been conducted
- II. Closed cases where the subject is on the security index and no prior interview has been conducted
- III. Subjects of investigations requested by the Bureau, both open and closed, such as applicant-type cases, loyalty cases, etc.
- IV. Any persons where circumstances indicate a delicate situation exists and a greater than usual risk is involved, such as individuals employed in the newspaper field, educational field, radio and television industry, religious field, publishing houses, labor leaders, and the like. Bureau authority must be requested with respect to situations of this kind even though prior interviews have been had with these interviewees.
- V. Security subjects who have publicly disclosed previous contacts
- [VI. Subjects of section A reserve index cards]
In any of the above cases, no report need be submitted when requesting Bureau authority to interview a subject of a security investigation except those persons under IV above. This does not relieve you of the responsibility of submitting reports in security cases when due; for example, annual reports in routine security index cases and six-month reports in key figure cases.
- VII. Letters requesting Bureau authority for the interview must contain the following information, if available:
 - (A) Residence address, occupation, employment and race of subject, date and place of birth, citizenship, and status of health
 - (B) Marital status. If married, the occupation, employment, and race of the spouse.
 - (C) Length of time subject a member of or affiliated with subversive organizations and positions he held in such organizations. In cases in which investigation is based on some allegation or circumstances of a security nature other than membership in or affiliation with subversive organizations, facts upon which investigation is predicated should be briefly set forth.
 - (D) If married, information indicating the spouse is or has been a member of or affiliated with subversive groups, the position held in such groups, and the length of time of such membership or affiliation

- (E) Membership or affiliation of any other close relatives in subversive groups
 - (F) Information regarding defection, expulsion, inactivity, and present sympathies of the subject and, if married, of the spouse
 - (G) What is expected to be gained by the interview
- VIII. In each letter, pertinent information, if available, regarding the seven items listed above must be set out under the appropriate number but the above headings need not be restated. If no pertinent data is available regarding any of the items, you should make the appropriate comments after the respective number.
- IX. In addition, unless you are recommending a special manner or procedure for conducting the interview, such as interviewing under pretext, the last paragraph of each letter should contain the following statement: "Bureau authority is requested to interview subject in accordance with existing instructions relating to interviews of security subjects." The last paragraph should also contain the statement: "If this subject is cooperative, no affirmative steps will be taken during the initial interview to direct his activities and complete background investigation required by section 107C of the Manual of Instructions is being conducted and Bureau will be requested to authorize recontact with subject as a PSI." This statement in no way precludes interviewing Agents during initial contacts and recontacts from obtaining all subversive information subject is willing to furnish or other data which will assist in determining his potentialities as an informant.
- X. All letters requesting Bureau authority to interview the subject of a security investigation must be personally approved by the SAC.
- XI. One of the required copies of the letter to the Bureau should consist only of the first page of the letter. When unnecessary for Bureau to issue specific instructions or comments in connection with authorizing an interview, the Bureau will approve the request by placing an appropriate rubber-stamp impression on the single-page copy of the incoming letter and return it by routing slip.
- XII. Upon receipt of Bureau authority, the interview must be conducted within 30 days. If this is impossible, advise Bureau of the reasons why the interview was not effected and state that the subject will be contacted within the next 30 days. At the end of the second 30-day period if the interview has not been conducted, request additional authority. Include in the letters any new information bearing upon the advisability of conducting the interview.
- (f) Preparations for and conduct of interviews
- I. Interviews must be conducted by two Special Agents. An Agent experienced in security investigations who has knowledge of Bureau regulations regarding development of informants must conduct the actual interrogation. Approach need not be made by both Agents at the same time and one Agent may observe from a secure distance. Background of subject and individual circumstances will determine exactly how approach should be handled in each case. Two Agents should be physically present during any interview or contact with known or suspected Nation of Islam members in all types of Bureau cases.
 - II. Preparations for interview must be thorough and conducted so that interviewing Agents will not be compromised, the Bureau will not be embarrassed, and confidential informants will not be exposed.

- (D) Whether or not defector available for interview by all Agents
- (E) Whether he is in position to testify and willing to do so
- III. Do not include information concerning security informants for security reasons.
- IV. Proper maintenance of this file will be useful in identifying persons who may be in a position to furnish information of value in the future and will obviate necessity of extensive file reviews in this connection.
- V. A special index may be used for this file if desirable. If used, it should contain cards filed alphabetically indicating names, times, and places defectors were in a subversive movement and a brief description of information available from them. Break index down geographically and subdivide by years if desirable.

7. Administrative procedures.

(1) Purpose

The reserve index is designed to represent those persons who, in the light of ever-changing conditions, should be continually borne in mind from the standpoint of the security of the country with a view toward possible investigation, interrogation, or action under the security index program. This index may serve as an administrative aid and working index containing a central repository of the names of individuals having sympathy for or affiliation with the Communist Party or other basic revolutionary organizations.

(2) Individuals to be included

This index is to contain names of individuals when, following investigation, the information does not justify the inclusion of the subject's name in the security index when there is evidence of:

- (a) Membership in a basic revolutionary organization subsequent to January 1, 1949, together with some indication of sympathy or association with such an organization or a subversive front organization subsequent to the reported membership and no reliable evidence of defection
- (b) Investigation has failed to substantiate allegations of membership in a revolutionary organization within the past five years, coupled with some evidence or information indicating activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within the same period, and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (c) The individual, within the past five years, by his associations, writings, financial support, or conduct in relation to and support of subversive organizations or the international communist movement is in a position to influence others at the time of a national emergency and no reliable evidence of defection.
- (d) Leadership or substantial activities in a major subversive front group over three years ago, together with some evidence of continuing activity, association, or sympathy for the subversive cause within three years and no reliable evidence of defection
- (e) Membership in a subversive front organization within the past three years and no reliable evidence of defection

(3) Arrangement

This index is to be maintained in two sections, section A and section B. Each section will be maintained alphabetically on 5- by 8-inch cards.

(a) Section A

Section A of the reserve index is designed to represent a special group of individuals who should receive priority consideration with respect to investigation and/or other action following the apprehension of security index subjects.

I. Section A should include those individuals whose subversive activities do not bring them within the security index criteria but who, in a time of national emergency, are in a position to influence others against the national interest or are likely to furnish material financial aid to subversive elements due to their subversive associations and ideology. Include in this section those individuals meeting the standards for inclusion in the reserve index and who fall within the following categories:

- (A) Professors, teachers, and educators
- (B) Labor union organizers or leaders
- (C) Writers, lecturers, newsmen, entertainers, and others in the mass media field
- (D) Lawyers, doctors, and scientists
- (E) Other potentially influential persons on a local or national level
- (F) Individuals who could potentially furnish material financial aid

II. Recommendations for inclusion of names in the reserve index (section A)

- (A) Recommendations for inclusion of names in section A of the reserve index are to be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a. A succinct summary setting forth the basis for the recommendation should be attached to the form FD-122a. In addition, if no report is accompanying the recommendation, a statement to that effect should appear on the page containing the succinct summary.
- (B) Upon Bureau approval of recommendation for the inclusion of an individual's name in section A of the reserve index, two reserve index cards will be forwarded to the field. To these cards should be added the office file number and on the reverse side should be added available descriptive data. One card is to be filed in your office, and one card is to be filed away from headquarters city at the same location as the extra set of security index cards are now stored.

III. Periodic review of section A of the reserve index

- Investigations of individuals listed in section A of the reserve index are to be brought up to date annually and considered for security index status or retention in the reserve index. This investigation should include, as a minimum:
- (A) Verification of residence and employment
 - (B) Indices search and file review to determine whether additional investigation is warranted or whether an interview with the individual is desirable
 - (C) If additional investigation is conducted or if there is unreported information of a subversive nature contained in the files, submit a report.

- IV. Changes, additions, and deletions of data appearing in section A of reserve index cards
 - (A) Changes in data appearing on section A reserve index cards should be submitted to the Bureau by form FD-122a.
 - (B) Deletions from section A of the reserve index should be recommended by letter. The letter should set forth the basis for the recommendation.
 - (C) Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section A cards to new office of origin.

(b) Section B

I. This section is to contain the names of all other individuals included in the reserve index. This section is to be maintained only in the field office.

II. Changes in office of origin are to be handled by submission of form FD-128a. Forward section B cards to new office of origin.

(4) Content

(a) Each card in section A and section B should contain, as a minimum, the following:

- I. Name and aliases
- II. Race
- III. Sex
- IV. Organizational affiliation or nationalistic tendency
- V. Citizenship
- VI. Residence
- VII. Employment
- VIII. Birth data
- IX. Office file number

(b) In addition, membership and position or association in a subversive group or groups, together with the source and date of the information, may be added.

(5) Removal and deletion of cards

- (a) Destroy cards on individuals who subsequently become security informants or sources or who subsequently become subjects of security index cards.
- (b) Advise the Bureau of the destruction only in the case of section A cards.]

b. Security index

(1) Purpose

- (a) Security index cards are prepared and maintained by the Bureau to serve as operational guide for apprehension of persons deemed dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country in the event of a national emergency.
- (b) It shall contain the names of all persons who have been determined through investigation to be dangerous or potentially dangerous because of their membership in or affiliation with or espousal of doctrines of basic revolutionary organizations and/or front organizations and who will be apprehended upon receipt of instructions from the Attorney General.
- (c) It shall include subjects of espionage investigations and any other type of Bureau investigation provided their activities bring them within the scope of the security index criteria.
- (d) Action shall be taken against individuals included in the security index only upon authorization of warrants of arrest by the Attorney General. However, in preparing and maintaining the security index, to all practical effects, the Bureau is making the decision as to those persons who will be apprehended in the event of an emergency, inasmuch as the Attorney General has advised that he does not have funds or

- manpower to review security index cases.
- (e) Names shall be included in the security index only when investigation has established and reports reflect sufficient facts and evidence to justify the inclusion of each subject in the security index.
 - (f) The contents of the security index must be accurate and correct at all times. Matters pertaining to its preparation and maintenance must be given preferred, expeditious, continuous and detailed attention.
 - (g) Matters pertaining to the security index are strictly confidential and are not to be mentioned or alluded to in investigative reports.
 - (h) The general operation and content of the security index must not be discussed by field personnel of the Bureau without prior Bureau authority.
 - (i) Matters pertaining to the security index may be discussed with duly qualified representatives of other Federal intelligence agencies only on a strictly confidential basis and only in instances wherein an individual subject of prime interest to one of these services is involved.
- (2) Determination of dangerousness of an individual
- (a) The dangerousness of a member or affiliate of a subversive organization does not necessarily depend entirely upon his personal characteristics, such as aggressiveness or a disposition to violence. Although these factors must be taken into consideration in evaluating an individual's potential dangerousness, other factors are essential in making this determination. An individual's dangerousness also depends upon the contribution he has made or is making in the advancement of the principles and aims of the subversive movement with which he is connected or his subversive potentialities in the event of a national emergency. Bear in mind that a subject active in a subversive organization is not merely an isolated individual but is a part of an organization of which the purposes are opposed to the best interests of the U.S. An individual's loyalty to a subversive organization and the principles thereof is a primary factor to take into consideration in evaluating his potential dangerousness. Factors indicating an individual's loyalty to such an organization are numerous and will vary with each case in degree. Among such factors are:
 - I. Long continued membership in a subversive organization
 - II. Affiliation with or attendance at training schools, especially leadership schools
 - III. Frequent or regular attendance at organizational meetings and functions
 - IV. Subscriptions to publications of a subversive organization
 - V. Possession of or continued study of revolutionary literature
 - VI. Preparation or distribution of subversive propaganda and/or literature
 - VII. Holding positions in the subversive organization or in other organizations of a front character which indicate confidence of such organizations in his loyalty
 - VIII. Espousal of a subversive doctrine exemplified in his acts and utterances
 - IX. Contributions to or collections of funds for the organization
 - X. Recruitment of new members
 - XI. Revolutionary background
 - XII. Participation in picket lines in which the subversive organization is interested or which it has fostered, or in demonstrations, riots, mass meetings, or pressure group activity fostered by the organization number, agency having security responsibility, and interested agencies can be included on FD-128 submitted by old office of origin.

- V. Where security index flash notice has been placed with Identification Division, notation to that effect must appear on FD-128 and extra copy of FD-128 must be specifically designated for Bureau marked "Attention Identification Division" so that those records will reflect new office controlling existing security index flash notice.
- VI. The old office of origin will submit current report.

Submission of FD-128 should not be delayed solely for preparation of reports when office of origin is to be changed, but notation should be made on FD-128 that old office of origin is preparing report.

Case will remain pending in both old and new offices of origin until report is submitted by old office of origin. The new office of origin is responsible to follow the matter until the report is submitted.

- VII. The new office of origin is to review the pertinent material received with FD-128, as well as pertinent information in the files of the new office, to determine whether additional investigation is warranted. If no additional investigation is warranted, advise Bureau by [letter] that the case is being placed in a closed status.

- VIII. Upon receipt of FD-128, office covering new address of subject will be office of origin with no other communication necessary in this regard. New office of origin will place its file number on security index cards received and place them in security index of that office.

- IX. Upon receipt of new security index cards from Bureau with copy of FD-128, new office of origin is to transfer information from reverse side of old geographical cards to [two] of the new cards, appropriately file new cards, and destroy old cards.

- (b) Key figures and top functionaries
Mechanics of transferring cases for all security index subjects as described above shall apply to key figures and top functionaries. Additional procedures in these categories are:

- I. Notification to Bureau of deletion of subject as key figure or top functionary in old office of origin will be handled merely by designation in space provided on FD-128 that subject was key figure or top functionary.
- II. Upon receipt of form FD-128, new office of origin shall automatically designate subject a key figure or top functionary and continue case in an assigned pending-inactive status if no further investigation is to be conducted at that time and necessary summary report has been submitted. Within six months in cases of key figures or within three months in cases of top functionaries, new office of origin is to conduct active investigation, submit investigative report on subject, and advise Bureau concerning continued designation of subject in these categories.

- (c) Subjects tabbed for detcom
Security index card shall continue to be tabbed for priority apprehension in new office of origin until such time as it is determined by receipt of information by that office that priority designation is not warranted under the provisions of 87D 7b (11) below.
 - (d) Subjects not included in security index
 - I. Transfer office of origin by FD-128 only upon verification by another office of subject's presence in that division. FD-128 should show full title.
 - II. Enclose copies of all investigative reports and other pertinent serials with copies of FD-128 to new office of origin.
 - III. New office of origin is to investigate or advise Bureau that case closed if no action warranted
- (10) Cancellation and removal of cards from active security index
SAC shall personally recommend the removal of any name from the security index under the conditions set out in 87D 7b (4). Recommendation to cancel subject's name from the security index should be accompanied by a current investigative report except in case of death of the subject.
- (a) Death of subject
Destroy security index card without Bureau authority, but advise Bureau by [letterhead memorandum.]
 - (b) Permanent departure from the Bureau's jurisdiction
Upon learning of the departure of a security index subject from the U. S., Hawaii, Alaska, or Puerto Rico for a foreign country, immediately ascertain conditions surrounding his departure.

No security index card shall be canceled by reason of a subject's departure for a foreign country unless that subject is an alien who has permanently departed either voluntarily or as a result of deportation proceedings. In such instances the security index cards will be canceled only after the subject's departure has been verified as being permanent. If a U. S. citizen who is included in the security index and who has been out of the country is found to have renounced his citizenship and taken citizenship of a foreign country, his security index card may be canceled only after it has been determined that he does not intend to return to the U. S.

Recommendations to cancel the security index cards of such subjects shall be made by letter directed to the Bureau. The cards shall be canceled only after receipt of advice from the Bureau that the Bureau's security index cards have been canceled.

- (c) Imprisonment of subject
Security index cards shall not be canceled by reason of a subject's having been imprisoned regardless of the length of time he will be incarcerated. The cards of such subjects shall be placed in the unavailable section of the security index and the cases handled thereafter in accordance with the instructions set forth in 87D 7b (6) (b) IV above.
- (d) Induction of subject into the armed forces
Security index cards of subjects who have been inducted into the armed forces of the U. S. are to be placed in the inactive section of the field security index. Follow the procedure set forth above under 87D 7b (6) (b) (V).
- (e) Security informants
The security index card of any subject who is developed as a security informant should be canceled. In requesting the Bureau's permission to designate such a subject as a security informant, direct Bureau's

h. should be done prior to requesting authority to institute the investigation where sufficient identifying information is not otherwise available.

(b) Contacts during investigation

I. Once Bureau authority is granted to conduct the investigation, it is permissible to contact:

- (A) All established reliable sources, including those connected with the institution of learning
- (B) All individuals not connected with the institution of learning who, consistent with discretion, would be contacted in a usual security case; e.g., neighbors, credit agencies, past employers, etc.
- (C) Registrars
If the registrar is reliable and can be depended upon not to divulge the Bureau's identity, Bureau authority is not needed in these cases to contact the registrar's office to obtain background data useful for identification purposes, to develop other proper investigative leads, or to verify connection with the institution of learning.

II. Superiors of faculty members

No contact should be made with the superiors of a subject who is a member of the faculty since the superiors might take action against the subject as a result of our contact.

III. Students, faculty members, or other employees

If, during the course of an investigation of a subject who is connected with an institution of learning, it is desired to interview a student, faculty member, or other employee of an institution of learning who is not an established reliable source, prior Bureau authority must be obtained. When requesting authority to interview such an individual, that individual's name, position, and a positive statement concerning his discretion and reliability should be furnished to the Bureau.

(c) Receiving voluntary information

These instructions must not deter or prevent the immediate and proper interview of any person connected with an institution of learning who desires of his own volition to furnish information to the Bureau or who desires to be contacted by an Agent.

(2) Subjects not connected with an institution of learning

When the subject of a security-type investigation is not connected with an institution of learning and you desire to interview, in connection with the case, a student, faculty member, or other employee of an institution of learning, prior Bureau authority must be obtained for such an interview unless the student, faculty member, or other employee is an established, reliable contact of the office. In requesting authority, the name, position, and a positive statement concerning that person's discretion and reliability should be furnished to the Bureau.

(3) Contacts of foreign establishments

In connection with investigations of contacts of Soviet, satellite, and Yugoslav officials and official establishments, Bureau authority must be obtained before conducting any inquiries or surveillances at any school, college, or university. Submit complete facts and your recommendation when requesting such authority.

b. U. S. Government employees, individuals having foreign diplomatic or official status, employees of foreign official establishments, employees of the United Nations or international organizations, and members of the armed forces

Should information be received or investigation develop the fact that an individual being investigated under a security caption is or becomes an employee of the Government, of a foreign official establishment, of the United Nations or other international organizations, has foreign diplomatic status or is a member of the U.S. armed forces, the matter should be immediately reported to the Bureau and no further investigation should be conducted except upon specific Bureau authority.

6. Investigative procedures concerning individuals

a. General

These investigations must be thorough and exhaustive. Obviously, the dangerousness of an individual cannot be determined through cursory investigation. All pertinent information concerning the subject's background and subversive activity must be fully developed and reported to assure an accurate evaluation of his degree of dangerousness.

Due to the intelligence nature of these investigations, discretion must be used at all times to prevent subjects from becoming unduly apprised that they are under investigation by this Bureau.

Members of law enforcement agencies are not to accompany Agents during the course of security-type investigations without prior Bureau authority.

b. Scope of investigations

Set forth below are items which should be obtained during these investigations.

(1) Background

- (a) True name and aliases
- (b) Residence address
- (c) Occupation or business
- (d) Business or employment address
- (e) Citizenship status

Ascertain the citizenship status of the subject as early as possible in the investigation.

I. Alien

- (A) If the subject is an alien, determine the date and place of birth.
- (B) Determine his nationality (that is, the country of which he is a citizen or sovereign of which he is a subject), together with the date, port and vessel or other means of entry into the U.S.
- (C) Determine whether the subject entered as an immigrant or nonimmigrant.
- (D) Ascertain any steps taken toward naturalization and reason for denial of citizenship where such denial exists.
- (E) Ascertain any available facts indicating whether entry into the U.S. was legal or illegal.

II. Naturalized citizen

- (A) Ascertain date and place of birth, nationality prior to naturalization, date, port and vessel or other means of entry into the U.S.
- (B) Ascertain the date when, place and court where, subject was naturalized and any facts tending to indicate fraud or illegality in connection with his naturalization.
- (C) Ascertain the last place of foreign residence, place from which the subject emigrated to the U.S. and the date of such emigration.
- (D) Ascertain any absences from the U.S.

III. Native-born citizen

- (A) Determine date and place of birth.
- (f) Nationality background
- I. During the course of investigation, efforts should be made to ascertain from sources contacted the date and place of birth of the subject's parents and spouse and the parents of the spouse.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- 4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addresses is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. [Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above.] Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies [to be filed] is large.
- 5. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
- 6. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each department, a list of such law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Accurately
- e. After a review of the entire file
- f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
- g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence
- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.

4. Do not:

- a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
- b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
- c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
- d. Use complicated sentence structure
- e. Use technical references to statutes
- f. Express personal opinions
- g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
- h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
- i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
- j. Use adjectives excessively

5. Transmittal

Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention Crime Records Division.

[6. Dissemination

[New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.]

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. In all instances this letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

In all other instances, including requests for circularization in other field divisions, prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters.

- 3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.

REVISION NUMBER 95

obsolete

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages may be noted by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

- a. Foreword by the Director
- b. Interesting case write-ups
- c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
- d. Insert containing notices regarding the ten most wanted fugitives; fugitives wanted by the Bureau and the police, including fingerprint classifications and physical descriptions; a limited number of missing persons with their photographs

2. Distribution

Restricted to law enforcement officers and others engaged in law enforcement work

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter.
- b. This file is to be kept permanently.
- c. [Current copy should be placed]in bookcase, available to all Agents.

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Each insert should be filed with the bulletin to which it relates. No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Human interest items from local police work
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
Research (Crime Records)

C. SPEECHES

- 1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television speech, a manuscript of the speech must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval. In some other cases involving important speeches not on radio or television, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
- 2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
- 3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

- 1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
- 2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
- 3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
- [i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.]

4. Do not:

- a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
- b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
- c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
- d. Use complicated sentence structure
- e. Use technical references to statutes
- f. Express personal opinions
- g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
- h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
- i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
- j. Use adjectives excessively

5. Transmittal

Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention Crime Records Division.

6. Dissemination

New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. In all instances this letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

In all other instances, including requests for circularization in other field divisions, prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters.

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and racial sources of information
Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. See section 107N, [3b,] volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts to sources shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division.
Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Derogatory information
 - f. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, [but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication.] If the SAC contact is approved, [the single-page] copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a [letter] is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal

PART II'

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
- [[[7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.]
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addresses is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
6. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

- a. On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each department, a list of such law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful.

- (1) Chiefs of police
- (2) Sheriffs
- (3) State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts
- (4) U. S. Marshals and deputies
- (5) Ranking Federal law enforcement officers
- (6) Wardens of penal institutions
- (7) District attorneys or county prosecutors
- (8) Railway police (if desirable)
- (9) Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins
- (10) Any other officials who receive identification orders

- b. Changes in the list are to be reported to the Bureau as they occur.

- c. Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

City	Deleted	Added	Remarks
Center City, Iowa	John M. Doe, Sheriff Wayne County	R. Roe, Sheriff Wayne County
Jonesville, Iowa	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named
Brownsville, Iowa	George Smith Constable	George Smythe	To show correct spelling

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

- | | |
|---|----------------------------|
| Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division | Missions Providing Lodging |
| Bureau of Customs | Post Office Inspectors |
| Cooperative Credit Bureaus | Postmasters |
| Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers | Salvation Army |
| FBINA Graduates | Secret Service |
| Hotels | U. S. Marshals |
| Immigration and Naturalization Service | |

(4) The following may appear on the list:

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| Automobile Clubs | Movie Studios |
| Banks | Navy Shore Patrol |
| County Attorneys | Oil Company Special Agents |
| County Coroners | Parole and Probation Officers |
| Credit Companies | Plant Quarantine Officers |
| Detective Agencies | Protective Associations |
| Enlistment Officers,
U. S. Army, Navy, Marine Corps | Race Tracks |
| Employment Service | Savings and Loan Associations |
| Fire Departments | Service Recruiting Officers |
| Forest Service | State Hospitals for Insane |
| Gunsmiths | Steamship Companies |
| Insurance Companies | Telegraph Companies |
| | U. S. Attorneys |
| | U. S. Commissioners |

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

[e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.]

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business; or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and racial sources of information
Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. See section 107N, [3b,] volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts to sources shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division.
Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Derogatory information
 - f. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, [but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication.] If the SAC contact is approved, [the single-page] copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a [letter] is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
8. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
9. [Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
10. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.]
11. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

PART II

SECTION . PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

12. Additional persons to be contacted shortly after the arrival of the SAC include:
- a. Federal judges
 - b. U. S. Attorneys
 - c. Only outstanding state judges
 - d. Governors
 - e. Leading state and county prosecutors
 - f. State attorneys general
 - g. Officers of the National Association of County and Prosecuting Attorneys
 - h. Executive secretary of state chamber of commerce

13. Any derogatory information obtained after the Bureau has approved the SAC contact should be reported to the Bureau promptly.
14. Gifts to office contacts shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items.

M. AMERICAN LEGION CONTACTS

The SAC or ASAC shall contact at least once each year all national officers, departmental (state) officers, and members of the Americanism Commission of The American Legion. A letter shall be submitted on March 15 of each year [showing] that the above American Legion officials have been contacted.

I. VISITS TO FIELD OFFICES

1. Non-Bureau governmental officials
 - a. Do not discuss Bureau policies, plans, or relationships. Courteously advise the visitor that inquiries concerning such matters are to be made at the Bureau at Washington.
 - b. Advise the Bureau of the visit, identity of the visitor, purpose, matters discussed, courtesies extended, and observations of interest to the Bureau.
2. Departmental officials
 - a. Be courteous.
 - b. Do not offer office space, clerical and stenographic assistance, or chauffeuring in Bureau automobiles.
 - c. Do not furnish information unless prior notification has been received that the official would contact the field office for information. If no notification received, before furnishing information clearance must be obtained from the Bureau.
 - d. Advise the Bureau in case of doubt.

Are to be confined to law enforcement groups.
2. Credentials
Are to be exhibited to all persons interviewed in such manner that the person to whom shown has an opportunity to observe and understand the connection of the Agent with the FBI.
3. Law enforcement officials
 - a. Contact with
 - (1) Contact must be maintained with law enforcement officials for the purpose of securing information of violations of Federal laws within the jurisdiction of the Bureau.
 - (2) Agents are to call on police executives when in their cities unless such visits would be so frequent as to be embarrassing.
 - (3) Local law enforcement agencies should be advised by letter of the disposition of prosecutive action taken in Federal court in cases

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

referred to Bureau by local law enforcement agencies or where Bureau fugitives are taken into custody by local law enforcement officers. They should also be advised of violations of local laws coming to the attention of the FBI.

b. Visits to Washington

When the field requests special courtesies be afforded certain individuals, including law enforcement officers, coming to Washington, D. C., the communication so advising the Bureau shall contain biographical data and a brief summary of information in the field office files concerning the visitor.

When law enforcement executives are contemplating a visit to the Bureau at Washington, D. C., ask them to call at the office of the Assistant Director, Training and Inspection Division, Room 5256, Justice Building.

c. Letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, and condolence

When letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, or condolence from the Director are recommended by the field, such recommendations should be submitted promptly. They should include the specific facts on which the recommendation is based, full identifying data and address of the citizen, and the result of a search of the field office indices concerning the citizen. In connection with the election of officers of police associations at conventions covering more than one field division territory, the field division in whose territory the convention was physically held is responsible for submitting any recommendations for letters of congratulations. The office submitting such request should summarize briefly the relations with these officers, incorporating any derogatory data which might preclude such letters. Inasmuch as the recommending office is not likely to possess all data, pertinent other field divisions should submit a brief, supplemental summary concerning officers recommended for letters who reside in their territory.

4. [Inquiries concerning status of Bureau cases

When a state official has expressed interest in the prosecutive status of a Bureau case, for a legitimate reason, such as deferment of state prosecution pending the outcome of the Federal case, insure that such official is kept appropriately advised, including the final outcome of the matter.]

5. U. S. Cabinet officers, Senators, and Congressmen

If an SAC receives an inquiry from a Cabinet officer or U. S. Senator or Congressman concerning an official matter, it should be brought to the Bureau's attention immediately.

K. SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Definition

An individual, organization, or concern willingly furnishing information to employees frequently enough to justify making a record where the source need not be protected. If occasionally the source must be protected, this may be done. If sources must be constantly concealed, they become informants or confidential sources and must be handled as such.

1. Index

Index card (3 by 5 inches) must be made up to contain:

- a. Names
- b. Addresses
- c. Organization or concern
- d. Type of information furnished
- e. Date of development

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages may be noted by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addresses is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
6. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

- a. On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each department, a list of such law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. [Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.]
 - (1) Chiefs of police
 - (2) Sheriffs
 - (3) State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts
 - (4) U. S. Marshals and deputies
 - (5) Ranking Federal law enforcement officers
 - (6) Wardens of penal institutions
 - (7) District attorneys or county prosecutors
 - (8) Railway police (if desirable)
 - (9) Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins
 - (10) Any other officials who receive identification orders
- b. Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.
- c. Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

4	Center City, Iowa	John M. Doe, Sheriff Wayne County	R. Roe, Sheriff Wayne County
7	Jonesville, Iowa	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named
3	Brownsville, Iowa	George Smith Constable	George Smythe	To show correct spelling

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division

Bureau of Customs

Cooperative Credit Bureaus

Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers

FBINA Graduates

Hotels

Immigration and Naturalization Service

(4) The following may appear on the list:

Automobile Clubs

Banks

[Car Rental Agencies]

County Attorneys

County Coroners

Credit Companies

Detective Agencies

Enlistment Officers, [U. S. Air

Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps

Employment Service

Fire Departments

Forest Service

Gunsmiths

Insurance Companies

Parole and Probation Officers

Plant Quarantine Officers

Protective Associations

Race Tracks

Savings and Loan Associations

Service Recruiting Officers

State Employment Offices

State Hospitals for Insane

Steamship Companies

Telegraph Companies

U. S. Attorneys

U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

- a. Foreword by the Director
- b. Interesting case write-ups
- c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
- d. Insert containing notices regarding the ten most wanted fugitives; fugitives wanted by the Bureau and the police, including fingerprint classifications and physical descriptions; a limited number of missing persons with their photographs

2. Distribution

[Limited] to law enforcement officers and others engaged in [or having a legitimate interest in] law enforcement work

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter.
- b. This file is to be kept permanently.
- c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Each insert should be filed with the bulletin to which it relates. No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Human interest items from local police work
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
Research (Crime Records)

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television speech, a manuscript of the speech must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval. In some other cases involving important speeches not on radio or television, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest

a. Relating to law enforcement concerning

- (1) Scientific apparatus
- (2) Equipment
- (3) Personnel
- (4) Methods
- (5) Economics

b. Newspaper clippings, [other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern]

- (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
- (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
- (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
- (4) Bad local crime conditions
- (5) Scientific crime detection experts
- (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual files of police agencies clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
- (7) Police training in colleges and universities
- (8) Aggravated sex offenders
- (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
- [(10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.]

2. Method of preparation for transmittal

- a. Mount the clipping on [form FD-350 within the borders shown.
- b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
- c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
- d. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
- e. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
- f. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- g. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page...", the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
- h. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
- i. All clippings must be complete.
- j. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations and racial matters should be forwarded.]
- [k.] Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local[paper.] Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive[at] headquarters city.

- 3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
- 4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau

- a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.

- b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications

- (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research Section) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research Section, informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

In some other cases involving important speeches not on radio or television, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
- a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin

14. Any derogatory information obtained after the Bureau has approved the SAC contact should be reported to the Bureau promptly.
15. Gifts to office contacts shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items.

M. AMERICAN LEGION CONTACTS

The SAC or ASAC shall contact at least once each year all national officers, departmental (state) officers, and members of the Americanism Commission of The American Legion. A letter shall be submitted on March 15 of each year showing that the above American Legion officials have been contacted.

N. NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 13i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. [Annually, on May 15,] the SAC must advise the Bureau of the number of newspapers [and radio and television stations] in his territory, the number with which he has had contact or with which representatives of his office have made contact, and the steps he is taking to insure maximum effectiveness of this type of contact, as well as what material other than spot news items was furnished to these [media;] e.g., the Director's Introduction in the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin each month.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

I. VISITS TO FIELD OFFICES

1. Non-Bureau governmental officials
 - a. Do not discuss Bureau policies, plans, or relationships. Courteously advise the visitor that inquiries concerning such matters are to be made at the Bureau at Washington.
 - b. Advise the Bureau of the visit, identity of the visitor, purpose, matters discussed, courtesies extended, and observations of interest to the Bureau.
2. Departmental officials
 - a. Be courteous.
 - b. Do not offer office space, clerical and stenographic assistance, or chauffeuring in Bureau automobiles.
 - c. Do not furnish information unless prior notification has been received that the official would contact the field office for information. If no notification received, before furnishing information clearance must be obtained from the Bureau.
 - d. Advise the Bureau in case of doubt.

J. MISCELLANEOUS

1. [Firearms, defensive tactics,]and disarming demonstrations
Are to be confined to law enforcement groups.
2. Credentials
Are to be exhibited to all persons interviewed in such manner that the person to whom shown has an opportunity to observe and understand the connection of the Agent with the FBI.
3. Law enforcement officials
 - a. Contact with
 - (1) Contact must be maintained with law enforcement officials for the purpose of securing information of violations of Federal laws within the jurisdiction of the Bureau.
 - (2) Agents are to call on police executives when in their cities unless such visits would be so frequent as to be embarrassing.
 - (3) Local law enforcement agencies should be advised by letter of the disposition of prosecutive action taken in Federal court in cases

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

referred to Bureau by local law enforcement agencies or where Bureau fugitives are taken into custody by local law enforcement officers. They should also be advised of violations of local laws coming to the attention of the FBI.

- b. Visits to Washington
When the field requests special courtesies be afforded certain individuals, including law enforcement officers, coming to Washington, D. C., the communication so advising the Bureau shall contain biographical data and a brief summary of information in the field office files concerning the visitor.

When law enforcement executives are contemplating a visit to the Bureau at Washington, D. C., ask them to call at the office of the [head of the] Training Division, Room [5234,] Justice Building.

- c. Letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, and condolence

When letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, or condolence from the Director are recommended by the field, such recommendations should be submitted promptly. They should include the specific facts on which the recommendation is based, full identifying data and address of the citizen, and the result of a search of the field office indices concerning the citizen. In connection with the election of officers of police associations at conventions covering more than one field division territory, the field division in whose territory the convention was physically held is responsible for submitting any recommendations for letters of congratulations. The office submitting such request should summarize briefly the relations with these officers, incorporating any derogatory data which might preclude such letters. Inasmuch as the recommending office is not likely to possess all data, pertinent other field divisions should submit a brief, supplemental summary concerning officers recommended for letters who reside in their territory.

4. Inquiries concerning status of Bureau cases
When a state official has expressed interest in the prosecutive status of a Bureau case, for a legitimate reason, such as deferment of state prosecution pending the outcome of the Federal case, insure that such official is kept appropriately advised, including the final outcome of the matter.
5. U. S. Cabinet officers, Senators, and Congressmen
If an SAC receives an inquiry from a Cabinet officer or U. S. Senator or Congressman concerning an official matter, it should be brought to the Bureau's attention immediately.

K. SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Definition

An individual, organization, or concern willingly furnishing information to employees frequently enough to justify making a record where the source need not be protected. If occasionally the source must be protected, this may be done. If sources must be constantly concealed, they become informants or confidential sources and must be handled as such.

1. Index

Index card (3 by 5 inches) must be made up to contain:

- a. Names
- b. Addresses
- c. Organization or concern
- d. Type of information furnished
- e. Date of development

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

- a. Foreword by the Director
- b. Interesting case write-ups
- c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
- d. Insert containing notices regarding the ten most wanted fugitives; fugitives wanted by the Bureau and the police, including fingerprint classifications and physical descriptions; a limited number of missing persons with their photographs

2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. [For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by SOG.]
- b. This file is to be kept permanently.
- c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Each insert should be filed with the bulletin to which it relates. No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Human interest items from local police work
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
Research (Crime Records)

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television [appearance,] a manuscript of the [remarks] must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval [unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval.] In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
- a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
- a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
- a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest
 - a. Relating to law enforcement concerning
 - (1) Scientific apparatus
 - (2) Equipment
 - (3) Personnel
 - (4) Methods
 - (5) Economics
 - b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern
 - (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
 - (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
 - (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
 - (4) Bad local crime conditions
 - (5) Scientific crime detection experts
 - (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual files of police agencies clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities
 - (8) Aggravated sex offenders
 - (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. [Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.]
 - [e.] Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - [f.] Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
 - [g.] No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- [[h.] If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page...", the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - [[i.] Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - [[j.] All clippings must be complete.
 - [[k.] Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations and racial matters should be forwarded.
 - [[l.] Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
 4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
 - a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research Section) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.
 - (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research Section, informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
 - (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and racial sources of information
Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. See section 107N, 3b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts [should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.]

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division.
Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Derogatory information
 - f. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located [in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located] in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
- i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.

Do not:

- a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
 - b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
 - c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
 - d. Use complicated sentence structure
 - e. Use technical references to statutes
 - f. Express personal opinions
 - g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
 - h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
 - i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
 - j. Use adjectives excessively
5. Transmittal
Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention Crime Records Division.
6. Dissemination
New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. [On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters.] In all instances [the circular] letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addresses is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
6. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials
 - a. On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each department, a list of such law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.
 - (1) Chiefs of police
 - (2) Sheriffs
 - (3) State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts
 - (4) U. S. Marshals and deputies
 - (5) Ranking Federal law enforcement officers
 - (6) Wardens of penal institutions
 - (7) District attorneys or county prosecutors
 - (8) Railway police (if desirable)
 - (9) Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins
 - (10) Any other officials who receive identification orders
 - b. Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.
 - c. Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

4	Center City, Iowa	John M. Doe, Sheriff Wayne County	R. Roe, Sheriff Wayne County
7	Jonesville, Iowa	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named
3	Brownsville, Iowa	George Smith Constable	George Smythe	To show correct spelling

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division

Bureau of Customs

Cooperative Credit Bureaus

Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers

FBINA Graduates

Hotels

Immigration and Naturalization Service

(4) The following may appear on the list:

Automobile Clubs

Banks

[Car Rental Agencies]

County Attorneys

County Coroners

Credit Companies

Detective Agencies

Enlistment Officers, [U. S. Air

Force,] Army, Navy, Marine Corps

Employment Service

Fire Departments

Forest Service

Gunsmiths

Insurance Companies

Movie Studios

Missions Providing Lodging

Post Office Inspectors

Postmasters

Salvation Army

Secret Service

U. S. Marshals

Navy Shore Patrol

Oil Company Special Agents

Parole and Probation Officers

Plant Quarantine Officers

Protective Associations

Race Tracks

Savings and Loan Associations

Service Recruiting Officers

State Employment Offices

State Hospitals for Insane

Steamship Companies

Telegraph Companies

U. S. Attorneys

U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest
 - a. Relating to law enforcement concerning
 - (1) Scientific apparatus
 - (2) Equipment
 - (3) Personnel
 - (4) Methods
 - (5) Economics
 - b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern
 - (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
 - (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
 - (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
 - (4) Bad local crime conditions
 - (5) Scientific crime detection experts
 - (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual files of police agencies clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities
 - (8) Aggravated sex offenders
 - (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. [Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.]
 - [e.] Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - [f.] Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
 - [g.] No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page...", the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - j. All clippings must be complete.
 - k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations and racial matters should be forwarded.
 - l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
- a. General principle governing submissions
The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research[Unit]) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research[Unit,] informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents
 - a. Foreword by the Director
 - b. Interesting case write-ups
 - c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
 - d. Insert containing notices regarding the ten most wanted fugitives; fugitives wanted by the Bureau and the police, including fingerprint classifications and physical descriptions; a limited number of missing persons with their photographs
2. Distribution
Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work
3. Filing and indexing
 - a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by SOG.
 - b. This file [may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.]
 - c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Each insert should be filed with the bulletin to which it relates. No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Human interest items from local police work
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
 FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
 Research (Crime Records)

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television appearance, a manuscript of the remarks must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval [unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval.] In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
- a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
- a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
- a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

The SAC or ASAC shall contact at least once each year all national officers, departmental (state) officers, and members of the Americanism Commission of The American Legion. A letter shall be submitted on March 15 of each year showing that the above American Legion officials have been contacted.

N. NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 13i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. [The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype

At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence

Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In the normal process of issuing press releases, [television and radio media should be merely provided with a written copy of the press release, and] Bureau personnel should not submit to live, filmed, [or tape-recorded interviews of any kind in connection with it.] Tact and diplomacy must be exercised in declining to participate in such interviews.
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.
9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.

PART II

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

A. PRESS RELEASES

Employees are forbidden to furnish to the press either directly or indirectly any information concerning Bureau matters without prior authorization from the Bureau except in following instances. (Bureau in turn must obtain departmental clearance as set forth in Departmental Order 2460.)

1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.
 - a. Routine cases in which complaints have been filed
 - b. Selective Service cases, except when draft boards are involved
 - c. Interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicle, except when widespread rings are involved
 - d. White Slave Traffic Act
 - e. Deserter cases, except charges growing out of the harboring of deserters
 - f. Illegal wearing of uniform
 - g. Impersonation
 - h. National Firearms Act
 - i. Federal Firearms Act
 - j. Extortion
 - k. Red Cross Act
 - l. Theft from interstate shipment
 - m. May Act
 - n. Patent matters
 - o. Copyright matters
 - p. Federal Reserve Act
 - q. Mail fraud
 - r. Falsely claiming citizenship
 - s. Illegal manufacture, possession, or wearing of civil defense insignia
 - t. Illegal manufacture, sale, or use of military cremation urn
 - u. Crimes on the high seas
 - v. National Bankruptcy Act
 - w. Theft, embezzlement, robbery, illegal possession of, or destruction of Government property
 - x. Crimes on Indian reservation
 - y. Crimes on Government reservation
 - z. Bills of Lading Act
 - aa. False entries in records of interstate carriers
 - ab. Illegal use of a railroad pass
 - ac. Interstate transportation of gambling devices
 - ad. Interstate transportation of lottery tickets
 - ae. Interstate transportation of obscene matter
 - af. Escaped Federal prisoner, escape and rescue, parole violator or conditional release violator or probation violator
 - ag. Interstate transportation of stolen property
 - ah. Unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, unlawful flight to avoid confinement, unlawful flight to avoid giving testimony (Bureau still to be promptly advised)
 - ai. Bank robbery
 - aj. Interstate transportation of stolen cattle
 - ak. Migratory Game Bird Act

- activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.
4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
 5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
 6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
 7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located [in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located] in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
 8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
 9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
 10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
 11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
 12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and racial sources of information
Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. [For security sources of information,] see section 107N, item 3b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed; [for racial sources of information, see section 130G, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions.] If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division.
Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Derogatory information
 - f. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal

N. NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 13i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addresses is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
- [5.] [A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.]
- [6.] Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
- [7.] Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials
 - a. On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each department, a list of such law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.
 - (1) Chiefs of police
 - (2) Sheriffs
 - (3) State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts
 - (4) U. S. Marshals and deputies
 - (5) Ranking Federal law enforcement officers
 - (6) Wardens of penal institutions
 - (7) District attorneys or county prosecutors
 - (8) Railway police (if desirable)
 - (9) Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins
 - (10) Any other officials who receive identification orders
 - b. Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.
 - c. Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

4	Center City, Iowa [zip code]	John M. Doe, Sheriff Wayne County	R. Roe, Sheriff Wayne County
7	Jonesville, Iowa [zip code]	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named
3	Brownsville, Iowa [zip code]	George Smith Constable	George Smythe	To show correct spelling

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division	Missions Providing Lodging
Bureau of Customs	Post Office Inspectors
Cooperative Credit Bureaus	Postmasters
Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers	Salvation Army
FBINA Graduates	Secret Service
Hotels	U. S. Marshals
Immigration and Naturalization Service

(4) The following may appear on the list:

Automobile Clubs	Navy Shore Patrol
Banks	Oil Company Special Agents
[Car Rental Agencies]	Parole and Probation Officers
County Attorneys	Plant Quarantine Officers
County Coroners	Protective Associations
Credit Companies	Race Tracks
Detective Agencies	Savings and Loan Associations
Enlistment Officers, [U. S. Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps]	Service Recruiting Officers
Employment Service	State Employment Offices
Fire Departments	State Hospitals for Insane
Forest Service	Steamship Companies
Gunsmiths	Telegraph Companies
Insurance Companies	U. S. Attorneys
Movie Studios	U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files

Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.

3. Security and racial sources of information

Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. For security sources of information, see section 107N, item 3b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions for form to be followed; for racial sources of information, see section 130G, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made [and an FD-9 submitted] on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - [e. Results of Identification Division check]
 - [[f.] Derogatory information
 - [[g.] Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

REVISION 191

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.
- Do not:
- a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
 - b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
 - c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
 - d. Use complicated sentence structure
 - e. Use technical references to statutes
 - f. Express personal opinions
 - g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
 - h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
 - i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
 - j. Use adjectives excessively

5. Transmittal

Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention Crime Records Division.

6. Dissemination

New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. [On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters.] In all instances [the circular] letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

[On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau a communication pertaining to a list of law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. One of the two following procedures should be used:]

[a. [(1)] On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each Department, [the list described above.] Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.

[[(a)] Chiefs of police

[[(b)] Sheriffs

[[(c)] State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts

[[(d)] U. S. Marshals and deputies

[[(e)] Ranking Federal law enforcement officers

[[(f)] Wardens of penal institutions

[[(g)] District attorneys or county prosecutors

[[(h)] Railway police (if desirable)

[[(i)] Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins

[[(j)] Any other officials who receive identification orders

[[(2)] Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[(3)] Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

Page No.	City	Deleted	Added	Remarks
4	Center City, Iowa zip code	John M. Doe, Sheriff Wayne County	R. Roe, Sheriff Wayne County
7	Jonesville, Iowa zip code	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named
3	Brownsville, Iowa zip code	George Smith Constable	George Smythe	To show correct spelling

[b. As an alternative, offices which believe it will save time and material may make any necessary changes as they occur in this list by typing the appropriate change on a strip of paper which will be taped over the item to be corrected. The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division	Missions Providing Lodging
Bureau of Customs	Post Office Inspectors
Cooperative Credit Bureaus	Postmasters
Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers	Salvation Army
FBINA Graduates	Secret Service
Hotels	U. S. Marshals
Immigration and Naturalization Service

(4) The following may appear on the list:

Automobile Clubs	Navy Shore Patrol
Banks	Oil Company Special Agents
[Car Rental Agencies]	Parole and Probation Officers
County Attorneys	Plant Quarantine Officers
County Coroners	Protective Associations
Credit Companies	Race Tracks
Detective Agencies	Savings and Loan Associations
Enlistment Officers, [U. S. Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps]	Service Recruiting Officers
Employment Service	State Employment Offices
Fire Departments	State Hospitals for Insane
Forest Service	Steamship Companies
Gunsmiths	Telegraph Companies
Insurance Companies	U. S. Attorneys
Movie Studios	U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

A. PRESS RELEASES

Employees are forbidden to furnish to the press either directly or indirectly any information concerning Bureau matters without prior authorization from the Bureau except in following instances. (Bureau in turn must obtain departmental clearance as set forth in Departmental Order 2460.)

1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.
 - a. Routine cases in which complaints have been filed
 - b. Selective Service cases, except when draft boards are involved
 - c. Interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicle, except when wide-spread rings are involved
 - d. White Slave Traffic Act
 - e. Deserter cases, except charges growing out of the harboring of deserters
 - f. Illegal wearing of uniform
 - g. Impersonation
 - h. National Firearms Act
 - i. [State Firearms Control Assistance Act; unlawful possession or receipt of firearms]
 - j. Extortion
 - k. Red Cross Act
 - l. Theft from interstate shipment
 - m. May Act
 - n. Patent matters
 - o. Copyright matters
 - p. Federal Reserve Act
 - q. Mail fraud
 - r. Falsely claiming citizenship
 - s. Illegal manufacture, possession, or wearing of civil defense insignia
 - t. Illegal manufacture, sale, or use of military cremation urn
 - u. Crimes on the high seas
 - v. National Bankruptcy Act
 - w. Theft, embezzlement, robbery, illegal possession of, or destruction of Government property
 - x. Crimes on Indian reservation
 - y. Crimes on Government reservation
 - z. Bills of Lading Act
 - aa. False entries in records of interstate carriers
 - ab. Illegal use of a railroad pass
 - ac. Interstate transportation of gambling devices
 - ad. Interstate transportation of lottery tickets
 - ae. Interstate transportation of obscene matter
 - af. Escaped Federal prisoner, escape and rescue, parole violator or conditional release violator or probation violator
 - ag. Interstate transportation of stolen property
 - ah. Unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, unlawful flight to avoid confinement, unlawful flight to avoid giving testimony (Bureau still to be promptly advised)
 - ai. Bank robbery
 - aj. Interstate transportation of stolen cattle
 - ak. Migratory Game Bird Act

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In the normal process of issuing press releases, [either local or national, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances for television and radio, provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received.]
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.
9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.

(3) Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

Page No.	City	Deleted	Added	Remarks
4	Center City, Iowa zip code	John M. Doe, Sheriff Wayne County	R. Roe, Sheriff Wayne County
7	Jonesville, Iowa zip code	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named
3	Brownsville, Iowa zip code	George Smith Constable	George Smythe	To show correct spelling

- b. As an alternative, offices which believe it will save time and material may make any necessary changes as they occur in this list by typing the appropriate change on a strip of paper which will be taped over the item to be corrected. [The date of the revision will be typed on a strip of paper and will be taped under the page number of the amended page.] The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, check circulars, and apprehension orders are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at the time the field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to the field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at the Bureau upon receipt of field request. (The Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on the list.

(1) The quality of the assistance the addressee is in a position to give

(2) The cooperation which has been afforded

(3) The following must appear on the list:

Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division	Missions Providing Lodging
Bureau of Customs	Post Office Inspectors
Cooperative Credit Bureaus	Postmasters
Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers	Salvation Army
FBINA Graduates	Secret Service
Hotels	U. S. Marshals
Immigration and Naturalization Service

(4) The following may appear on the list:

Automobile Clubs	Navy Shore Patrol
Banks	Oil Company Special Agents
[Car Rental Agencies]	Parole and Probation Officers
County Attorneys	Plant Quarantine Officers
County Coroners	Protective Associations
Credit Companies	Race Tracks
Detective Agencies	Savings and Loan Associations
Enlistment Officers, [U. S. Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps]	Service Recruiting Officers
Employment Service	State Employment Offices
Fire Departments	State Hospitals for Insane
Forest Service	Steamship Companies
Gunsmiths	Telegraph Companies
Insurance Companies	U. S. Attorneys
Movie Studios	U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to the desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files

Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.

3. Security and racial sources of information

Every six months a letter of justification [(FD-401)] should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. [Follow instructions set out in] section 130G, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest
 - a. Relating to law enforcement concerning
 - (1) Scientific apparatus
 - (2) Equipment
 - (3) Personnel
 - (4) Methods
 - (5) Economics
 - b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern
 - (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
 - (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
 - (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
 - (4) Bad local crime conditions
 - (5) Scientific crime detection experts
 - (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual[pertinent school]files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities
 - (8) Aggravated sex offenders
 - (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
 - e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
 - g. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page...", the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - j. All clippings must be complete.
 - k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations should be forwarded.
 - l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
- a. General principle governing submissions
The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of the Central Research Unit) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention Central Research Unit, informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

A. PRESS RELEASES

Employees are forbidden to furnish to the press either directly or indirectly any information concerning Bureau matters without prior authorization from the Bureau except in following instances. (Bureau in turn must obtain departmental clearance as set forth in Departmental Order 2460.)

1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.
 - a. Routine cases in which complaints have been filed
 - b. Selective Service cases, except when draft boards are involved
 - c. Interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicle, except when widespread rings are involved
 - d. White Slave Traffic Act
 - e. Deserter cases, except charges growing out of the harboring of deserters
 - f. Illegal wearing of uniform
 - g. Impersonation
 - h. National Firearms Act
 - i. [State Firearms Control Assistance Act; unlawful possession or receipt of firearms]
 - j. Extortion
 - k. Red Cross Act
 - l. Theft from interstate shipment
 - m. May Act
 - n. Patent matters
 - o. Copyright matters
 - p. Federal Reserve Act
 - q. Mail fraud
 - r. Falsely claiming citizenship
 - s. Illegal manufacture, possession, or wearing of civil defense insignia
 - t. Illegal manufacture, sale, or use of military cremation urn
 - u. Crimes on the high seas
 - v. National Bankruptcy Act
 - w. Theft, embezzlement, robbery, illegal possession of, or destruction of Government property
 - x. Crimes on Indian reservation
 - y. Crimes on Government reservation
 - z. Bills of Lading Act
 - aa. False entries in records of interstate carriers
 - ab. Illegal use of a railroad pass
 - ac. Interstate transportation of gambling devices
 - ad. Interstate transportation of lottery tickets
 - ae. Interstate transportation of obscene matter
 - af. Escaped Federal prisoner; escape and rescue, parole violator or conditional release violator or probation violator
 - ag. Interstate transportation of stolen property
 - ah. Unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, unlawful flight to avoid confinement, unlawful flight to avoid giving testimony (Bureau still to be promptly advised)
 - ai. Bank robbery
 - aj. Interstate transportation of stolen cattle
 - ak. Migratory Game Bird Act

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made. UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. [In those instances in which a press release is issued at SOG, television and radio media should be merely provided with a written copy of the press release, and Bureau personnel should not submit to live, filmed, or tape-recorded interviews of any kind, including the reading of the release itself, without prior Bureau authority. Tact and diplomacy must be exercised in declining to participate in such interviews. With respect to local press releases, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances on television and radio provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received.]
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

- a. Foreword by the Director
- b. Interesting case write-ups
- c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
- d. Insert containing notices regarding the ten most wanted fugitives; fugitives wanted by the Bureau and the police, including fingerprint classifications and physical descriptions; a limited number of missing persons with their photographs

2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by SOG.
- b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
- c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Each insert should be filed with the bulletin to which it relates. No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work.
 - d. Human interest items from local police work
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.
Research (Crime Records)

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television appearance, a manuscript of the remarks must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval.] In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
- [11. In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.]

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents
 - a. Foreword by the Director

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest

a. Relating to law enforcement concerning

- (1) Scientific apparatus
- (2) Equipment
- (3) Personnel
- (4) Methods
- (5) Economics

b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern

- (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
- (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
- (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
- (4) Bad local crime conditions
- (5) Scientific crime detection experts
- (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual[pertinent school]files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
- (7) Police training in colleges and universities
- (8) Aggravated sex offenders
- (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
- (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.

2. Method of preparation for transmittal

- a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
- b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
- c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
- d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
- e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
- f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
- g. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page..." the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - j. All clippings must be complete.
 - k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations should be forwarded.
 - l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
- a. General principle governing submissions
The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at the SOG for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of [Research Section, Domestic Intelligence Division]) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention [Research Section, Domestic Intelligence Division,] informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

(3) Letters advising the Bureau of changes are to be set up as indicated:

4	Center City, Iowa zip code	John M. Doe, Sheriff Wayne County	R. Roe, Sheriff Wayne County
7	Jonesville, Iowa zip code	Richard Brown Chief of Police		Deceased successor not named
3	Brownsville, Iowa zip code	George Smith Constable	George Smythe	To show correct spelling

- b. As an alternative, offices which believe it will save time and material may make any necessary changes as they occur in this list by typing the appropriate change on a strip of paper which will be taped over the item to be corrected. [The date of the revision will be typed on a strip of paper and will be taped under the page number of the amended page.] The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars

Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at time field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to field office mailing list.

a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at Bureau upon receipt of field request. (Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.

b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on list.

- (1) Quality of assistance addressee is in a position to give
- (2) Cooperation which has been afforded
- (3) Following must appear on list:

Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms
Division
Bureau of Customs
Cooperative Credit Bureaus
Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers
FBINA Graduates
Hotels

Missions Providing Lodging
Post Office Inspectors
Postmasters
Salvation Army
Secret Service
U. S. Marshals

- (4) Following may appear on list:

Automobile Clubs
Banks
Car Rental Agencies
County Attorneys
County Coroners
Credit Companies
Detective Agencies
Enlistment Officers, U. S. Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps
Employment Service
Fire Departments
Forest Service
Gunsmiths
Insurance Companies
Movie Studios

Navy Shore Patrol
Oil Company Special Agents
Parole and Probation Officers
Plant Quarantine Officers
Protective Associations
Race Tracks
Savings and Loan Associations
Service Recruiting Officers
State Employment Offices
State Hospitals for Insane
Steamship Companies
Telegraph Companies
U. S. Attorneys
U. S. Commissioners

c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.

d. Give consideration to desirability of circularizing motels.

e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and racial sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section [130H,] item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or racial source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

I. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.
4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
 5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
 6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
 7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
 8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
 9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
 10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
 11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
 12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
- [10. In contacts with the press concerning a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny no information should be volunteered concerning the amount of loot obtained. Specific questions by members of the press concerning amount of loot may be answered only following the arrest of an individual or individuals for violation of the Federal bank robbery statute.]
- [11.] Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
- [12.] In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

- a. Foreword by the Director
- b. Interesting case write-ups
- c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
- d. Insert containing notices regarding the ten most wanted fugitives; fugitives wanted by the Bureau and the police, including fingerprint classifications and physical descriptions; a limited number of missing persons with their photographs

2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by SOG.
- b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
- c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- d. Each insert should be filed with the bulletin to which it relates. No indexing of individual notices contained therein is necessary.
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
- a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy men
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Human interest items from local police work
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
 FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
 Research (Crime Records)

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television appearance, a manuscript of the remarks must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval.] In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, FBI Notes, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
- a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
- a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
- a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

A. PRESS RELEASES

Employees are forbidden to furnish to the press either directly or indirectly any information concerning Bureau matters without prior authorization from the Bureau except in following instances. (Bureau in turn must obtain departmental clearance as set forth in Departmental Order 2460.)

1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.
 - a. Routine cases in which complaints have been filed
 - b. Selective Service cases, except when draft boards are involved
 - c. Interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicle, except when wide-spread rings are involved
 - d. White Slave Traffic Act
 - e. Deserter cases, except charges growing out of the harboring of deserters
 - f. Illegal wearing of uniform
 - g. Impersonation
 - h. National Firearms Act
 - i. [State Firearms Control Assistance Act; unlawful possession or receipt of firearms]
 - j. Extortion
 - k. Red Cross Act
 - l. Theft from interstate shipment
 - m. May Act
 - n. Patent matters
 - o. Copyright matters
 - p. Federal Reserve Act
 - q. Mail fraud
 - r. Falsely claiming citizenship
 - s. Illegal manufacture, possession, or wearing of civil defense insignia
 - t. Illegal manufacture, sale, or use of military cremation urn
 - u. Crimes on the high seas
 - v. National Bankruptcy Act
 - w. Theft, embezzlement, robbery, illegal possession of, or destruction of Government property
 - x. Crimes on Indian reservation
 - y. Crimes on Government reservation
 - z. Bills of Lading Act
 - aa. False entries in records of interstate carriers
 - ab. Illegal use of a railroad pass
 - ac. Interstate transportation of gambling devices
 - ad. Interstate transportation of lottery tickets
 - ae. Interstate transportation of obscene matter
 - af. Escaped Federal prisoner, escape and rescue, parole violator or conditional release violator or probation violator
 - ag. Interstate transportation of stolen property
 - ah. Unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, unlawful flight to avoid confinement, unlawful flight to avoid giving testimony (Bureau still to be promptly advised)
 - ai. Bank robbery
 - aj. Interstate transportation of stolen cattle
 - ak. Migratory Game Bird Act

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with the office of the division head of the Crime Records Division for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In those instances in which a press release is issued at SOG, television and radio media should be merely provided with a written copy of the press release, and Bureau personnel should not submit to live, filmed, or tape-recorded interviews of any kind, including the reading of the release itself, without prior Bureau authority. Tact and diplomacy must be exercised in declining to participate in such interviews. With respect to local press releases, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances on television and radio provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received. [Reading of these local press releases on the telephone to the news media should be done by the SAC or ASAC.]
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and [extremist] sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and [extremist] sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or [extremist] source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the Crime Records Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

- b. As an alternative, offices which believe it will save time and material may make any necessary changes as they occur in this list by typing the appropriate change on a strip of paper which will be taped over the item to be corrected. [The date of the revision will be typed on a strip of paper and will be taped under the page number of the amended page.] The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars
 Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at time field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to field office mailing list.
- a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at Bureau upon receipt of field request. (Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.
- b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on list.
- (1) Quality of assistance addressee is in a position to give
- (2) Cooperation which has been afforded
- (3) Following must appear on list:
- | | |
|---|-----------------------------|
| Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division | Missions Providing Lodging |
| Bureau of Customs | [Postal Service] Inspectors |
| Cooperative Credit Bureaus | Postmasters |
| Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers | Salvation Army |
| FBINA Graduates | Secret Service |
| Hotels | U. S. Marshals |
| Immigration and Naturalization Service | |
- (4) Following may appear on list:
- | | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| Automobile Clubs | Navy Shore Patrol |
| Banks | Oil Company Special Agents |
| Car Rental Agencies | Parole and Probation Officers |
| County Attorneys | Plant Quarantine Officers |
| County Coroners | Protective Associations |
| Credit Companies | Race Tracks |
| Detective Agencies | Savings and Loan Associations |
| Enlistment Officers, U. S. Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps | Service Recruiting Officers |
| Employment Service | State Employment Offices |
| Fire Departments | State Hospitals for Insane |
| Forest Service | Steamship Companies |
| Gunsmiths | Telegraph Companies |
| Insurance Companies | U. S. Attorneys |
| Movie Studios | U. S. [Magistrates] |
- c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.
- d. Give consideration to desirability of circularizing motels.
- e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

N. NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 13i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers [including minority-oriented newspapers,] must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.

- b. As an alternative, offices which believe it will save time and material may make any necessary changes as they occur in this list by typing the appropriate change on a strip of paper which will be taped over the item to be corrected. [The date of the revision will be typed on a strip of paper and will be taped under the page number of the amended page.] The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

- d. Give consideration to desirability of circularizing motels.
- e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete [or when it is determined a source is deceased.]

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index [except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.]

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and extremist sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned "_____, SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the [Training] Division. Use the following sub-headings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. SAC contacts located in headquarters city must be contacted at least three times each year; those located in areas regularly covered by road trips out of headquarters city or located in resident agencies must be contacted at least two times each year.
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. Each office must submit a complete roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of May and November, each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

A. PRESS RELEASES

Employees are forbidden to furnish to the press either directly or indirectly any information concerning Bureau matters without prior authorization from the Bureau except in following instances. (Bureau in turn must obtain departmental clearance as set forth in Departmental Order 2460.)

1. Bureau authority is granted for SACs to make releases on purely routine cases, local in nature, not involving other field divisions, national policy, national interest, other Federal agencies, state, county, or municipal employees, or persons of prominence whose names would be newsworthy in themselves, and where arrests have been made with the authorization of the USA in the following classifications. The Bureau is to be advised that such releases have been made.
 - a. Routine cases in which complaints have been filed
 - b. Selective Service cases, except when draft boards are involved
 - c. Interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicle, except when widespread rings are involved
 - d. White Slave Traffic Act
 - e. Deserter cases, except charges growing out of the harboring of deserters
 - f. Illegal wearing of uniform
 - g. Impersonation
 - h. National Firearms Act
 - i. State Firearms Control Assistance Act; unlawful possession or receipt of firearms
 - j. Extortion
 - k. Red Cross Act
 - l. Theft from interstate shipment
 - m. May Act
 - n. Patent matters
 - o. Copyright matters
 - p. [Bank Fraud and Embezzlement]
 - q. Mail fraud
 - r. Falsely claiming citizenship
 - s. Illegal manufacture, possession, or wearing of civil defense insignia
 - t. Illegal manufacture, sale, or use of military cremation urn
 - u. Crimes on the high seas
 - v. National Bankruptcy Act
 - w. Theft, embezzlement, robbery, illegal possession of, or destruction of Government property
 - x. Crimes on Indian reservation
 - y. Crimes on Government reservation
 - z. Bills of Lading Act
 - aa. False entries in records of interstate carriers
 - ab. Illegal use of a railroad pass
 - ac. Interstate transportation of gambling devices
 - ad. Interstate transportation of lottery tickets
 - ae. Interstate transportation of obscene matter
 - af. Escaped Federal prisoner, escape and rescue, parole violator or conditional release violator or probation violator
 - ag. Interstate transportation of stolen property
 - ah. Unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, unlawful flight to avoid confinement, unlawful flight to avoid giving testimony (Bureau still to be promptly advised)
 - ai. Bank robbery
 - aj. Interstate transportation of stolen cattle
 - ak. Migratory Bird Act

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Requesting authority for release
 - a. By teletype
At least four hours before the time of release, developments in the case, an outline of the release, and statement release will be made UACB are to be furnished the Bureau.
 - b. By telephone where time is of essence
Confer with division head having supervision of the matter for investigative clearance and with [Press Services Office] for final press clearance. While good judgment must prevail, in important cases in which a local newspaper deadline is approaching, it may be advisable to telephone the Bureau for clearance.
3. Press releases are to be made personally only by the SAC or in his absence by the ASAC.
4. Releases are to be made both at headquarters and the local area affected by developments. All material prepared for the public must be reviewed word for word. It is not to contain words or phrases which might be regarded as objectionable or offensive to a member of any race, creed, or religious sect. Thorough advance planning should be utilized wherever possible, and all press releases should be coordinated to eliminate any avoidable delays.
5. In the absence of an overriding consideration bearing on the public interest, no statement should be put in an announcement to the press to the effect that a subject either has confessed or has admitted his crimes without specific Bureau approval. In case of doubt, consult the Bureau. When the fact that a subject has given a confession is included in a complaint and an inquiry is forthcoming from the press, a "no comment" reply should be given. The complaint is a court record and must be left to speak for itself.
6. On-the-spot announcements by SAC are authorized in emergency situations in which good judgment so dictates. Emergency on-the-spot statements by Agents limited to their official identity and, if known, the identity of fugitive or criminal in gun battle. If badly wanted fugitive apprehended in remote area and SAC absent, Agent may, in rare emergency only and where time of essence, furnish bare details. Contact by SAC with press should be effected immediately where press desires further details.
7. In those instances in which a press release is issued at [FBIHQ,] television and radio media should be merely provided with a written copy of the press release, and Bureau personnel should not submit to live, filmed, or tape-recorded interviews of any kind, including the reading of the release itself, without prior Bureau authority. Tact and diplomacy must be exercised in declining to participate in such interviews. With respect to local press releases, SACs may, when requested, make personal appearances on television and radio provided no interviews are conducted and there is absolutely no elaboration over and above the original press release. These conditions should be made known in advance to television and radio station representatives when such requests are received. Reading of these local press releases on the telephone to the news media should be done by the SAC or ASAC.
8. In the absence of special circumstances, Bureau Agents should never suggest or request a reporter or another representative of a newspaper or similar publication to withhold the publication of news. In the event that special circumstances do exist, it will be necessary to clear with the Bureau prior to making any such request.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. In contacts with the press concerning a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny no information should be volunteered concerning the amount of loot obtained. Specific questions by members of the press concerning amount of loot may be answered only following the arrest of an individual or individuals for violation of the Federal bank robbery statute.
11. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
12. In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.
- [13. Bureau personnel, including SACs and ASACs, are not to participate in give-and-take news conferences without prior Bureau authority including clearance by the Press Services Office. This will be permitted only in the rarest of circumstances where mitigating facts clearly indicate it is to the Bureau's best interests to participate.]

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents
 - a. Foreword by the Director
 - b. Interesting case write-ups
 - c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
 - d. Deleted
2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work
3. Filing and indexing
 - a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by[FBIHQ.]
 - b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
 - c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

d. Deleted

4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
 - a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy graduates
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. [Deleted]
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
Research[(Training Division)]

C. SPEECHES

1. Bureau is to be notified of all speaking engagements. Speaking engagements are to be handled by the SAC. If he cannot handle them, the ASAC should. If neither can, an Agent previously approved as a speaker is to be designated and the Bureau advised UACB. Changes in speaking engagements must be communicated promptly to the Bureau. Three weeks prior to any radio or television appearance, a manuscript of the remarks must be submitted for the Bureau's review and approval unless previously approved Bureau material is utilized or the program is of an impromptu nature and time does not permit prior Bureau approval. In some other cases involving important speeches, the Bureau will specifically request such manuscripts. If speech is to be broadcast or televised, prior Bureau approval of manuscript and commitment must be obtained. These regulations, as well as all other FBI administrative procedures, should not be the subject of comment to the public.
2. Copy of Bureau letter approving speaker should be placed in his field personnel file.
3. Each office is to designate a supervisor to handle speech material. To this supervisor must be routed law enforcement bulletins, interesting case material, magazines, research literature, and newspaper clippings containing information of value to police instructors and approved speakers. This material to be indexed as to subject matter and filed in the speech material files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest
 - a. Relating to law enforcement concerning
 - (1) Scientific apparatus
 - (2) Equipment
 - (3) Personnel
 - (4) Methods
 - (5) Economics
 - b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern
 - (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
 - (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
 - (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
 - (4) Bad local crime conditions
 - (5) Scientific crime detection experts
 - (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual [pertinent school] files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
 - (7) Police training in colleges and universities
 - (8) Aggravated sex offenders
 - (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning Members of Congress or the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.
 - (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.
2. Method of preparation for transmittal
 - a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
 - b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
 - c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
 - d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
 - e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
 - f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
 - g. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page..." the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - j. All clippings must be complete.
 - k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations should be forwarded.
 - l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
- a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at [FBIHQ] for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division]) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.

- (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division,] informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
- (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

9. In cases involving bombings having an apparent racial or religious basis with the resultant public interest, the SAC should issue a statement to the press indicating the SAC has arrived at the scene or is en route to actively assist local investigative authorities, making available to them every possible cooperative service of the FBI, including the Bureau's full laboratory and identification facilities, to further assist them by handling out-of-state leads, and to take charge of all investigative efforts that may indicate any Federal violation. At no time should this statement indicate that the criminal act is obviously outside the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI nor should full investigative responsibility for the incident be either assumed or declared. The issuance of this statement requires prior Bureau approval in every such instance, and the Bureau should be contacted telephonically and furnished known facts of the incident so a prompt statement can be authorized.
10. In contacts with the press concerning a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny no information should be volunteered concerning the amount of loot obtained. Specific questions by members of the press concerning amount of loot may be answered only following the arrest of an individual or individuals for violation of the Federal bank robbery statute.
11. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
12. In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.
13. Bureau personnel, including SACs and ASACs, are not to participate in give-and-take news conferences without prior Bureau authority including clearance by the Press Services Office. This will be permitted only in the rarest of circumstances where mitigating facts clearly indicate it is to the Bureau's best interests to participate.

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents
 - a. Foreword by the Director
 - b. Interesting case write-ups
 - c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
 - d. Deleted
2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work
3. Filing and indexing
 - a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by FBIHQ.
 - b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
 - c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.
 - d. Deleted

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
 - a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy graduates
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Deleted
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
 FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
 Research[(Files and Communications Division)]

C. SPEECHES

1. [The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent Supervisor approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.]

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete or when it is determined a source is deceased.

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.

2. Files

Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.

3. Security and extremist sources of information

Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the [Files and Communications] Division. Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. [The frequency of personal contact with SAC contacts is left to the discretion of the SAC; contacts should be evaluated periodically to determine their effectiveness and the desirability of their continuance.]
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. [Each office must submit a complete alphabetical roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.]
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

Specific questions by members of the press concerning amount of loot may be answered only following the arrest of an individual or individuals for violation of the Federal bank robbery statute.
11. Copies of Bureau press releases to be placed in case file and press release file if exists.
12. In connection with service awards to Bureau personnel, SACs may provide news media with a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of employee. No employee may submit to a personal interview by a newsman in connection with such an award or under any other circumstances, for that matter, without prior Bureau authority. This does not preclude an SAC or other Bureau official from issuing news releases in accordance with existing Bureau policy.
13. Bureau personnel, including SACs and ASACs, are not to participate in give-and-take news conferences without prior Bureau authority including clearance by the Press Services Office. This will be permitted only in the rarest of circumstances where mitigating facts clearly indicate it is to the Bureau's best interests to participate.

 - b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
 - c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.
 - d. Deleted

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
 - a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy graduates

 Research (Files and Communications Division)

C. SPEECHES

1. The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.
4. Do not:
- a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
 - b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
 - c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
 - d. Use complicated sentence structure
 - e. Use technical references to statutes
 - f. Express personal opinions
 - g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
 - h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
 - i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
 - j. Use adjectives excessively
5. Transmittal
Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention [Files and Communications] Division.
6. Dissemination
New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters. In all instances the circular letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau a communication pertaining to a list of law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. One of the two following procedures should be used:

- a. (1) On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each Department, the list described above. Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.
 - (a) Chiefs of police
 - (b) Sheriffs
 - (c) State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts
 - (d) U. S. Marshals and deputies
 - (e) Ranking Federal law enforcement officers
 - (f) Wardens of penal institutions
 - (g) District attorneys or county prosecutors
 - (h) Railway police (if desirable)
 - (i) Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins
 - (j) Any other officials who receive identification orders
- (2) Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

- b. As an alternative, offices which believe it will save time and material may make any necessary changes as they occur in this list by typing the appropriate change on a strip of paper which will be taped over the item to be corrected. [The date of the revision will be typed on a strip of paper and will be taped under the page number of the amended page.] The page bearing the correction may then be reproduced on Xerox equipment and the new copy inserted in place of the corrected. Copies of the amended pages may then be furnished to the Bureau and interested employees in the offices. In this procedure, it is necessary to appropriately flag each individual change so that it may be readily identified without the necessity of a name-by-name review. Offices using this procedure must make the customary annual review of the list and submit a letter to the Bureau on March 1 of each year advising that the list the Bureau has is accurate and current.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

2. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars
Each field office must maintain a mailing list composed of individuals and organizations to which identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be sent. Each field office must review annually its mailing list in order to see that no data is sent to firms which have ceased business or have merged with other organizations. A survey should be conducted by Agents each year by every office, at time field office mailing list is purged, to determine whether additional names of individuals and businesses should be added to field office mailing list.
- a. Addressograph plates are to be prepared at Bureau upon receipt of field request. (Bureau will prepare, on its own initiative, Addressograph plates for new FBINA graduates.) Title of position is used rather than name of incumbent.
- b. Decide what organizations, individuals, or concerns are to appear on list.
- (1) Quality of assistance addressee is in a position to give
- (2) Cooperation which has been afforded
- (3) Following must appear on list:
- | | |
|--|----------------------------|
| Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms | Missions Providing Lodging |
| Cooperative Credit Bureaus | Postal Service Inspectors |
| Duly Constituted Law Enforcement Officers | Postmasters |
| FBINA Graduates | Salvation Army |
| Hotels | Secret Service |
| Immigration and Naturalization
Service | [U. S. Customs Service] |
| | U. S. Marshals |
- (4) Following may appear on list:
- | | |
|---|-------------------------------|
| Automobile Clubs. | Navy Shore Patrol |
| Banks | Oil Company Special Agents |
| Car Rental Agencies | Parole and Probation Officers |
| County Attorneys | Plant Quarantine Officers |
| County Coroners | Protective Associations |
| Credit Companies | Race Tracks |
| Detective Agencies | Savings and Loan Associations |
| Enlistment Officers, U. S. Air
Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps | Service Recruiting Officers |
| Employment Service | State Employment Offices |
| Fire Departments | State Hospitals for Insane |
| Forest Service | Steamship Companies |
| Gunsmiths | Telegraph Companies |
| Insurance Companies | U. S. Attorneys |
| Movie Studios | U. S. Magistrates |
- c. Identification orders, wanted flyers, and check circulars are to be furnished newspapers and periodicals only upon their specific request. Should a compelling reason exist for distribution of an identification order, a wanted flyer, or a check circular, such as possible employment of a fugitive by a newspaper or periodical, secure Bureau approval for such distribution.
- d. Give consideration to desirability of circularizing motels.
- e. Veterans Administration (VA) installations should be circularized on identification order fugitives who are veterans. Office of origin has responsibility for instructing other offices to initiate distribution to VA installations in such cases.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete or when it is determined a source is deceased.

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and extremist sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section 130H, item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

L. SAC CONTACTS

1. SAC contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service, or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI upon the request of the SAC.
2. A complete file review must be made and an FD-9 submitted on each contact (file review on spouses, near relatives, or business not necessary unless special circumstances prevail).
3. SAC contacts must be approved by the Bureau. Request this approval by letter to the Bureau captioned " , SAC Contact." Mark the letter for the attention of the [External Affairs] Division. Use the following subheadings in the order given:
 - a. Description of proposed SAC contact
 - b. Services this contact can provide
 - c. Past relations with field office
 - d. Thumbnail sketch of known history
 - e. Results of Identification Division check
 - f. Derogatory information
 - g. Recommendation of SAC

Submit an original and two copies, but one of the copies should consist only of the first page of the communication. If the SAC contact is approved, the single-page copy is to be stamped approved and returned to the field. If the contact is not approved, a letter is to be submitted to the field stating why the individual cannot be used as an SAC contact.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

SACs must be alert in recommending SAC contacts that they are not proposing individuals who because of business connections or personal activities or close association with other persons will be involved in unfavorable publicity or become the subject of adverse investigative activity, or who will capitalize on their friendly association with the SAC.

4. Except where a suitable file is already in existence, a dead file in classification 80 is to be opened on each contact.
5. A three- by five-inch card on each contact is to be retained in an SAC contact box in the exclusive possession of the SAC. Each card is to contain:
 - a. Name of the contact
 - b. Office and home addresses and telephone numbers
 - c. Nature of service which can be received
 - d. Any comments which would be helpful in handling the individual
 - e. Date of first contact and name of SAC first developing the contact (Show in the lower left corner on the front of the card.)
 - f. Dates of contacts by the SAC (to be entered on the reverse side of the card in longhand). Contacts more frequent than quarterly should not be listed.
 - g. Any necessary descriptive data
6. Each contact is to be indexed in the general indices. The card is to show the name of the individual, date of preparation, and the notation, "See SAC."
7. [The frequency of personal contact with SAC contacts is left to the discretion of the SAC; contacts should be evaluated periodically to determine their effectiveness and the desirability of their continuance.]
8. Advise Bureau immediately when a contact is discontinued UACB. If the contact is transferred or moves to another city located within another field division, a copy of the communication advising of the discontinuance should be designated for that field division. Also advise field division of background information re contact.
9. Advise Bureau promptly of changes of addresses or status of SAC contacts.
10. [Each office must submit a complete alphabetical roster of SAC contacts to reach the Bureau by the first week of November each year. If there are any changes in address, employment, or other pertinent data, such information should be set forth. If there is no change in status, so state.]
11. From time to time, the Bureau sends these contacts reprints of speeches and other material to assist in making them more "FBI minded" and aware of some of the problems confronting us. Any indication that such material is not welcomed by any SAC contact should be made known to the Bureau without delay.
12. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit all persons listed as SAC contacts and in addition leading officials located in the field division.

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[A. PRESS POLICY

1. Confidential Nature of FBI Operations

See Part I, Section 1, page 9, paragraph B of Manual of Rules and Regulations.

2. Title 28, Section 50.2 of the Code of Federal Regulations concerning release of information by personnel of the Department of Justice relating to criminal and civil proceedings states:

"(a) General. (1) The availability to news media of information in criminal and civil cases is a matter which has become increasingly a subject of concern in the administration of justice. The purpose of this statement is to formulate specific guidelines for the release of such information by personnel of the Department of Justice.

"(2) While the release of information for the purpose of influencing a trial is, of course, always improper, there are valid reasons for making available to the public information about the administration of the law. The task of striking a fair balance between the protection of individuals accused of crime or involved in civil proceedings with the Government and public understandings of the problems of controlling crime and administering government depends largely on the exercise of sound judgment by those responsible for administering the law and by representatives of the press and other media.

"(3) Inasmuch as the Department of Justice has generally fulfilled its responsibilities with awareness and understanding of the competing needs in this area, this statement, to a considerable extent, reflects and formalizes the standards to which representatives of the Department have adhered in the past. Nonetheless, it will be helpful in ensuring uniformity of practice to set forth the following guidelines for all personnel of the Department of Justice.

"(4) Because of the difficulty and importance of the questions they raise, it is felt that some portions of the matters covered by this statement, such as the authorization to make available Federal conviction records and a description of items seized at the time of arrest, should be the subject of continuing review and consideration by the Department on the basis of experience and suggestions from those within and outside the Department.

"(b) Guidelines to criminal actions. (1) These guidelines shall apply to the release of information to news media from the time a person is the subject of a criminal investigation until any proceeding resulting from such as investigation has been terminated by trial or otherwise.

"(2) At no time shall personnel of the Department of Justice furnish any statement or information for the purpose of influencing the outcome of a defendant's trial, nor shall personnel of the Department furnish any statement or information, which could reasonably be expected to be disseminated by means of public communication, if such a statement or information may reasonably be expected to influence the outcome of a pending or future trial.

"(3) Personnel of the Department of Justice, subject to specific limitations imposed by law or court rule or order, may make public the following information:

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

"(i) The defendant's name, age, residence, employment, marital status, and similar background information.

"(ii) The substance or text of the charge, such as a complaint, indictment, or information.

"(iii) The identity of the investigating and/or arresting agency and the length or scope of an investigation.

"(iv) The circumstances immediately surrounding an arrest, including the time and place of arrest, resistance, pursuit, possession and use of weapons, and a description of physical items seized at the time of arrest.

"Disclosures should include only incontrovertible, factual matters, and should not include subjective observations. In addition, where background information or information relating to the circumstances of an arrest or investigation would be highly prejudicial or where the release thereof would serve no law enforcement function, such information should not be made public.

"(4) Personnel of the Department shall not volunteer for publication any information concerning a defendant's prior criminal record, but information drawn from Federal conviction records may be made available in response to a specific request.

"(5) Because of the particular danger of prejudice resulting from statements in the period approaching and during trial, they ought strenuously to be avoided during that period. Any such statement or release shall be made only on the infrequent occasion when circumstances absolutely demand a disclosure of information and shall include only information which is clearly not prejudicial.

"(6) The release of certain types of information generally tends to create dangers of prejudice without serving a significant law enforcement function. Therefore, personnel of the Department should refrain from making available the following:

"(i) Observations about a defendant's character.

"(ii) Statements, admissions, confessions, or alibis attributable to a defendant, or the refusal or failure of the accused to make a statement.

"(iii) Reference to investigative procedures such as fingerprints, polygraph examinations, ballistic tests, or laboratory tests, or to the refusal by the defendant to submit to such tests or examinations.

"(iv) Statements concerning the identity, testimony, or credibility of prospective witnesses.

"(v) Statements concerning evidence or argument in the case, whether or not it is anticipated that such evidence or argument will be used at trial.

"(vi) Any opinion as to the accused's guilt, or the possibility of a plea of guilty to the offense charged, or the possibility of a plea to a lesser offense.

"(7) Personnel of the Department of Justice should take no action to encourage or assist news media in photographing or televising a defendant or accused person being held or transported in Federal custody. Departmental representatives should not make available photographs of a defendant unless a law enforcement function is served thereby.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

"(8) This statement of policy is not intended to restrict the release of information concerning a defendant who is a fugitive from justice.

"(9) Since the purpose of this statement is to set forth generally applicable guidelines, there will, of course, be situations in which it will limit the release of information which would not be prejudicial under the particular circumstances. If a representative of the Department believes that in the interest of the fair administration of justice and the law enforcement process information beyond these guidelines should be released, in a particular case, he shall request the permission of the Attorney General or the Deputy Attorney General to do so.

"(c) Guidelines to civil actions. Personnel of the Department of Justice associated with a civil action shall not during its investigation or litigation make or participate in making an extrajudicial statement, other than a quotation from or reference to public records, which a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication if there is a reasonable likelihood that such dissemination will interfere with a fair trial and which relates to:

"(1) Evidence regarding the occurrence or transaction involved.

"(2) The character, credibility, or criminal records of a party, witness, or prospective witness.

"(3) The performance or results of any examinations or tests or the refusal or failure of a party to submit to such.

"(4) An opinion as to the merits of the claims or defenses of a party, except as required by law or administrative rule.

"(5) Any other matter reasonably likely to interfere with a fair trial of the action."

3. News Releases

Fairness, accuracy, and sensitivity to the rights of defendants, as well as to the public's right to know, must prevail in all dealings with the news media. Favoritism should be shown toward no newsman or no news medium.

Information concerning the FBI, including information regarding arrests and other developments in cases investigated by the FBI, is disclosed to news media, including newspapers, news magazines, news services, and radio and television networks or stations, (a) as news releases or announcements, initiated by the FBI, and (b) as responses to inquiries emanating from newsmen.

Each field office should maintain a control file containing all news releases issued by the office since the last inspection.

a. "One-Office" news releases

The vast majority of news releases made by field offices are issued to announce arrests in FBI cases. The provisions of Section 50.2 clearly apply to all of these. If an SAC feels that an exception to those provisions should be made in any individual case, he should make his views known to the Assistant Directors of (a) the substantive division involved and (b) the External Affairs Division. Exceptions to the instructions provided in Section 50.2 can be approved only by the Attorney General or the Deputy Attorney General, not by any official of the FBI.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

All news releases made by field offices should be issued over the name of the SAC. They should be issued to all interested news media in the field office territory as simultaneously as possible; and they should provide as full an account of the facts as can be disclosed within the provisions of Section 50.2. In news releases announcing arrests or other developments attributable to the joint efforts of the FBI and other law enforcement agencies, appropriate recognition should, of course, be given to those other agencies.

SACs may authorize other experienced Special Agents, including Resident Agents, in their field offices to read or deliver news releases issued over the SAC's name to news media after the SAC has approved those news releases. However, those Special Agents should not expand upon the information in the news releases; and they should answer any inquiry or request for additional information by courteously telling the newsman involved that his inquiry or request will be brought to the attention of the SAC as quickly as possible for his consideration and action. The reason for the policy of referring all such matters to the SAC is to assure both uniformity and accuracy of any supplemental information that is provided to news media.

SACs also may authorize other experienced Special Agents to record news releases in compliance with requests of radio and television stations. However, only SACs or ASACs should make live or filmed television appearances involving the reading of news releases.

SACs have the option of accepting or declining such time-consuming requests made by radio and television stations. If declined, however, the declinations should be tactfully worded and explained so as to avoid any impression of partiality. If a request is accepted, the radio and/or television station involved should understand that the SAC or the Special Agent designated by the SAC will merely read the text of the news release and will not answer questions.

On occasion, SACs also issue news releases or make announcements dealing with administrative matters such as transfers of the SAC or ASAC of the field office or presentation of service awards to personnel of the field office. On such occasions, photographs and biographical sketches of the personnel involved may be made available to the news media. However, requests to interview these employees about their official duties and experiences should tactfully be declined.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

So as to minimize the opportunities for criminal elements to harass Special Agents and their families, neither photographs nor biographical sketches of Special Agents should be made available to news media in connection with news releases, announcements, or inquiries pertaining to FBI investigations. The sole exception is in the case of employees who are killed in line of duty, in which instances the release of photographs and biographical data should be coordinated with the Administrative Division and the External Affairs Division.

b. "Multi-Office" news releases

News releases announcing arrests or other important developments in wide-ranging investigations often require close coordination and simultaneous release to the press by two or more field offices. The External Affairs Division should be consulted before any such news release is made, and consideration should be given to the question of whether a national news release is merited.

c. National news releases

As a general rule, national news releases announcing arrests or other investigative developments are issued only in exceptional cases involving (1) prominent persons, such as well-known business and civic leaders, entertainers, athletes, or officials of local, county, state, or Federal Government; (2) persons of national notoriety, such as members of the "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives"; (3) persons arrested for crimes that have attracted nationwide interest, such as prevailed in the 1950 robbery of Brink's Inc., at Boston, Massachusetts, and the 1964 murder of three young civil rights workers in Neshoba County, Mississippi; and (4) persons whose crimes have international ramifications, such as espionage agents or fugitives who have fled abroad. The heads of headquarters and field divisions should assure that the essential facts of all such cases, including anticipated developments therein, are promptly brought to the attention of the External Affairs Division on a continuing basis.

National news releases generally will be issued in Washington, D. C. However, copies will be furnished to all interested field offices so that the SACs of those offices can make them available to local news media within minutes of their release in Washington.

SACs should not expand upon the contents of national news releases without approval of both the substantive division involved and the External Affairs Division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. News Media Inquiries

There are two categories of news media inquiries. The first involves routine inquiries received at the field office regarding either investigative or administrative matters. These should be answered by the SAC or ASAC within the guidelines indicated above.

In responding to such inquiries, SACs and ASACs should be courteous, factual, and as helpful as possible. They should, however, avoid answering hypothetical questions or questions that would require them to express personal opinions on matters of intense local or national controversy.

The second category involves inquiries from the news media in emergency situations. Often these are received by Special Agents at the scenes of arrests, gun battles, or other fast-moving developments in investigations.

Unless undercover assignments or similar overriding circumstances dictate otherwise, Special Agents who are approached by newsmen at the scenes of fast-moving developments in FBI cases should (a) identify themselves as "a Special Agent of the FBI," (b) furnish the name of the field office to which they are assigned, and (c) state the general nature of the investigative operations, such as "We are here to serve an arrest (or a search) warrant." Requests for additional information should be answered by courteously referring the newsmen to the field office or to the temporary field headquarters if such a temporary field headquarters has been established in the area.

Only SACs or ASACs should participate in question-and-answer interviews with representatives of any news medium at the scenes of fast-moving developments in FBI cases. In emergency situations, however, Special Agents can relay reporters' questions to the SAC by telephone or radio; and the SAC's responses thereto can be furnished to the reporters in the SAC's name by a Special Agent. In other than such emergency situations, Special Agents should courteously refer newsmen to the SAC or ASAC for answers to their questions; and Special Agents' investigative responsibilities attendant to such fast-moving developments must take precedence over questions or inquiries of newsmen.

No FBI employee should knowingly furnish an erroneous, deceptive, or misleading answer to a news media inquiry. In the overwhelming majority of cases, an unequivocal and definitive answer can be given reporters' questions regarding whether the FBI is, or is not, investigating a specific criminal act, as well as the reason why we have or have not instituted investigation. However, in kidnap-for-ransom cases and related crimes involving a threat against human life, neither the fact that the crime has occurred, nor the fact that the FBI is investigating it, should be disclosed or confirmed without the approval of the substantive investigative division and the External Affairs Division.

Due to the sensitivity of many banking-type institutions to publicity concerning the amount of loot obtained in robberies, burglaries, and larcenies of financial institutions, such information should not be disclosed to news media without the concurrence of the General Investigative Division and the External Affairs Division.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Under no circumstances should any employee ask or suggest that a newsman withhold information from the public without the concurrence of the substantive investigative division and the External Affairs Division.

5. Fugitive Publicity

News releases and other public disclosures designed to solicit public cooperation in the apprehension of FBI fugitives may contain more facts about the fugitive's criminal background than are permissible in news releases and announcements regarding arrests.

In publicity regarding FBI fugitives, extreme care should be taken to avoid statements that brand a fugitive as guilty of a crime for which he has not been convicted. Arrest numbers or other data that identify a photograph as having been made in connection with a past arrest or imprisonment should not appear in photographs of fugitives that are furnished to news media.

Field offices should coordinate all fugitive publicity with the Special Investigative Division and the External Affairs Division; and they should not hesitate to consult the External Affairs Division regarding questions or problems that arise in any area of news media relations.

6. Liaison With News Media

SACs who consider it necessary or advisable to do so may use one or more experienced Special Agents to assist in facilitating prompt and effective liaison with the news media. Such Agents will not be spokesmen for their field offices. They may furnish information to news media in the SAC's name after it has been approved by the SAC. They also may assist in preparing news releases, as well as responses to news media inquiries. These Agents should devote no more time to such news media liaison duties than is absolutely necessary.

It is the intent of these guidelines to facilitate a more open stance and, thereby, a mutually beneficial relationship between FBI and news media representatives. SACs, as well as other employees acting for them in news media relations, should be as responsive as practical and possible to inquiries and requests made by newsmen. The term "No comment" should be avoided except when its use is absolutely necessary. If an SAC does not know the answer to a newsman's question, he should have no hesitancy in stating, "I don't know," and/or, depending upon the nature of the inquiry, telling the newsman that he will contact him (the newsman) as soon as he has information that can be furnished to him.

SACs should avail themselves of every opportunity to meet and become well acquainted with leading citizens throughout their field divisions, including representatives of all important news media. They should seek to cultivate a personal, as well as an official, relationship with these individuals to the fullest extent that the demands of other duties make possible.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents
 - a. Foreword by the Director
 - b. Interesting case write-ups
 - c. Articles which might assist law enforcement officers
 - d. Deleted
2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work
3. Filing and indexing
 - a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by FBIHQ.
 - b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
 - c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.
 - d. Deleted
4. Each office must submit to the Bureau annually at least three suggestions for articles, identifying the suggested author, and briefly describing the nature of the suggested article. The article should not be prepared, submitted, or mentioned to the suggested author until the Bureau directs that it be obtained. Suggestions may cover any general or specific subject of law enforcement interest, including the following:
 - a. Better investigative or administrative methods and techniques of any nature, particularly those used or developed by FBI National Academy graduates
 - b. Improved or unusual equipment being used
 - c. Complicated, unusual, and well-handled cases which are illustrative of law enforcement problems and excellent police work
 - d. Deleted
 - e. Police and firearms training subjects
 - f. Crime prevention articles from departments which have taken aggressive action to combat juvenile delinquency
 - g. Transmit all material to the Bureau under the caption:
 FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
 Research[(External Affairs)Division)

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

C. SPEECHES

1. The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.
4. Do not:
- a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
 - b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
 - c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
 - d. Use complicated sentence structure
 - e. Use technical references to statutes
 - f. Express personal opinions
 - g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
 - h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
 - i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
 - j. Use adjectives excessively
5. Transmittal
Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, attention [External Affairs] Division.
6. Dissemination
New ones issued by the Bureau should be carefully reviewed for possible interest to feature writers in field office territory and consideration given to supplying them to appropriate writers. If there is an appreciable passage of time after issuance, obtain Bureau approval before release. Pertinent photographs, if available, will be furnished by the Bureau on request.

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

- 1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
- 2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters. In all instances the circular letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau a communication pertaining to a list of law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. One of the two following procedures should be used:

- a. (1) On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each Department, the list described above. Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.
 - (a) Chiefs of police.
 - (b) Sheriffs
 - (c) State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts
 - (d) U. S. Marshals and deputies
 - (e) Ranking Federal law enforcement officers
 - (f) Wardens of penal institutions
 - (g) District attorneys or county prosecutors
 - (h) Railway police (if desirable)
 - (i) Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins
 - (j) Any other officials who receive identification orders
- (2) Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

I. VISITS TO FIELD OFFICES

1. Non-Bureau governmental officials
 - a. Do not discuss Bureau policies, plans, or relationships. Courteously advise the visitor that inquiries concerning such matters are to be made at the Bureau at Washington.
 - b. Advise the Bureau of the visit, identity of the visitor, purpose, matters discussed, courtesies extended, and observations of interest to the Bureau.
2. Departmental officials
 - a. Be courteous.
 - b. Do not offer office space, clerical and stenographic assistance, or chauffeuring in Bureau automobiles.
 - c. Do not furnish information unless prior notification has been received that the official would contact the field office for information. If no notification received, before furnishing information clearance must be obtained from the Bureau.
 - d. Advise the Bureau in case of doubt.

J. MISCELLANEOUS

1. [Firearms, defensive tactics,]and disarming demonstrations
Are to be confined to law enforcement groups.
2. Credentials
Are to be exhibited to all persons interviewed in such manner that the person to whom shown has an opportunity to observe and understand the connection of the Agent with the FBI.
3. Law enforcement officials
 - a. Contact with
 - (1) Contact must be maintained with law enforcement officials for the purpose of securing information of violations of Federal laws within the jurisdiction of the Bureau.
 - (2) Agents are to call on police executives when in their cities unless such visits would be so frequent as to be embarrassing.
 - (3) Local law enforcement agencies should be advised by letter of the disposition of prosecutive action taken in Federal court in cases

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

referred to Bureau by local law enforcement agencies or where Bureau fugitives are taken into custody by local law enforcement officers. They should also be advised of violations of local laws coming to the attention of the FBI.

- b. Visits to Washington
When the field requests special courtesies be afforded certain individuals, including law enforcement officers, coming to Washington, D. C., the communication so advising the Bureau shall contain biographical data and a brief summary of information in the field office files concerning the visitor.

When law enforcement executives are contemplating a visit to the Bureau at Washington, D. C., ask them to call at the office of the [Assistant Director of External Affairs Division, Room 5634,] Justice Building.

- c. Letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, and condolence
When letters of commendation, congratulations, appreciation, or condolence from the Director are recommended by the field, such recommendations should be submitted promptly. They should include the specific facts on which the recommendation is based, full identifying data and address of the citizen, and the result of a search of the field office indices concerning the citizen. [Form FD-468 may be used.] In connection with the election of officers of police associations at conventions covering more than one field division territory, the field division in whose territory the convention was physically held is responsible for submitting any recommendations for letters of congratulations. The office submitting such request should summarize briefly the relations with these officers, incorporating any derogatory data which might preclude such letters. Inasmuch as the recommending office is not likely to possess all data, pertinent other field divisions should submit a brief, supplemental summary concerning officers recommended for letters who reside in their territory.
4. Inquiries concerning status of Bureau cases
When a state official has expressed interest in the prosecutive status of a Bureau case, for a legitimate reason, such as deferment of state prosecution pending the outcome of the Federal case, insure that such official is kept appropriately advised, including the final outcome of the matter.
5. U. S. Cabinet officers, Senators, and Congressmen
If an SAC receives an inquiry from a Cabinet officer or U. S. Senator or Congressman concerning an official matter, it should be brought to the Bureau's attention immediately.

K. SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Definition

An individual, organization, or concern willingly furnishing information to employees frequently enough to justify making a record where the source need not be protected. If occasionally the source must be protected, this may be done. If sources must be constantly concealed, they become informants or confidential sources and must be handled as such.

1. Index

Index card (3 by 5 inches) must be made up to contain:

- a. Names
- b. Addresses
- c. Organization or concern
- d. Type of information furnished
- e. Date of development

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

13. Additional persons to be contacted shortly after the arrival of the SAC include:
- a. Federal judges
 - b. U. S. Attorneys
 - c. Only outstanding state judges
 - d. Governors
 - e. Leading state and county prosecutors
 - f. State attorneys general
 - g. Officers of the National Association of County and Prosecuting Attorneys
 - h. Executive secretary of state chamber of commerce
 - i. In the principal cities:

<ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) Mayors (2) Chiefs of police (3) Officials of newspapers, including publishers, managing editors, city editors of leading newspapers, heads of newspaper wire services (4) Managers or owners of leading and most important radio stations (5) Heads of outstanding or more important civic clubs, such as Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions (6) Executive secretary or director of chambers of commerce (7) Heads of Federal intelligence agencies (8) Outstanding leaders of Government and business (9) Heads of larger universities (10) Outstanding religious leaders of any faith, such as the Bishop of a diocese of any faith or the leading Rabbi 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> (11) Top representatives of airlines (12) Managers of leading airports (13) Top representatives of railroads (14) Managers of leading railroad stations (15) Top representatives of telephone companies (16) Top representatives of Western Union (17) Managers of the most outstanding and important hotels (18) Heads of better business bureaus (19) Heads of leading banks (20) Influential minority leaders
---	---
14. Any derogatory information obtained after the Bureau has approved the SAC contact should be reported to the Bureau promptly.
15. Gifts to office contacts shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items.

[[M.] NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 13i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers including minority-oriented newspapers, must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[N. BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM REGARDING MATTERS OF NATIONAL INTEREST
This program is coordinated by the External Affairs Division and is devoted primarily to supplying SACs facts regarding current happenings, including both administrative and investigative developments, that are topics of nationwide press coverage and public interest.

All such communications to SACs bear the caption "BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM" and are in the form of either teletypes or airtels, dependent upon the exigencies of the situation.

The purpose of this program is to assure that each SAC possesses the key facts concerning important happenings anywhere within the FBI that command widespread public interest. Information furnished to SACs under this program should prove helpful to them, as well as to other FBI personnel, in answering questions, correcting misunderstandings, and dispelling false rumors that may exist either within or without the ranks of the FBI. In some instances, however, the information may be of such a nature that it cannot be disclosed in whole or in part to outsiders. In fact, occasionally it is necessary to restrict discussion and disclosure of the information even within FBIHQ and field offices. Guidelines furnished on each communication should be strictly followed.

FBIHQ and field office personnel should promptly bring to the attention of the External Affairs Division all current items and developments that they feel merit consideration for inclusion under this program.]

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

Enclosures (31)

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Under no circumstances should any employee ask or suggest that a newsman withhold information from the public without the concurrence of the substantive investigative division and the External Affairs Division.

5. Fugitive Publicity

News releases and other public disclosures designed to solicit public cooperation in the apprehension of FBI fugitives may contain more facts about the fugitive's criminal background than are permissible in news releases and announcements regarding arrests.

In publicity regarding FBI fugitives, extreme care should be taken to avoid statements that brand a fugitive as guilty of a crime for which he has not been convicted. Arrest numbers or other data that identify a photograph as having been made in connection with a past arrest or imprisonment should not appear in photographs of fugitives that are furnished to news media.

Field offices should coordinate all fugitive publicity with the Special Investigative Division and the External Affairs Division; and they should not hesitate to consult the External Affairs Division regarding questions or problems that arise in any area of news media relations.

6. Liaison With News Media

SACs who consider it necessary or advisable to do so may use one or more experienced Special Agents to assist in facilitating prompt and effective liaison with the news media. Such Agents will not be spokesmen for their field offices. They may furnish information to news media in the SAC's name after it has been approved by the SAC. They also may assist in preparing news releases, as well as responses to news media inquiries. These Agents should devote no more time to such news media liaison duties than is absolutely necessary.

It is the intent of these guidelines to facilitate a more open stance and, thereby, a mutually beneficial relationship between FBI and news media representatives. SACs, as well as other employees acting for them in news media relations, should be as responsive as practical and possible to inquiries and requests made by newsmen. The term "No comment" should be avoided except when its use is absolutely necessary. If an SAC does not know the answer to a newsman's question, he should have no hesitancy in stating, "I don't know," and/or, depending upon the nature of the inquiry, telling the newsman that he will contact him (the newsman) as soon as he has information that can be furnished to him.

SACs should avail themselves of every opportunity to meet and become well acquainted with leading citizens throughout their field divisions, including representatives of all important news media. They should seek to cultivate a personal, as well as an official, relationship with these individuals to the fullest extent that the demands of other duties make possible.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

B. FBI LAW ENFORCEMENT BULLETIN

This publication is issued the first of each month by the Bureau for the benefit of law enforcement agencies.

1. Contents

- a. Foreword by the Director
- b. [Fugitive notices and interesting or unusual fingerprint patterns
- c. Articles and features designed to inform law enforcement officers of new, but proven, programs and techniques to enhance their professional capabilities
- d. Items alerting law enforcement officers to dangerous weapons or techniques utilized by the criminal element]

2. Distribution

Limited to law enforcement officers and others engaged in or having a legitimate interest in law enforcement work

3. Filing and indexing

- a. In a 66 classification file, bound on the side, and fully indexed. Informative matter to be indexed under subject matter. For uniformity, the Bureau is to forward by routing slip to all divisions each month an indexing list of the basic and pertinent items to be indexed. Index cards are to be prepared by each office. Any additional items not listed but considered to be worthy of indexing by a particular office should also be indexed. The indexing lists are to be destroyed after the field office inspection by FBIHQ.
- b. This file may be destroyed when it is over five years old. Retain index cards.
- c. Current copy should be placed in bookcase, available to all Agents.
- d. Deleted

4. [Suggestions and submissions

- a. Each field office is required to submit three suggestions for byline articles from each state within its territory. Prior to submitting suggestions, proposed authors may be approached to determine their willingness to prepare an article and to identify the scope of their topic. However, proposed authors should not be asked to prepare a manuscript until the Bureau notifies the field office that the suggestion has been accepted and the article is requested. In contacts with any proposed or potential authors, absolutely no representations should be made which would obligate the FBI to any publishing commitments since many factors determine which articles received are ultimately published.
- b. In suggesting featured articles, consideration should mainly be given to manuscripts concerning proven programs and techniques of law enforcement which may be of significant value to other agencies. Suggestions should be concerned with training, research, or operational matters. Avoid items of a "newsletter" nature and matters which have a limited scope of interest in the profession.
- c. Each field office should be alert to exceptional photographs which could be recommended for use as a cover for the magazine. The Bureau wishes to project on the Bulletin's cover the best image of law enforcement. Attention-getting photographs showing officers giving aid to helpless citizens, protecting the weak, comforting the injured, or apprehending the guilty are examples of those that should be recommended when they come to the attention of field offices.
- d. Transmit all material for the magazine to the Bureau under the caption:

FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
Research Section (External Affairs Division)]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

C. SPEECHES

1. The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups.
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence
 - h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

4. Do not:
 - a. Identify law enforcement officers by name but by title and NA affiliation
 - b. Show aliases of subjects of Dependents Assistance Act of 1950
 - c. Show aliases of victims of WSTA cases
 - d. Use complicated sentence structure
 - e. Use technical references to statutes
 - f. Express personal opinions
 - g. Reveal identity of confidential informants
 - h. Use Bureau expressions like "the subject" and "the Bureau"
 - i. Prepare interesting case write-ups on juveniles, sex offenders, and parole violators but submit these by letter
 - j. Use adjectives excessively
5. Transmittal
Set forth all data necessary for Bureau's consideration at the beginning of write-up and then follow with interesting case data. Transmit by routing slip, Attention: External Affairs Division.
6. Dissemination
[Field Offices will be advised by routing slip when new write-ups are prepared. If copies are desired, an appropriate letter should be submitted to the Bureau, Attention: External Affairs Division, setting forth the specific use for which the write-up is intended. In instances where write-ups, either those previously prepared or those to be published in the future, may be released outside the Bureau, it will be necessary to first obtain Bureau approval.]
7. Interesting case control file
A copy of all communications concerning the dissemination of write-ups outside the Bureau is to be placed in the Interesting Case Control file. These communications should contain the identity of the person to whom the write-up is being made available, as well as the purpose for which it is to be used.]

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters. In all instances the circular letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, creed, or religion.
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

F. RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau a communication pertaining to a list of law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. One of the two following procedures should be used:

- a. (1) On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each Department, the list described above. Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.

In instances where write-ups, either those previously prepared or those to be published in the future, may be released outside the Bureau, it will be necessary to first obtain Bureau approval.]
7. Interesting case control file
A copy of all communications concerning the dissemination of write-ups outside the Bureau is to be placed in the Interesting Case Control file. These communications should contain the identity of the person to whom the write-up is being made available, as well as the purpose for which it is to be used.]

E. CIRCULAR LETTERS, TRADE AND BUSINESS PUBLICATIONS

1. Circular letters must be approved in advance by the Bureau and sent in by the office initiating the request.
2. SACs may approve the use of a circular letter directed to banking-type institutions within their own divisions to expedite circularization of known serial numbers of money included in the loot taken in a bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny. On a highly selective basis, on approval of the SAC, leads may be set out to contiguous offices to circularize banking-type institutions in those divisions, and the Bureau should be notified that this action is being taken unless advised to the contrary. Communications setting out such leads must include sufficient facts to enable the Bureau to properly evaluate and justify the additional circularization. In all other cases prior Bureau approval must be obtained in accordance with existing rules governing circular letters. In all instances the circular letter must include the following:
 - a. A brief concise statement concerning the bank robbery, bank burglary, or bank larceny and the fact that included in the loot or money taken was money, the serial numbers of which are known
 - b. List of known serial numbers according to denomination, series year if known, alphabetical order, and numerical sequence
 - c. A statement that the matter is to be treated confidentially
 - d. A cautionary statement that no bank employee should take any action which would tend to jeopardize his or her life or safety
 - e. The address and the telephone number of the field office with a statement that any person should contact the field office by calling collect

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Auxiliary offices are to advise the office of origin by letter of the results obtained through a circular letter. Office of origin should summarize the results in its next report.
4. One copy of the circular letter is to be filed. A list of addressees is to be attached. Upon the receipt of a reply, the addressee's name is to be checked to indicate this fact. Replies which are entirely negative should not be filed unless there is reason for doing so. Only negative replies are to be destroyed after handling in accordance with item 3 above. Sub-A files may be used when the number of replies to be filed is large.
5. A 66 file may be opened to retain copies of circular letters distributed in order to facilitate the handling of incoming inquiries and replies. Only one copy of each circular letter is to be filed therein. If the 66 file is maintained, the material therein is to be destroyed after it is a year old if it is no longer needed.
6. Circular letters and other information to be distributed or released to the public must be so worded as to be unobjectionable to any race, [color, religion, sex, or national origin.]
7. Trade publications may, with advance Bureau approval, be used to publicize information concerning fugitives known to be active in particular trades, businesses, or professions. The field office where the publication is located should check its indices concerning the publication, as well as the person or persons who will have to be contacted, before seeking Bureau approval, and sufficient identifying data should be furnished so that an appropriate Bureau indices check may be made.

[F. RADIO [AND TELEVISION] BROADCASTS

Radio [and television] broadcasts without advance Bureau approval may be made in hot-pursuit fugitive cases. Care must be exercised in broadcasting a license number believed used by fugitive as it may be disposed of to an innocent third person.

G. FIELD OFFICE LISTS

1. Law enforcement officials

On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau a communication pertaining to a list of law enforcement officials and agencies whose cooperation might be helpful. One of the two following procedures should be used:

- a. (1) On March 1 of each year all field offices shall forward to the Bureau in duplicate, and with a space left between the officials of each Department, the list described above. Indicate by an asterisk any change which was not previously called to the Bureau's attention.
 - (a) Chiefs of police
 - (b) Sheriffs
 - (c) State police or highway patrol commanders and ranking officers in command of districts
 - (d) U. S. Marshals and deputies
 - (e) Ranking Federal law enforcement officers
 - (f) Wardens of penal institutions
 - (g) District attorneys or county prosecutors
 - (h) Railway police (if desirable)
 - (i) Officers receiving law enforcement bulletins
 - (j) Any other officials who receive identification orders
- (2) Changes in the list are to be reported in duplicate to the Bureau as they occur.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

- c. Purchase of individual publications at Bureau request
When the Bureau requests a field office to purchase and forward one or more copies of publications of security interest, it is desired, unless otherwise specifically stated, that nonevidentiary copies be forwarded. With respect to these specific Bureau requests for the purchase of individual copies of publications, the requested nonevidentiary copies should be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip via ordinary mail.
- d. Obtaining and retaining evidentiary copies of publications in the field
When the submitting office determines, or is advised by the Bureau, that a certain issue of a publication (which has already been forwarded to the Bureau) is deemed to be of sufficient importance to warrant the obtaining of an evidentiary copy of that issue, a copy thereof should be obtained through live informants or by having an Agent purchase a copy at a public outlet for that publication, if confidentially feasible. The evidentiary copy, bearing complete identifying data, should be retained as evidence in the field office, and the Bureau should be so advised by letter, setting forth complete identifying data concerning the evidentiary copy, together with the caption and file number of the file in which the evidentiary copy is retained.
- e. Transmittal of evidentiary copies of publications to the Bureau
Instances in which the field will transmit evidentiary copies of publications to the Bureau will be limited almost exclusively to the submission of copies of foreign language publications for translation of certain material for use as evidence. In these instances, it is required that:
- (1) Each copy submitted bear complete identifying data
 - (2) The material be forwarded in sealed envelope labeled "Evidence"
 - (3) The material be forwarded via registered mail
 - (4) The cover letter of transmittal be marked for the attention of the FBI Laboratory; state clearly that it is contemplated that the publications (and translations thereof) will be used as evidence; identify clearly the enclosed publications as to title, place of publication, and date of issue; show the method of transmittal of the evidence to the Bureau; and indicate the desired disposition of the evidence.
- f. Calling attention of Bureau to publications of security interest
When a field office obtains an evidentiary copy of a publication which it desires to call to the Bureau's attention, a letter should be addressed to the Bureau to that end. Title, author, publisher, and the general nature should be very briefly set forth, together with the identifying data proper to the evidentiary copy. The letter should be informative, not requiring an answer. A nonevidentiary duplicate copy of that publication should be enclosed with the letter, if readily available. If a nonevidentiary copy is not readily available, that fact should be stated in the letter. If the Bureau desires to obtain a nonevidentiary duplicate copy of the publication for review, efforts will be made to obtain it through the appropriate field office. If not obtained, the office possessing the evidentiary copy will be requested to forward to the Bureau a Photostat thereof.

MANUAL OF RULES AND REGULATIONS

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

This cover letter should be retained until the next consecutively numbered letter is received. This will enable the field office immediately to detect the failure to receive the latest manual revisions.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

C. SPEECHES

1. The speech program is the personal responsibility of the SAC, and the SAC or ASAC should handle principal commitments. If neither available, these can be handled by an experienced and well-informed Agent approved for the commitment by the SAC or ASAC. Good judgment should dictate when a manuscript should be submitted to FBIHQ for approval in advance of a speaking engagement, particularly in regard to radio and television appearances.
2. It is not necessary to advise FBIHQ of each speaking engagement. Each office will maintain for a minimum of one year and one regular office inspection a control file in connection with acceptances and declinations of speech invitations. Each year on January 10th and on July 10th, each office will submit to FBIHQ a statistical report of speaking commitments handled. This will be divided into engagements by the SAC, the ASAC, and other Agent Supervisors; and will be further subdivided into speeches as well as radio, television, and Career Day appearances by these three groups. [In addition, identify the 10 most important speeches given during the 6-month period covered by the report and indicate who gave them.]
3. Each office should maintain a speech material file for the use of speakers. This should include Law Enforcement Bulletin items, interesting case material, magazine articles, research literature, newspaper clippings pertaining to law enforcement matters of interest, and items of value in connection with public appearances of Bureau representatives. In addition to being maintained in current status, this speech material should be indexed as to subject matter in the office files.

D. INTERESTING CASE WRITE-UPS

1. Write-ups of interesting cases may be:
 - a. Requested by the Bureau
 - b. Voluntarily submitted by the office of origin
 - c. Suggested by other offices
2. They are prepared concerning cases of:
 - a. Major importance
 - b. Public interest
 - c. Unusual and effective investigative techniques
 - d. Novel investigations of human interest
3. They are prepared:
 - a. Double spaced
 - b. Bureau file number to appear in upper left corner of first page
 - c. Title includes names and aliases of convicted subjects
 - d. Accurately
 - e. After a review of the entire file
 - f. In chronological or logical order, with all dates definite
 - g. Showing the actual time which is to be served under sentence
 - h. To include as many pertinent photographs as possible to make the write-up interesting. The photographs should not necessarily be of subjects alone but should be of paraphernalia used by the criminal, photographs of unusual loot obtained, scenes of various locales, etc. If photographs submitted do not belong to the FBI, it is necessary to inform the Bureau of their source and whether the owner of the photographs has any objection to their being reproduced in publications.
 - i. Each portion of the write-up should be documented as to the identity of the report or other communication from which facts were taken. The documentation should be set off by parentheses and follow immediately the portion of the write-up to which it pertains.

RE: REVISED PAGES

There are enumerated below pages of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, enclosed herewith, which have been revised. Revisions appearing on these pages are identified by brackets. The date appearing at the bottom of the pages indicates the date of revision. The new pages should be inserted immediately in the appropriate section and the old corresponding pages should be removed and turned over to the Special Agent in Charge who has the responsibility for the appropriate destruction of these old pages.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

H. INFORMATION TO BE FURNISHED TO THE BUREAU

1. Which does not have a nationwide circulation or interest

a. Relating to law enforcement concerning

- (1) Scientific apparatus
- (2) Equipment
- (3) Personnel
- (4) Methods
- (5) Economics

b. Newspaper clippings, other than items bearing the date line of a national wire service, should be submitted when they concern

- (1) The FBI, derogatory and complimentary. If possible, show author.
- (2) Outstanding abuses of parole and probation
- (3) Outstanding instances of juvenile crime
- (4) Bad local crime conditions
- (5) Scientific crime detection experts
- (6) Bureau police schools only when there is some unusual feature about the publicity. Examples: items setting forth comments made by police officers as to the value of police schools; comments on the caliber of schools in which FBI participates; incidents in which a police officer credits instruction he received in a police school as enabling him to capture a fugitive, solve a case, or otherwise perform his work more efficiently. (File in individual pertinent school files clippings relative to each police school in which field participates.)
- (7) Police training in colleges and universities
- (8) Aggravated sex offenders
- (9) Matters appearing in the press concerning the names of prominent persons who are mentioned in connection with Bureau cases. These matters also include wire service stories mentioning directly or indirectly persons of prominence in pending investigations being handled in your division. Forward such matters immediately and if there is any question as to what action should be taken ask for specific instructions.

- (10) Items of interest by nationally syndicated columnists need not be submitted if it is apparent that such items will come to the Bureau's attention through its review of Washington, D. C., newspapers. Columns of interest by writers syndicated regionally should, of course, be submitted.

2. Method of preparation for transmittal

- a. Mount the clipping on form FD-350 within the borders shown.
- b. Do not fold the clipping except in the case of a very large picture or in the case of a single word in a headline too long to fit in the allotted space. Make certain the clipping is placed evenly on the paper and does not hang over its edges. If necessary, a second page may be used and the only requirement is that a margin at least 1 1/2 inches deep should be left at the top of the page.
- c. The large block on the right side of FD-350 has space for the insertion of the names of more than one newspaper. The names of newspapers clipped may be overprinted in this space. Placing the page number on the line in front of the name of the newspaper will serve to designate which paper the clipping is from. The page number may be written in longhand. Only the page number on which the article begins should be shown. If overprinting is not used, required information other than page number should be typed.
- d. Show whether the matter mentioned is being investigated.
- e. Insert staples horizontally at the top and bottom and vertically at the sides of all clippings. Use only a sufficient number of staples to hold the clipping securely to the paper.
- f. Do not mutilate or mark clipping in any manner by underlining or circling words or by drawing arrows to direct attention.
- g. No cover letter needed when submitting clippings unless clarification is required for a particular clipping. This may be handled by routing slip, letter, or airtel accompanying clipping in question.

- h. If an item to be submitted appears on more than one page of the newspaper, the words "Continued on page..." the subheadline on the continued page, and the words "Continued from page..." should not be mounted.
 - i. Mounted clippings should read from top to bottom, column by column, from left to right.
 - j. All clippings must be complete.
 - k. Only one copy of a clipping need be submitted except that two copies of all items pertaining to actual or possible civil rights violations should be forwarded.
 - l. Include clippings with other mail being sent to Bureau on the day that the clippings appear in the local paper. Forward clippings from resident agencies the day they arrive at headquarters city.
3. Resident Agents must be alert for material appearing in the local press.
4. Submission of publications of security interest to the Bureau
- a. General principle governing submissions

The Bureau desires to receive publications of security interest at [FBIHQ] for purposes of information, research, and intelligence. Consequently, it is requested that evidentiary copies of publications be retained in the field and only nonevidentiary copies be forwarded to the Bureau by routing slip.
 - b. Manner of handling and forwarding nonevidentiary copies of publications
 - (1) Nonevidentiary copies of newspapers, magazines, journals, periodicals, news bulletins, and books, obtained regularly (by subscription or repeated purchase) and forwarded to the Bureau, need not be identified as to source. They should be submitted via ordinary mail by routing slip (marked for the attention of [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division]) unless transmittal by cover letter has been specifically requested. Routing slips may be used to notify the Bureau of routine administrative matters, such as temporary suspension of a publication (e.g., during summer months, lack of funds), temporary delay in obtaining or receiving particular issues of a publication, or other information which will keep the Bureau informed relative to the status of these publications. To avoid confusion, nonevidentiary copies which have been marked for identification (source, Agent, date, and place of acquisition) should be further annotated: "Not Evidence."

Letters should be used in connection with initiating action or ceasing action to obtain publications desired by the Bureau; to call to the attention of the Bureau specific items of information connected with these publications; and in those instances in which good judgment dictates that certain circumstances or information should be recorded in letter form.
 - (2) Each SAC and each legal attache must keep the Bureau, attention [Section IS-3, Intelligence Division,] informed on a current basis regarding publications (including books) of potential interest that are not included in the current list of publications which is supplied periodically to the field and to the legal attaches. These publications would include those published by subjects of security or counterintelligence investigations and publications which may otherwise have a security or counterintelligence significance.
 - (3) Each SAC and each legal attache should insure that the handling of publications for which his office is responsible is being given adequate supervision at all times. Subscriptions to these publications should be followed closely to insure that the publications are received at the Bureau on a current basis. The Bureau should be advised of the expiration date of the subscription to each publication in sufficient time to enable the Bureau to determine the necessity for renewal.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

Included in the index may be individuals in Government, business, or industry. Do not include law enforcement officers unless they are unusually cooperative or furnish special types of information. Set up the index alphabetically, geographically by states and towns; alphabetically in the subdivisions; and alphabetically by AEA facility, or by type of information.

Maintain the index where it is available to all Agents. An index may be maintained in resident agencies having approved office space which can be securely locked and having locked cabinets in which records can be kept. Source of information cards may be kept by resident Agents not having approved office space but working out of their homes whenever the SAC feels it is practicable to do so and the cards will be securely retained in a locked, steel file cabinet. Cards shall be kept as in the field office. The cards shall pertain only to the territory covered; under such circumstances there shall be no duplicate cards in the field office. Cards are to be deleted when obsolete or when it is determined a source is deceased.

Index sources of information in the general office index; do not remove such index cards at the time obsolete cards are deleted from the special source of information index except when it has been determined that source is deceased, at which time general index card can be destroyed immediately. Under all other conditions the general index cards shall be retained for 20 years subsequent to the removal of cards from the special source of information index.

2. Files
Do not make up files or write memoranda for the preparation of sources of information.
3. Security and extremist sources of information
Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and extremist sources of information. Follow instructions set out in section [130I,] item 2b, volume IV, of the Manual of Instructions. If the security or extremist source of information is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source of information must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
4. Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

[L. [PUBLIC CONTACTS

1. Public contacts are defined as persons who, because of their positions, can and do render extraordinary service or provide unusual and highly valuable assistance to the FBI.
2. Immediately upon assuming the duties of SAC, such SAC should visit leading officials located in the field division.]

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

3. Persons to be contacted shortly after the arrival of the SAC include:

- a. Federal judges
- b. U. S. Attorneys
- c. Only outstanding state judges
- d. Governors
- e. Leading state and county prosecutors
- f. State attorneys general
- g. Officers of the National Association of County and Prosecuting Attorneys
- h. Executive secretary of state chamber of commerce
- i. In the principal cities:
 - (1) Mayors (11) Top representatives of airlines
 - (2) Chiefs of police (12) Managers of leading airports
 - (3) Officials of newspapers, including publishers, managing editors, city editors of leading newspapers, heads of newspaper wire services (13) Top representatives of railroads
 - (4) Managers or owners of leading and most important radio and television stations (14) Managers of leading railroad stations
 - (5) Heads of outstanding or more important civic clubs, such as Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions (15) Top representatives of telephone companies
 - (6) Executive secretary or director of chambers of commerce (16) Top representatives of Western Union
 - (7) Heads of Federal intelligence agencies (17) Managers of the most outstanding and important hotels
 - (8) Outstanding leaders of Government and business (18) Heads of better business bureaus
 - (9) Heads of larger universities (19) Heads of leading banks
 - (10) Outstanding religious leaders of any faith, such as the Bishop of a diocese of any faith or the leading Rabbi (20) Influential minority leaders

M. NEWS MEDIA CONTACTS

As indicated in subsection L, paragraph 3i, (3), above, officials of leading newspapers including minority-oriented newspapers, must be contacted by SACs. Smaller newspapers and other news media are not to be neglected, however, and, throughout his tenure in a field office, the SAC must insure that his press contacts are continuously effective. The number of contacts made by him and representatives of his office and the material furnished news media will be considered in appraising the maximum effectiveness of this program.

SECTION 6. PUBLICATIONS, PRESS, AND PUBLIC CONTACTS

[N. BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM REGARDING MATTERS OF NATIONAL INTEREST
This program is coordinated by the External Affairs Division and is devoted primarily to supplying SACs facts regarding current happenings, including both administrative and investigative developments, that are topics of nationwide press coverage and public interest.

[All such communications to SACs bear the caption "BUREAU-WIDE INFORMATION PROGRAM" and are in the form of either teletypes or airtels, dependent upon the exigencies of the situation.

[The purpose of this program is to assure that each SAC possesses the key facts concerning important happenings anywhere within the FBI that command widespread public interest. Information furnished to SACs under this program should prove helpful to them, as well as to other FBI personnel, in answering questions, correcting misunderstandings, and dispelling false rumors that may exist either within or without the ranks of the FBI. In some instances, however, the information may be of such a nature that it cannot be disclosed in whole or in part to outsiders. In fact, occasionally it is necessary to restrict discussion and disclosure of the information even within FBIHQ and field offices. Guidelines furnished on each communication should be strictly followed.

"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security or intelligence matters exclusively for Bureau whose identity must be protected. Such person should be member or attend meetings of subversive organization, or be in such position relative to subversive organization that he is able to provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in position to become active in or closely connected with subversive organization or intelligence activities and is making affirmative effort to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
Person cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both foreign intelligence service and Bureau under FBI guidance.
4. Confidential source
Individual who on confidential basis furnishes information available through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort in behalf of Bureau but furnish information readily available to them.
5. Panel source
Individual who is not involved in subversive group but who will attend its public gatherings in behalf of FBI for intelligence purposes or as potential witness.

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to internal security. Informants may be obtained through alertness in course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants or other persons interviewed in security matters
 - b. Subjects of security investigations who show disaffection, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - c. Personal friends and contacts of Bureau employees
 - d. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts
2. Review of closed security files and files of former security informants
3. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
4. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on part of subversive group members. They should not be informed as to purpose of inquiry.
5. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings

C. BACKGROUND INQUIRIES ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When decision is made to consider an individual for informant purposes, conduct background investigation. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted until individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever restrictions imposed in section 87, volume III, and section 105, volume IV, of this manual, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

C. BACKGROUND INQUIRIES ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When decision is made to consider an individual for informant purposes, conduct background investigation. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted until individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever restrictions imposed in section 87, volume III, and section 105, volume IV, of this manual, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

3. Inquiries of discreet nature concerning individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Investigation must definitely establish that individual can be used without danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from individual is not sufficient; his background must be established by investigation, including discreet inquiries among persons personally acquainted with him.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Submit FD-165 to Identification Division to obtain any record he may have and to place stop against fingerprints if on file.
5. Review armed services record if applicable.
6. Check draft status or status in armed forces reserve.
7. Check domestic status and, if any marital difficulties, obtain details.
8. Persons being considered for use in espionage and foreign nationality cases may present special problems which limit scope of investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and deseco program, section 105, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical, cover above items.

Leads must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days. Investigation must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, or designate individual as potential security informant.

D. APPROVAL, INDOCTRINATION, AND DEVELOPMENT OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

1. When background information obtained, transmit results to Bureau in same numerical sequence set out in subsection C, and request authority to designate individual as Bureau-approved potential security informant and to proceed with development. Do not submit on UACB basis. Include physical description.
 - [[[[a. If the individual is a student, include separate paragraph clearly setting forth the number of racial and/or security informants, the number of potential racial and/or potential security informants, and the number of panel sources currently being operated at the particular college or university to which the request pertains.]]]]
2. After designation as Bureau-approved potential security informant, following matters should be made clear to him:
 - a. His assistance is strictly voluntary and he is to understand there is no coercion or intimidation involved.
 - b. He is not and cannot consider himself employee or "undercover Agent" of FBI. Seriousness of violating impersonation statutes must be impressed upon him.
 - c. His cooperation must be strictly confidential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this confidence, he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in mind of potential informant that his relationship must remain on confidential basis and if he violates confidence he will be of no value and by so doing Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. If he has special problem which would require revealing his assistance to his wife or other pertinent individual, this should be ascertained and appropriate recommendation made to Bureau.
 - d. If potential informant is connected in any manner with labor union, inform him that Bureau is not interested in employer-employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining information on infiltration of unions by subversive elements.
 - e. If potential informant is student, teacher, or has any similar relations with school, college, or university, in initial interview and subsequent handling, follow current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
3. Do not interview female potential informants in their homes or apartments unless necessary and any such interviews should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of superior in field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups, and there will be no embarrassment to Bureau.

3. Inquiries of discreet nature concerning individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Investigation must definitely establish that individual can be used without danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. 3. Do not interview female potential informants in their homes or apartments unless necessary and any such interviews should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of superior in field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups and there will be no embarrassment to Bureau.

SECTION 107. [INT[IAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107D
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

- e. If potential informant is student, teacher, or has any similar relations with school, college, or university, in initial interview and subsequent handling, follow current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
3. Do not interview female potential informants in their homes or apartments unless necessary and any such interviews should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of superior in field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups and there will be no embarrassment to Bureau.

4. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on circumstances, contact potential informants personally at least once every two weeks.
5. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every six months. Submit letters (FD-401) concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization on UACB basis; include summary of information furnished during past six months and certifications regarding stability and indoctrination against disclosure. Follow form indicated under § 107L, item 3b, below, except those items concerning payments.
6. Post record of all contacts with potential informants.
7. During contacts with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
8. Informants may raise a question concerning their position if it becomes known publicly they are affiliated with subversive organization. In such case, he may be told that his cooperation is matter of record in FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making facts of his cooperation known to his employer or to responsible individuals. Before taking steps to advise anyone of potential informant's or informant's cooperation, obtain Bureau authority.
9. From first interview with potential informant through development and until discontinued, use extreme caution at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
10. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, assign permanent symbol number and advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence. Individual's background must be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by Bureau.
2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with informant or potential informant should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to potential informant or informant concerning any of Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.
4. Recording investigative activity
All investigative activity must be made matter of record in field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Agents must not have and use informants known only to individual Agents personally.

F. INDOCTRINATION, DIRECTION, AND CONTROL OF INFORMANTS

1. Caution against divulging relationship
During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging his relationship with Bureau. These instructions must be properly phrased to prevent possibility of Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.
2. Developing additional background
During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant. Be alert for data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk.
3. Indications of instability
Immediately furnish details of any indications of instability to Bureau, with recommendations as to informant's continuance and comments as to any steps being taken to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

4. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on circumstances, contact potential informants personally at least once every two weeks.
5. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every six months. Submit letters (FD-401) concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization on UACB basis; include summary of information furnished during past six months and certifications regarding stability and indoctrination against disclosure. Individual's background must be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by Bureau.
2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with informant or potential informant should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to potential informant or informant concerning any of Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.
4. Recording investigative activity
All investigative activity must be made matter of record in field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Agents must not have and use informants known only to individual Agents personally.

F. INDOCTRINATION, DIRECTION, AND CONTROL OF INFORMANTS

1. Caution against divulging relationship
During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging his relationship with Bureau. These instructions must be properly phrased to prevent possibility of Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.
2. Developing additional background
During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant. Be alert for data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk.
3. Indications of instability
Immediately furnish details of any indications of instability to Bureau, with recommendations as to informant's continuance and comments as to any steps being taken to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

4. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on circumstances, contact potential informants personally at least once every two weeks.
5. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every six months. Submit letters (FD-401) concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization on UACB basis; include summary of information furnished during past six months and certifications regarding stability and indoctrination against disclosure. Follow form indicated under § 107L, item 3b, below, except those items concerning payments.
6. Post record of all contacts with potential informants.
7. During contacts with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
8. Informants may raise a question concerning their position if it becomes known publicly they are affiliated with subversive organization. In such case, he may be told that his cooperation is matter of record in FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making facts of his cooperation known to his employer or to responsible individuals. Before taking steps to advise anyone of potential informant's or informant's cooperation, obtain Bureau authority.
9. From first interview with potential informant through development and until discontinued, use extreme caution at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
10. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence. Individual's background must be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by Bureau.

B. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among active duty military personnel.
2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with informant or potential informant should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to potential informant or informant concerning any of Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.
4. Recording investigative activity
All investigative activity must be made matter of record in field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Agents must not have and use informants known only to individual Agents personally.
5. All informants and sources are to be debriefed on at least a monthly basis regarding their knowledge of narcotics activities.
- [6. All pending informant files are to be reviewed personally by appropriate supervisory personnel on a regular periodic basis not to exceed 60 days. This review must include the informant's file and its subfiles.]

F. INDOCTRINATION, DIRECTION, AND CONTROL OF INFORMANTS

1. Caution against divulging relationship
During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging his relationship with Bureau. These instructions must be properly phrased to prevent possibility of Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.
2. Developing additional background
During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant. Be alert for data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk.
3. Indications of instability
Immediately furnish details of any indications of instability to Bureau, with recommendations as to informant's continuance and comments as to any steps being taken to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

4. Contacts by Agents

- a. Informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for exception to this requirement.
- b. During each contact, carefully review informant's activities since previous contact and make certain informant has furnished all information which he has obtained since last contact.
- c. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows informant's attitude towards Bureau. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.
- d. Arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in minds of either Agent or informant as to methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
- e. Informants should use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants nonpublished office telephone number for emergency communication.
- f. Positive information received from informant should be subject of written statement by informant or memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
- g. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
- h. Dates of negative contacts and file numbers of cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where file has more than one subject, name of subject under inquiry should be noted. Do not set forth title of case involved.
- i. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
- j. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent where necessary.

5. Checking reliability

- a. Reliability of all active informants must be constantly checked.
- b. Give consideration to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.

6. Fingerprints

- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
- b. If informant refuses, do not force issue.
- c. Forward informant's fingerprints as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258, fully executed. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.

- d. Flash notice is to be placed by field with Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
 - e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.
7. Control - statement of cooperation
- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants to obtain maximum results and prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.
 - b. Obtain signed statement set out below when feasible and practical. Where it is not practical to secure such signed statement from an informant, advise Bureau of complete details. SAC and Agent handling informant should determine appropriate time in informant's operation when statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

8. Execution of party questionnaires
Informants, particularly in Communist Party, often must execute party questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant.
9. Informant's activity in organizations
- a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish sources for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but in such manner as to avoid suspicion.

10. Transfer of informants to other areas
 - a. Keep alert to possibility of transferring informants to areas needing coverage through change in residence or employment.
 - b. Keep in mind overall coverage of organizations. If informant becomes prominent and may be able to expand his field of activity beyond your field division, encourage him to do so in order to provide wider coverage for Bureau's work.
11. Action by informant when uncovered
 - a. If informant is uncovered by subversive elements, instruct him to defend himself vigorously and demand proof of his informant activity.
 - b. Suspicion in many cases is directed to an informant without facts to back it up and by bluffing informant may confuse issue to point where his services may not be lost.
 - c. In some cases it may be necessary for informant to acquiesce to charges of deviation from strict discipline of organization involved, and thus cast off suspicion.
12. Requests of informant to help defend others
 - a. If requested by Communist Party, or other interested parties to assist in preparation of defense in subversive-type cases or handle assignment where such information is readily available, informant should tactfully decline.
 - b. Such requests should be reported immediately to contacting Agent and made matter of record.
 - c. If informant cannot avoid becoming involved, instruct him not to report any information pertaining to defense plans or strategy.
 - d. Promptly report any such incident to Bureau.
 - e. [If an informant is present in conversation between an attorney and individual under criminal indictment, he should immediately leave. If he is unable to do so and inadvertently learns of defense plans or strategy, he is not to report the substance of any such conversation to the FBI. Additionally, the informant is not to engage in or report the substance of a conversation with a criminal defendant dealing with the offense for which the defendant is under indictment.]
13. Preparation for testifying

Contacting Agent must condition informant to fact that someday knowledge he possesses may be needed as evidence in court. Psychologically prepare informant for fact that he may at future date be called upon to testify to information he has furnished on security matters. Proper indoctrination of informant is essential as Bureau must provide witnesses whenever Department initiates prosecutions in security cases.

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

1. General instructions re oral and written information
 - a. These instructions apply to security informants, potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.
 - c. They should be submitted as quickly as possible after meeting or activity.
 - d. Written statements should be submitted when possible. In espionage and foreign nationality matters written statements are usually necessary only in those instances involving possible future prosecution. (In the majority of cases diplomats or officials who are not subject to prosecution are involved.)
 - e. Carefully scrutinize each, bearing in mind that if informant is called upon to testify at a later date his statements will very likely be introduced in court.
 - f. All information furnished by informants must be promptly reviewed, recorded, indexed, evaluated, channelized, and all necessary action taken. Form FD-306 may be used in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelizing and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies. When informant's statement contains references to large number of individuals and/or organizations, and exceeds two pages, consider channelizing to substantive case file only those portions of statement which apply to particular individual or organization. Of course, entire statement should be filed in informant's sub-file. This procedure should be employed unless logical reason dictates otherwise.

- g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. Trial attorney will thus be prepared in event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.

2. Recording written and oral information

a. Written by informant

- (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
- (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
- (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at top of statement.
- (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement.
- (6) Informants should include in statements specific dates and places; purpose of meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; and specific activity or comments of individuals present.
- (7) Informant should identify statement by affixing his code name immediately under the last written line on each page. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified by informant affixing his code name or initials of his code name.
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in body of statement by his true name and use third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., or place any markings whatever thereon.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on channelizing memorandum containing applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be furnished orally by informant and recorded in memorandum form for informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with making of oral statement by informant to Agent. Leave out following items:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be recorded in memorandum for informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date at top with date informant furnished information. No other date is desired except date of meeting or activity described in body of statement.

This procedure should be employed unless logical reason dictates otherwise. [When preparing lengthy channelizing memoranda reporting material of interest to other offices, limit the number of copies prepared for each other such office to two. Clearly indicate next to the name of the receiving office, the number of the page containing information pertinent to that office and note on cover page that distribution of material to the receiving field office files is left to discretion of the receiving office. If the channelizing memorandum includes names of individuals who merely attended a meeting or gathering and played no important role, the reporting office is to attach to the channelizing memorandum a one-page memorandum listing the names of all individuals who were merely in attendance and had no important function. The preparation and distribution of the additional copies of the one-page attachment are left to the discretion of the receiving office.]

nothing transpired of potential prosecutive value with respect to the individual, FD-306 should list the substantive case file number or should list subject's name and it will not be necessary to staple a copy of the informant's statement to FD-306.] When informant's statement contains references to large number of individuals and/or organizations, and exceeds two pages, consider channelizing to substantive case file only those portions of statement which apply to particular individual or organization. Of course, entire statement should be filed in informant's subfile. This procedure should be employed unless logical reason dictates otherwise. When preparing lengthy channelizing memoranda reporting material of interest to other offices, limit the number of copies prepared for each other such office to two. Clearly indicate next to the name of the receiving office, the number of the page containing information pertinent to that office and note on cover page that distribution of material to the receiving field office files is left to discretion of the receiving office. If the channelizing memorandum includes names of individuals who merely attended a meeting or gathering and played no important role, the reporting office is to attach to the channelizing memorandum a one-page memorandum listing the names of all individuals who were merely in attendance and had no important function. The preparation and distribution of the additional copies of the one-page attachment are left to the discretion of the receiving office.

- g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. Trial attorney will thus be prepared in event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.

2. Recording written and oral information

a. Written by informant

- (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
- (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
- (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at top of statement.
- (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement.
- (6) Informants should include in statements specific dates and places; purpose of meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; and specific activity or comments of individuals present.
- (7) Informant should identify statement by affixing his code name immediately under the last written line on each page. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified by informant affixing his code name or initials of his code name.
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in body of statement by his true name and use third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., or place any markings whatever thereon.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on channelizing memorandum containing applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant

 - (12) Extraneous material should be kept to absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant

- (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be furnished orally by informant and recorded in memorandum form for informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with making of oral statement by informant to Agent. Leave out following items:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be recorded in memorandum for informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date at top with date informant furnished information. No other date is desired except date of meeting or activity described in body of statement.

SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107G
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

- (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be furnished orally by informant and recorded in memorandum form for informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with making of oral statement by informant to Agent. Leave out following items:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be recorded in memorandum for informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date at top with date informant furnished information. No other date is desired except date of meeting or activity described in body of statement.

- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by Agent as if informant were preparing them himself.
 - (5) Information, after being reduced to writing, should be read promptly by informant and acknowledged by affixing his code name on each page.
 - (6) After informant authenticates statement, contacting Agent should prepare cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it. Thereafter statement should be handled as written one.
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be included in office memorandum by Agent and should not be initialed by informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
 - a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants when possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such contacts. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - b. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory. More than one informant may send statements to a post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of postal employees.
 - c. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under fictitious name.
 - d. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for extended period of time.
 - e. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication.
 4. Handling of lead information
 - a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, tickler card should be prepared to follow informant and take other logical steps to obtain additional identifying data. Restrict tickler cards to information which would warrant investigation if identity established. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile.
 5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
 - a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material.
 - d. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items. See section 107K for filing instructions.

H. SYMBOLS

1. Assigning numbers

- a. All informants should be designated by permanent symbol number of which Bureau must be advised. Once number assigned, it must not be subsequently reassigned to any other informant or source.
- b. Potential security informants and confidential sources whose identity must be protected may be assigned permanent symbol numbers if they are producing sufficient information to warrant use of such designations.
- c. Individuals to whom permanent symbols assigned are not to be advised of such symbols.
- d. Cover name should be used by informant in signing his statements and in communications between informant and field office. Advise Bureau of cover name.
- e. Prefix of symbol number consists of appropriate field office teletype abbreviation. Suffix of symbol number will consist of letter "S" for security informant; letters "PSI" for potential security informant; letters ["CS"] for confidential source.
- f. Although source may subsequently furnish information requiring change in designation (e.g., from security to criminal or to racial, etc.), number previously assigned will remain same; however, suffix is to be changed to appropriate letter or letters indicating this change (NY-000-S to NY-000-C or to NY-000-R).

2. Communications - use of symbols

- a. After Bureau is advised of permanent symbol, in subsequent communications true name of informant should not be set forth; use symbol number.
- b. In all communications after initial letter, Bureau and field office file numbers for informant must be set forth.
- c. In communications between offices, follow same procedure.
- d. Informants and sources entering another division
 - (1) Active informants and sources entering another division on temporary basis should be referred to in initial letter to interested office by true name and symbol number if necessary for other division to know identity. Office receiving such letter should make appropriate index cards for "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" index. Subsequent letters between interested offices may then identify individual by symbol number only.
 - (2) Individuals who leave division where they have been furnishing information and do not plan to return should be immediately discontinued, their symbol number, if any, should be cancelled, and their true name used in all administrative correspondence.
 - (3) If informant is transferred to another office and remains active, his identity must still be protected.
- e. In communications concerning potential security informant when a symbol number is not assigned, name of potential security informant and abbreviation "PSI" shall be used; e.g., "John Doe, PSI."
- f. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, caption of communication should also show character and country designation (i.e., IS - R for Russia or IS - PO for Poland, etc.). This facilitates routing at Bureau.

I. INDEXING

True names and aliases of all informants, as well as cover name assigned, shall be indexed in general office indices as any other name. Index cards should show file number of informant, but such terms as "Informant" or "Potential Security Informant" shall not appear.

J. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index

Are to be kept by SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice

a. Alphabetical name index

In all offices maintain card index showing true identities of all security informants, potential security informants, and security confidential sources. This is to be known as alphabetical name index. File cards in alphabetical order.

H. SYMBOLS

1. Assigning numbers

- a. All informants should be designated by permanent symbol number of which Bureau must be advised. Once number assigned, it must not be subsequently reassigned to any other informant or source.
- b. Potential security informants and confidential sources whose identity must be protected may be assigned permanent symbol numbers if they are producing sufficient information to warrant use of such designations.

Security Informant" shall not appear.

J. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index

Are to be kept by SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice

a. Alphabetical name index

In all offices maintain card index showing true identities of all security informants, potential security informants, and security confidential sources. This is to be known as alphabetical name index. File cards in alphabetical order.

b. Symbol number index

This index shall contain card for each individual to whom symbol number has been assigned. File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind numerical symbol index.

c. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by official having custody of cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of activities and type of information he furnishes.

d. Index cards

Index cards (FD-348) shall be executed for alphabetical name index and symbol number index. Execute only following items:

Symbol:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)

File No:

Name:

e. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in informant's administrative file.

2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"

a. A separate index may be maintained for use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.

b. If such index maintained, separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source included.

c. Cards should contain brief background data and identity of Bureau communication showing background data.

d. File cards alphabetically by name and/or symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.

3. Agents' informative index

a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by same official as set out in item 1, above, for use of Agents on type of informant coverage in division.

b. File cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.

c. Behind each geographical location, place guide card indicating type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Polish Activity, etc.

d. On guide card set forth symbol numbers of informants and confidential sources who can provide coverage.

e. [Deleted.]

f. When individual can provide more than one type of information, set forth his symbol or identity on as many guide cards as applicable.

g. Guide cards should show above data and it is permissible to place alongside name or symbol number names of contacting Agents.

h. Also, symbol numbers of informants who move outside division and who still may be excellent sources regarding past activities may be set forth on guide cards.

i. Names or symbol numbers of individuals contained in index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on appropriate guide cards in this index.

K. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening
 - a. When active investigation is initiated regarding potential informant or confidential source who is not subject of security-type file, open 134 file.
 - b. If individual is subject of security case and after being interviewed appears to have potential as informant, open separate 134 file to follow informant development. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, existing file may be used if this is practical.
 - c. Maintain individual files on all active informants as pending active files.
2. Monthly administrative report
Include files on potential informants and informants in tabulations and calculations of delinquencies in monthly administrative report.
3. Assignment and tickler cards
Maintain assignment and tickler cards, but do not show true name of informant, [potential informant, panel source or confidential source] on such cards.
4. Subfiles
 - a. Subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. File in this subfile original of each statement, whether personally written by informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent. Staple executed form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items on form FD-306 to original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Include excerpts from informant's statement in regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to case file in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and all copies.
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
See Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Correspondence
Correspondence in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to administrative handling of informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under substantive case caption.
8. Maintenance of files
 - a. Maintain all symbol number informant files, pending and closed, under lock and key under personal supervision of SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by SAC.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in open files section, provided there is no disclosure of informant's identity on statements.
 - c. Maintain informant files so that all information furnished by informant will be immediately available when needed.
 - d. In addition, maintain these files so identities of cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be obtained immediately by simply referring to file of informant and without extensive research.

[SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107K
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

) K. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening
 - a. When active investigation is initiated regarding potential informant or confidential source who is not subject of security-type file, open 134 file.
 - b. If individual is subject of security case and after being interviewed appears to have potential as informant, open separate 134 file to follow informant development.
 - c. Maintain individual files on all active informants as pending active files.
2. Monthly administrative report
Include files on potential informants and informants in tabulations and calculations of delinquencies in monthly administrative report.
3. Assignment and tickler cards
Maintain assignment and tickler cards, but do not show true name of informant, potential informant, panel source or confidential source on such cards.
4. Subfiles
 - a. Subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral. File in this subfile original of each statement, whether personally written by informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent. Staple executed form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items on form FD-306 to original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.

 - d. In addition, maintain these files so identities of cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be obtained immediately by simply referring to file of informant and without extensive research.

9. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, Department expresses interest in using particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as witness. Place copies of all correspondence of this type in informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize information concerning each informant and place summary in appropriate file.
10. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) is used in security informant and potential security informant files in nature of table of contents or index to show where in file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as top document in informant file and is not to be serialized. If particular section of form is not applicable, note such thereon.
11. Bulky material submitted by informant
Where informant or source submits bulky material other than statement and same pertains to specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in investigative case file, together with copy of form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum. File original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum in subfile of informant or source and note thereon file and serial number where bulky material is located.

L. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS

1. No gifts to informants
 - a. Gifts should not be given to informants.
 - b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on businesslike basis.
 - c. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.
2. SAC authority
 - a. When deemed necessary and expedient to expend money to develop individual as informant to obtain information concerning security matters which is not otherwise obtainable or to advance expense money to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments up to $400 and totaling not more than $400 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization.
 - b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
 - c. Blue slip reclaiming payments authorized by SAC must clearly and accurately explain circumstances and summarize information obtained so Bureau will be in position to pass intelligently on such matters.
 - d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to individual who has received payments totaling $400. Once individual has been paid $400 and it appears he will furnish information on regular basis, recommendation should be made to Bureau to pay him on "regular basis."
 - [e. All newly developed security informants are to be paid under SAC authority for the first six months unless unusual circumstances exist. If additional funds under SAC authority are necessary during this period, submit request accompanied by detailed justification of past expenditures.]
3. Payments on a regular basis - Bureau authority
 - a. To pay anyone on a regular basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
 - b. In requesting this authorization, use form FD-401:
 - (1) Membership
List current membership and position held in any subversive group.
 - (2) Amount paid for services and expenses
List by the month or week. Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.
 - (3) Number of activities and persons on whom coverage is provided
List number and type of meetings attended and other activities and number of persons on whom informant furnishes coverage and their importance.

 - (3) Number of activities and persons on whom coverage is provided
List number and type of meetings attended and other activities and number of persons on whom informant furnishes coverage and their importance.

- (4) Number of statements submitted
Combine total number of oral and written statements submitted and show only total number.
 - (5) Stability and reliability
Check positive box if informant is considered stable and reliable. If not or if there are any personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or any other similar problems presented by informant, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (6) Indoctrination against disclosure
If informant has been indoctrinated against disclosure, check positive box.
 - (7) Percentage of information verified
Show percentage of information furnished by informant which has been verified through other sources.
 - (8) All necessary action taken on information furnished
If all action has been taken, check positive box. If not, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (9) Summary of information furnished
This summary should be concise, highlighting more pertinent information furnished by informant. Do not attempt to summarize all information furnished by informant.
 - (10) Miscellaneous
Furnish any change in informant's residence and employment [by secure teletype (nitel),] steps being taken to advance informant, and any other pertinent information which should be brought to Bureau's attention. Include statement that source has been advised that all payments of money made to him for services rendered must be declared as income on his tax return and has agreed to do so.
- c. When payment to informant has been authorized for definite period of time, advise Bureau at least two weeks in advance of expiration of period as to whether services of informant are to be continued.
 - d. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow instructions set forth in item 3b, above.
 - e. Submit letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant in duplicate except that copy should consist only of first page of letter. When payments are approved, single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at Bureau and returned. If recommendation is not approved, field will be advised by separate communication.
 - f. When payments are authorized by Bureau, it is personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure that full value is being received.
 - g. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears information being produced by informant is not commensurate with payments made to him, immediately discontinue payments or adjust accordingly and promptly advise Bureau.
 - h. If any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.
4. Six-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority.
If informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, FD-401 must be transmitted to Bureau every six months after date of designation containing same information set out in item 3b, above, except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases, comment is necessary regarding only applicable items.
 5. Receipts
When payments are made either on SAC authority or prior Bureau approval, obtain receipts in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If receipt cannot be obtained for particular payment, set forth complete circumstances on blue slip at time reimbursement is claimed.

- (4) Number of statements submitted
Combine total number of oral and written statements submitted and show only total number.
 - (5) Stability and reliability
Check positive box if informant is considered stable and reliable. If not or if there are any personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or any other similar problems presented by informant, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."

4. Six-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, FD-401 must be transmitted to Bureau every six months after date of designation containing same information set out in item 3b, above, except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB.
 5. Receipts
When payments are made either on SAC authority or prior Bureau approval, obtain receipts in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If receipt cannot be obtained for particular payment, set forth complete circumstances on blue slip at time reimbursement is claimed.

- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce receipts in evidence, they will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on receipts, they must be initialed by informant and not by Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to Bureau, staple them directly to blue slip, leaving margin of one to one and one-half inches at top to avoid contact with Acco fastener punch. Place staples so that date or other data appearing on receipt will not be mutilated and all information on receipt can be easily read without detaching it from blue slip.
6. Income tax returns
- a. [Advise informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau that such compensation must be reported as income when filing a Federal income tax form, and, where appropriate, state and local tax forms. Informants must be periodically advised of the above and complete details of any reported problem an informant has encountered with the taxing authorities are to be expeditiously furnished the Bureau.]
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If informant is self-employed and files schedule C as self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with Bureau.
 - d. If informant cannot report payments received from Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as informant, such payments will be subject to 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning procedure to be followed in handling and control of money withheld.
 - e. When informant or former informant is initially considered as potential witness in Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on income he received from Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling situation.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, Bureau must furnish Department set of photostats of original receipts signed by prospective witnesses. Original receipts and set of photostats will be transmitted to field office in whose territory trial will take place. Office handling prosecution must determine from Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to Bureau following information:

- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce receipts in evidence, they will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on receipts, they must be initialed by informant and not by Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to Bureau, staple them directly to blue slip, leaving margin of one to one and one-half inches at top to avoid contact with Acco fastener punch. Place staples so that date or other data appearing on receipt will not be mutilated and all information on receipt can be easily read without detaching it from blue slip.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Advise informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau that such compensation must be reported as income when filing a Federal income tax form, and, where appropriate, state and local tax forms. Informants must be periodically advised of the above and complete details of any reported problem an informant has encountered with the taxing authorities are to be expeditiously furnished the Bureau.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If informant is self-employed and files schedule C as self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with Bureau.
 - d. If informant cannot report payments received from Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as informant, such payments will be subject to 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning procedure to be followed in handling and control of money withheld.
 - e. When informant or former informant is initially considered as potential witness in Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on income he received from Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling situation.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, Bureau must furnish Department set of [reproduced copies] of original receipts signed by prospective witnesses. Original receipts and set of [reproduced copies] will be transmitted to field office in whose territory trial will take place. Office handling prosecution must determine from Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to Bureau following information:

- (1) Correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) First date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) Tabulation of all payments, broken down as to services and expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
 - (6) Listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) Date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with particular individual, Bureau must be so advised.
 - c. Where informant has previously been used and tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from date of last trial in which individual was used.
 - d. Above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to attention of Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Inter-divisional correspondence should be addressed to Bureau with copies designated for interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs and become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as prerequisite for unemployment compensation and informants and/or sources who are being paid by Bureau fail to comply, situation is potentially embarrassing. Bureau cannot be placed in position of condoning violation of state law on part of any informant or source. Field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
 - b. When paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit recommendations to Bureau on UACB basis. At same time, weigh seriously possible need for informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of identity, discontinue Bureau payments during period of unemployment compensation benefits.

 - d. Above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to attention of [Data Processing] Section, Computer Systems Division. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to Bureau with copies designated for interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs and become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as prerequisite for unemployment compensation and informants and/or sources who are being paid by Bureau fail to comply, situation is potentially embarrassing. Bureau cannot be placed in position of condoning violation of state law on part of any informant or source. Field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
 - b. When paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit recommendations to Bureau on UACB basis. At same time, weigh seriously possible need for informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of identity, discontinue Bureau payments during period of unemployment compensation benefits.

M. MONTHLY AND QUARTERLY LETTERS

- 1. Submit monthly letter (FD-451, 451a) to Bureau by secure teletype system (NITEL). Field divisions east of the Mississippi must submit this information by the 3rd of each month; field divisions west of the Mississippi must submit this information by the 7th of each month. Monthly letter should include the following:
 - a. Number of security informants, potential security informants, confidential sources, and panel sources at the beginning and end of each month also showing the number added and deleted during the month.
 - b. Number of Agents assigned exclusively to informant and source development.
 - c. Money paid for services and expenses under SAC authority.
 - d. Statistical accomplishments.
 - e. Security informant accomplishments.

- (1) Correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) First date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) Tabulation of all payments, broken down as to services and expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
 - (6) Listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) Date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with particular individual, Bureau must be so advised.
- c. Where informant has previously been used and tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from date of last trial in which individual was used.
- d. Above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to attention of Data Processing Section, Computer Systems Division. - N. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS
1. Make every effort to guide informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
 2. Informants should be cautioned to keep contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
 3. Bureau will consider as last resort advising another agency of informant's relationship with Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to minimum in view of obvious dangers to informant.
 4. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau advised as promptly as possible, together with appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
 5. In no instance should you permit informant to sign loyalty oath in negative.

O. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When services of informant are discontinued, mark name card "cancelled." Destroy symbol card. Never destroy name card.
2. Refile name card in numerical order by symbol number in symbol number index. If discontinued informant, potential informant, or confidential source to whom symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove name card from symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in name card section of index.
3. When potential informant or confidential source is discontinued and permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy alphabetical index card.
4. Advise Bureau of date when potential informant or informant is discontinued and reason therefor. Advise Bureau as to whether or not informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. Identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which informant has furnished information must be ascertained and Bureau advised in compliance with section 19, volume II, of this manual.
5. Review informant's file to determine if correspondence between Bureau and field relating to Department's interest in using informant as witness is contained therein. In those cases in which Department has indicated desire to consider informant when he becomes available, advise Bureau in each such substantive case, except when it is obvious statute of limitations has run or case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When above action is completed, advise Bureau.
6. Statement shall also be made to effect that measures to control informants, set out in item 7, below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears such are warranted.
7. When services of informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that informant will look to Bureau for counsel prior to taking any action against Bureau's best interests. Determine whether he has plans for writing book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, impress him with desirability of coming to Bureau for assistance and guidance. If informant insists on engaging in such activities, Bureau will consider placing him in contact with reliable publisher, but it must be made clear to informant that Bureau will not sponsor or endorse any book or publication which he elects to write.
8. All payments to discontinued informants and confidential sources must be made on strict c.o.d. basis. Obtain Bureau authority before making such payments. Submit complete details as to information furnished by discontinued informant or source in past and what is to be expected of informant or source in future.
9. Once informant is exposed in any manner whatsoever, do not carry him as a concealed source in reports or memoranda. His true name is to be set forth, together with descriptive data.
10. When office receives information concerning, or obtains information from, an ex-informant, copies of memoranda prepared must be furnished to office which originally handled informant so that file will be as complete as possible.
11. When informant has been discontinued for cause, such as unreliability, do not contact him in future for information. If he furnishes information it should be accepted, but in setting out information in reports or communications use individual's true name, together with appropriate description of his reliability.
12. Remove flash notice [per item F, 6, e of this section.]
13. Avoid repeated use of discontinued informant as witness at security trials and hearings. Make all-out effort to develop witnesses who can furnish same testimony. Advise Bureau of any indication by Government attorneys that informant-witness who has previously testified will be called upon for testimony at subsequent trial or hearing and furnish comments concerning possibility of supplanting testimony of individual involved. Submit under appropriate case character.

Advise Bureau of any indication by Government attorneys that informant-witness who has previously testified will be called upon for testimony at subsequent trial or hearing and furnish comments concerning possibility of supplanting testimony of individual involved. Submit under appropriate case character.

14. Make every effort to prevent discontinued informant from becoming involved in situations which may prove embarrassing to informant or Government. Immediately after he testifies for first time, SAC should have serious talk with informant in presence of Agent who handled informant. This interview should be conducted in field office and informant told that:
 - a. He will no longer be operated by Bureau
 - b. Since he is public figure, he will probably be contacted by representatives of press, radio, and television for interviews and appearances
 - c. He may be sought as witness by congressional committees, Immigration and Naturalization Service, and state authorities
 - d. In connection with such interviews and appearances, informant must continue to be factual and truthful and must not build up or embellish statements, for if he does so he will wind up in serious trouble

Advise Bureau results of such interview and comment on its possible effectiveness.

Be alert to possibilities of former informant being contacted by representatives of publicity media and as witness by congressional committees, INS, and state authorities. SAC is responsible for knowing when former informant is scheduled or is likely to appear at hearing or make public appearance of any kind. Prior thereto in each instance, former informant must be contacted and instructions above reiterated by Agent who handled informant. Emphasize to former informant that he must stick to truth and make certain he can back up what he says, and if there is any deviation he will be subjected to criticism, possible libel, slander, or other criminal actions. If he inquires as to whether he should appear or testify or otherwise cooperate with any public or private individual or agency, advise him he must make that decision himself, but if he has appeared as Government witness in case which has not been finally adjudicated and decides in affirmative, he should contact USA for instructions. Advise Bureau of any such situations and results of any interviews conducted.

15. When contacting Agent feels discontinued informant could cause embarrassment to Bureau, make arrangements to have former informant come to field office where he will be personally met by SAC. At that time, he should be impressed with fact that his services were appreciated and were of considerable assistance to security of country and remind him that he signed agreement when he was active as informant to maintain his relation with Bureau on confidential basis. SAC should stress necessity for informant to maintain this confidence.

P. FURNISHING INFORMANTS TO IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS)

1. INS, in order to enforce its responsibilities, must obtain evidence to prove that certain aliens, due to their membership in certain groups, are undesirable and deportable or subject to denaturalization.
2. Cooperate fully with INS in these cases and make efforts consistent with your own interests to make available information and witnesses where possible.
3. If contacted by INS inquiring for informants and you have discontinued informant or one who would be of assistance to INS and whose loss would not affect your work, furnish his identity to Bureau, together with your recommendation.
4. Bureau will review facts and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
5. Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain his permission.

Q. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that informant or ex-informant furnished false information while informant, promptly advise Bureau of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with review of all data furnished by individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of Manual of Rules and Regulations. Corrective action should be called to attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.
8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of information to follow instructions set forth above.
9. Set up control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to Bureau final letter under informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken.
10. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
11. All information from informant must be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
12. Occasionally, ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to time he was informant. It is not necessary to go back and change evaluation of information attributed to that individual in absence of definite indication that informant furnished unreliable information while he was informant.
13. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, Manual of Rules and Regulations.

R. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. [A symbol number should be assigned from the time any step is taken to develop an individual as a confidential source.]
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning symbol number, and brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. Abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS." Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating country involved; e.g., IS - R.
 - d. When permanent symbol has been assigned to confidential source, abbreviation "CS" is to appear before symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from series of numbers used for security, [extremist,] and criminal informants.

Q. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that informant or ex-informant furnished false information while informant, promptly advise Bureau of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."

 - c. Similar action should be taken regarding material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to national defense.
 - d. It is not necessary to retain copies of buildup material obviously not evidentiary in nature where copies can be obtained at later date from Government agency or private concern having custody.
- 5. Handling money and property received by double agents
 - a. Double agents must turn over to Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to double agent at inception of operation (consider obtaining signed statement to this effect). Exceptions must be specifically approved by Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by double agent from his principal represents possible evidence and double agent should execute statement describing money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. Statement should be signed by double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in event testimony is later necessary.

U. UTILIZATION OF INFORMANTS AND SOURCES AT INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

- 1. Use of students
 - a. Students under age of 18 years are not to be developed as security informants, potential security informants, or other types of security sources in other than highly unusual circumstances. Under such circumstances, furnish complete justification to Bureau.
 - b. Upon initial contact with prospective student informant or source, individual should be tactfully requested to execute a brief signed written statement for field file setting forth that this individual has voluntarily come forward to furnish information to FBI because of his concern over individuals or groups that may be inimical to interests of U. S. Government and that he understands FBI has no interest in legitimate institution or campus activities.
- 2. Quarterly letters
 - a. On January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1, submit quarterly letters on each student and teacher authorized by Bureau for contact as security informant, potential security informant, or other sources (including panel sources). Include following:
 - (1) Specific productivity
 - (2) Specific information furnished not otherwise available from public source material or other office sources off campus
 - (3) Frequency of contact
 - b. Quarterly letters on all [extremist] and security informants or sources should be jointly transmitted to Bureau by cover letter captioned "Utilization of Informants and Sources at Institutions of Learning." Include following in cover letter:
 - (1) Number of informants, potential informants, and other sources active and under development at each educational institution affected
 - (2) An overall analysis of coverage afforded by campus informants and sources

- b. Pamphlets, brochures, etc., prepared by private company for distribution or sale to public. (This does not include highly technical pamphlets, even if unclassified, which are prepared for limited use and not intended for release to public.)
- 4. Retention of copies of passed material
 - a. True copies should be retained by office of origin of any documents or material related to national defense which is passed.
 - b. Such material should be appropriately identified by double agent. Bureau Agents should not place identifying data on such material but should preserve any notes made by them in connection with its passage.
 - c. Similar action should be taken regarding material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to national defense.
 - d. It is not necessary to retain copies of buildup material obviously not evidentiary in nature where copies can be obtained at later date from Government agency or private concern having custody.

Statement should be signed by double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.

3. Responsibility for well-planned coverage

Each office must have continuous and well-planned program to obtain necessary coverage at institutions of learning so that Bureau can fulfill its obligations. Care with which this must be done in no way lessens responsibility of each field office to have proper coverage.

V. CLASSIFICATION - 134

PART II

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

[W. FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE (FCI) ASSETS

This subsection deals with the development and operation of human assets, a field referred to as Human Intelligence or HUMINT. FCI assets are to be handled exclusively under this subsection, except for the administrative instructions pertaining to informant indices, and monthly statistical letters, set out in Part I; such exceptions are noted herein.

1. Definitions

FCI assets fall into two categories: informative assets and operational assets.

a. Informative assets (IA)

Individuals in position to furnish continuing information relative to the location, overt activities, and personalities of the targets of FBI investigations, e.g., doorman, garage attendant, neighbor, tradesman, rental agent, building superintendent, fellow employee, social contact, business contact, banker, ethnic community source, etc.; or individuals who have left or openly defected from a foreign country and can furnish information of intelligence value. An IA is not actively involved in an intelligence operation as such; should he become so involved he then could become an OA.

b. Operational assets (OA)

Individual actively involved in intelligence operations.

This category includes but is not limited to the following individuals:

Defector-in-place: A foreign official who overtly continues to work for his government and covertly provides information to us of intelligence value. A defector-in-place will in most instances be connected with a foreign government's intelligence service;

Double agent: An OA who is cooperating with a foreign intelligence service on our behalf and under our control;

Asset under development: Individuals selected for their apparent attractiveness to foreign intelligence services whom we attempt to put in contact with such services for operational exploitation, sometimes known as a "dangle operation"; or individuals already in contact with a foreign intelligence service who have an immediate potential for development into double agents.

Adoption of the generic term OA does not preclude use of the specific terms, e.g., double agent, where applicable, in official communications.

2. Objectives of OA

a. Penetration

Penetration of legal and illegal networks, identification of intelligence personnel and targets; collection of information regarding methods of operations; collection of positive intelligence.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

- b. Control
 - of information foreign intelligence services obtain;
 - of recruitment, by creating Bureau-controlled OAs;
 - of foreign operations, by keeping foreign intelligence services occupied handling our OAs.
 - c. Collection of evidence for prosecution
 - d. Deception (Disinformation)
 - Passing inaccurate or accurate information designed to cause foreign intelligence services to draw conclusions or initiate action to their disadvantage and/or to U. S. advantage.
 - e. Neutralization: to provide basis for persona non grata (PNG) action, exclusion, arrest or other disruptive action.
 - f. Collection by OA of personality characteristics data on foreign officials for purpose of defection analysis.
3. Individuals to be considered as OAs
- a. Foreign officials in a position to furnish information of intelligence value. An intelligence officer (IO) is, of course, the most valuable OA. An official who is not an IO, while of lesser value, is still a highly desirable OA because of the positive intelligence and information on the personalities and activities of other officials that he can provide.
 - b. Agents of foreign intelligence services. When these individuals are identified, and the prospect and value of recruiting them outweighs any prosecutive potential, they should be seriously considered for development as OAs.
 - c. Contacts of foreign officials. When contacts of foreign officials are identified as being of interest to a foreign intelligence service, we should attempt to enlist their cooperation and direct them against that intelligence service.
 - d. Individuals who are particularly attractive to a foreign intelligence service. Our objective is to determine the specific interests of foreign intelligence services or individual IOs, and to then recruit asset(s) who would appear to that service or IO to satisfy their needs. Such assets must have potential for operation within a reasonably expected period of time.
 - e. Former assets who currently offer potential for exploitation.
4. Restrictions
- FBIHQ authority is required prior to conducting detailed background investigation of any of the following individuals as an FCI asset, whether IA or OA. Of course, some investigation must initially be conducted, without disclosing our interest, to sufficiently identify the individual and generally assess his potential, so that FBIHQ can conduct a meaningful indices search and make an intelligent evaluation of the risks versus value involved.
- a. Individual under 21 years of age
 - b. Official or employee of the United Nations or other public international organizations of a governmental or quasi-governmental nature
 - c. Official or employee of foreign diplomatic establishment or government

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

- d. Faculty member of an institution of learning
- e. Labor leader
- f. Federal, state, or local government official
- g. News media employee
- h. Prominent entertainment figure
- i. Prominent religious figure
- j. Member of the U. S. Military
- k. U. S. Government employee

After FBIHQ authority to conduct detailed background investigation has been received, and investigation completed, FBIHQ authority is also required to conduct initial interview of the above individuals, whether IA or OA.

5. Development of U. S. Military or other U. S. Government Personnel
- Whenever it becomes desirable to develop a member of the U. S. Military or an employee of another Government agency as an FCI asset, FBIHQ notifies the respective military service or agency of our interest. To facilitate this notification the office desiring to develop such an individual should submit to FBIHQ 5 copies of an LHM setting out:
- a. Proposed asset's name, rank or position, and current place of assignment.
 - b. Area of FBI interest in the asset, in general, and the foreign intelligence service, and official, if known, against which it is anticipated asset will be directed.
 - c. Extent of anticipated coverage to be provided by the asset, i.e., describe the services he will provide.
 - d. The last paragraph of this LHM should read:
"It is requested that no further dissemination of the foregoing be made without prior reference to FBI Headquarters. If you agree with our contemplated use of the above individual, please return a copy of this memorandum with your acknowledgement."
 - e. Members of the military: estimated time period within which you wish to utilize the asset; desirability that the asset remain in his current area of assignment for a specified period of time. Upon receipt of clearance from the military, FBIHQ will select code name for future use in identifying the asset. This code name will be furnished to military intelligence component at headquarters level and to FBI field divisions. Every 6 months thereafter, as long as the FBI has continuing operational interest in the asset, an LHM captioned with code name should be transmitted to FBIHQ, by routing slip captioned with informant's symbol number. The LHM is to contain a statement that the asset continues to be of operational use to the FBI, and a statement detailing any difficulties encountered in control or direction of the asset or a statement that no such difficulties exist.

NOTE: Generally, the U. S. Armed Forces may not be utilized to enforce the civilian criminal law; however, they may be utilized for foreign counterintelligence purposes. In foreign counterintelligence investigations in which there is a possibility of criminal prosecution, use of military personnel as assets might jeopardize successful prosecution, and all such cases must be discussed in detail with FBIHQ prior to utilization of such military assets.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

6. Development of personnel of foreign diplomatic establishment or international organization
Whenever it becomes desirable to develop an official or employee of a foreign diplomatic establishment or government, or of a public international organization of a governmental or quasi-governmental nature, who is not a national of a hostile country, e.g., Canadian, Argentinian, or U. S. United Nations Secretariat (UNSEC) employee to target against Soviet-bloc UNSEC employee, FBIHQ asks for authorization from State Department to conduct background investigation. FBIHQ must inform State Department of the proposed asset's name, rank or position, nationality, current place of assignment, and, generally, the type of use we intend to make of the asset. After authorization has been received and background investigation completed, if individual offers asset potential, submit results of background investigation in LHM and in cover communication request authority to interview. FBIHQ will then request authorization from State Department to interview.
7. Development
The development of assets depends on the individual circumstances of each situation. No rigid procedural steps or contact schedules can be imposed which will uniformly apply to all cases; however, the development should proceed with the objective of obtaining valuable results as quickly as feasible, consistent with maintaining the asset's security, credibility, and confidence, and with developing the asset's potential to its fullest.
8. Opening of asset files
Open a 134 file for all individuals at the time they are first considered for development as assets. This file should consist of two parts: a main file which will contain all identifying data, results of background investigation, personal status data, and administrative data; and a subfile which will contain at least one copy of all information provided by asset. The asset is not to be identified, beyond his symbol number, in subfile.

Maintain files of all active assets as pending. Utilize FD-238 as unserialized top document in main file.

Assignment and tickler cards must not reflect name of asset; use symbol and/or file number.

9. Maintenance of FCI asset files and indices
Maintain all FCI asset files, pending and closed, under lock and key under personal supervision of SAC, ASAC, or employee designated by SAC.

Files of FCI assets will be included in calculation of delinquencies in monthly administrative report.

FCI asset indices will be maintained according to the administrative instructions set out under section 107 J, part I, of this manual.

~~"SECRET NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

10. Symbol numbers

Assign a symbol number to all individuals when first considered for development as asset. The symbol number is to consist of two-letter prefix identifying the office, a numerical sequence number (which will never be reassigned to another asset or informant), and suffix which describes the type of asset, e.g., NY 1001-OA (or IA). The numerical sequence is to be the same as that used for all other informants, e.g., potential security informant, security informant, criminal informant, etc. The suffix may change if the nature of the information provided changes, e.g., from IA to OA. Submit identity of asset and symbol number assigned to FBIHQ via coded "Nitel"; this is the only communication ever in which both asset's true name and symbol number are to appear together. Assets must not be informed of their symbol numbers.

11. Captions

In administrative communications dealing solely with asset, indicate in caption the character and the country concerning which the asset is reporting, e.g., NY 1001-OA, IS-R (Russia).

12. Background inquiries and interviews

a. Informative asset

Based on the type of information the IA can provide, the nature and extent of contact with him, and the IA's relationship with the target:

- (1) Conduct sufficient background investigation to satisfy the SAC as to the IA's stability, suitability, reliability, and potential. For example, a more detailed background investigation is required for a social or business contact than for a doorman or building superintendent. A minimal background investigation should include appropriate police and field offices' indices checks.
- (2) Request search of FBIHQ indices.
- (3) Check NCIC.
- (4) Submit FD-165 for search of FBIHQ identification records; make no reference to individual as IA on FD-165. Also utilize FD-165 to place stop.
- (5) Outside of the restrictions set out in 4. above, interview IA prospect on SAC authority.

b. Operational asset

When an individual appears to have OA potential conduct the following background investigation commensurate with OA's security:

- (1) Obtain pertinent data on OA's personal history (date and place of birth, nationality and citizenship, social security number or other identifying numbers, family status, names of immediate family, past and present residences, employments, etc.), and other data such as physical description, patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, reputation, and business connections.
- (2) Check appropriate police and field offices' indices.
- (3) Request search of FBIHQ indices.
- (4) Check NCIC.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

- (5) Submit FD-165 for search of FBIHQ identification records; make no reference to individual as OA on FD-165; and also utilize FD-165 to place stop.
 - (6) If applicable, check armed services records, both at Military Personnel Records Center, St. Louis, Missouri, and at Defense Central Index of Investigations, Ft. Holabird, Maryland.
 - (7) Canvass logical sources, commensurate with OA's security.
 - (8) Upon completion of above investigation submit results to FBIHQ via coded teletype, preferably "Nitel," and interview UACB.
- c. All leads to auxiliary offices must be sent and replied to, via coded teletype, preferably "Nitel," under caption utilizing asset's true name, followed by "IS-(country)." Do not set out asset's symbol number. Do not send copies of such leads of IAs to FBIHQ. Leads must be covered within 45 days; office of origin notify auxiliary offices of this time limit when setting out leads.
13. Authority to operate assets
IAs are approved and operated on SAC authority. Inform FBIHQ via coded "Nitel" when SAC approval given, and type of information IA can provide. OAs are approved and operated on FBIHQ authority. After interview of OA submit results of interview via coded "Nitel" requesting FBIHQ approval to operate. Detail OA's potential and your contemplated use of OA.
- In exceptional cases, when the results of the interview and details of the OA's potential and contemplated use are voluminous, the practicality of "Nitel" and the relative security of the mails should be balanced against the sensitivity of the information and the security of the asset. Where the former factors prevail, submit summary by "Nitel" and full results and details by letter or airtel.
14. Contact with assets
Contact should be maintained commensurate with maximum productivity, security, and development of asset's further potential. If an asset has not been contacted for a period of 45 days, a memorandum to the SAC must be directed to the asset's main file stating the reason(s) why no contact was made.
- Do not disclose to asset any information not essential to his operation.
15. Confidentiality of relationship
Emphasize to all assets that the effectiveness of the FBI's investigation, and in some instances his own personal security, depend on both sides maintaining the confidentiality of the relationship. If the asset feels he must disclose this relationship to another, e.g., wife, parent, employer, etc., or circumstances develop in which asset requests FBI to disclose the relationship to another, e.g., to an employer threatening dismissal of asset because of his affiliation with certain individuals or groups, notify FBIHQ with recommendation to disclose relationship and continue under these conditions or to terminate relationship with or without disclosing relationship, and reasons for recommendation.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

16. Reliability of assets
Reliability of all assets must be constantly checked. If any doubt exists concerning asset, give consideration to use of various investigative techniques to insure asset is completely reliable and is furnishing accurate information.
17. Assignment of pseudonyms
In sensitive cases, where necessary; if asset will sign reports or receipts; or if asset is an OA receiving operational funds from a foreign intelligence service or payment from the U. S. which requires bookkeeping records, assign pseudonym for these purposes.
18. Recording of information received from asset
When recording information from any asset in a communication prepared for dissemination, characterize the asset either as one "with whom contact has been insufficient to determine reliability," or as one "who has furnished reliable information in the past."
 - a. Oral information
 - (1) Information pertaining to asset's personal status is recorded in 134 main file, e.g., marital difficulties, change of employment, change of residence.
 - (2) Information pertaining to operational administrative matters is recorded in asset's 134 subfile. When this data, e.g., location of meet sites, times of meets, any data which tends to identify asset, is furnished to FBIHQ, it should not be included in communications prepared for dissemination, but in cover pages. When the asset is a member of the military, submit, in addition to the communication for dissemination described immediately above, a communication for dissemination containing all operational administrative details for the information of the asset's service.
 - (3) Information of intelligence value should be submitted to FBIHQ via appropriate communication, and, if of interest to other U. S. agencies or friendly foreign services, should be submitted to FBIHQ in form suitable for dissemination.
 - (4) Execute and maintain form FD-209 in asset's main file concerning contacts with asset. If contacts produced information of intelligence value, record only date of contacts; if negative, record as such.
 - b. Written information
 - (1) Written information prepared by asset, or by FBI SA for signature of asset, pertaining to operational activities (not a written report passed by asset to his principal) must be dated at the top of page one and signed at the bottom of each numbered page by the asset using his pseudonym. This material may be maintained as an attachment to a serialized memorandum in the asset's subfile (punched holes are allowed), or in a 1a section of the asset's 134 subfile.
 - (2) Information received in this manner should be devoid of FBI identification, block or time stamps, serialization number or other administrative markings.
 - (3) Only the original need be maintained; asset must not keep a copy.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

- (4) Any corrections, changes, erasures, additions, or deletions on original must be identified by asset using his pseudonym initials beside it.
 - (5) Handling FBI SA must not make any changes on the original or permit his name to be recorded therein.
 - (6) Written information pertaining to operational activities should not include administrative matters pertaining to asset's personal status.
 - (7) Handle recording of written information and contact with asset in same manner as detailed under recording of oral information.
19. Channelization of information of intelligence value received from the asset
Important factor in channelizing information of intelligence value received from the asset to substantive case files is the security of the asset.

Limit information in communication sent to substantive file to only that necessary for that case; i.e., do not send one comprehensive communication to several substantive files if to do so might compromise source or other individual. (Be aware that some of our documents are being made available in response to subpoenas, and the court is sometimes not allowing excision of material not pertinent to case in question. Consequently, other individuals or operations can be "blown" by revealing one such comprehensive memo.)

- a. Extract information of value received from asset and channelize to substantive case files either inter- or intra-office by separate communications under substantive case captions.
 - b. A copy of all channelizing communications must be maintained in an asset's subfile.
20. Passage of documents, written report or oral information, to hostile foreign intelligence
Type of information to be passed depends on circumstances of particular operation, interests of involved foreign intelligence service, the credible access of the OA and the time element involved.

Great care should be given to the selection of information to be passed to insure the operation accrues to the overall benefit of the U. S.

- a. Authority for passage
FBIHQ authority required for passage of all classified information and unclassified information prepared for limited use by concerned Federal and local governments, not intended for public consumption.

Above FBIHQ authority applies to passage of documents, written reports, and oral information.

SAC authority required for passage of material prepared by commercial concerns, Federal, and local governments for public distribution. Examples are: newspaper and magazine articles, pamphlets and brochures, photographs, background information on companies and organizations. If there is any doubt that material selected to be passed is not in the best interest of the U. S., submit material to FBIHQ for clearance; e.g., see Example (1) following.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

- b. Clearance requirements for information to be passed under FBIHQ authority
Submit original and 9 copies of LHM to FBIHQ bearing appropriate classification via cover communication with appropriate caption. Leave LHM uncaptioned; FBIHQ will insert code name caption.

The first paragraph of the LHM should read: "It is requested that clearance be granted for passage in this operation of the following items to a representative of (name of foreign intelligence service)."

If the information to be passed is a document, set forth an adequate description of it in the LHM.

Examples:

- (1) Article entitled "Moon Rockets," prepared by physicist John Doe, January, 1972, issue of "_____", publication of American Rocket Society.
- (2) Air Force Training Manual captioned "_____", dated July, 1972, classified "Secret."

In addition, also submit to FBIHQ, if possible, a true copy of document for review which will be returned after clearance by FBIHQ is obtained.

If the information to be passed is a written report prepared by OA, set forth report verbatim in the LHM.

If the information to be passed is oral, set forth oral information verbatim in the LHM.

If more than one item of information in any form is to be passed, number each item in the LHM.

The last paragraph of the LHM should contain the sentence: "The above data should not be further disseminated."

Upon receipt of LHM, FBIHQ will submit to appropriate authorities and request clearance. Reply will be promptly furnished to field.

- c. Notification to FBIHQ of passage of document, written report, or oral information which required clearance
After passage, submit original and 9 copies of uncaptioned LHM bearing appropriate classification via cover communication with appropriate caption. FBIHQ will insert code name caption. In LHM refer to LHM which requested clearance. LHM should merely state, "On (date) our source transmitted the information detailed in referenced memorandum to (name of foreign intelligence service)."

If referenced memorandum detailed more than one item, do not list the items unless one or more was not passed. In such an instance list only those items that were passed.

The last paragraph of the LHM should contain the following sentence, "The above data should not be further disseminated."

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

d. Administrative handling of documents, written reports, and oral information selected for passage

(1) Documents and written reports

Field offices should retain a copy of document or written report passed which would be identified by OA as a true copy of item passed by him. No other marks, identifying data, staple or punch holes should be placed on field office copy.

When submitting document or written report to FBIHQ, identify it, in cover communication, as the actual item which will be passed or a copy.

To insure that the actual document to be passed is not contaminated by fingerprints of FBI personnel, maintain in plastic envelope when being handled in field office or when submitted to FBIHQ.

Documents obtained by FBIHQ or other field offices from commercial concerns or other government agencies which will be passed will be handled in similar fashion.

If copy of document is maintained on permanent basis by preparing concern or agency and available at a later date, no need exists to submit copy to FBIHQ or to maintain in field office file. If copy not maintained on permanent basis, a copy should be retained in field office file.

(2) Oral information

Oral information passed must be recorded in a signed statement or FD-302.

Purpose for preserving documents and written reports is for evidence in event of prosecution, persona non grata action, expulsion, etc.

21. Oral information received from debriefing asset

Oral information received upon debriefing an asset (i.e., not necessarily pertaining to information passed) must be recorded in a signed statement or FD-302.

22. Coverage of OA meets with foreign intelligence officer, co-opted worker, or agent.

Coverage of these meets is required except when prohibited by security or other overriding factors.

- a. To cross-check the OA. We must be as certain as possible that the OA is reporting details of his meets accurately.
- b. To verify identification of principal or agent and to gather information about modus operandi.
- c. Consider use of photography and other technological surveillance techniques to provide data for improving future CI operations or improving chances for success of official actions, e.g., prosecution, persona non grata action.

Be aware that these meets are often covered by the principal's intelligence service using photography, radio intercepts, and possible electronic surveillance.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

23. Disinformation
The passage of deceptive information by an OA is a complex operation which requires detailed planning and coordination between field office and FBIHQ. This technique should be employed only in OA operations in which the foreign intelligence service has apparently accepted the bona fides of the OA, when the benefit will clearly outweigh the risk to the overall OA operation.
24. OA cover story
Be aware that a foreign intelligence principal may interrogate an OA in great detail as to how he secured his information, his family situation, his modus operandi, motivation, etc. Handling FBI SA must adequately prepare an OA for this probability. The most credible cover story is the one which involves the least fabrication.

Unless security or other considerations dictate otherwise, the OA should personally obtain the information he passes.

25. Receipt of money or property by OA
Impress upon each OA that money or property received from a foreign intelligence principal or agent must be turned over to the FBI since retention of this money would put the OA in technical violation of Federal statutes, and this money may be used as evidence or exhibit. Compensation to the OA from the FBI for his cooperation is to be handled separately. Nominal or personal gifts, necessary for the OA's security and to maintain his relationship with the principal, may be given back to the OA by his handling FBI SA, following FBIHQ approval. Consider the desirability and feasibility of obtaining a signed statement from each OA reflecting his understanding of this requirement. The obtaining of such a statement is not mandatory, but desirable.

Department attorneys have advised that, while it is not necessary to preserve that actual currency received by an OA, it is highly desirable to do so in cases in which prosecution could ensue. Whether or not the actual currency is retained, obtain a written statement from the OA describing the currency received by [type of note and issuing Federal Reserve Bank,] denomination, series number, and serial number; and also make an independent record of such currency.

The above instructions are not to be interpreted to require the impounding of funds paid to an OA by a foreign government or foreign intelligence service for goods or services rendered by the OA in legitimate, business transactions.

26. Payments to FCI assets - either OA or IA
- a. When deemed necessary and expedient, each SAC is authorized to expend up to $400 to develop FCI assets. This money may be used to pay for services and/or expenses. This authority is renewable by FBIHQ if the initial $400 has been expended. Blue slip reclaiming payments from FBIHQ need not summarize information obtained since proliferation of this information could possibly jeopardize asset's security.

23. Disinformation
The passage of deceptive information by an OA is a complex operation which requires detailed planning and coordination between field office and FBIHQ. Compensation to the OA from the FBI for his cooperation is to be handled separately. Nominal or personal gifts, necessary for the OA's security and to maintain his relationship with the principal, may be given back to the OA by his handling FBI SA, following FBIHQ approval. Consider the desirability and feasibility of obtaining a signed statement from each OA reflecting his understanding of this requirement. The obtaining of such a statement is not mandatory, but desirable.

Department attorneys have advised that, while it is not necessary to preserve that actual currency received by an OA, it is highly desirable to do so in cases in which prosecution could ensue. Whether or not the actual currency is retained, obtain a written statement from the OA describing the currency received by denomination, series number, and serial number; and also make an independent record of such currency.

The above instructions are not to be interpreted to require the impounding of funds paid to an OA by a foreign government or foreign intelligence service for goods or services rendered by the OA in legitimate, business transactions.

26. Payments to FCI assets - either OA or IA
- a. When deemed necessary and expedient, each SAC is authorized to expend up to $400 to develop FCI assets. This money may be used to pay for services and/or expenses. This authority is renewable by FBIHQ if the initial $400 has been expended. Blue slip reclaiming payments from FBIHQ need not summarize information obtained since proliferation of this information could possibly jeopardize asset's security.

- b. FBIHQ authority
- (1) If FCI asset is of such continuing value to justify regular payments, such payments must be approved by FBIHQ.
 - (2) When initially requesting regular payment, submit evaluation via coded "Nitel" in the following order:
 - (a) Amount paid to date, broken down into expenses and services
 - (b) Number of contacts with handling FBI SA since last evaluation
 - (c) Evaluation of stability and reliability
 - (d) Concise summary of most valuable information furnished since last evaluation
 - (e) Miscellaneous - changes in personal status, residence, employment, personal problems, etc., since last evaluation
 - (f) SAC recommendations for authority to pay asset for next six-month period; specify amount to be authorized for services and amount for expenses
 - (3) Continuation request should be made two weeks in advance of expiration of authority.
 - (4) Submit an interim request for increase in regular payments authorized via coded "Nitel," with full justification.
- c. Receipts
- When payments are made either on SAC authority or FBIHQ authority, obtain receipts whenever possible. If receipt cannot be obtained, set forth circumstances on blue slip at time reimbursement is claimed.
- (1) Receipts should be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce receipts in evidence, they will not relate to other documents or files.
 - (2) Receipts should show:
 - (a) Date when payment was made
 - (b) Period for which made when asset is paid on period basis
 - (c) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services and expenses
 - (d) Name of FBI SA making payment
 - (e) Signature of asset receiving money using pseudonym assigned
 - (3) Receipts are not to be witnessed.
 - (4) If necessary to make corrections on receipts, they must be initialed by asset and not by FBI SA.
 - (5) When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to FBIHQ, staple them directly to blue slip so that all information on receipt can be read without detaching it from blue slip.

27. Evaluation of FCI assets

a. OA

Whether OA is paid (under either FBIHQ or SAC authority) or unpaid, submit coded "Nitel" every six months evaluating OA according to the format of 26. b. (2). If the OA has been paid during the preceding six-month period, merely set out the amount paid during that period (under 26. b. (2) (a)).

27. Evaluation of FCI assets

a. OA

Whether OA is paid (under either FBIHQ or SAC authority) or unpaid, submit coded "Nitel" every six months evaluating OA according to the format of 26. b. (2). [If the OA is unpaid, submit six-month evaluation and request for continued utilization, if appropriate, on UACB basis.] If the OA has been paid during the preceding six-month period, merely set out the amount paid during that period (under 26. b. (2) (a)).

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

- b. IA
 - (1) Paid on FBIHQ authority
Submit evaluation as instructed for OA above
 - (2) Paid on SAC authority or unpaid
Every six months submit memorandum to SAC evaluating IA according to the format of 26. b. (2).
 - c. Assets who are members of the military, whether IA or OA
See 5. e.
28. Income tax returns
- a. Inform assets who receive compensation for their services to FBI that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. FBI income should be set forth on Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to asset's position and station in life.
 - c. If asset is self-employed and files Schedule C as self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his FBI income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with FBI.
 - d. If asset cannot report payments received from FBI for services without jeopardizing his security, such payments will be subject to 20 percent withholding tax. There are three categories in which taxes will not be withheld from payments to FCI assets:
 - (1) For reimbursement of expenses
 - (2) Under SAC authority
 - (3) To assets who have been able to report FBI income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning procedure to be followed in handling and control of money withheld.
 - e. When asset or former asset is considered as potential witness in FBI case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on income he received from FBI for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and submit recommendations to FBIHQ for handling situation.
29. Receipt of unemployment compensation
State law may require all applicants for unemployment compensation to list all sources of income. Payment of out-of-pocket expenses need not be listed as income when applying for unemployment compensation; however, payment for services must be listed. FBIHQ should be consulted in each case where this situation arises.
30. Monthly and quarterly letters
For these administrative details, see section 107, part I, M, of this manual.

~~"SECRET NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

31. Corrective action on false information
 - a. When it is determined that current asset or former asset has furnished false information, promptly inform FBIHQ of complete facts.
 - b. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing asset in future, such as "source of known unreliability" or "source who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
 - c. FBIHQ will advise which designation to use; the field office will then proceed with review of all data furnished by asset and label information from him accordingly.
 - d. All communications containing information from asset which have been sent to FBIHQ, FBI field offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected. Corrective action should be taken by letter. Identify cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing information from asset. Corrective letters should refer to specific report, page number, and change to be made. Amended pages should not be prepared unless you are so instructed by FBIHQ in accordance with instructions of part II, section 4, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - e. Instruct each field office which has made further dissemination of asset's information to follow instructions set forth above.
 - f. Set up control file regarding this corrective action and upon completion of same submit to FBIHQ final letter under asset's caption identifying each case by title, character, FBIHQ file number if known, and date of communication. This letter will be used to check all pertinent FBIHQ files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken.
 - g. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from asset should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
 - h. Occasionally, former asset through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to time he was asset. It is not necessary to go back and change evaluation of information attributed to that former asset in absence of definite indication that he furnished unreliable information while he was asset.
 - i. Dissemination of information from assets of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
32. Discontinuance of assets
Advise FBIHQ under asset's symbol number caption when services of asset are discontinued.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

33. Discontinued assets
- a. When services of asset are discontinued, mark name card "canceled." Destroy symbol card. Never destroy name card.
 - b. Refile name card in numerical order by symbol number in symbol number index. When discontinued asset is later reactivated, remove name card from symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in name card section of FCI asset index.
 - c. Inform FBIHQ of date when asset is discontinued and reason therefor, and whether or not asset is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. Inform FBIHQ according to instructions in volume II, section 19, of this manual of identity of all Security of Government Employees cases in which asset has furnished information.
 - d. If the discontinued asset is a member of the U. S. Military or another U. S. Government employee, submit LHM to FBIHQ merely stating the fact of discontinuance. FBIHQ will use LHM to notify asset's headquarters.
 - e. Once asset is exposed in any manner, do not carry him as a concealed source in reports or memoranda. His true name is to be set forth.
 - f. If a former asset furnishes information to an office other than the office which originally handled him, the new office should notify the old office of its intended use of the asset and request pertinent background information.
 - g. Remove flash notice on OA's (i.e., the stop placed via FD-165 when conducting original background inquiries on OA) one year after discontinuance.

4. Contacts by Agents

- a. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where frequency of contact is dependent on circumstances, informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for exception to this requirement.
- b. During each contact, carefully review informant's activities since previous contact and make certain informant has furnished all information which he has obtained since last contact.
- c. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows informant's attitude towards Bureau. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.
- d. Arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in minds of either Agent or informant as to methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
- e. Informants should use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants nonpublished office telephone number for emergency communication. This rule is not practical in all espionage and foreign nationality matters but should be followed where applicable.
- f. Positive information received from informant should be subject of written statement by informant or memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
- g. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
- h. Dates of negative contacts and file numbers of cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where file has more than one subject, name of subject under inquiry should be noted. Do not set forth title of case involved.
- i. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
- j. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent where necessary.

5. Checking reliability

- a. Reliability of all active informants must be constantly checked.
- b. Give consideration to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.

6. Fingerprints

- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
- b. If informant refuses, do not force issue.
- c. Forward informant's fingerprints as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258, fully executed. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.

Security Informant" shall not appear.

J. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index
Are to be kept by SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice
 - a. Alphabetical name index
In all offices maintain card index showing true identities of all security informants, potential security informants, and security confidential sources. This is to be known as alphabetical name index. File cards in alphabetical order.
 - b. Symbol number index
This index shall contain card for each individual to whom symbol number has been assigned. File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind numerical symbol index.
 - c. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by official having custody of cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of activities and type of information he furnishes.
 - d. Index cards
Index cards (FD-348) shall be executed for alphabetical name index and symbol number index. Execute only following items:

Symbol:	File No:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)
Name:
 - e. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in informant's administrative file.
2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"
 - a. A separate index may be maintained for use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
 - b. If such index maintained, separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source included.
 - c. Cards should contain brief background data and identity of Bureau communication showing background data.
 - d. File cards alphabetically by name and/or symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.
3. Agents' informative index
 - a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by same official as set out in item 1, above, for use of Agents on type of informant coverage in division.
 - b. File cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
 - c. Behind each geographical location, place guide card indicating type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Polish Activity, etc.
 - d. On guide card set forth symbol numbers of informants and confidential sources who can provide coverage.
 - e. [Deleted.]
 - f. When individual can provide more than one type of information, set forth his symbol or identity on as many guide cards as applicable.
 - g. Guide cards should show above data and it is permissible to place alongside name or symbol number names of contacting Agents.
 - h. Also, symbol numbers of informants who move outside division and who still may be excellent sources regarding past activities may be set forth on guide cards.
 - i. Names or symbol numbers of individuals contained in index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on appropriate guide cards in this index.

4. Contacts by Agents

- a. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where frequency of contact is dependent on circumstances, informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for exception to this requirement.
- b. During each contact, carefully review informant's activities since previous contact and make certain informant has furnished all information which he has obtained since last contact.

Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.
- d. Arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in minds of either Agent or informant as to methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
- e. Informants should use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants nonpublished office telephone number for emergency communication. This rule is not practical in all espionage and foreign nationality matters but should be followed where applicable.
- f. Positive information received from informant should be subject of written statement by informant or memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
- g. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.

- b. Give consideration to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.

6. Fingerprints

- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
- b. If informant refuses, do not force issue.
- c. Forward informant's fingerprints as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258, fully executed. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.

- d. Flash notice is to be placed by field with Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
 - e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.
7. Control - statement of cooperation
- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants and double agents to obtain maximum results and prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.
 - b. Obtain signed statement set out below when feasible and practical. Where it is not practical to secure such signed statement from an informant or double agent, advise Bureau of complete details. SAC and Agent handling informant or double agent should determine appropriate time in informant's operation when statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

(Signed) _____

Witnessed: _____

8. Execution of party questionnaires
Informants, particularly in Communist Party, often must execute party questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant.
9. Informant's activity in organizations
- a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish sources for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but in such manner as to avoid suspicion.

- (4) Number of statements submitted
Combine total number of oral and written statements submitted and show only total number.
 - (5) Stability and reliability
Check positive box if informant is considered stable and reliable. If not or if there are any personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or any other similar problems presented by informant, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (6) Indoctrination against disclosure
If informant has been indoctrinated against disclosure, check positive box.
 - (7) Percentage of information verified
Show percentage of information furnished by informant which has been verified through other sources.
 - (8) All necessary action taken on information furnished
If all action has been taken, check positive box. If not, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (9) Summary of information furnished
This summary should be concise, highlighting more pertinent information furnished by informant. Do not attempt to summarize all information furnished by informant.
 - (10) Miscellaneous
Furnish any change in informant's residence and employment (by secure teletype (nitel), steps being taken to advance informant, and any other pertinent information which should be brought to Bureau's attention. Include statement that source has been advised that all payments of money made to him for services rendered must be declared as income on his tax return and has agreed to do so.
- c. When payment to informant has been authorized for definite period of time, advise Bureau at least two weeks in advance of expiration of period as to whether services of informant are to be continued.
 - d. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow instructions set forth in item 3b, above.
 - e. Submit letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant in duplicate except that copy should consist only of first page of letter. When payments are approved, single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at Bureau and returned. If recommendation is not approved, field will be advised by separate communication.
 - f. When payments are authorized by Bureau, it is personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure that full value is being received.
 - g. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears information being produced by informant is not commensurate with payments made to him, immediately discontinue payments or adjust accordingly and promptly advise Bureau.
 - h. If any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.
4. Six-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, FD-401 must be transmitted to Bureau every six months after date of designation containing same information set out in item 3b, above, except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases, comment is necessary regarding only applicable items.
 5. Receipts
When payments are made either on SAC authority or prior Bureau approval, obtain receipts in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If receipt cannot be obtained for particular payment, set forth complete circumstances on blue slip at time reimbursement is claimed.

K. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening
 - a. When active investigation is initiated regarding potential informant or confidential source who is not subject of security-type file, open 134 file.
 - b. If individual is subject of security case and after being interviewed appears to have potential as informant, open separate 134 file to follow informant development. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, existing file may be used if this is practical.
 - c. Maintain individual files on all active informants as pending active files.
2. Monthly administrative report
Include files on potential informants and informants in tabulations and calculations of delinquencies in monthly administrative report.
3. Assignment and tickler cards
Maintain assignment and tickler cards, but do not show true name of informant, [potential informant, panel source or confidential source] on such cards.
4. Subfiles
 - a. Subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. File in this subfile original of each statement, whether personally written by informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent. Staple executed form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items on form FD-306 to original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Include excerpts from informant's statement in regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to case file in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and all copies.
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
See Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Correspondence
Correspondence in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to administrative handling of informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under substantive case caption.
8. Maintenance of files
 - a. Maintain all symbol number informant files, pending and closed, under lock and key under personal supervision of SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by SAC.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in open files section, provided there is no disclosure of informant's identity on statements.
 - c. Maintain informant files so that all information furnished by informant will be immediately available when needed.
 - d. In addition, maintain these files so identities of cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be obtained immediately by simply referring to file of informant and without extensive research.

- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce receipts in evidence, they will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on receipts, they must be initialed by informant and not by Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to Bureau, staple them directly to blue slip, leaving margin of one to one and one-half inches at top to avoid contact with Acco fastener punch. Place staples so that date or other data appearing on receipt will not be mutilated and all information on receipt can be easily read without detaching it from blue slip.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Advise informants who receive compensation for their services to Bureau that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If informant is self-employed and files schedule C as self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with Bureau.
 - d. If informant cannot report payments received from Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as informant, such payments will be subject to 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning procedure to be followed in handling and control of money withheld.
 - e. When informant or former informant is initially considered as potential witness in Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on income he received from Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling situation.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, Bureau must furnish Department set of photostats of original receipts signed by prospective witnesses. Original receipts and set of photostats will be transmitted to field office in whose territory trial will take place. Office handling prosecution must determine from Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to Bureau following information:

- [2. Submit quarterly letter (FD-451b) to Bureau by secure teletype system
[(NITEL). Quarterly letter should include the following:
[a. Name, location and number of subversive groups including identities
[of groups on college campuses, exclusive of those in black extremist,
[white hate or espionage matters.
[b. Symbol numbers of member informants providing coverage who are members
[of organizations. If no member informant, attach addendum and explain [why you do not have member informants. Indicate specific action being [taken to develop member informants and date such coverage is antici[pated for each group.
[c. Identities of individuals or groups who have participated in or are [active in planning subversive acts of violence, exclusive of those [in black extremist, white hate or espionage matters.
[d. Symbol numbers of informants and sources providing coverage of [individuals or groups shown in Column C. If no member informant, [attach addendum and explain why you do not have member informants.
[Indicate specific action being taken to develop member informants
[and date such coverage is anticipated for each group.]
- N. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS
1. Make every effort to guide informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
 2. Informants should be cautioned to keep contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
 3. Bureau will consider as last resort advising another agency of informant's relationship with Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to minimum in view of obvious dangers to informant.
 4. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau advised as promptly as possible, together with appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
 5. In no instance should you permit informant to sign loyalty oath in negative.

K. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening
 - a. When active investigation is initiated regarding potential informant or confidential source who is not subject of security-type file, open 134 file.
 - b. If individual is subject of security case and after being interviewed appears to have potential as informant, open separate 134 file to follow informant development. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, existing file may be used if this is practical.
 - c. Maintain individual files on all active informants as pending active files.
2. Monthly administrative report
Include files on potential informants and informants in tabulations and calculations of delinquencies in monthly administrative report.
3. Assignment and tickler cards
Maintain assignment and tickler cards, but do not show true name of informant, [potential informant, panel source or confidential source] on such cards.
4. Subfiles
 - a. Subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. File in this subfile original of each statement, whether personally written by informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent. Staple executed form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items on form FD-306 to original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Include excerpts from informant's statement in regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to case file in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and all copies.
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
See Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Correspondence
Correspondence in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to administrative handling of informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under substantive case caption.
8. Maintenance of files
 - a. Maintain all symbol number informant files, pending and closed, under lock and key under personal supervision of SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by SAC.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in open files section, provided there is no disclosure of informant's identity on statements.
 - c. Maintain informant files so that all information furnished by informant will be immediately available when needed.
 - d. In addition, maintain these files so identities of cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be obtained immediately by simply referring to file of informant and without extensive research.

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security or intelligence matters exclusively for Bureau whose identity must be protected. Such person should be member or attend meetings of subversive organization, or be in such position relative to subversive organization that he is able to provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in position to become active in or closely connected with subversive organization or intelligence activities and is making affirmative effort to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
Person cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both foreign intelligence service and Bureau under FBI guidance
4. Confidential source
Individual who on confidential basis furnishes information available through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort in behalf of Bureau but furnish information readily available to them.
5. Panel source
Individual who is not involved in subversive group but who will attend its public gatherings in behalf of FBI for intelligence purposes or as potential witness

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to internal security. Informants may be obtained through alertness in course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants or other persons interviewed in security matters
 - b. Subjects of security investigations who show disaffection, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - c. Personal friends and contacts of Bureau employees
 - d. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts
2. Review of closed security files and files of former security informants
3. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
4. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on part of subversive group members. They should not be informed as to purpose of inquiry.
5. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings

C. BACKGROUND INQUIRIES ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When decision is made to consider an individual for informant purposes, conduct background investigation. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted until individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever restrictions imposed in section 87, volume III, and section 105, volume IV, of this manual, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

3. Index

- a. Prepare index cards on form FD-348 and file as adjunct to criminal informant, extremist informant, or security informant index, depending on type information furnished.
- b. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with criminal informant, extremist informant, and security informant index where logical.

4. Files

When active investigation is initiated relative to prospective confidential source, open 134 file (or 137 for criminal sources) and maintain as pending until efforts to develop individual are discontinued.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used in security investigations, secure Bureau approval, and furnish background data of same type required for potential security informants.
- b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances, contact confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained at least once every two weeks. Such contacts may be posted.
- c. Contacts should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
- d. Letter to Bureau requesting authority to use subject as confidential source is to set out clearly:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, arrest and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of expected cooperation of individual and results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) Statement to effect subject is being considered confidential source and will be advised he is not Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. In addition, statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
 - (4) One copy of letter requesting authority should consist only of first page. If request is approved at Bureau, stamped notation to this effect will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field.

6. Security confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments. See subsection L, item 3b, above.
- b. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization or if he is not employee of foreign diplomatic establishment or an international organization and is being used regularly, Agent handling must [certify stability and reliability by executing statement on this point contained on FD-209 used to record contact. Certification must be made at intervals of no longer than six months.]
- c. If source is employed by foreign diplomatic establishments (embassy, consulate, United Nations Mission, etc.) or by international organization (United Nations Secretariat, Organization of American States, International Monetary Fund, etc.), submit FD-401 to Bureau every six months.

7. Gifts

Gifts should not be given to sources.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau of date when source is discontinued and reasons.

S. PANEL SOURCES

1. Definition

See page 3 of this section.

2. Background investigation and approval

- a. Check prospective panel source through office indices, canvass logical informants, review appropriate arrest and military records.

- b. Pamphlets, brochures, etc., prepared by private company for distribution or sale to public. (This does not include highly technical pamphlets, even if unclassified, which are prepared for limited use and not intended for release to public.)
- 4. Retention of copies of passed material
 - a. True copies should be retained by office of origin of any documents or material related to national defense which is passed.
 - b. Such material should be appropriately identified by double agent. Bureau Agents should not place identifying data on such material but should preserve any notes made by them in connection with its passage.
 - c. Similar action should be taken regarding material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to national defense.
 - d. It is not necessary to retain copies of buildup material obviously not evidentiary in nature where copies can be obtained at later date from Government agency or private concern having custody.
- 5. Handling money and property received by double agents
 - a. Double agents must turn over to Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to double agent at inception of operation (consider obtaining signed statement to this effect). Exceptions must be specifically approved by Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by double agent from his principal represents possible evidence and double agent should execute statement describing money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. Statement should be signed by double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in event testimony is later necessary.

U. UTILIZATION OF INFORMANTS AND SOURCES AT INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

- 1. Use of students
 - a. Students under age of 18 years are not to be developed as security informants, potential security informants, or other types of security sources in other than highly unusual circumstances. Under such circumstances, furnish complete justification to Bureau.
 - b. Upon initial contact with prospective student informant or source, individual should be tactfully requested to execute a brief signed written statement for field file setting forth that this individual has voluntarily come forward to furnish information to FBI because of his concern over individuals or groups that may be inimical to interests of U. S. Government and that he understands FBI has no interest in legitimate institution or campus activities.

Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

Q. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that informant or ex-informant furnished false information while informant, promptly advise Bureau of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with review of all data furnished by individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of Manual of Rules and Regulations. Corrective action should be called to attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.
8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of information to follow instructions set forth above.
9. Set up control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to Bureau final letter under informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken.
10. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
11. All information from informant must be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
12. Occasionally, ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to time he was informant. It is not necessary to go back and change evaluation of information attributed to that individual in absence of definite indication that informant furnished unreliable information while he was informant.
13. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, Manual of Rules and Regulations.

R. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number should be assigned from the time any step is taken to develop an individual as a confidential source.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning symbol number, and brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. Abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS." Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating country involved; e.g., IS - R.
 - d. When permanent symbol has been assigned to confidential source, abbreviation "CS" is to appear before symbol number; e.g., CS NY 000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from series of numbers used for security, extremist, and criminal informants.

- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by Agent as if informant were preparing them himself.
 - (5) Information, after being reduced to writing, should be read promptly by informant and acknowledged by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, such authentication is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.
 - (6) After informant authenticates statement, contacting Agent should prepare cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it. Thereafter statement should be handled as written one.
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be included in office memorandum by Agent and should not be initialed by informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
- a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants when possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such contacts. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - b. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory. More than one informant may send statements to a post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of postal employees.
 - c. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under fictitious name.
 - d. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for extended period of time.
 - e. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication.
4. Handling of lead information
- a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, tickler card should be prepared to follow informant and take other logical steps to obtain additional identifying data. Restrict tickler cards to information which would warrant investigation if identity established. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile.
5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
- a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material.
 - d. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items. See section 107K for filing instructions.

Q. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that informant or ex-informant furnished false information while informant, promptly advise Bureau of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with review of all data furnished by individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of Manual of Rules and Regulations. Corrective action should be called to attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.
8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of information to follow instructions set forth above.
9. Set up control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to Bureau final letter under informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken.
10. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
11. All information from informant must be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
12. Occasionally, ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to time he was informant. It is not necessary to go back and change evaluation of information attributed to that individual in absence of definite indication that informant furnished unreliable information while he was informant.
13. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, Manual of Rules and Regulations.

Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files

2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

- b. If no pertinent derogatory information is developed, initial contact may be made with prospective panel source to ascertain cooperativeness; however, in regard to individuals associated with educational institutions, be guided by current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
- c. Submit letter to Bureau requesting authority to use individual as a panel source and set out:
 - (1) Results of background investigation and data as to date and place of birth, citizenship status if foreign born, residence and employment addresses
 - (2) Details of expected area of activity of individual as panel source and results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) Statement to effect subject is being considered panel source and will be advised he is not Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. Also, statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant and, if connected with labor union or educational institution, he will be advised of Bureau policy on such matters.
 - (4) One copy of letter should consist only of first page. If approved at Bureau, stamped notation indicating Bureau approval will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field.

3. Administrative handling

- a. Follow same procedure in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panel sources as afforded security informants.
- b. Handle payments for legitimate expenses incurred and services rendered in same manner as security informants. Gifts should not be given to panel sources.
- c. Open 134 file when active investigation of prospective panel source initiated. Close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly. Note contacts with panelists in their respective files.
- d. Only Agents designated in particular case should contact panelists.
- e. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. If source not paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing certification as to stability and reliability.
- f. A symbol number should be assigned from the time any step is taken to develop an individual as a panel source. Use abbreviation "PS" before symbol number, e.g., PS NY 000-S.
- g. Designate, where practicable, coordinating Agent to maintain current roster of panel sources and scheduled organization activities, who will notify Agents handling individual panelists of organizational functions to be covered. Coordinating Agent should receive notice of coming events from Agents handling organizations, informants, and publications.
- h. Advise Bureau of date panel source is discontinued and reasons.

T. DOUBLE AGENT OPERATIONS

- 1. Passage of information
 - a. In double agent operations information requested by principals is frequently passed either to build up double agent's stature or as evidence of espionage activity.
 - b. Each case must be carefully evaluated to make certain that net gain accrues to U. S.
 - c. Information passed should be carefully handled and logical explanations created for its acquisition by double agent.
- 2. Locating information to pass

Where possible field office handling double agent should locate appropriate information; however, Bureau can assist in fulfilling requests for information in possession of other Government agencies.
- 3. Obtaining Bureau authority

Bureau authority must be obtained to pass any information in double agent operation except:

 - a. Newspaper or magazine article

- b. Pamphlets, brochures, etc., prepared by private company for distribution or sale to public. (This does not include highly technical pamphlets, even if unclassified, which are prepared for limited use and not intended for release to public.)
- 4. Retention of copies of passed material
 - a. True copies should be retained by office of origin of any documents or material related to national defense which is passed.
 - b. Such material should be appropriately identified by double agent. Bureau Agents should not place identifying data on such material but should preserve any notes made by them in connection with its passage.
 - c. Similar action should be taken regarding material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to national defense.
 - d. It is not necessary to retain copies of buildup material obviously not evidentiary in nature where copies can be obtained at later date from Government agency or private concern having custody.
- 5. Handling money and property received by double agents
 - a. Double agents must turn over to Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to double agent at inception of operation (consider obtaining signed statement to this effect). Exceptions must be specifically approved by Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by double agent from his principal represents possible evidence and double agent should execute statement describing money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. Statement should be signed by double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in event testimony is later necessary.

U. UTILIZATION OF INFORMANTS AND SOURCES AT INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

- 1. Use of students
 - a. Students under age of 18 years are not to be developed as security informants, potential security informants, or other types of security sources in other than highly unusual circumstances. Under such circumstances, furnish complete justification to Bureau.
 - b. Upon initial contact with prospective student informant or source, individual should be tactfully requested to execute a brief signed written statement for field file setting forth that this individual has voluntarily come forward to furnish information to FBI because of his concern over individuals or groups that may be inimical to interests of U. S. Government and that he understands FBI has no interest in legitimate institution or campus activities.
- 2. Quarterly letters
 - a. On January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1, submit quarterly letters on each student and teacher authorized by Bureau for contact as security informant, potential security informant, or other sources (including panel sources). Include following:
 - (1) Specific productivity
 - (2) Specific information furnished not otherwise available from public source material or other office sources off campus
 - (3) Frequency of contact
 - b. Quarterly letters on all [extremist] and security informants or sources should be jointly transmitted to Bureau by cover letter captioned "Utilization of Informants and Sources at Institutions of Learning." Include following in cover letter:
 - (1) Number of informants, potential informants, and other sources active and under development at each educational institution affected
 - (2) An overall analysis of coverage afforded by campus informants and sources

[A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security or intelligence matters exclusively for Bureau whose identity must be protected. Such person should be member or attend meetings of subversive organization, or be in such position relative to subversive organization that he is able to provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in position to become active in or closely connected with subversive organization or intelligence activities and is making affirmative effort to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
Person cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both foreign intelligence service and Bureau under FBI guidance
4. Confidential source
Individual who on confidential basis furnishes information available through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort in behalf of Bureau but furnish information readily available to them.
5. Panel source
Individual who is not involved in subversive group but who will attend its public gatherings in behalf of FBI for intelligence purposes or as potential witness

[B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to internal security. Informants may be obtained through alertness in course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants or other persons interviewed in security matters
 - b. Subjects of security investigations who show disaffection, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - c. Personal friends and contacts of Bureau employees
 - d. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts
2. Review of closed security files, reserve index, and files of former security informants
3. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
4. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on part of subversive group members. They should not be informed as to purpose of inquiry.
5. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings

[C. BACKGROUND INQUIRIES ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When decision is made to consider an individual for informant purposes, conduct background investigation. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted until individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever restrictions imposed in section 87, volume III, and section 105, volume IV, of this manual, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

4. Contacts by Agents
 - a. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where frequency of contact is dependent on circumstances, informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for exception to this requirement.
 - b. During each contact, carefully review informant's activities since previous contact and make certain informant has furnished all information which he has obtained since last contact.
 - c. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows informant's attitude towards Bureau. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.
 - d. Arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in minds of either Agent or informant as to methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
 - e. Informants should use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants nonpublished office telephone number for emergency communication. This rule is not practical in all espionage and foreign nationality matters but should be followed where applicable.
 - f. Positive information received from informant should be subject of written statement by informant or memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
 - g. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
 - h. Dates of negative contacts and file numbers of cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where file has more than one subject, name of subject under inquiry should be noted. Do not set forth title of case involved.
 - i. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
 - j. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent where necessary.
5. Checking reliability
 - a. Reliability of all active informants must be constantly checked.
 - b. Give consideration to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.
6. Fingerprints
 - a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
 - b. If informant refuses, do not force issue.
 - c. Forward informant's fingerprints as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258, fully executed. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.

- b. If no pertinent derogatory information is developed, initial contact may be made with prospective panel source to ascertain cooperativeness; however, in regard to individuals associated with educational institutions, be guided by current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
- c. Submit letter to Bureau requesting authority to use individual as a panel source and set out:
 - (1) Results of background investigation and data as to date and place of birth, citizenship status if foreign born, residence and employment addresses
 - (2) Details of expected area of activity of individual as panel source and results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) Statement to effect subject is being considered panel source and will be advised he is not Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. Also, statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant and, if connected with labor union or educational institution, he will be advised of Bureau policy on such matters.
 - (4) One copy of letter should consist only of first page. If approved at Bureau, stamped notation indicating Bureau approval will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field.

3. Administrative handling

- a. Follow same procedure in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panel sources as afforded security informants.
- b. Handle payments for legitimate expenses incurred and services rendered in same manner as security informants. Gifts should not be given to panel sources.
- c. Open 134 file when active investigation of prospective panel source initiated. Close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly. Note contacts with panelists in their respective files.
- d. Only Agents designated in particular case should contact panelists.
- e. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. If source not paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing certification as to stability and reliability.
- f. Symbol number may be assigned if unusual security problem exists or if typing would be saved. Use abbreviation "PS" before symbol number; e.g., PS NY-000-S.
- g. Designate, where practicable, coordinating Agent to maintain current roster of panel sources and scheduled organization activities, who will notify Agents handling individual panelists of organizational functions to be covered. Coordinating Agent should receive notice of coming events from Agents handling organizations, informants, and publications.
- h. Advise Bureau of date panel source is discontinued and reasons.

FF. DOUBLE AGENT OPERATIONS

- 1. Passage of information
 - a. In double agent operations information requested by principals is frequently passed either to build up double agent's stature or as evidence of espionage activity.
 - b. Each case must be carefully evaluated to make certain that net gain accrues to U. S.
 - c. Information passed should be carefully handled and logical explanations created for its acquisition by double agent.
- 2. Locating information to pass

Where possible field office handling double agent should locate appropriate information; however, Bureau can assist in fulfilling requests for information in possession of other Government agencies.
- 3. Obtaining Bureau authority

Bureau authority must be obtained to pass any information in double agent operation except:

 - a. Newspaper or magazine article

9. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, Department expresses interest in using particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as witness. Place copies of all correspondence of this type in informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize information concerning each informant and place summary in appropriate file.
10. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) is used in security informant and potential security informant files in nature of table of contents or index to show where in file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as top document in informant file and is not to be serialized. If particular section of form is not applicable, note such thereon.
11. Bulky material submitted by informant
Where informant or source submits bulky material other than statement and same pertains to specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in investigative case file, together with copy of form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum. File original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum in subfile of informant or source and note thereon file and serial number where bulky material is located.

L. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS

1. No gifts to informants
 - a. Gifts should not be given to informants.
 - b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on businesslike basis.
 - c. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.
2. SAC authority
 - a. When deemed necessary and expedient to expend money to develop individual as informant to obtain information concerning security matters which is not otherwise obtainable or to advance expense money to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments up to $400 and totaling not more than $400 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization.
 - b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
 - c. Blue slip reclaiming payments authorized by SAC must clearly and accurately explain circumstances and summarize information obtained so Bureau will be in position to pass intelligently on such matters.
 - d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to individual who has received payments totaling $400. Once individual has been paid $400 and it appears he will furnish information on regular basis, recommendation should be made to Bureau to pay him on "regular basis."
3. Payments on a regular basis - Bureau authority
 - a. To pay anyone on a regular basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
 - b. In requesting this authorization, use form FD-401:
 - (1) Membership
List current membership and position held in any subversive group.
 - (2) Amount paid for services and expenses
List by the month or week. Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.
 - (3) Number of activities and persons on whom coverage is provided
List number and type of meetings attended and other activities and number of persons on whom informant furnishes coverage and their importance.

[A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security or intelligence matters exclusively for Bureau whose identity must be protected. Such person should be member or attend meetings of subversive organization, or be in such position relative to subversive organization that he is able to provide current information of value.

- d. Flash notice is to be placed by field with Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
 - e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.
7. Control - statement of cooperation
- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants and double agents to obtain maximum results and prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.
 - b. Obtain signed statement set out below when feasible and practical. Where it is not practical to secure such signed statement from an informant or double agent, advise Bureau of complete details. SAC and Agent handling informant or double agent should determine appropriate time in informant's operation when statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

8. Execution of party questionnaires
Informants, particularly in Communist Party, often must execute party questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant.
9. Informant's activity in organizations
- a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish sources for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but in such manner as to avoid suspicion.

- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by Agent as if informant were preparing them himself.
 - (5) Information, after being reduced to writing, should be read promptly by informant and acknowledged by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, such authentication is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.
 - (6) After informant authenticates statement, contacting Agent should prepare cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it. Thereafter statement should be handled as written one.
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be included in office memorandum by Agent and should not be initialed by informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
 - a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants when possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such contacts. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - b. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory. More than one informant may send statements to a post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of postal employees.
 - c. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under fictitious name.
 - d. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for extended period of time.
 - e. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication.
 4. Handling of lead information
 - a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, tickler card should be prepared to follow informant and take other logical steps to obtain additional identifying data. Restrict tickler cards to information which would warrant investigation if identity established. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile.
 5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
 - a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material.
 - d. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items. See section 107K for filing instructions..

[Q. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that informant or ex-informant furnished false information while informant, promptly advise Bureau of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with review of all data furnished by individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of Manual of Rules and Regulations. Corrective action should be called to attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.
8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of information to follow instructions set forth above.
9. Set up control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to Bureau final letter under informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken.
10. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
11. All information from informant must be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
12. Occasionally, ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to time he was informant. It is not necessary to go back and change evaluation of information attributed to that individual in absence of definite indication that informant furnished unreliable information while he was informant.
13. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, Manual of Rules and Regulations.

[R. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. Symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning symbol number, and brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. Abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS." Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating country involved; e.g., IS - R.
 - d. When permanent symbol has been assigned to confidential source, abbreviation "CS" is to appear before symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from series of numbers used for security, racial, and criminal informants.

- b. Symbol number index
This index shall contain card for each individual to whom symbol number has been assigned. File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind numerical symbol index.
- c. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by official having custody of cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of activities and type of information he furnishes.
- d. Index cards
Index cards (FD-348) shall be executed for alphabetical name index and symbol number index. Execute only following items:

Symbol:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)

File No:

Name:

- e. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in informant's administrative file.
2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"
 - a. A separate index may be maintained for use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
 - b. If such index maintained, separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source included.
 - c. Cards should contain brief background data and identity of Bureau communication showing background data.
 - d. File cards alphabetically by name and/or symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.
 3. Agents' informative index
 - a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by same official as set out in item 1, above, for use of Agents on type of informant coverage in division.
 - b. File cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
 - c. Behind each geographical location, place guide card indicating type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Polish Activity, etc.
 - d. On guide card set forth symbol numbers of informants and confidential sources who can provide coverage.
 - e. Potential informants, confidential sources, panel sources, and sources of information who do not have permanent symbols should be set forth by name.
 - f. When individual can provide more than one type of information, set forth his symbol or identity on as many guide cards as applicable.
 - g. Guide cards should show above data and it is permissible to place alongside name or symbol number names of contacting Agents.
 - h. Also, symbol numbers of informants who move outside division and who still may be excellent sources regarding past activities may be set forth on guide cards.
 - i. Names or symbol numbers of individuals contained in index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on appropriate guide cards in this index.

- b. Symbol number index
This index shall contain card for each individual to whom symbol number has been assigned. File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind numerical symbol index.
- c. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by official having custody of cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of activities and type of information he furnishes.
- d. Index cards
Index cards (FD-348) shall be executed for alphabetical name index and symbol number index. Execute only following items:

Symbol:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)

File No:

Name:

- e. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in informant's administrative file.
2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"
 - a. A separate index may be maintained for use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
 - b. If such index maintained, separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source included.
 - c. Cards should contain brief background data and identity of Bureau communication showing background data.
 - d. File cards alphabetically by name and/or symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.
 3. Agents' informative index
 - a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by same official as set out in item 1, above, for use of Agents on type of informant coverage in division.
 - b. File cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
 - c. Behind each geographical location, place guide card indicating type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Polish Activity, etc.
 - d. On guide card set forth symbol numbers of informants and confidential sources who can provide coverage.
 - e. Potential informants, confidential sources, panel sources, and sources of information who do not have permanent symbols should be set forth by name.
 - f. When individual can provide more than one type of information, set forth his symbol or identity on as many guide cards as applicable.
 - g. Guide cards should show above data and it is permissible to place alongside name or symbol number names of contacting Agents.
 - h. Also, symbol numbers of informants who move outside division and who still may be excellent sources regarding past activities may be set forth on guide cards.
 - i. Names or symbol numbers of individuals contained in index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on appropriate guide cards in this index.

14. Make every effort to prevent discontinued informant from becoming involved in situations which may prove embarrassing to informant or Government. Immediately after he testifies for first time, SAC should have serious talk with informant in presence of Agent who handled informant. This interview should be conducted in field office and informant told that:
- He will no longer be operated by Bureau
 - Since he is public figure, he will probably be contacted by representatives of press, radio, and television for interviews and appearances
 - He may be sought as witness by congressional committees, Immigration and Naturalization Service, and state authorities
 - In connection with such interviews and appearances, informant must continue to be factual and truthful and must not build up or embellish statements, for if he does so he will wind up in serious trouble

Advise Bureau results of such interview and comment on its possible effectiveness.

Be alert to possibilities of former informant being contacted by representatives of publicity media and as witness by congressional committees, INS, and state authorities. SAC is responsible for knowing when former informant is scheduled or is likely to appear at hearing or make public appearance of any kind. Prior thereto in each instance, former informant must be contacted and instructions above reiterated by Agent who handled informant. Emphasize to former informant that he must stick to truth and make certain he can back up what he says, and if there is any deviation he will be subjected to criticism, possible libel, slander, or other criminal actions. If he inquires as to whether he should appear or testify or otherwise cooperate with any public or private individual or agency, advise him he must make that decision himself, but if he has appeared as Government witness in case which has not been finally adjudicated and decides in affirmative, he should contact USA for instructions. Advise Bureau of any such situations and results of any interviews conducted.

15. When contacting Agent feels discontinued informant could cause embarrassment to Bureau, make arrangements to have former informant come to field office where he will be personally met by SAC. At that time, he should be impressed with fact that his services were appreciated and were of considerable assistance to security of country and remind him that he signed agreement when he was active as informant to maintain his relation with Bureau on confidential basis. SAC should stress necessity for informant to maintain this confidence.

P. FURNISHING INFORMANTS TO IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS)

- INS, in order to enforce its responsibilities, must obtain evidence to prove that certain aliens, due to their membership in certain groups, are undesirable and deportable or subject to denaturalization.
- Cooperate fully with INS in these cases and make efforts consistent with your own interests to make available information and witnesses where possible.
- If contacted by INS inquiring for informants and you have discontinued informant or one who would be of assistance to INS and whose loss would not affect your work, furnish his identity to Bureau, together with your recommendation.
- Bureau will review facts and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
- Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain his permission.

[A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security or intelligence matters exclusively for Bureau whose identity must be protected. Such person should be member or attend meetings of subversive organization, or be in such position relative to subversive organization that he is able to provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in position to become active in or closely connected with subversive organization or intelligence activities and is making affirmative effort to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
Person cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both foreign intelligence service and Bureau under FBI guidance
4. Confidential source
Individual who on confidential basis furnishes information available through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort in behalf of Bureau but furnish information readily available to them.
5. Panel source
Individual who is not involved in subversive group but who will attend its public gatherings in behalf of FBI for intelligence purposes or as potential witness

[B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to internal security. Informants may be obtained through alertness in course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants or other persons interviewed in security matters
 - b. Subjects of security investigations who show disaffection, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - c. Personal friends and contacts of Bureau employees
 - d. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts
2. Review of closed security files, reserve index, and files of former security informants
3. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
4. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on part of subversive group members. They should not be informed as to purpose of inquiry.
5. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings

[C. BACKGROUND INQUIRIES ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When decision is made to consider an individual for informant purposes, conduct background investigation. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted until individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever restrictions imposed in section 87, volume III, and section 105, volume IV, of this manual, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

3. Inquiries of discreet nature concerning individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Investigation must definitely establish that individual can be used without danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from individual is not sufficient; his background must be established by investigation, including discreet inquiries among persons personally acquainted with him.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Submit FD-165 to Identification Division to obtain any record he may have and to place stop against fingerprints if on file.
5. Review armed services record if applicable.
6. Check draft status or status in armed forces reserve.
7. Check domestic status and, if any marital difficulties, obtain details.
8. Persons being considered for use in espionage and foreign nationality cases may present special problems which limit scope of investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and deseco program, section 105, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical, cover above items.

Leads must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days. Investigation must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, or designate individual as potential security informant.

D. APPROVAL, INDOCTRINATION, AND DEVELOPMENT OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

1. When background information obtained, transmit results to Bureau in same numerical sequence set out in subsection C, and request authority to designate individual as Bureau-approved potential security informant and to proceed with development. Do not submit on UACB basis. Include physical description.
2. After designation as Bureau-approved potential security informant, following matters should be made clear to him:
 - a. His assistance is strictly voluntary and he is to understand there is no coercion or intimidation involved.
 - b. He is not and cannot consider himself employee or "undercover Agent" of FBI. Seriousness of violating impersonation statutes must be impressed upon him.
 - c. His cooperation must be strictly confidential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this confidence, he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in mind of potential informant that his relationship must remain on confidential basis and if he violates confidence he will be of no value and by so doing Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. If he has special problem which would require revealing his assistance to his wife or other pertinent individual, this should be ascertained and appropriate recommendation made to Bureau.
 - d. If potential informant is connected in any manner with labor union, inform him that Bureau is not interested in employer-employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining information on infiltration of unions by subversive elements.
 - e. If potential informant is student, teacher, or has any similar relations with school, college, or university, in initial interview and subsequent handling, follow current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
3. Do not interview female potential informants in their homes or apartments unless necessary and any such interviews should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of superior in field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups, and there will be no embarrassment to Bureau.
4. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on circumstances, contact potential informants personally at least once every two weeks.

5. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every six months. Submit letters (FD-401) concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization on UACB basis; include summary of information furnished during past six months and certifications regarding stability and indoctrination against disclosure. Follow form indicated under section 107L, item 3b, below, except those items concerning payments.
6. Post record of all contacts with potential informants.
7. During contacts with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
8. Informants may raise a question concerning their position if it becomes known publicly they are affiliated with subversive organization. In such case, he may be told that his cooperation is matter of record in FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making facts of his cooperation known to his employer or to responsible individuals. Before taking steps to advise anyone of potential informant's or informant's cooperation, obtain Bureau authority.
9. From first interview with potential informant through development and until discontinued, use extreme caution at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
10. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, assign permanent symbol number and advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence. Individual's background must be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by Bureau.
2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with informant or potential informant should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to potential informant or informant concerning any of Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.
4. Recording investigative activity
All investigative activity must be made matter of record in field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Agents must not have and use informants known only to individual Agents personally.

F. INDOCTRINATION, DIRECTION, AND CONTROL OF INFORMANTS

1. Caution against divulging relationship
During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging his relationship with Bureau. These instructions must be properly phrased to prevent possibility of Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.
2. Developing additional background
During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant. Be alert for data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk.
3. Indications of instability
Immediately furnish details of any indications of instability to Bureau, with recommendations as to informant's continuance and comments as to any steps being taken to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

4. Contacts by Agents

- a. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where frequency of contact is dependent on circumstances, informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for exception to this requirement.
- b. During each contact, carefully review informant's activities since previous contact and make certain informant has furnished all information which he has obtained since last contact.
- c. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows informant's attitude towards Bureau. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.
- d. Arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in minds of either Agent or informant as to methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
- e. Informants should use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants nonpublished office telephone number for emergency communication. This rule is not practical in all espionage and foreign nationality matters but should be followed where applicable.
- f. Positive information received from informant should be subject of written statement by informant or memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
- g. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
- h. Dates of negative contacts and file numbers of cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where file has more than one subject, name of subject under inquiry should be noted. Do not set forth title of case involved.
- i. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
- j. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent where necessary.

5. Checking reliability

- a. Reliability of all active informants must be constantly checked.
- b. Give consideration to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.

6. Fingerprints

- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
- b. If informant refuses, do not force issue.
- c. Forward informant's fingerprints as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258, fully executed. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.

- d. Flash notice is to be placed by field with Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
 - e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.
7. Control - statement of cooperation
- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants and double agents to obtain maximum results and prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.
 - b. Obtain signed statement set out below when feasible and practical. Where it is not practical to secure such signed statement from an informant or double agent, advise Bureau of complete details. SAC and Agent handling informant or double agent should determine appropriate time in informant's operation when statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

(Signed) _____

Witnessed: _____

- 8. Execution of party questionnaires
Informants, particularly in Communist Party, often must execute party questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant.
- 9. Informant's activity in organizations
 - a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish sources for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but in such manner as to avoid suspicion.

10. Transfer of informants to other areas
 - a. Keep alert to possibility of transferring informants to areas needing coverage through change in residence or employment.
 - b. Keep in mind overall coverage of organizations. If informant becomes prominent and may be able to expand his field of activity beyond your field division, encourage him to do so in order to provide wider coverage for Bureau's work.
11. Action by informant when uncovered
 - a. If informant is uncovered by subversive elements, instruct him to defend himself vigorously and demand proof of his informant activity.
 - b. Suspicion in many cases is directed to an informant without facts to back it up and by bluffing informant may confuse issue to point where his services may not be lost.
 - c. In some cases it may be necessary for informant to acquiesce to charges of deviation from strict discipline of organization involved, and thus cast off suspicion.
12. Requests of informant to help defend others
 - a. If requested by Communist Party, or other interested parties to assist in preparation of defense in subversive-type cases or handle assignment where such information is readily available, informant should tactfully decline.
 - b. Such requests should be reported immediately to contacting Agent and made matter of record.
 - c. If informant cannot avoid becoming involved, instruct him not to report any information pertaining to defense plans or strategy.
 - d. Promptly report any such incident to Bureau.
13. Preparation for testifying

Contacting Agent must condition informant to fact that someday knowledge he possesses may be needed as evidence in court. Psychologically prepare informant for fact that he may at future date be called upon to testify to information he has furnished on security matters. Proper indoctrination of informant is essential as Bureau must provide witnesses whenever Department initiates prosecutions in security cases.

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

1. General instructions re oral and written information
 - a. These instructions apply to security informants, potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.
 - c. They should be submitted as quickly as possible after meeting or activity.
 - d. Written statements should be submitted when possible. In espionage and foreign nationality matters written statements are usually necessary only in those instances involving possible future prosecution. (In the majority of cases diplomats or officials who are not subject to prosecution are involved.)
 - e. Carefully scrutinize each, bearing in mind that if informant is called upon to testify at a later date his statements will very likely be introduced in court.
 - f. All information furnished by informants must be promptly reviewed, recorded, indexed, evaluated, channeled, and all necessary action taken. Form FD-306 may be used in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelizing and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channeled. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies. When informant's statement contains references to large number of individuals and/or organizations, and exceeds two pages, consider channelizing to substantive case file only those portions of statement which apply to particular individual or organization. Of course, entire statement should be filed in informant's sub-file. This procedure should be employed unless logical reason dictates otherwise.

g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. Trial attorney will thus be prepared in event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.

2. Recording written and oral information

a. Written by informant

- (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
- (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
- (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at top of statement.
- (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement.
- (6) Informants should include in statements specific dates and places; purpose of meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; and specific activity or comments of individuals present.
- (7) Informant should identify statement by affixing his code name immediately under the last written line on each page. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified by informant affixing his code name or initials of his code name.
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in body of statement by his true name and use third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., or place any markings whatever thereon.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on channelizing memorandum containing applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be furnished orally by informant and recorded in memorandum form for informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with making of oral statement by informant to Agent. Leave out following items:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be recorded in memorandum for informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date at top with date informant furnished information. No other date is desired except date of meeting or activity described in body of statement.

- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by Agent as if informant were preparing them himself.
 - (5) Information, after being reduced to writing, should be read promptly by informant and acknowledged by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, such authentication is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.
 - (6) After informant authenticates statement, contacting Agent should prepare cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it. Thereafter statement should be handled as written one.
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be included in office memorandum by Agent and should not be initialed by informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
- a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants when possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such contacts. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - b. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory. More than one informant may send statements to a post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of postal employees.
 - c. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under fictitious name.
 - d. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for extended period of time.
 - e. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication.
4. Handling of lead information
- a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, tickler card should be prepared to follow informant and take other logical steps to obtain additional identifying data. Restrict tickler cards to information which would warrant investigation if identity established. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile.
5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
- a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material.
 - d. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items. See section 107K for filing instructions.

[H. SYMBOLS

1. Assigning numbers

- a. All informants should be designated by permanent symbol number of which Bureau must be advised. Once number assigned, it must not be subsequently reassigned to any other informant or source.
- b. Potential security informants and confidential sources whose identity must be protected may be assigned permanent symbol numbers if they are producing sufficient information to warrant use of such designations.
- c. Individuals to whom permanent symbols assigned are not to be advised of such symbols.
- d. Cover name should be used by informant in signing his statements and in communications between informant and field office. Advise Bureau of cover name.
- e. Prefix of symbol number consists of appropriate field office teletype abbreviation. Suffix of symbol number will consist of letter "S" for security informant; letters "PSI" for potential security informant; letters "OS" for confidential source.
- f. Although source may subsequently furnish information requiring change in designation (e.g., from security to criminal or to racial, etc.), number previously assigned will remain same; however, suffix is to be changed to appropriate letter or letters indicating this change (NY-000-S to NY-000-C or to NY-000-R).

2. Communications - use of symbols

- a. After Bureau is advised of permanent symbol, in subsequent communications true name of informant should not be set forth; use symbol number.
- b. In all communications after initial letter, Bureau and field office file numbers for informant must be set forth.
- c. In communications between offices, follow same procedure.
- d. Informants and sources entering another division
 - (1) Active informants and sources entering another division on temporary basis should be referred to in initial letter to interested office by true name and symbol number if necessary for other division to know identity. Office receiving such letter should make appropriate index cards for "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" index. Subsequent letters between interested offices may then identify individual by symbol number only.
 - (2) Individuals who leave division where they have been furnishing information and do not plan to return should be immediately discontinued, their symbol number, if any, should be cancelled, and their true name used in all administrative correspondence.
 - (3) If informant is transferred to another office and remains active, his identity must still be protected.
- e. In communications concerning potential security informant when a symbol number is not assigned, name of potential security informant and abbreviation "PSI" shall be used; e.g., "John Doe, PSI."
- f. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, caption of communication should also show character and country designation (i.e., IS - R for Russia or IS - PO for Poland, etc.). This facilitates routing at Bureau.

[I. INDEXING

True names and aliases of all informants, as well as cover name assigned, shall be indexed in general office indices as any other name. Index cards should show file number of informant, but such terms as "Informant" or "Potential Security Informant" shall not appear.

[J. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index

Are to be kept by SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice

a. Alphabetical name index

In all offices maintain card index showing true identities of all security informants, potential security informants, and security confidential sources. This is to be known as alphabetical name index. File cards in alphabetical order.

- b. Symbol number index
This index shall contain card for each individual to whom symbol number has been assigned. File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind numerical symbol index.
- c. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by official having custody of cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of activities and type of information he furnishes.
- d. Index cards
Index cards (FD-348) shall be executed for alphabetical name index and symbol number index. Execute only following items:

Symbol:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)

File No:

Name:

- e. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in informant's administrative file.
2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"
 - a. A separate index may be maintained for use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
 - b. If such index maintained, separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source included.
 - c. Cards should contain brief background data and identity of Bureau communication showing background data.
 - d. File cards alphabetically by name and/or symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.
 3. Agents' informative index
 - a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by same official as set out in item 1, above, for use of Agents on type of informant coverage in division.
 - b. File cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
 - c. Behind each geographical location, place guide card indicating type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Polish Activity, etc.
 - d. On guide card set forth symbol numbers of informants and confidential sources who can provide coverage.
 - e. Potential informants, confidential sources, panel sources, and sources of information who do not have permanent symbols should be set forth by name.
 - f. When individual can provide more than one type of information, set forth his symbol or identity on as many guide cards as applicable.
 - g. Guide cards should show above data and it is permissible to place alongside name or symbol number names of contacting Agents.
 - h. Also, symbol numbers of informants who move outside division and who still may be excellent sources regarding past activities may be set forth on guide cards.
 - i. Names or symbol numbers of individuals contained in index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on appropriate guide cards in this index.

[K. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening
 - a. When active investigation is initiated regarding potential informant or confidential source who is not subject of security-type file, open 134 file.
 - b. If individual is subject of security case and after being interviewed appears to have potential as informant, open separate 134 file to follow informant development. In espionage and foreign nationality matters, existing file may be used if this is practical.
 - c. Maintain individual files on all active informants as pending active files.
2. Monthly administrative report
Include files on potential informants and informants in tabulations and calculations of delinquencies in monthly administrative report.
3. Assignment and tickler cards
Maintain assignment and tickler cards, but do not show true name of informant on such cards.
4. Subfiles
 - a. Subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. File in this subfile original of each statement, whether personally written by informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent. Staple executed form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items on form FD-306 to original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Include excerpts from informant's statement in regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to case file in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and all copies.
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
See Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Correspondence
Correspondence in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to administrative handling of informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under substantive case caption.
8. Maintenance of files
 - a. Maintain all symbol number informant files, pending and closed, under lock and key under personal supervision of SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by SAC.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in open files section, provided there is no disclosure of informant's identity on statements.
 - c. Maintain informant files so that all information furnished by informant will be immediately available when needed.
 - d. In addition, maintain these files so identities of cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be obtained immediately by simply referring to file of informant and without extensive research.

9. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, Department expresses interest in using particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as witness. Place copies of all correspondence of this type in informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize information concerning each informant and place summary in appropriate file.
10. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) is used in security informant and potential security informant files in nature of table of contents or index to show where in file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as top document in informant file and is not to be serialized. If particular section of form is not applicable, note such thereon.
11. Bulky material submitted by informant
Where informant or source submits bulky material other than statement and same pertains to specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in investigative case file, together with copy of Form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum. File original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum in subfile of informant or source and note thereon file and serial number where bulky material is located.

L. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS

1. No gifts to informants
- a. Gifts should not be given to informants.
 - b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on businesslike basis.
 - c. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.
2. SAC authority
- a. When deemed necessary and expedient to expend money to develop individual as informant to obtain information concerning security matters which is not otherwise obtainable or to advance expense money to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments up to $400 and totaling not more than $400 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization.
 - b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
 - c. Blue slip reclaiming payments authorized by SAC must clearly and accurately explain circumstances and summarize information obtained so Bureau will be in position to pass intelligently on such matters.
 - d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to individual who has received payments totaling $400. Once individual has been paid $400 and it appears he will furnish information on regular basis, recommendation should be made to Bureau to pay him on "regular basis."
3. Payments on a regular basis - Bureau authority
- a. To pay anyone on a regular basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
 - b. In requesting this authorization, use form FD-401:
 - (1) Membership
List current membership and position held in any subversive group.
 - (2) Amount paid for services and expenses
List by the month or week. Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.
 - (3) Number of activities and persons on whom coverage is provided
List number and type of meetings attended and other activities and number of persons on whom informant furnishes coverage and their importance.

- (4) Number of statements submitted
Combine total number of oral and written statements submitted and show only total number.
 - (5) Stability and reliability
Check positive box if informant is considered stable and reliable. If not or if there are any personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or any other similar problems presented by informant, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (6) Indoctrination against disclosure
If informant has been indoctrinated against disclosure, check positive box.
 - (7) Percentage of information verified
Show percentage of information furnished by informant which has been verified through other sources.
 - (8) All necessary action taken on information furnished
If all action has been taken, check positive box. If not, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (9) Summary of information furnished
This summary should be concise, highlighting more pertinent information furnished by informant. Do not attempt to summarize all information furnished by informant.
 - (10) Miscellaneous
Furnish any change in informant's residence and employment, steps being taken to advance informant, and any other pertinent information which should be brought to Bureau's attention. Include statement that source has been advised that all payments of money made to him for services rendered must be declared as income on his tax return and has agreed to do so.
- c. When payment to informant has been authorized for definite period of time, advise Bureau at least two weeks in advance of expiration of period as to whether services of informant are to be continued.
 - d. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow instructions set forth in item 3b, above.
 - e. Submit letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant in duplicate except that copy should consist only of first page of letter. When payments are approved, single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at Bureau and returned. If recommendation is not approved, field will be advised by separate communication.
 - f. When payments are authorized by Bureau, it is personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure that full value is being received.
 - g. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears information being produced by informant is not commensurate with payments made to him, immediately discontinue payments or adjust accordingly and promptly advise Bureau.
 - h. If any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.
4. Six-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, FD-401 must be transmitted to Bureau every six months after date of designation containing same information set out in item 3b, above, except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases, comment is necessary regarding only applicable items.
 5. Receipts
When payments are made either on SAC authority or prior Bureau approval, obtain receipts in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If receipt cannot be obtained for particular payment, set forth complete circumstances on blue slip at time reimbursement is claimed.

- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce receipts in evidence, they will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on receipts, they must be initialed by informant and not by Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to Bureau, staple them directly to blue slip, leaving margin of one to one and one-half inches at top to avoid contact with Acco fastener punch. Place staples so that date or other data appearing on receipt will not be mutilated and all information on receipt can be easily read without detaching it from blue slip.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Advise informants who receive compensation for their services to Bureau that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If informant is self-employed and files schedule C as self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with Bureau.
 - d. If informant cannot report payments received from Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as informant, such payments will be subject to 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning procedure to be followed in handling and control of money withheld.
 - e. When informant or former informant is initially considered as potential witness in Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on income he received from Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling situation.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, Bureau must furnish Department set of photostats of original receipts signed by prospective witnesses. Original receipts and set of photostats will be transmitted to field office in whose territory trial will take place. Office handling prosecution must determine from Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to Bureau following information:

14. Make every effort to prevent discontinued informant from becoming involved in situations which may prove embarrassing to informant or Government. Immediately after he testifies for first time, SAC should have serious talk with informant in presence of Agent who handled informant. This interview should be conducted in field office and informant told that:
- He will no longer be operated by Bureau
 - Since he is public figure, he will probably be contacted by representatives of press, radio, and television for interviews and appearances
 - He may be sought as witness by congressional committees, Immigration and Naturalization Service, and state authorities
 - In connection with such interviews and appearances, informant must continue to be factual and truthful and must not build up or embellish statements, for if he does so he will wind up in serious trouble

Advise Bureau results of such interview and comment on its possible effectiveness.

Be alert to possibilities of former informant being contacted by representatives of publicity media and as witness by congressional committees, INS, and state authorities. SAC is responsible for knowing when former informant is scheduled or is likely to appear at hearing or make public appearance of any kind. Prior thereto in each instance, former informant must be contacted and instructions above reiterated by Agent who handled informant. Emphasize to former informant that he must stick to truth and make certain he can back up what he says, and if there is any deviation he will be subjected to criticism, possible libel, slander, or other criminal actions. If he inquires as to whether he should appear or testify or otherwise cooperate with any public or private individual or agency, advise him he must make that decision himself, but if he has appeared as Government witness in case which has not been finally adjudicated and decides in affirmative, he should contact USA for instructions. Advise Bureau of any such situations and results of any interviews conducted.

15. When contacting Agent feels discontinued informant could cause embarrassment to Bureau, make arrangements to have former informant come to field office where he will be personally met by SAC. At that time, he should be impressed with fact that his services were appreciated and were of considerable assistance to security of country and remind him that he signed agreement when he was active as informant to maintain his relation with Bureau on confidential basis. SAC should stress necessity for informant to maintain this confidence.

P. FURNISHING INFORMANTS TO IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS)

- INS, in order to enforce its responsibilities, must obtain evidence to prove that certain aliens, due to their membership in certain groups, are undesirable and deportable or subject to denaturalization.
- Cooperate fully with INS in these cases and make efforts consistent with your own interests to make available information and witnesses where possible.
- If contacted by INS inquiring for informants and you have discontinued informant or one who would be of assistance to INS and whose loss would not affect your work, furnish his identity to Bureau, together with your recommendation.
- Bureau will review facts and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
- Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain his permission.

0. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When services of informant are discontinued, mark name card "cancelled." Destroy symbol card. Never destroy name card.
2. Refile name card in numerical order by symbol number in symbol number index. If discontinued informant, potential informant, or confidential source to whom symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove name card from symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in name card section of index.
3. When potential informant or confidential source is discontinued and permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy alphabetical index card.
4. Advise Bureau of date when potential informant or informant is discontinued and reason therefor. Advise Bureau as to whether or not informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. Identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which informant has furnished information must be ascertained and Bureau advised in compliance with section 19, volume II, of this manual.
5. Review informant's file to determine if correspondence between Bureau and field relating to Department's interest in using informant as witness is contained therein. In those cases in which Department has indicated desire to consider informant when he becomes available, advise Bureau in each such substantive case, except when it is obvious statute of limitations has run or case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When above action is completed, advise Bureau.
6. Statement shall also be made to effect that measures to control informants, set out in item 7, below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears such are warranted.
7. When services of informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that informant will look to Bureau for counsel prior to taking any action against Bureau's best interests. Determine whether he has plans for writing book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, impress him with desirability of coming to Bureau for assistance and guidance. If informant insists on engaging in such activities, Bureau will consider placing him in contact with reliable publisher, but it must be made clear to informant that Bureau will not sponsor or endorse any book or publication which he elects to write.
8. All payments to discontinued informants and confidential sources must be made on strict c.o.d. basis. Obtain Bureau authority before making such payments. Submit complete details as to information furnished by discontinued informant or source in past and what is to be expected of informant or source in future.
9. Once informant is exposed in any manner whatsoever, do not carry him as a concealed source in reports or memoranda. His true name is to be set forth, together with descriptive data.
10. When office receives information concerning, or obtains information from, an ex-informant, copies of memoranda prepared must be furnished to office which originally handled informant so that file will be as complete as possible.
11. When informant has been discontinued for cause, such as unreliability, do not contact him in future for information. If he furnishes information it should be accepted, but in setting out information in reports or communications use individual's true name, together with appropriate description of his reliability.
12. Remove flash notice.
13. Avoid repeated use of discontinued informant as witness at security trials and hearings. Make all-out effort to develop witnesses who can furnish same testimony. Advise Bureau of any indication by Government attorneys that informant-witness who has previously testified will be called upon for testimony at subsequent trial or hearing and furnish comments concerning possibility of supplanting testimony of individual involved. Submit under appropriate case character.

- (1) Correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) First date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) Tabulation of all payments, broken down as to services and expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
 - (6) Listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) Date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with particular individual, Bureau must be so advised.
 - c. Where informant has previously been used and tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from date of last trial in which individual was used.
 - d. Above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to attention of Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to Bureau with copies designated for interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs and become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as prerequisite for unemployment compensation and informants and/or sources who are being paid by Bureau fail to comply, situation is potentially embarrassing. Bureau cannot be placed in position of condoning violation of state law on part of any informant or source. Field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
 - b. When paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit recommendations to Bureau on UACB basis. At same time, weigh seriously possible need for informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of identity, discontinue Bureau payments during period of unemployment compensation benefits.
- M. ANNUAL LETTER
- 1. Submit annual letter to Bureau including following:
 - a. Symbol numbers of all informants and confidential sources being paid under Bureau authority (not SAC authority) for services or expenses. If confidential source has no symbol number, list name.
 - b. Symbol numbers of all informants not paid under Bureau authority
 - c. Comment concerning present informant coverage of office, together with information concerning actions being taken to improve coverage
 - d. List under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit show approximate membership and symbol numbers and positions of informants affording coverage. Where no informant coverage exists or is provided by sources who are not members, so indicate.

Include any additional pertinent information that may be helpful in overall evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally used and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

N. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Make every effort to guide informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
3. Bureau will consider as last resort advising another agency of informant's relationship with Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to minimum in view of obvious dangers to informant.
4. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau advised as promptly as possible, together with appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
5. In no instance should you permit informant to sign loyalty oath in negative.

- Bureau will review facts and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
- Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain his permission.

[Q. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that informant or ex-informant furnished false information while informant, promptly advise Bureau of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with review of all data furnished by individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of Manual of Rules and Regulations. Corrective action should be called to attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.
8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of information to follow instructions set forth above.
9. Set up control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to Bureau final letter under informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken.
10. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
11. All information from informant must be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
12. Occasionally, ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to time he was informant. It is not necessary to go back and change evaluation of information attributed to that individual in absence of definite indication that informant furnished unreliable information while he was informant.
13. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, Manual of Rules and Regulations.

[R. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. Symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning symbol number, and brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. Abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS." Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating country involved; e.g., IS - R.
 - d. When permanent symbol has been assigned to confidential source, abbreviation "CS" is to appear before symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from series of numbers used for security, racial, and criminal informants.

3. Index

- a. Prepare index cards on form FD-348 and file as adjunct to criminal informant, racial informant, or security informant index, depending on type information furnished.
- b. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with criminal informant, racial informant, and security informant index where logical.

4. Files

When active investigation is initiated relative to prospective confidential source, open 134 file (or 137 for criminal sources) and maintain as pending until efforts to develop individual are discontinued.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used in security investigations, secure Bureau approval, and furnish background data of same type required for potential security informants.
- b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances, contact confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained at least once every two weeks. Such contacts may be posted.
- c. Contacts should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
- d. Letter to Bureau requesting authority to use subject as confidential source is to set out clearly:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, credit and arrest record, and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of expected cooperation of individual and results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) Statement to effect subject is being considered confidential source and will be advised he is not Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. In addition, statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
 - (4) One copy of letter requesting authority should consist only of first page. If request is approved at Bureau, stamped notation to this effect will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field.

6. Security confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments. See subsection L, item 3b, above.
- b. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization or if he is not employee of foreign diplomatic establishment or an international organization and is being used regularly, Agent handling must dictate memorandum to SAC for file containing same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
- c. If source is employed by foreign diplomatic establishments (embassy, consulate, United Nations Mission, etc.) or by international organization (United Nations Secretariat, Organization of American States, International Monetary Fund, etc.), submit FD-401 to Bureau every six months.

7. Gifts

Gifts should not be given to sources.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau of date when source is discontinued and reasons.

S. PANEL SOURCES

1. Definition

See page 3 of this section.

2. Background investigation and approval

- a. Check prospective panel source through office indices, canvass logical informants, review appropriate credit, arrest, and military records.

- b. If no pertinent derogatory information is developed, initial contact may be made with prospective panel source to ascertain cooperativeness; however, in regard to individuals associated with educational institutions, be guided by current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
- c. Submit letter to Bureau requesting authority to use individual as a panel source and set out:
 - (1) Results of background investigation and data as to date and place of birth, citizenship status if foreign born, residence and employment addresses
 - (2) Details of expected area of activity of individual as panel source and results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) Statement to effect subject is being considered panel source and will be advised he is not Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. Also, statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant and, if connected with labor union or educational institution, he will be advised of Bureau policy on such matters.
 - (4) One copy of letter should consist only of first page. If approved at Bureau, stamped notation indicating Bureau approval will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field.

3. Administrative handling

- a. Follow same procedure in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panel sources as afforded security informants.
- b. Handle payments for legitimate expenses incurred and services rendered in same manner as security informants. Gifts should not be given to panel sources.
- c. Open 134 file when active investigation of prospective panel source initiated. Close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly. Note contacts with panelists in their respective files.
- d. Only Agents designated in particular case should contact panelists.
- e. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. If source not paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing certification as to stability and reliability.
- f. Symbol number may be assigned if unusual security problem exists or if typing would be saved. Use abbreviation "PS" before symbol number; e.g., PS NY-000-S.
- g. Designate, where practicable, coordinating Agent to maintain current roster of panel sources and scheduled organization activities, who will notify Agents handling individual panelists of organizational functions to be covered. Coordinating Agent should receive notice of coming events from Agents handling organizations, informants, and publications.
- h. Advise Bureau of date panel source is discontinued and reasons.

F. DOUBLE AGENT OPERATIONS

- 1. Passage of information
 - a. In double agent operations information requested by principals is frequently passed either to build up double agent's stature or as evidence of espionage activity.
 - b. Each case must be carefully evaluated to make certain that net gain accrues to U. S.
 - c. Information passed should be carefully handled and logical explanations created for its acquisition by double agent.
- 2. Locating information to pass

Where possible field office handling double agent should locate appropriate information; however, Bureau can assist in fulfilling requests for information in possession of other Government agencies.
- 3. Obtaining Bureau authority

Bureau authority must be obtained to pass any information in double agent operation except:

 - a. Newspaper or magazine article

- b. Pamphlets, brochures, etc., prepared by private company for distribution or sale to public. (This does not include highly technical pamphlets, even if unclassified, which are prepared for limited use and not intended for release to public.)
- 4. Retention of copies of passed material
 - a. True copies should be retained by office of origin of any documents or material related to national defense which is passed.
 - b. Such material should be appropriately identified by double agent. Bureau Agents should not place identifying data on such material but should preserve any notes made by them in connection with its passage.
 - c. Similar action should be taken regarding material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to national defense.
 - d. It is not necessary to retain copies of buildup material obviously not evidentiary in nature where copies can be obtained at later date from Government agency or private concern having custody.
- 5. Handling money and property received by double agents
 - a. Double agents must turn over to Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to double agent at inception of operation (consider obtaining signed statement to this effect). Exceptions must be specifically approved by Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by double agent from his principal represents possible evidence and double agent should execute statement describing money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. Statement should be signed by double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in event testimony is later necessary.

U. UTILIZATION OF INFORMANTS AND SOURCES AT INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

- 1. Use of students
 - a. Students under age of 21 years are not to be developed as security informants or other types of security sources in other than highly unusual circumstances. Under such circumstances, furnish complete justification to Bureau.
 - b. Upon initial contact with prospective student informant or source, individual should be tactfully requested to execute a brief signed written statement for field file setting forth that this individual has voluntarily come forward to furnish information to FBI because of his concern over individuals or groups that may be inimical to interests of U. S. Government and that he understands FBI has no interest in legitimate institution or campus activities.
- 2. Quarterly letters
 - a. On January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1, submit quarterly letters on each student and teacher authorized by Bureau for contact as security informant, potential security informant, or other sources (including panel sources). Include following:
 - (1) Specific productivity
 - (2) Specific information furnished not otherwise available from public source material or other office sources off campus
 - (3) Frequency of contact
 - b. Quarterly letters on all racial and security informants or sources should be jointly transmitted to Bureau by cover letter captioned "Utilization of Informants and Sources at Institutions of Learning." Include following in cover letter:
 - (1) Number of informants, potential informants, and other sources active and under development at each educational institution affected
 - (2) An overall analysis of coverage afforded by campus informants and sources

[3. Responsibility for well-planned coverage

[Each office must have continuous and well-planned program to obtain [necessary coverage at institutions of learning so that Bureau can fulfill [its obligations. Care with which this must be done in no way lessens [responsibility of each field office to have proper coverage.

[V. CLASSIFICATION - 134

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security or intelligence matters exclusively for Bureau and whose identity must be protected. Such person should be a member or attend meetings of a subversive organization, such as the Communist Party; or be in such a position relative to a subversive organization, or espionage activities or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal, that he is able to obtain and does provide current information of value; [or furnish pertinent foreign intelligence data of value on a regular basis.]
2. Potential security informant
Individual in a position to become active in a subversive organization or espionage or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal or can become closely associated therewith, [or is in a position to secure pertinent foreign intelligence data,] and is making affirmative effort through associations or contacts so that he can be in a position actively to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
A specialized type of security informant; a person who is cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both a foreign intelligence service and the Bureau under the Bureau's guidance.
4. Confidential source
An individual who on a confidential basis furnishes information available to him through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort on behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to the internal security. Experience has shown that potential informants may be obtained through alertness in the course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for the most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. With assistance in obtaining potential informants, the following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants in security matters
 - b. Persons interviewed in connection with security cases
 - c. Subjects of security investigations looking for indications of disaffection, disgruntlement, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - d. Bureau applicants as possible informants
 - e. Personal friends and contacts of Special Agents and other Bureau employees
 - f. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts on continuous basis
2. Review of closed security files on individuals
3. Review of reserve index
4. Ascertain possibilities of reactivating former confidential informants.
5. Deleted
6. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
7. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on the part of Communist Party members. They, of course, should not be informed as to the purpose of the inquiry.
8. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings of a front. Such individuals frequently are innocent of communist propensities, yet they have a basis for cultivating the acquaintance of party members.

These individuals make no concerted effort in behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.
- [5. Panel source
[An individual who is not involved in a subversive group but who will attend
[his public gatherings in behalf of the FBI for intelligence purposes or
[as a potential witness]

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

Information should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to the internal security. Experience has shown that potential informants may be obtained through alertness in the course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for the most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, the following is suggested:

1. Examination of
 - a. Complainants in security matters
 - b. Persons interviewed in connection with security cases
 - c. Subjects of security investigations looking for indications of disaffection, disgruntlement, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - d. Bureau applicants as possible informants
 - e. Personal friends and contacts of Special Agents and other Bureau employees
 - f. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts on continuous basis
2. Review of closed security files on individuals
3. Review of reserve index
4. Ascertain possibilities of reactivating former confidential informants.
5. Deleted
6. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
7. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on the part of Communist Party members. They, of course, should not be informed as to the purpose of the inquiry.
8. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings of a front. Such individuals frequently are innocent of communist propensities, yet they have a basis for cultivating the acquaintance of party members.

9. Investigation of Communist petition signers who are acquainted with Communist Party functionaries
10. Be alert to receive any suggestions of plant executives and highly placed persons who are reliable and friendly to the Bureau concerning members of subversive organizations who might cooperate with the Bureau or employees who might be willing to infiltrate a subversive organization. In the past such contacts have on occasion resulted in the plant's making available the services of an employee who already is an informant of the management.
11. Personnel directors in plants frequently are able to advise of members of communist-dominated unions who retain their membership merely to hold their positions.
12. With regard to both 10 and 11 above, if possible, the official should suggest to the potential informant that he contact the Bureau rather than have an Agent originate the contact.
13. After the Bureau has notified the armed forces of a communist in an industrial plant having armed forces contracts, the communist frequently recants when he is informed of the charges and is facing the possibility of dismissal or transfer to a nonrestricted position in the same plant. At such a time, officers friendly to the Bureau sometimes suggest that the person advise the Bureau of his past activities. Be alert to take advantage of such cooperation when offered.
14. Review of Communist Party registration records to ascertain what individuals merely registered but never became active
15. Use of a reliable third party to make the contact with a possible informant when direct contact by Agent is inadvisable. Request Bureau to furnish the services of an individual who is available for such a contact.
16. Officials and employees of foreign establishments in the U. S.
17. Employees of the United Nations Secretariat
18. Contacts (business, social, or otherwise) of foreign officials stationed in U. S.
19. Individuals who because of background, employment, or social status are in a position of intelligence interest to a foreign principal and who will undertake intelligence assignments under the guidance of the Bureau. (See deseco program, section 105K, 6h, volume IV, of this manual.)

INTERVIEWS WITH AND DEVELOPMENT OF BACKGROUND ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When a decision is made to consider a particular individual for informant purposes, background investigation must be conducted. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted, however, until the individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist the Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever the restrictions imposed in section 87D, item 6b, (7), volume III, and section 105K, item 6b, (9), volume IV, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should consist of the following:

1. Check of field office files for derogatory information
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants to ascertain if the individual is known to them
3. Inquiries of discreet nature to obtain information concerning the individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Background investigation must definitely establish that the individual can be utilized without any danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from the individual is not sufficient; his background must be established by the investigation, including discreet inquiries among persons who are personally acquainted with him.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Obtain necessary data for the completion of an [FD-165] form which should be transmitted to the Identification Division to obtain any record he may have [and to place a stop against his fingerprints if they are on file.]
5. Armed services record should be reviewed if the individual is a veteran.
6. Check draft status or status in the armed forces reserve.
7. Domestic status and if any marital difficulties all details should be obtained.

8. Persons being considered for use in espionage and foreign nationality cases many times present special problems which limit or govern the scope of the initial investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and desec program, section 105K, 6b and 6h, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical the above items should be considered.
9. Leads to obtain background data must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days.
10. Investigation as outlined above must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, or designate an individual as a potential security informant.

D. APPROVAL, INDOCTRINATION, DEVELOPMENT, AND CONTROL OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

1. When background information obtained as described under subsection C, transmit results to Bureau in the same numerical sequence as set out in subsection C, and request authority to designate individual as a Bureau-approved potential security informant and to proceed with his development. Do not submit on a UACB basis. Include a physical description.
- [2.] After designation as a Bureau-approved potential security informant, the following matters should be made clear to him:
 - a. His assistance is strictly voluntary and he is to understand that there is no coercion or intimidation involved.
 - b. He is not and cannot consider himself a Bureau employee or "undercover Agent" of the FBI. In this regard, the seriousness of violating the impersonation statutes must be impressed upon him.
 - c. His cooperation must be strictly confidential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this confidence, he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in the mind of the informant that his relationship must remain on a confidential basis and if he violates the confidence he will be of no value and by so doing the Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. If he has a special problem which would require revealing his assistance to his wife or other pertinent individual, this should be ascertained and an appropriate recommendation made to the Bureau. The special circumstances will be taken into consideration by the Bureau and you will be advised accordingly.
 - d. If the potential informant is connected in any manner with a labor union, inform him that the Bureau is not interested in employer-employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining information on the infiltration of labor unions by subversive elements.
 - e. If the potential informant is a student, teacher, or has similar relations with a school, college, or university, in the initial interview and subsequent handling, be sure to follow current instructions concerning investigations on the campuses of colleges and universities.
- [3.] Do not interview female potentials in their own homes or apartments unless necessary and all such interviews in their residences should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of the superior in the field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that the potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups, and there will be no embarrassment to the Bureau.
- [4.] Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on the circumstances of the case, potential informants should be contacted personally at least once every two weeks in the same manner as informants.
- [5.] Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every[six]months. Letters concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization should be submitted on a UACB basis, should contain informative summary of information furnished during past[six]months, and must include certifications regarding potential informant's stability and reliability and his indoctrination against disclosure. These letters should follow the form indicated under section 107N, 3b, but should omit item (5) concerning payments and reword item (1) to omit reference to any payment recommendation.

- [[6.] Post records of contacts with potential informants so that the cases will not become delinquent.
- [[7.] During contacts with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have the necessary capabilities discontinue efforts.
- [[8.] During initial stages of development and on occasion active informants may raise a personal question concerning their own position if it becomes known publicly that they are affiliated with a subversive organization. In the event a potential informant or informant inquires as to what can be done for him in such a case, he may be told that his cooperation is a matter of record in the FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making the facts of his cooperation with the FBI known to his employer or to the responsible individuals. It should be pointed out that this action may make it impossible for him to continue on behalf of the FBI and the service which he is performing for his country may be terminated. Before taking steps to advise anyone of a potential informant's or informant's cooperation, prior Bureau authority must be obtained.
- [[9.] From the first interview with a potential informant through his development and until he is discontinued, extreme caution should be used at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
- [[10.] When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, assign permanent symbol number and advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence; individual's background must also be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as a witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by the Bureau.
2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with an informant or potential informant should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to a potential informant or an informant concerning any of the Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.

- h. Any arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in the minds of either the Agent or informant as to the methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
 - i. Informants should be instructed to use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants the [nonpublished] office telephone number for emergency communication. This rule is not practical in all espionage and foreign nationality matters but should be followed where applicable.
 - j. Positive information received from informant should be the subject of a written statement by informant or a memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in the informant's subfile and appropriately channeled.
 - k. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
 - l. The dates of negative contacts and file numbers of the cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where a file has more than one subject, the name of the subject under inquiry should also be noted. Do not set forth title of the case involved on the form.
 - m. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
 - n. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and former should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent in absence of Agent to whom informant is assigned.
5. Checking reliability
- a. Reliability of informants must be constantly checked.
 - b. Consideration should be given to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.
 - c. Checks on reliability must be constantly reviewed during time informant is active.
6. Fingerprints
- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to the contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
 - b. If informant refuses, do not force the issue.
 - c. Informant's fingerprints, when obtained, should be forwarded as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258. This card should be properly executed showing subject's complete description, including date and place of birth. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.
 - d. A flash notice is to be placed by the field in the files of the Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
 - e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year following discontinuance. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.
7. Control - statement of cooperation
- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants and double agents in order to obtain maximum results in security cases and to prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

1. General instructions re oral and written information
 - a. Instructions regarding preparation, submission, and handling of information received from informants apply not only to security informants but also to potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions and guidance must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.
 - c. They should be submitted as quickly as possible after a meeting or activity.
 - d. Written statements should be submitted whenever possible, but if such cannot be done information may be provided orally. In espionage and foreign nationality matters written statements are usually necessary only in those instances involving possible future prosecution. (In the majority of cases diplomats or officials who are not subject to prosecution are involved.)
 - e. Carefully scrutinize each, bearing in mind that if informant is called upon to testify at a later date his statements will very likely be introduced in court.
 - f. All information furnished by informants orally or in writing must be promptly reviewed, recorded, indexed, evaluated, channelized, and all necessary action taken. Form FD-306 may be used in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for [channelization] and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies.
 - g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise the trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. The trial attorney will then be prepared in the event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.
 - h. See subsection H for instructions regarding filing informant statements.
2. Recording written and oral information
 - a. Written by informant
 - (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
 - (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep notes or copies.
 - (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
 - (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at the top of it.
 - (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or each separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement whether the information is of evidentiary or intelligence value.

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

1. General instructions re oral and written information
 - a. Instructions regarding preparation, submission, and handling of information received from informants apply not only to security informants but also to potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions and guidance must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.

If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies. [In those instances in which informant's statement contains references to a large number of individuals and/or organizations, and statement exceeds two pages in length, consideration should be given to channelizing to a substantive case file only those portions of statement which apply to particular individual or organization. Of course, entire informant's statement should be filed in informant's subfile. This procedure should save filing space, time of reviewing files, and should be employed unless a logical reason dictates otherwise.]
 - g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. Trial attorney will thus be prepared in event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.
 - h. See subsection M for instructions regarding filing informant statements.
2. Recording written and oral information
 - a. Written by informant
 - (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
 - (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
 - (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
 - (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at the top of it.
 - (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or each separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement whether the information is of evidentiary or intelligence value.

4. Subfiles
 - a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in the subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda, see Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Dissemination of information
Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.
8. Disclosure
Disclosure submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.
9. Maintenance of files
 - a. All symbol number informant files, [pending and closed,] shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, [or responsible employee designated by the SAC.]
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
 - c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
 - d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.
10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.
11. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top

4. Subfiles

- a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign disloyalty matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
- b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.

5. Channelization

Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies.

6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of

For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda, see Manual of Rules and Regulations.

7. Dissemination of information

Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.

8. Correspondence

Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.

9. Maintenance of files

- a. All symbol number informant files, pending and closed, shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by the SAC.
- b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
- c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
- d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.

10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re

From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.

11. Form FD-238

Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

12. Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
- b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
- c. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

- a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to [$400] and totaling not more than [$400] on a c.o.d. basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- b. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- c. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling [$400.]

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown. (In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)
 - (1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:
 "I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____ (amount) per ____ (month, week) for services, plus up to $____ (amount) per ____ (month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____ months, effective ____ (date).")

document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

12. Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

[For instructions regarding payments under SAC authority, refer to section 130G, item 1, of this manual since comparable instructions apply to security informants and sources as those set forth for racial informants and sources.]

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting [authorization for payments, a justification must be furnished Bureau. For this purpose, use form FD-401 and execute in accordance with instructions for racial informants and sources contained in section 130G, item 2b, of this manual. Justification for payments, of course, is based on activity of informant, potential informant, or source in matters having primarily a security rather than racial interest. In espionage and foreign nationality matters use subheadings, where applicable.]

document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

12. Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

For instructions regarding payments under SAC authority, refer to section [130H,] item 1, of this manual since comparable instructions apply to security informants and sources as those set forth for racial informants and sources.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting authorization for payments, a justification must be furnished Bureau. For this purpose, use form FD-401 and execute in accordance with instructions for racial informants and sources contained in section [130H,] item 2b, of this manual. Justification for payments, of course, is based on activity of informant, potential informant, or source in matters having primarily a security rather than racial interest. In espionage and foreign nationality matters use subheadings, where applicable.

- (2) Residence and employment (If no change since last justification letter, merely state "no change.")
- (3) Current membership and position held in subversive organizations
- (4) Summary of information furnished and/or services rendered during pertinent period. [Information and/or services available only from the informant must be specifically identified. (If there is none, a statement to that effect should be set out.)]
- (5) Amount paid for services and expenses by month (Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.)
- (6) Type and number of meetings attended and other activity
- (7) Number of written and oral statements submitted (List separately.)
- (8) Information furnished of unusual value
- (9) Approximate number of persons on whom informant furnished coverage and their importance
- (10) Steps being taken to advance informant
- (11) Stability and reliability (Set forth personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or other similar problems presented by informant, and steps being taken to prevent any such situations from later becoming source of embarrassment to the Bureau.)
- (12) Indoctrination against disclosure (State whether every opportunity has been taken to properly indoctrinate informant against making any disclosure of his relationship with Bureau through any media.)
- (13) All necessary action taken on information furnished
- (14) Miscellaneous (Any other matters concerning informant's operation which should be brought to Bureau's attention)

(Where applicable, substitute potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information for the word "informant.")

- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a definite period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
- d. Every[six]months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow form in subsection 3b.
- e. Letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. If the recommendation is not approved, correspondence will be prepared and transmitted to the field.
- f. In order for this system to function properly, payment letters must be explicit.
- g. When payments are authorized by the Bureau, it is the personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure himself that full value is being received.
- h. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
- i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a definite period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
- d. Every six months a letter of justification[(FD-401)]should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow[instructions set forth in section 130G, item 2b, of this manual.]
- e. Letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. - i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

4. [Six-month] evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every [six] months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.
5. Receipts
When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If a receipt cannot be obtained for a particular payment, complete circumstances should be set forth on the blue slip at the time reimbursement is claimed.
- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on the receipts, such corrections must be initialed by the informant and not by the Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on the Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If the informant is self-employed and files a schedule C as a self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with the Bureau.
 - d. Effective 1-1-65, in those instances in which the informant cannot report payments received from the Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as an informant, such payments will be subject to a 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from the Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning the procedure to be followed in the handling and control of money withheld.

4. Six-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication (FD-401) must be transmitted to the Bureau every six months after the date of designation containing the same information set out in section 130G, item 2b, of this manual except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB.  - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on the receipts, such corrections must be initialed by the informant and not by the Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on the Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If the informant is self-employed and files a schedule C as a self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with the Bureau.
 - d. Effective 1-1-65, in those instances in which the informant cannot report payments received from the Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as an informant, such payments will be subject to a 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from the Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning the procedure to be followed in the handling and control of money withheld.

- b. Whenever a security informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit observations and recommendations to Bureau. Unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau, follow recommended action. Each office must assume the responsibility of guarding against informant's acceptance of a Bureau payment that would conflict with unemployment compensation laws. At the same time, weigh seriously the possible need for an informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of the pertinent subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where a state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of their identity, then Bureau payments should be discontinued during the period they receive unemployment compensation benefits.
9. Handling money and property received by double agents
- a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with the double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifically approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal represents possible future evidence and the double agent should execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. This statement should be signed by the double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.

[O. [ANNUAL] LETTER

[[Annual] letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid under Bureau authority (not SAC authority) for services or expenses. If the confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol numbers of all security informants not paid under Bureau authority.
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the [annual] letter, list under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage; should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage is provided by informants or sources who are not members, such factors should be shown relative to each unit.

[[Annual] letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in overall evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

P. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Every effort should be made to guide security informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep the contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form.
3. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
4. The Bureau will consider as a last resort advising another agency of the informant's relationship with the Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning the informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to a minimum in view of the obvious dangers to the informant.
5. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau is to be advised as promptly as possible, together with an appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
6. In no instance should you permit an informant to sign a loyalty oath in the negative.

Q. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When the services of an informant are discontinued, mark the name card "cancelled." Destroy the symbol card. Never destroy the name card.
2. Refile the name card in numerical order by symbol number in the symbol number index. If a discontinued informant or a discontinued potential security informant or confidential source to whom a symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove his name card from the symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note thereon type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in the name card section of the index.
3. When a potential security informant or confidential source is discontinued and a permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy the alphabetical index card.
4. Advise the Bureau of the date when a potential informant or informant is discontinued and the reason therefor.
5. Advise the Bureau as to whether or not the informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. The identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which the informant has furnished information must be ascertained and the Bureau advised in compliance with section [19,] volume [II,] of this manual.
6. Review the informant's file to determine if any copies or summaries of correspondence between the Bureau and the field relating to the Department's interest in using the informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness are contained therein. In those cases in which it is evident the Department has indicated a desire to consider the informant further when he becomes available, advise the Bureau in each such substantive case, except in those cases in which it is obvious the statute of limitations has run or the case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When all above action is completed, advise the Bureau.
7. A statement shall also be made to the effect that the measures to control informants, set out in 8 below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears that such are warranted.
8. When the services of an informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that the informant will look to the Bureau for advice and counsel prior to taking any action which would be against the Bureau's best interests. When an informant is discontinued, determine whether he has plans for writing a book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in

Each office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.

- set up a control file regarding this active action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a summary letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, known, and date of communication.
10. The letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.
 11. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from the informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
 12. It is imperative that all information from the informant be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
 13. Occasionally, an informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to the time he was an informant. It is not necessary to go back and change the evaluation of the information attributed to that individual in the absence of a definite indication that the informant furnished unreliable information to the Bureau while he was an informant.
 14. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

[T.] CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning a symbol number, and a brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. The abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential sources: e.g., "Richard Roe, CS." Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating the country involved; e.g., IS - R for Russia.
 - d. When a permanent symbol has been assigned to a confidential source, the abbreviation "CS" is to appear before the symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from the series of numbers used for your security, racial, and criminal informants.
3. Index
 - a. Index cards on form FD-348 like those prepared for informants must be made up and filed as an adjunct to the criminal informant index, racial informant index, or the security informant index, depending on the type of information furnished.
 - b. The symbol index is handled similarly to the symbol index on informants.
 - c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index, racial informant index, and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in these types of investigations.
4. Files
When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the individual are discontinued. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

5. Utilization:

- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security informants.
- b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which the frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances of the individual case, confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained should also be contacted at least once every two weeks in the same manner as security informants.
- c. Records of contacts with confidential sources who have pending files may be posted.
- d. Contacts with confidential sources should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
- e. The letter to the Bureau requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source is to set out clearly the following information:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, credit and arrest record, and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of the expected cooperation of captioned individual as a confidential source, together with the results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) A statement to the effect subject is being considered a confidential source and that he will be advised he is not a Bureau employee and of the confidential nature of his relationship with the Bureau. In addition, a statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with a labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
- f. One of the required copies of the letter requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source should consist only of the first page of the letter. If the request is approved at the Bureau, a stamped notation will be placed on the single-page copy and it will be returned to the field indicating that authority is granted to consider subject as a confidential source. Letters requesting such authority are not to be transmitted to the Bureau until subject is sufficiently cooperative and all necessary background information obtained.

6. Security confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security confidential sources. See 107N, [item]3b, for form of letter.
- b. If the security source is not being paid on Bureau authorization [or if he is not an employee of a foreign diplomatic establishment or an international organization] and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
- [c. If the security confidential source is employed by a foreign diplomatic establishment (embassy, consulate, United Nations Mission, etc.) or by an international organization (United Nations Secretariat, Organization of American States, International Monetary Fund, etc.), a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau every four months. See 107N, [item]3b, for form of letter.]

7. Gifts

Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau of the date when confidential source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security informants.
- b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which the frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances of the individual case, confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained should also be contacted at least once every two weeks in the same manner as security informants.

Letters requesting such authority are not to be transmitted to the Bureau until subject is sufficiently cooperative and all necessary background information obtained.

6. Security confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every[six]months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security confidential sources. See 107N, item 3b, for form of letter.
- b. If the security source is not being paid on Bureau authorization or if he is not an employee of a foreign diplomatic establishment or an international organization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
- c. If the security confidential source is employed by a foreign diplomatic establishment (embassy, consulate, United Nations Mission, etc.) or by an international organization (United Nations Secretariat, Organization of American States, International Monetary Fund, etc.), a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau every[six]months. See 107N, item 3b, for form of letter.

7. Gifts

Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau of the date when confidential source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security informants.

2. Background investigation and approval
 - a. Check prospective panelists through office indices, canvass logical informants, review appropriate credit report, and military records.
 - b. If no pertinent derogatory information developed, initial contact may be made with a prospective panelist to ascertain person's cooperativeness; however, in regard to individuals associated with educational institutions, be guided by current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
 - c. Submit letter to Bureau requesting authority to use individual as a panel source and set out following information:
 - (1) Details of required background investigation and data as to date and place of birth, citizenship, status if foreign born, residence and employment addresses
 - (2) Details of expected area of activity of individual as a panel source, together with results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) A statement to effect subject is being considered a panel source and that he will be advised he is not a Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. In addition, a statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with a labor union or educational institution he will be advised of Bureau policy on such matters.
 - d. One of required copies of letter requesting authority to use a subject as a panel source should consist only of first page of letter. If request is approved at Bureau, a stamped notation will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field indicating that authority is granted to consider subject as a panel source.
3. Administrative handling
 - a. Handle notes, statements, and exhibits of panelists in same manner as other evidence. As panelists may subsequently become security informants, same procedure should be followed in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panelists as is afforded that received from security informants.
 - b. Payments for legitimate expenses incurred and services rendered should be handled in same manner as payments to security informants. Gifts should not be given to panel sources since such actions might be misconstrued.
 - c. Open lead file when active investigation of prospective panelist is initiated. After Bureau has approved a panelist, close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly. Regular contacts with panelists should be noted in their respective files.
 - d. Only Agents designated in particular case should contact panelists.
 - e. Every six months submit letter of justification to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. See section 107N, item 3b, of this manual for form of letter. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling source must prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
 - f. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists or if typing would be saved. Use abbreviation "PS" before symbol number; e.g., PS NY COO-S.
 - g. Designate, where practicable, coordinating Agent to maintain roster of current panel sources and current list of scheduled organization activities, who will notify Agents handling individual panelists of scheduled organizational functions to be covered. Coordinating Agent receives notice of coming events from Agents handling organization contacts, security informants, and publications.
 - h. Advise Bureau of the date when panel source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.]

[V. UTILIZATION OF INFORMANTS AND SOURCES AT INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

1. Use of students

- a. Students under age of 21 years are not to be developed as security informants, potential security informants, or other types of security sources in other than highly unusual circumstances. Under such circumstances, furnish complete justification to Bureau.
- b. Upon initial contact with a potential student security informant or source, individual should be tactfully requested to execute a brief signed written statement for field file setting forth that this individual has voluntarily come forward to furnish information to FBI because of his concern over individuals or groups that may be inimical to interests of U. S. Government and that he understands that FBI has no interest in legitimate institution or campus activities. Taking this statement should place Bureau in a position to refute possible subsequent false allegations as to nature and purpose of source's cooperation with FBI.

2. Quarterly letters

- a. Beginning 1-1-70, submit quarterly letters on each student and teacher authorized by Bureau for contact as a security informant, potential security informant, or other sources (including panel sources). (Quarterly letters are not to take place of or be combined with six months' payment justification letters.) Include following in quarterly letters:
 - (1) Specific productivity
 - (2) Specific information furnished not otherwise available from public source material or other office sources off campus
 - (3) Frequency of contact
- b. Quarterly letters of security and racial informants should be jointly transmitted to Bureau by cover letter captioned "Utilization of Informants and Sources at Institutions of Learning." Include following in cover letter concerning security sources:
 - (1) Number of security informants, potential security informants, and other security sources active and under development at each educational institution affected
 - (2) An overall analysis of coverage afforded by campus informants and sources

3. Responsibility for well-planned coverage

Each office must have a continuous and well-planned program to obtain necessary coverage at institutions of learning so that Bureau can fulfill its obligations. Care with which this must be done in no way lessens responsibility of each individual field office to have proper coverage.

[W.] CLASSIFICATION - 134

- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a definite period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
- d. Every six months a letter of justification (FD-401) should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow instructions set forth in section [130H, item 2b, of this manual.
- e. Letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. If the recommendation is not approved, correspondence will be prepared and transmitted to the field.
- f. In order for this system to function properly, payment letters must be explicit.
- g. When payments are authorized by the Bureau, it is the personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure himself that full value is being received.
- h. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
- i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

4. Subfiles
 - a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for [channelization] and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies.
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda, see Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Dissemination of information
Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.
8. Correspondence
Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.
9. Maintenance of files
 - a. All symbol number informant files, pending and closed, shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by the SAC.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
 - c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
 - d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.
10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.
11. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top

4. Six-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
 If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication[(FD-401)]must be transmitted to the Bureau every six months after the date of designation containing the same information set out in[section 130G, item 2b, of this manual]except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in[section 130G, item 2b, of this manual.]
5. Receipts
 When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If a receipt cannot be obtained for a particular payment, complete circumstances should be set forth on the blue slip at the time reimbursement is claimed.
- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on the receipts, such corrections must be initialed by the informant and not by the Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on the Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If the informant is self-employed and files a schedule C as a self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with the Bureau.
 - d. Effective 1-1-65, in those instances in which the informant cannot report payments received from the Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as an informant, such payments will be subject to a 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from the Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning the procedure to be followed in the handling and control of money withheld.

8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.
9. Also set up a control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a final letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication.
10. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.
11. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from the informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
12. It is imperative that all information from the informant be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
13. Occasionally, an ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to the time he was an informant. It is not necessary to go back and change the evaluation of the information attributed to that individual in the absence of a definite indication that the informant furnished unreliable information to the Bureau while he was an informant.
14. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

[T.] CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning a symbol number, and a brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. The abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS." Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating the country involved; e.g., IS - R for Russia.
 - d. When a permanent symbol has been assigned to a confidential source, the abbreviation "CS" is to appear before the symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from the series of numbers used for your security, racial, and criminal informants.
3. Index
 - a. Index cards on form FD-348 like those prepared for informants must be made up and filed as an adjunct to the criminal informant index, racial informant index, or the security informant index, depending on the type of information furnished.
 - b. The symbol index is handled similarly to the symbol index on informants.
 - c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index, racial informant index, and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in these types of investigations.
4. Files
When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the individual are discontinued. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

 - c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index, racial informant index, and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in these types of investigations.
4. Files
When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the individual are discontinued. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

9. Investigation of communist petition signers who are acquainted with Communist Party functionaries
10. Be alert to receive any suggestions of plant executives and highly placed personnel who are reliable and friendly to the Bureau concerning members of subversive organizations who might cooperate with the Bureau or employees who might be willing to infiltrate a subversive organization. In the past such contacts have on occasion resulted in the plant's making available the services of an employee who already is an informant of the management.
11. Personnel directors in plants frequently are able to advise of members of communist-dominated unions who retain their membership merely to hold their positions.
12. With regard to both 10 and 11 above, if possible, the official should suggest to the potential informant that he contact the Bureau rather than have an Agent originate the contact.
13. After the Bureau has notified the armed forces of a communist in an industrial plant having armed forces contracts, the communist frequently recants when he is informed of the charges and is facing the possibility of dismissal or transfer to a nonrestricted position in the same plant. At such a time, officers friendly to the Bureau sometimes suggest that the person advise the Bureau of his past activities. Be alert to take advantage of such cooperation when offered.
14. Review of Communist Party registration records to ascertain what individuals merely registered but never became active
15. Use of a reliable third party to make the contact with a possible informant when direct contact by an Agent is inadvisable. Request Bureau to furnish the services of an individual who is available for such a contact.
16. Officials and employees of foreign establishments in the U. S.
17. Employees of the United Nations Secretariat
18. Contacts (business, social, or otherwise) of foreign officials stationed in the U. S.
19. Individuals who because of background, employment, or social status are in a position of intelligence interest to a foreign principal and who will undertake intelligence assignments under the guidance of the Bureau. (See deseco program, section 105K, 6h, volume IV, of this manual.)

C. INTERVIEWS WITH AND DEVELOPMENT OF BACKGROUND ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When a decision is made to consider a particular individual for informant purposes, background investigation must be conducted. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted, however, until the individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist the Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever the restrictions imposed in section 87D, item 6b, (7), volume III, and section 105K, item 6b, (9), volume IV, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should consist of the following:

1. Check of field office files for derogatory information
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants to ascertain if the individual is known to them
3. Inquiries of discreet nature to obtain information concerning the individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Background investigation must definitely establish that the individual can be utilized without any danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from the individual is not sufficient; his background must be established by the investigation, including discreet inquiries among persons who are personally acquainted with him.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Obtain necessary data for the completion of an [FD-165] form which should be transmitted to the Identification Division to obtain any record he may have [and to place a stop against his fingerprints if they are on file.]
5. Armed services record should be reviewed if the individual is a veteran.
6. Check draft status or status in the armed forces reserve.
7. Domestic status and if any marital difficulties all details should be obtained.

4. Each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
- b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informant for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies.
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda, see Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Dissemination of information
Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.
8. Correspondence
Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.
9. Maintenance of files
a. All symbol number informant files, pending and closed, shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by the SAC.
b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.
10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In these cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.
11. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top

8. SIGNING LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Every effort should be made to guide security informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep the contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form.
3. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
4. The Bureau will consider as a last resort advising another agency of the informant's relationship with the Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning the informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to a minimum in view of the obvious dangers to the informant.
5. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau is to be advised as promptly as possible, together with an appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
6. In no instance should you permit an informant to sign a loyalty oath in the negative.

9. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When the services of an informant are discontinued, mark the name card "cancelled." Destroy the symbol card. Never destroy the name card.
2. Refile the name card in numerical order by symbol number in the symbol number index. If a discontinued informant or a discontinued potential security informant or confidential source to whom a symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove his name card from the symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note thereon type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in the name card section of the index.
3. When a potential security informant or confidential source is discontinued and a permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy the alphabetical index card.
4. Advise the Bureau of the date when a potential informant or informant is discontinued and the reason therefor.
5. Advise the Bureau as to whether or not the informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. The identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which the informant has furnished information must be ascertained and the Bureau advised in compliance with section [19,] volume [II,] of this manual.
6. Review the informant's file to determine if any copies or summaries of correspondence between the Bureau and the field relating to the Department's interest in using the informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness are contained therein. In those cases in which it is evident the Department has indicated a desire to consider the informant further when he becomes available, advise the Bureau in each such substantive case, except in those cases in which it is obvious the statute of limitations has run or the case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When all above action is completed, advise the Bureau.
7. A statement shall also be made to the effect that the measures to control informants, set out in 8 below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears that such are warranted.
8. When the services of an informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that the informant will look to the Bureau for advice and counsel prior to taking any action which would be against the Bureau's best interests. When an informant is discontinued, determine whether he has plans for writing a book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in

[e.] When an informant or former informant is initially considered as a potential witness in a Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on the income he received from the Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling the situation.

7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses

a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, the Bureau must furnish the Department a set of photostats of the original receipts signed by the prospective witnesses. The original receipts and a set of photostats will be transmitted to the field office in whose territory the trial will take place. The office handling prosecution must determine from the Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter the office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to the Bureau the following information:

- (1) The correct, full name
- (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
- (3) The first date of contact by your office
- (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, the names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
- (5) A tabulation of all payments, broken down as to the amount applicable to services and the amount applicable to expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to the Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
- (6) A listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
- (7) The date of last contact by your office
- (8) Whether the individual has been contacted by any other office

b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with a particular individual, the Bureau must be so advised.

c. Where an informant has previously been used and a tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from the date of the last trial from which the individual was used.

d. The above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to the attention of the Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to the Bureau with copies designated for the interested offices.

8. Receipt of unemployment compensation

a. At times security informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs with private industry due to strikes, economic conditions, or similar circumstances. As a result they become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as a prerequisite for obtaining unemployment compensation and security informants and/or sources who at the time are being paid by the Bureau for services rendered fail to comply, the situation is potentially embarrassing. The Bureau must be placed in the position of condoning a violation of the law on the part of any informant or source. Each field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.

P. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Every effort should be made to guide security informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep the contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form.
3. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
4. The Bureau will consider as a last resort advising another agency of the informant's relationship with the Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning the informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to a minimum in view of the obvious dangers to the informant.
5. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau is to be advised as promptly as possible, together with an appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
6. In no instance should you permit an informant to sign a loyalty oath in the negative.

3. When a potential security informant or confidential source is discontinued and a permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy the alphabetical index card.
4. Advise the Bureau [of the date] when a potential informant or informant is discontinued and the reason therefor.
5. Advise the Bureau as to whether or not the informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. The identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which the informant has furnished information must be ascertained and the Bureau advised in compliance with section 69F, volume III, of this manual.
6. Review the informant's file to determine if any copies or summaries of correspondence between the Bureau and the field relating to the Department's interest in using the informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness are contained therein. In those cases in which it is evident the Department has indicated a desire to consider the informant further when he becomes available, advise the Bureau in each such substantive case, except in those cases in which it is obvious the statute of limitations has run or the case has been adjudicated. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in

8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.
9. Also set up a control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a final letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication.
10. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.
11. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from the informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
12. It is imperative that all information from the informant be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
13. Occasionally, an ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to the time he was an informant. It is not necessary to go back and change the evaluation of the information attributed to that individual in the absence of a definite indication that the informant furnished unreliable information to the Bureau while he was an informant.
14. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

T. CLASSIFICATION - 134

U. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning a symbol number, and a brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. The abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; [e.g., "Richard Roe, CS."] Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating the country involved; e.g., IS - R for Russia.
 - d. When a permanent symbol has been assigned to a confidential source, the abbreviation "CS" is to appear before the symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from the series of numbers used for your security, racial, and criminal informants.
3. Index
 - a. Index cards on form FD-348 like those prepared for informants must be made up and filed as an adjunct to the criminal informant index, racial informant index, or the security informant index, depending on the type of information furnished.
 - b. The symbol index is handled similarly to the symbol index on informants.
 - c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index, racial informant index, and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in these types of investigations.
4. Files
When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the individual are discontinued. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of the form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number of the note should be noted.

12. Bulky material submitted by informant

When an informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and pertinent to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
- b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
- c. [Deleted]

Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts or products of such companies to informants.

2. Specific authority to pay informant

- a. Specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money for information concerning matters or persons under investigation which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of payments up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 per informant regardless of the number of payments. This authority applies to individuals who have not been regularly paid for services. Expenses of Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
- b. Individuals who are paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- c. The blue slip explaining any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown. (In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:

"I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____ (amount) per ____ (month, week) for services, plus up to $____ (amount) per ____ (month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____ months, effective ____ (date)."

document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

12. Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.

- c. [Deleted]

d. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

- a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expenses money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 on a calendar basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
- b. Individuals who are paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- c. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown. (In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)
 - (1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:
 "I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____ (amount) per ____ (month, week) for services, plus up to $____ (amount) per ____ (month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____ months, effective ____ (date).")

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security [or intelligence] matters exclusively for Bureau and whose identity must be protected. Such person should be a member or attend meetings of a subversive organization, such as the Communist Party; or be in such a position relative to a subversive organization, or espionage activities or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal, that he is able to obtain and does provide current information of value; [or furnish pertinent foreign intelligence data of value on a regular basis.]
2. Potential security informant
Individual in a position to become active in a subversive organization or espionage or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal or can become closely associated therewith, [or is in a position to secure pertinent foreign intelligence data,] and is making affirmative effort through associations or contacts so that he can be in a position actively to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
A specialized type of security informant; a person who is cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both a foreign intelligence service and the Bureau under the Bureau's guidance.
4. Confidential source
An individual who on a confidential basis furnishes information available to him through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort on behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to the internal security. Experience has shown that potential informants may be obtained through alertness in the course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for the most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, the following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants in security matters
 - b. Persons interviewed in connection with security cases
 - c. Subjects of security investigations looking for indications of disaffection, disgruntlement, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - d. Bureau applicants as possible informants
 - e. Personal friends and contacts of Special Agents and other Bureau employees
 - f. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts on continuous basis
2. Review of closed security files on individuals
3. Review of reserve index
4. Ascertain possibilities of reactivating former confidential informants.
5. Deleted
6. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
7. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on the part of Communist Party members. They, of course, should not be informed as to the purpose of the inquiry.
8. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attend only a few meetings of a front. Such individuals frequently are innocent of communist propensities, yet they have a basis for cultivating the acquaintance of party members.

9. Investigation of communist petition signers who are acquainted with Communist Party functionaries
10. Be alert to receive any suggestions of plant executives and highly placed personnel who are reliable and friendly to the Bureau concerning members of subversive organizations who might cooperate with the Bureau or employees who might be willing to infiltrate a subversive organization. In the past such contacts have on occasion resulted in the plant's making available the services of an employee who already is an informant of the management.
11. Personnel directors in plants frequently are able to advise of members of communist-dominated unions who retain their membership merely to hold their positions.
12. With regard to both 10 and 11 above, if possible, the official should suggest to the potential informant that he contact the Bureau rather than have an Agent originate the contact.
13. After the Bureau has notified the armed forces of a communist in an industrial plant having armed forces contracts, the communist frequently recants when he is informed of the charges and is facing the possibility of dismissal or transfer to a nonrestricted position in the same plant. At such a time, officers friendly to the Bureau sometimes suggest that the person advise the Bureau of his past activities. Be alert to take advantage of such cooperation when offered.
14. Review of Communist Party registration records to ascertain what individuals merely registered but never became active
15. Use of a reliable third party to make the contact with a possible informant when direct contact by an Agent is inadvisable. Request Bureau to furnish the services of an individual who is available for such a contact.
16. Officials and employees of foreign establishments in the U. S.
17. Employees of the United Nations Secretariat
18. Contacts (business, social, or otherwise) of foreign officials stationed in the U. S.
19. Individuals who because of background, employment, or social status are in a position of intelligence interest to a foreign principal and who will undertake intelligence assignments under the guidance of the Bureau. (See deseco program, section 105K, 6h, volume IV, of this manual.)

C. INTERVIEWS WITH AND DEVELOPMENT OF BACKGROUND ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When a decision is made to consider a particular individual for informant purposes, background investigation must be conducted. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted, however, until the individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist the Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever the restrictions imposed in section 87D, item 6b, (7), volume III, and section 105K, item 6b,

[(9),] volume IV, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should consist of the following:

1. Check of field office files for derogatory information
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants to ascertain if the individual is known to them
3. Inquiries of discreet nature to obtain information concerning the individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Background investigation must definitely establish that the individual can be utilized without any danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from the individual is not sufficient; his background must be established by the investigation, including discreet inquiries among persons who are personally acquainted with him.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Obtain necessary data for the completion of an FD-9 form which should be transmitted to the Identification Division to obtain any record he may have.
5. Armed services record should be reviewed if the individual is a veteran.
6. Check draft status or status in the armed forces reserve.
7. Domestic status and if any marital difficulties all details should be obtained.

8. [Persons being considered for use] in espionage and foreign nationality cases many times present special problems which limit or govern the scope of the initial investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and deseco program, section 105K, 6b and 6h, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical the above items should be covered.
9. Leads to obtain background data must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days.
10. Investigation as outlined above must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, [or designate] an individual as a potential [security] informant.

[D. [APPROVAL, INDOCTRINATION, DEVELOPMENT, AND CONTROL OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS]

1. When background information obtained as described under subsection C, transmit results to Bureau in the same numerical sequence as set out in subsection C, and request authority to designate individual as a Bureau-approved potential security informant and [to] proceed with his development. [Do not submit on a UACB basis. Include a physical description.]
2. [Deleted]
3. [After designation as a Bureau-approved potential security informant, the following matters should be made clear to him:]
 - [a.] His assistance is strictly voluntary and he is to understand that there is no coercion or intimidation involved.
 - [b.] He is not and cannot consider himself a Bureau employee or "undercover Agent" of the FBI. In this regard, the seriousness of violating the impersonation statutes must be impressed upon him.
 - [c.] His cooperation must be strictly confidential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this confidence, he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in the mind of the informant that his relationship must remain on a confidential basis and if he violates the confidence he will be of no value and by so doing the Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. If he has a special program which would require revealing his [assistance] to his wife [or other pertinent individual,] this should be [ascertained and an appropriate recommendation made to the Bureau.] The special circumstances will be taken into consideration by the Bureau [and you will be advised accordingly.]
 - [d.] If the potential informant is connected in any manner with a labor union, inform him that the Bureau is not interested in employer-employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining information on the infiltration of labor unions by subversive elements.
 - [e.] If the potential informant is a student, teacher, or has any similar relations with a school, college, or university, in the initial interview and subsequent handling, be sure to follow current instructions concerning investigations on the campuses of colleges and universities.
4. Do not interview female potentials in their own homes or apartments unless necessary and all such interviews in their residences should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of the superior in the field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that the potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups, and there will be no embarrassment to the Bureau.
5. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on the circumstances of the case, potential informants should be contacted personally at least once every two weeks in the same manner as informants.
6. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every four months. Letters concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization should be submitted on a UACB basis, should contain informative summary of information furnished during past four months, and must include certifications regarding potential informant's stability and reliability and his indoctrination against disclosure. These letters should follow the form indicated under section 107N, 3b, but should omit item (5) concerning payments and reword item (1) to omit reference to any payment recommendation.

- 7. Post records of contacts with potential informants so that the cases will not become delinquent.
- [8. During[contacts]with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have the necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
- [9. [Deleted]
- [10. [Deleted]
- [[11.] During initial stages of development and on occasion active informants may raise a personal question concerning their own position if it becomes known publicly that they are affiliated with a subversive organization. In the event a potential informant or informant inquires as to what can be done for him in such a case, he may be told that his cooperation is a matter of record in the FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making the facts of his cooperation with the FBI known to his employer or to the responsible individuals. It should be pointed out that this action may make it impossible for him to continue on behalf of the FBI and the service which he is performing for his country may be terminated. Before taking steps to advise anyone of a potential informant's or informant's cooperation, proper Bureau authority must be obtained.
- [[12.] From the first interview with a potential informant through his development and until he is discontinued, extreme caution should be used at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
- [[13.] When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, assign permanent symbol number and advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence; individual's background must also be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as a witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

- 1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by the Bureau.
- 2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with an informant or potential informant should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
- 3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to a potential informant or an informant concerning any of the Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.

4. Recording investigative activity
All investigative activity must be made a matter of record in the field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Sources include all confidential informants - criminal, security, [and racial.]. Agents must not have and use informants known only to the individual Agents personally.

F. INDOCTRINATION, DIRECTION, AND CONTROL OF SECURITY INFORMANTS

1. Caution against divulging relationship
 - a. During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant the absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging through any media any information regarding his relationship with Bureau.
 - b. These instructions must be properly worded and phrased to prevent any possibility Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.
2. Developing additional background
 - a. During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant.
 - b. After gaining informant's confidence, information will be elicited which may be pertinent to his operation and may have effect upon his retention, such as data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk as an informant.
3. Handling indications of instability
 - a. Details of any indications of instability should be furnished to the Bureau immediately upon being obtained, with recommendations as to informant's continuance.
 - b. Set forth the steps being taken to prevent any embarrassment to Bureau.
4. Contacts by Agents
 - a. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where the frequency of contact is dependent on the circumstances of each case, informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks.
 - b. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for an exception to this requirement (except in espionage and foreign nationality matters). In requesting such exception, set forth all attendant circumstances.
 - c. During each contact, informant's activities since previous contact should be carefully reviewed and the contacting Agent should make certain the informant has furnished in writing or verbally all information and data which he has obtained since the last contact. If additional or supplementary information is furnished during this contact with the informant, this information should be handled in the same manner as outlined in subsection G.
 - d. Contacting Agent should become so well acquainted with informant that he will not breach the confidential relationship. If there is slightest indication informant may do so, Agent should be able to anticipate this action and forestall it.
 - e. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but also direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows how informant is thinking with regard to Bureau connection. This relationship should not be so reciprocal that informant obtains information concerning Agent or Agent's business, personal or official.
 - f. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent and later cause embarrassment to Agent or Bureau by using for his own advantage such knowledge which he may obtain.
 - g. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.

- h. Any arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in the minds of either the Agent or informant as to the methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
- i. Informants should be instructed to use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants the unlisted office telephone number for emergency communication. [This rule is not practical in all espionage and foreign nationality matters but should be followed where applicable.]
- j. Positive information received from informant should be the subject of a written statement by informant or a memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in the informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
- k. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
- l. The dates of negative contacts and file numbers of the cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where a file has more than one subject, the name of the subject under inquiry should also be noted. Do not set forth title of the case involved on the form.
- m. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
- n. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and former should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent in absence of Agent to whom informant is assigned.

[5. [Checking reliability]

- a. Reliability of informants must be constantly checked.
- b. Consideration should be given to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.
- c. Checks on reliability must be constantly reviewed during time informant is active.

[6. Fingerprints

- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to the contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
- b. If informant refuses, do not force the issue.
- c. Informant's fingerprints, when obtained, should be forwarded as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258. This card should be properly executed showing subject's complete description, including date and place of birth. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.
- d. A flash notice is to be placed by the field in the files of the Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
- e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year following discontinuance. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.

[7. [Control - statement of cooperation]

- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants and double agents in order to obtain maximum results in security cases and to prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.

- b. As means of obtaining closer control, obtain signed statement set out below whenever feasible and practical. In those instances in which it is not practical to secure a signed statement from an informant or double agent, advise Bureau of complete details. The SAC and the Agent handling the informant or double agent should determine the appropriate time in the informant's operation when the statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

- [8. Execution of party questionnaires]
- a. Informants, particularly in Communist Party, oftentimes must execute "Party" questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants.
 - b. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant to be certain his identity as informant is protected.
- [9. Informant's activity in organizations]
- a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of the organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish sources for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in the organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of the motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions and suggestions given are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but at the same time should be cautioned to do so in such a manner as to avoid suspicion.
- [10. Transfer of informants to other areas]
- a. Keep alert to possibility of transferring informants to areas needing coverage through change in residence or employment.
 - b. Keep in mind overall coverage of organization. If informant becomes prominent and may be able to expand his field of activity beyond your field division, by all means encourage him to do so in order to provide a wider coverage for the Bureau's work.
- [11. Action by informant when uncovered]
- a. If informant is uncovered by subversive elements, he should be instructed to defend himself vigorously and demand proof of his informant activity.
 - b. Suspicion in many cases is directed to an informant without to back it up and by bluffing informant may confuse the issue the point where his services may not be lost. This procedure should be carefully handled and each situation considered on its merits.
 - c. In some cases it may be necessary for informant to acquiesce to charges of deviation from the strict discipline of the organization involved, as by so doing he may cast off suspicion.

12. Requests of informant to help defend others

- a. If a security informant is requested by the Communist Party, communists being prosecuted by the Government, or by other interested parties to assist in the preparation of the defense in subversive-type cases or receives assignment where such information is readily available, informant should tactfully decline such assignments.
- b. Any such request received by informant should be reported immediately to the contacting Agent and made a matter of record.
- c. If the informant cannot avoid becoming involved, he should be instructed not to report to the contacting Agent any information pertaining to defense plans or strategy.
- d. Any such incident must be reported promptly to the Bureau.

[13. Preparation for testifying

[Contacting Agent must condition the informant to the fact that someday
[the knowledge he possesses may be needed as evidence in court to assist
[the Government in combating the evil of communism. Psychologically
[prepare the informant for the fact that he may at some future date be [called upon to render a still further contribution to his Government by [testifying to the information he has furnished on security matters.
[Proper indoctrination of the informant is essential as the Bureau must [provide witnesses whenever the Department initiates prosecutions in [security cases.]

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

1. General instructions re oral and written information
 - a. Instructions regarding preparation, submission, and handling of information received from informants apply not only to security informants but also to potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions and guidance must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.
 - c. They should be submitted as quickly as possible after a meeting or activity.
 - d. Written statements should be submitted whenever possible, but if such cannot be done information may be provided orally. In espionage and foreign nationality matters written statements are usually necessary only in those instances involving possible future prosecution. (In the majority of cases diplomats or officials who are not subject to prosecution are involved.)
 - e. Carefully scrutinize each, bearing in mind that if informant is called upon to testify at a later date his statements will very likely be introduced in court.
 - f. All information furnished by informants orally or in writing must be promptly reviewed, recorded, indexed, evaluated, channeled, and all necessary action taken. Form FD-306 may be used in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channeled. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."
 - g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise the trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. The trial attorney will thus be prepared in the event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.
 - h. See subsection M for instructions regarding filing informant statements.
2. Recording written and oral information
 - a. Written by informant
 - (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
 - (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
 - (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
 - (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at the top of it.
 - (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or each separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement whether the information is of evidentiary or intelligence value.

- (6) Informants should include in the body of their statements specific dates and places; purpose of the meeting or activity being related; identities of makers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; specific activity engaged in by each individual present; and comments made by each individual.
- (7) Informant should identify [his statement] by affixing his code name [immediately under the last written line on each page.] Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified by informant affixing his code name or the initials of his code name.
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in the body of the statement by his true name and he should use the third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., thereto, nor should he place any markings thereon, such as his initials, date of receipt from informant, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a serializing memorandum which should contain the applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to an absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be furnished orally by informant to contacting Agent who will record the information in memorandum form for the informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with the making of the oral statement by the informant to the Agent. The following items furnished by informant should be left out:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be recorded in memorandum form for the informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date it at the top with the date the informant furnishes the information to the Agent. No other date is desired except the date of the meeting or activity which shall be set forth in the body of the statement.
- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or each separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by the Agent as if the informant were preparing them himself.
- (5) The information, after being reduced to writing, should then be read promptly by the informant and acknowledged by him by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters authentication by informants is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.

- (6) After informant authenticates his statement, contacting Agent should prepare a cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it and thereafter the statement should be handled as a written one in accordance with instructions set out in 2, a, (10), and (11).
- (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be incorporated in an office memorandum by the Agent and should not be initialed by the informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
- a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants whenever possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such personal contacts.
 - b. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency.
 - c. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - d. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory.
 - e. More than one informant may send statements to a specific post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of post office employees.
 - f. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under a fictitious name in the same manner as d.
 - g. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for any extended period of time.
 - h. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest to Bureau, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication. Office should take any necessary action without delay.
4. Handling of lead information
- a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to a logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is only partial name of individual or meager descriptive data, and if there is sufficient data available to do so, file should be opened and assigned to effect an identification and to take any necessary action.
 - c. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, a tickler card should be prepared to follow with the informant and take other logical steps in an effort to obtain additional identifying data concerning the individual. Tickler cards should be restricted to information which would warrant investigation if an identity is established. This will eliminate inconsequential items, but at the same time definite steps must be taken to run out affirmative information. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile. If an identification is made, a file should be opened and any necessary action taken in connection therewith.
5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
- a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon the informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received the material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, the date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material by Agents or clerical personnel.

- d. All such material should be transmitted in the same manner as statements furnished by informant.
- e. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. See section 107M for filing instructions.

H. PASSING INFORMATION IN DOUBLE AGENT OPERATIONS

1. Carefully handle and create basis for acquisition
 - a. In double agent operations information requested by the principals is frequently passed either to build up a double agent's stature or as evidence of espionage activity.
 - b. Each case must be carefully evaluated to make certain that a net gain accrues to the U. S.
 - c. The information which is passed should be carefully handled and appropriate explanations created for its acquisition by the double agent to avoid his compromise.
2. Locating information to pass
Wherever possible the field office handling the double agent should locate appropriate information to be passed; however, the Bureau can assist in fulfilling requests for information in possession of Government agencies.
3. Obtaining Bureau authority
Bureau authority must be obtained to pass any information in a double agent operation except:
 - a. Newspaper articles
 - b. Magazine articles
 - c. Pamphlets, brochures, etc., prepared by a private company or corporation for distribution or sale to the public. (This does not include highly technical pamphlets, even if unclassified, which are prepared for limited use by engineering staffs and not intended for release to the public.)
4. Retention of copies of passed material
 - a. True copies should be retained by the office of origin of any documents or material related to the national defense which is passed in double agent operations.
 - b. Such material should be appropriately identified by the double agent.
 - c. Bureau Agents should not place identifying data on such material but should preserve any notes made by them in connection with the passage of such material.
 - d. Similar action should be taken with regard to any material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to the national defense.
 - e. It is not necessary to retain copies of buildup material obviously not evidentiary in nature where there is assurance that copies can be obtained at a later date from the Government agency or private concern having custody.

I. SYMBOLS

1. Assigning numbers

- a. All informants should be designated by a permanent symbol number of which the Bureau must be advised. Once a number is assigned, it must not be subsequently reassigned to any other informant, source, or confidential technique, [regardless of type or designation.]
- b. Potential security informants and confidential sources whose identity must be protected may be assigned permanent symbol numbers if they are producing sufficient information to warrant the use of such designations.
- c. Individuals to whom permanent symbols assigned are not to be advised of such symbols.
- d. An additional cover name should be used by informant in signing his statements and in communications between the informant and the field office.
- e. Bureau should be advised of this cover name in addition to the permanent symbol.
- [f. The prefix of a symbol number is made up of the appropriate field office teletype abbreviation followed by the appropriate assigned number.
- g. The suffix of the symbol number will consist of the letter "S" to designate a security informant; the letters "PSI" to designate a potential security informant.
- h. Although an individual, confidential technique, or source may subsequently furnish information requiring a change in designation (e.g., from security to criminal or to racial, etc.), the number previously assigned will remain the same; however, the suffix is to be changed to the appropriate letter or letters indicating this change (NY 000-S to NY 000-C or to NY 000-R).]

2. Communications - use of symbols

- a. After Bureau is advised of the permanent symbol, in subsequent communications true name of informant should not be set forth; use symbol number.
- b. In all communications after the initial letter, Bureau and field office file numbers for informant must be set forth.
- c. In communications between offices, the same procedure is to be followed.
- d. Informants and sources entering another division
 - (1) Active informants and sources entering another division on temporary basis for Bureau business or for personal reasons should be referred to in initial letter to interested office by true name and symbol number if it is necessary for the other division to know the identity of the informant. Office receiving such letter should make appropriate index cards and place same in "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" index. Subsequent letters between interested offices may then identify individual by symbol number only.
 - (2) Individuals who leave the division where they have been furnishing information and do not plan to return should be immediately discontinued, their symbol number, if any, should be cancelled, and their true name should be used in all administrative correspondence.
 - (3) If an informant is transferred to another office and remains active, his identity must still be protected.
- e. [Deleted]
- f. [In communications concerning a potential security informant [when a symbol number is not assigned,] the name of the potential security informant and abbreviation "PSI" shall be used; e.g., "John Doe, PSI."]
- g. [Deleted]
- h. [Deleted]
- i. [Deleted]
- j. In espionage and foreign nationality matters the caption of the communication should show in addition a character and the country designation (i.e., IS - R for Russia or IS - PO for Poland, etc.). This facilitates routing the mail at the Bureau.

J. INDEXING

1. True names and aliases of all informants, as well as the cover name assigned to them for informants' use in submitting their statements, but not their permanent Bureau symbol numbers, shall be indexed in the general office indices in the same manner as any other name.
2. These index cards should show the file number of the informant and such terms as "Informant" or "Potential Security Informant" shall not appear.

K. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index
 - a. Alphabetical name index
 - (1) In all offices all active potential security and security informant cards are to be kept by the SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice. This is to be known as the alphabetical name index.
 - (2) File these cards in alphabetical order and also include cards for security confidential sources. These cards should show whether the individual is a potential informant, an informant, or a confidential source furnishing information on security matters.

- b. Symbol number index
 - (1) The same official as set out in 1a (1) above is to maintain the symbol number index. This index shall contain a card for each individual to whom a symbol number has been assigned.
 - (2) File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind the numerical symbol index.
 - c. The above indices (alphabetical name index and symbol number index) shall not be available for review by Agents seeking informant help in connection with their cases.
 - d. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by the official having custody of the cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of his activities and type of information he furnishes.
2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"
- a. A separate index may be maintained for the use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
 - b. If such index is maintained, a separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source that has been furnished.
 - c. These cards should contain brief background data, together with the identity of the Bureau communication which contains the complete background data.
 - d. File these cards alphabetically by name and symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.
3. Agents' informative index
- a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by the same official as set out in 1a (1) above for the use of Agents on the type of informant coverage in the division.
 - b. File these cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
 - c. Behind each geographical location there should be a guide card indicating the type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Civil Rights Congress, Polish Activity, etc.
 - d. On this guide card set forth the symbol numbers of the informants and confidential sources who provide this coverage.
 - e. Potential informants, confidential sources, panel sources, and sources of information who do not have permanent symbols should be set forth by name.
 - f. When an individual can provide more than one type of information, his symbol or identity (if a potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information without permanent symbol) should be set forth on as many cards as he may provide types of information.
 - g. These guide cards should show the above data and it is to be placed alongside the name and symbol number, as the case may be, the names of the contacting Agents to whom a request may be made for a specific check with the individual.
 - h. Also, there may be set forth on these guide cards symbol numbers of informants who move outside a division and who still remain excellent sources regarding past activities. They should be declassified from informants to confidential sources or sources of information. If any such individual has moved from a division and is being utilized by the division to which he has moved and has received a symbol number from the latter division, such designation should be indicated on the guide card.
 - i. The names or symbol numbers, as the case may be, of individuals contained in the index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on the appropriate guide cards in this index.

4. Currency and security

All indices shall be maintained in a current status at all times in a manner which provides tight security of the information and yet makes it easily available to Agents having a need thereof.

L. INDEX CARDS

- [1. Index cards [(FD-348) shall be executed] for the alphabetical name index.
[2. [Use form FD-348] for the symbol number index. [Execute only the following [items:]

Symbol: File No:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential
source)

Name:

3. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in the informant's administrative file.

M. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening

- a. When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as an informant or confidential source and he is not the subject of a security-type file, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the subject are discontinued.
- b. If an individual is the subject of a security case and after being interviewed with Bureau authority he indicates he is cooperative and has potentiality as an informant, a 134 file should be opened and maintained in a pending status while under development as a potential informant. In espionage and foreign nationality matters the existing file may be used rather than opening a new 134 file if this is practical and will reduce paper work.
- c. Individual files on all active informants should be maintained and carried as pending active cases.

2. Monthly administrative report

Files on potential informants and informants shall be included in the tabulations and calculations of delinquencies on the monthly administrative report.

3. Assignment and tickler cards

- a. Assignment and tickler cards should be maintained.
- b. The true name of informant is not to appear on the assignment and tickler cards.

4. Subfiles
 - a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization

Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda, see Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Dissemination of information
Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.
8. Correspondence
Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.
9. Maintenance of files
 - a. All pending files on security informants shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, or field supervisor as the informant indices are maintained and described in subsection K.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
 - c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
 - d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.
10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.
11. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

12. Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
- b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
- c. [Deleted]
- d. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

- a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
- b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- c. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown. (In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:

"I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____(amount) per ____ (month, week) for services, plus up to $____(amount) per ____ (month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____ months, effective ____ (date).")

- (2) Residence and employment (If no change since last justification letter, merely state "no change.")
- (3) Current membership and position held in subversive organizations
- (4) Summary of information furnished and/or services rendered during pertinent period
- (5) Amount paid for services and expenses by month
(Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.)
- (6) Type and number of meetings attended and other activity
- (7) Number of written and oral statements submitted
(List separately.)
- (8) Information furnished of unusual value
- (9) Approximate number of persons on whom informant furnished coverage and their importance
- (10) Steps being taken to advance informant
- (11) Stability and reliability
(Set forth personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or other similar problems presented by informant, and steps being taken to prevent any such situations from later becoming source of embarrassment to the Bureau.)
- (12) Indoctrination against disclosure
(State whether every opportunity has been taken to properly indoctrinate informant against making any disclosure of his relationship with Bureau through any media.)
- (13) All necessary action taken on information furnished.
- (14) Miscellaneous
(Any other matters concerning informant's operation which should be brought to Bureau's attention)

(Where applicable, substitute potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information for the word "informant.")

- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a definite period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
- d. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow form in subsection 3b.
- e. Letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. If the recommendation is not approved, correspondence will be prepared and transmitted to the field.
- f. In order for this system to function properly, payment letters must be explicit.
- g. When payments are authorized by the Bureau, it is the personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure himself that full value is being received.
- h. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
- i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.
5. Receipts
When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If a receipt cannot be obtained for a particular payment, complete circumstances should be set forth on the blue slip at the time reimbursement is claimed.
- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on the receipts, such corrections must be initialed by the informant and not by the Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth [on the] Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If the informant is self-employed and files a schedule C as a self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with the Bureau.
 - d. Effective 1-1-65, in those instances in which the informant cannot report payments received from the Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as an informant, such payments will be subject to a 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld: Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from the Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning the procedure to be followed in the handling and control of money withheld.

[e.] When an informant or former informant is initially considered as a potential witness in a Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on the income he received from the Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling the situation.

7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses

- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, the Bureau must furnish the Department a set of photostats of the original receipts signed by the prospective witnesses. The original receipts and a set of photostats will be transmitted to the field office in whose territory the trial will take place. The office handling prosecution must determine from the Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter the office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to the Bureau the following information:
- (1) The correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) The first date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, the names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) A tabulation of all payments, broken down as to the amount applicable to services and the amount applicable to expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to the Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
 - (6) A listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) The date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether the individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with a particular individual, the Bureau must be so advised.
- c. Where an informant has previously been used and a tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from the date of the last trial from which the individual was used.
- d. The above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to the attention of the Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to the Bureau with copies designated for the interested offices.

8. Receipt of unemployment compensation

- a. At times security informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs with private industry due to strikes, economic conditions, or similar circumstances. As a result they become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as a prerequisite for obtaining unemployment compensation and security informants and/or sources who at the time are being paid by the Bureau for services rendered fail to comply, the situation is potentially embarrassing. The Bureau cannot be placed in the position of condoning a violation of the state law on the part of any informant or source. Each field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.

b. Whenever a paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit observations and recommendations to Bureau. Unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau, follow recommended action. Each office must assume the responsibility of guarding against informant's accepting a Bureau payment that would conflict with unemployment compensation laws. At the same time, weigh seriously the possible need for an informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of the pertinent subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where a state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of their identity, then Bureau payments should be discontinued during the period they receive unemployment compensation benefits.

9. Handling money and property received by double agents

- a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with the double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifically approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the Bureau.
- b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal represents possible future evidence and the double agent should execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. This statement should be signed by the double agent's code name.
- c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
- d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.

O. SEMIANNUAL LETTER

A semiannual letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid under Bureau authority (not SAC authority) for services or expenses. If the confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol number of all security informants not paid under Bureau authority.
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the semiannual letter, list under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage, should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage provided by informants or sources who are not members, such facts should be shown relative to each unit.

Semiannual letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in over-all evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

5. Listed below are all of the Bureau offices and the dates semiannual letters should be submitted. This list is also applicable to the submission of semiannual letters on criminal informants.

P. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Every effort should be made to guide security informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep the contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form.
3. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
4. The Bureau will consider as a last resort advising another agency of the informant's relationship with the Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning the informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to a minimum in view of the obvious dangers to the informant.
5. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau is to be advised as promptly as possible, together with an appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
6. In no instance should you permit an informant to sign a loyalty oath in the negative.

Q. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When the services of an informant are discontinued, mark the name card "cancelled." Destroy the symbol card. Never destroy the name card.
2. Refile the name card in numerical order by symbol number in the symbol number index. If a discontinued informant or a discontinued potential security informant or confidential source to whom a symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove his name card from the symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note thereon type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in the name card section of the index.
3. When a potential security informant or confidential source is discontinued and a permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy the alphabetical index card.
4. Advise the Bureau [of the date] when a potential informant or informant is discontinued and the reason therefor.
5. Advise the Bureau as to whether or not the informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. The identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which the informant has furnished information must be ascertained and the Bureau advised in compliance with section 69F, volume III, of this manual.
6. Review the informant's file to determine if any copies or summaries of correspondence between the Bureau and the field relating to the Department's interest in using the informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness are contained therein. In those cases in which it is evident the Department has indicated a desire to consider the informant further when he becomes available, advise the Bureau in each such substantive case, except in those cases in which it is obvious the statute of limitations has run or the case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When all above action is completed, advise the Bureau.
7. A statement shall also be made to the effect that the measures to control informants, set out in 8 below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears that such are warranted.
8. When the services of an informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that the informant will look to the Bureau for advice and counsel prior to taking any action which would be against the Bureau's best interests. When an informant is discontinued, determine whether he has plans for writing a book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in such activities, the Bureau will consider placing him in contact with a reliable publisher, but it must be made clear to the informant that the Bureau will not sponsor or endorse any book or publication which he elects to write.

9. All payments to discontinued security informants and confidential sources must be made on a strict c.o.d. basis. Obtain Bureau authority before making any such payments. In requesting Bureau authority for payments of this type, submit complete details as to the information furnished by the discontinued informant or source in the past and what is to be expected of the informant or source in the future.
10. Once an informant is exposed in any manner whatsoever he is no longer to be carried as a concealed source in reports or memoranda. His true name is to be set forth, together with descriptive data.
11. When an office receives information concerning, or obtains information from, an ex-informant, copies of memoranda prepared must be furnished to the office which originally handled the informant so that the file of the ex-informant will be as complete as possible.
12. When an informant has been discontinued for cause, such as unreliability, he should not be contacted in the future for information. If such an individual furnishes information it should be accepted, but in setting out the information in reports or communications use the individual's true name, together with an appropriate description of his reliability.
13. Remove flash notice per section F, 6.
14. Repeated use of the same discontinued informant as a witness at security trials and hearings should be avoided. Make an all-out effort to develop witnesses who can furnish the same testimony as that expected of previously used witnesses. Advise Bureau of any indication by Government attorneys that an informant-witness who has previously testified will be called upon for testimony at a subsequent trial or hearing and furnish your comments concerning possibility of supplanting the testimony of individual involved. Submit communication under appropriate case character.
15. Every effort should be made to prevent a discontinued informant from becoming involved in situations which may prove embarrassing to informant or the Government. Immediately after he testifies for the first time, a serious talk should be had with informant by the SAC in the presence of the Agent who handled the informant. This interview should be conducted in the field office and informant told that:
 - a. He will no longer be operated by the Bureau
 - b. Since he is a public figure, he will probably be contacted by representatives of the press, radio, and television for interviews and appearances
 - c. He may be sought as a witness by congressional committees, by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and by state authorities
 - d. (Firmly stress.) In connection with such interviews and appearances, informant must continue to be factual and truthful and must not build up or embellish the statements, for if he does so he will wind up in serious trouble.

Advise Bureau results of such interview and comment on its possible effectiveness.

Be alert to the possibilities of former informant being contacted by representatives of publicity media and as a witness by congressional committees, INS, and state authorities. It will be the SAC's responsibility to know when a former informant is scheduled or is likely to appear at a hearing or make a public appearance of any kind. Prior thereto in each instance, former informant must be contacted and instructions above set forth reiterated by Agent who handled the informant. Emphasize to former informant that he must stick to the truth and make certain he can back up what he says, and if there is any deviation he will be subjected to harassment, criticism, possible libel, slander, or other criminal actions. If he inquires as to whether he should appear or testify or otherwise cooperate with any public or private individual or agency, advise him he must make that decision himself, but if he has appeared as a Government witness in a case which has not been finally adjudicated and decides in the affirmative, he should contact the USA for instructions. Advise Bureau of any such situations and the results of any interviews conducted.

- [[16. Whenever contacting Agent feels a discontinued informant could cause embarrassment to the Bureau, arrangements should be made to have the former informant come to the field office where he will be personally met by the SAC. At that time, he should be impressed with the fact that his services were appreciated and were of considerable assistance to the security of the country and remind him that he signed an agreement when he was active as an informant to maintain his relation with the Bureau on a confidential basis. The SAC should stress the necessity for the informant to maintain this confidence.]

R. FURNISHING OF INFORMANTS TO IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS)

1. INS conducts investigations of alien communists as required under the Immigration Act of 10-16-18, as amended. INS, in order to enforce this statute, must obtain evidence to prove that certain aliens, due to their membership in certain groups, are undesirable and deportable or subject to denaturalization.
2. Cooperate fully with INS in these cases and make efforts consistent with your own cases and interests to make available information and witnesses where possible.
3. In this regard, if contacted by INS inquiring for informants and you have a discontinued informant or one who would be of assistance to INS and whose loss would not affect your work, furnish his identity to the Bureau, together with your recommendation.
4. The Bureau will then review all of the facts concerning such informant and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
5. Exercise care in recommending informants for disclosure to INS so that you will not find yourself without proper coverage.
6. Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain informant's permission.

S. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that an informant or ex-informant furnished false information while an informant, advise Bureau by airmail of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing the informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with a review of all data furnished by the individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from the informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify the cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing the information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to the specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by the Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations; corrective action should be called to the attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.

8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.
9. Also set up a control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a final letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication.
10. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.
11. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from the informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
12. It is imperative that all information from the informant be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
13. Occasionally, an ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to the time he was an informant. It is not necessary to go back and change the evaluation of the information attributed to that individual in the absence of a definite indication that the informant furnished unreliable information to the Bureau while he was an informant.
14. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

T. CLASSIFICATION - 134

U. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning a symbol number, and a brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. The abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; [e.g., "Richard Roe, CS."] Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating the country involved; e.g., IS - R for Russia.
 - d. When a permanent symbol has been assigned to a confidential source, the abbreviation "CS" is to appear before the symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from the series of numbers used for your security, racial, and criminal informants.
3. Index
 - a. Index cards on form FD-348 like those prepared for informants must be made up and filed as an adjunct to the criminal informant index, racial informant index, or the security informant index, depending on the type of information furnished.
 - b. The symbol index is handled similarly to the symbol index on informants.
 - c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index, racial informant index, and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in these types of investigations.
4. Files
When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the individual are discontinued. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

5. Utilization
 - a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security informants.
 - b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which the frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances of the individual case, confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained should also be contacted at least once every two weeks in the same manner as security informants.
 - c. Records of contacts with confidential sources who have pending files may be posted.
 - d. Contacts with confidential sources should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
 - e. The letter to the Bureau requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source is to set out clearly the following information:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, credit and arrest record, and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of the expected cooperation of captioned individual as a confidential source, together with the results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) A statement to the effect subject is being considered a confidential source and that he will be advised he is not a Bureau employee and of the confidential nature of his relationship with the Bureau. In addition, a statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with a labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
 - f. One of the required copies of the letter requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source should consist only of the first page of the letter. If the request is approved at the Bureau, a stamped notation will be placed on the single-page copy and it will be returned to the field indicating that authority is granted to consider subject as a confidential source. Letters requesting such authority are not to be transmitted to the Bureau until subject is sufficiently cooperative and all necessary background information obtained.
6. Security confidential sources - certification of stability and payments
 - a. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security confidential sources. See 107N, 3b, for form of letter.
 - b. If the security source is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.
7. Gifts

Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.
8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau [of the date] when confidential source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.

protect his security. Fellow members of the pertinent subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where a state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of their identity, then Bureau payments should be discontinued during the period they receive unemployment compensation benefits.

[9. Handling money and property received by double agents

- [a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with the double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifically approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the Bureau.
- [b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal represents possible future evidence and the double agent should execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. This statement should be signed by the double agent's code name or number.
- [c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
- [d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.]

0. SEMIANNUAL LETTER

A semiannual letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid for services or expenses on a regular basis. If such confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol numbers of all unpaid security informants.
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the semiannual letter, list under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage, should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage is provided by informants or sources who are not members, such factors should be shown relative to each unit.

Semiannual letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in over-all evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES 107A - B

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security [or intelligence] matters exclusively for Bureau and whose identity must be protected. Such person should be a member or attend meetings of a subversive organization, such as the Communist Party; or be in such a position relative to a subversive organization, or espionage activities or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal, that he is able to obtain and does provide current information of value; [or furnish pertinent foreign intelligence data of value on a regular basis.]
2. Potential security informant
Individual in a position to become active in a subversive organization or espionage or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal or can become closely associated therewith, [or is in a position to secure pertinent foreign intelligence data,] and is making affirmative effort through associations or contacts so that he can be in a position actively to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
A specialized type of security informant; a person who is cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both a foreign intelligence service and the Bureau under the Bureau's guidance.
4. Confidential source
An individual who on a confidential basis furnishes information available to him through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort on behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to the internal security. Experience has shown that potential informants may be obtained through alertness in the course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for the most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, the following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants in security matters
 - b. Persons interviewed in connection with security cases
 - c. Subjects of security investigations looking for indications of disaffection, disgruntlement, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - d. Bureau applicants as possible informants
 - e. Personal friends and contacts of Special Agents and other Bureau employees
 - f. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts on continuous basis
2. Review of closed security files on individuals
3. Review of reserve index
4. Ascertain possibilities of reactivating former confidential informants.
5. Deleted
6. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
7. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on the part of Communist Party members. They, of course, should not be informed as to the purpose of the inquiry.
8. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings of a front. Such individuals frequently are innocent of communist propensities, yet they have a basis for cultivating the acquaintance of party members.

A specialized type of security informant; a person who is cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both a foreign intelligence service and the Bureau under the Bureau's guidance.
4. Confidential source
An individual who on a confidential basis furnishes information available to him through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort on behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to the internal security. Experience has shown that potential informants may be obtained through alertness in the course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for the most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, the following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants in security matters
 - b. Persons interviewed in connection with security cases
 - c. Subjects of security investigations looking for indications of disaffection, disgruntlement, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - d. Bureau applicants as possible informants
 - e. Personal friends and contacts of Special Agents and other Bureau employees
 - f. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts on continuous basis
2. Review of closed security files on individuals
3. Review of reserve index
4. Ascertain possibilities of reactivating former confidential informants.
5. Deleted
6. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
7. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on the part of Communist Party members. They, of course, should not be informed as to the purpose of the inquiry.
8. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings of a front. Such individuals frequently are innocent of communist propensities, yet they have a basis for cultivating the acquaintance of party members.

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security matters exclusively for Bureau and whose identity must be protected. Such person should be a member or attend meetings of a subversive organization, such as the Communist Party; or be in such a position relative to a subversive organization, or espionage activities or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal that he is able to obtain and does provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in a position to become active in a subversive organization or espionage or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal or can become closely associated therewith, and is making affirmative effort through associations or contacts so that he can be in a position actively to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
A specialized type of security informant; a person who is cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both a foreign intelligence service and the Bureau under the Bureau's guidance.
4. Confidential source
An individual who on a confidential basis furnishes information available to him through his present position. Examples would be: bankers, telephone company employees, American employees of foreign official establishments, [and] employees of the United Nations Secretariat. These individuals make no concerted effort on behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.

9. Investigation of communist petition signers who are acquainted with Communist Party functionaries
10. Be alert to receive any suggestions of plant executives and highly placed personnel who are reliable and friendly to the Bureau concerning members of subversive organizations who might cooperate with the Bureau or employees who might be willing to infiltrate a subversive organization. In the past such contacts have on occasion resulted in the plant's making available the services of an employee who already is an informant of the management.
11. Personnel directors in plants frequently are able to advise of members of communist-dominated unions who retain their membership merely to hold their positions.
12. With regard to both 10 and 11 above, if possible, the official should suggest to the potential informant that he contact the Bureau rather than have an Agent originate the contact.
13. After the Bureau has notified the armed forces of a communist in an industrial plant having armed forces contracts, the communist frequently recants when he is informed of the charges and is facing the possibility of dismissal or transfer to a nonrestricted position in the same plant. At such a time, officers friendly to the Bureau sometimes suggest that the person advise the Bureau of his past activities. Be alert to take advantage of such cooperation when offered.
14. Review of Communist Party registration records to ascertain what individuals merely registered but never became active
15. Use of a reliable third party to make the contact with a possible informant when direct contact by an Agent is inadvisable. Request Bureau to furnish the services of an individual who is available for such a contact.
16. Officials and employees of foreign establishments in the U. S.
17. Employees of the United Nations Secretariat
18. Contacts (business, social, or otherwise) of foreign officials stationed in the U. S.
19. Individuals who because of background, employment, or social status are in a position of intelligence interest to a foreign principal and who will undertake intelligence assignments under the guidance of the Bureau. (See deseco program, section 105K, 6h, volume IV, of this manual.)

[C. [INTERVIEWS WITH AND DEVELOPMENT OF BACKGROUND ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES]

When a decision is made to consider a particular individual for informant purposes, background investigation must be conducted. [Extensive background investigation should not be conducted, however, until the individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist the Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever the restrictions imposed in section 87D, item 6b, (7), volume III, and section 105K, item 6b, (10), volume IV, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should] consist of the following:

1. Check of field office files for derogatory information
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants to ascertain if the [individual] is known to [them]
3. Inquiries of discreet nature to obtain information concerning the individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Background investigation must definitely establish that the [individual] can be utilized without any danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from the [individual] is not sufficient; [his] background must be established by the investigation, [including discreet inquiries among persons who are personally acquainted with him.]
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Obtain necessary data for the completion of an FD-9 form which should be transmitted to the Identification Division to obtain [any] record [he may have.]
5. Armed services record should be reviewed if the individual is a veteran.
6. Check draft status or status in the armed forces reserve.
7. Domestic status and if any marital difficulties all details should be obtained.

After the Bureau has notified the armed forces of a communist in an industrial plant having armed forces contracts, the communist frequently recants when he is informed of the charges and is facing the possibility of dismissal or transfer to a nonrestricted position in the same plant. At such a time, officers friendly to the Bureau sometimes suggest that the person advise the Bureau of his past activities. Be alert to take advantage of such cooperation when offered.
14. Review of Communist Party registration records to ascertain what individuals merely registered but never became active
15. Use of a reliable third party to make the contact with a possible informant when direct contact by an Agent is inadvisable. Request Bureau to furnish the services of an individual who is available for such a contact.
- [16. Officials and employees of foreign establishments in the U. S.
- [17. Employees of the United Nations Secretariat
- [18. Contacts (business, social, or otherwise) of foreign officials stationed in the U. S.
- [19. Individuals who because of background, employment, or social status are in a position of intelligence interest to a foreign principal and who will undertake intelligence assignments under the guidance of the Bureau. (See deseco program, section 105K,6h, volume IV, of this manual.)]

[C. INVESTIGATION OF POTENTIAL[SECURITY]INFORMANTS

When a decision made to consider a particular individual for informant purposes, background investigation must be conducted. This should consist of the following:

1. Check of field office files for derogatory information, particularly of a subversive nature
2. Discreet canvass of other informants to ascertain if the potential informant is known to current informants of your office
3. Inquiries of discreet nature to obtain information concerning the individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Background investigation must definitely establish that the potential informant can be utilized without any danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from the potential informant is not sufficient; the background of the individual must be established by the investigation.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Obtain necessary data for the completion of an FD-9 form which should be transmitted to the Identification Division to obtain the record, if any, of the informant.
5. Armed services record should be reviewed if the individual is a veteran.
6. Check draft status or status in the armed forces reserve.
7. Domestic status and if any marital difficulties all details should be obtained.

8. Potential security informants in espionage and foreign nationality cases many times present special problems which limit or govern the scope of the initial investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and deseco program, section 105K, 6b and 6h, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical the above items should be covered.
9. Leads to obtain background data must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days.
10. Investigation as outlined above must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, and develop an individual as a potential informant.

D. INTERVIEWS AND DEVELOPMENT OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

1. When background information obtained as described under subsection C, transmit results to Bureau in the same numerical sequence as set out in subsection C, and request authority to [designate] individual as a [Bureau-approved potential] security informant [and proceed with his development.]
2. When authority is granted by Bureau, steps should be taken to develop his potentiality and he should be made aware of Bureau policy.
3. Carefully plan initial interviews as to time and location to prevent any embarrassment to Bureau.
4. Do not interview female potentials in their own homes or apartments unless necessary and all such interviews in their residences should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of the superior in the field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that the potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups, and there will be no embarrassment to the Bureau.
5. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on the circumstances of the case, potential informants should be contacted personally at least once every two weeks in the same manner as informants.
6. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every four months. Letter concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization should be submitted on a UACB basis, should contain informative summary of information furnished during past four months, and must include certifications regarding potential informant's stability and reliability and his indoctrination against disclosure. These letters should follow the form indicated under section 107N, 3b, but should omit item (5) concerning payments and reword item (1) to omit reference to any payment recommendation.
7. Post records of contacts with potential informants so that the cases will not become delinquent.
8. During interviews with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have the necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
9. Potential informant should have contacts, associates, or possibilities for engaging in activity through which he can obtain and furnish current information of Bureau interest in security field.
10. If individual does not have potential as above described but is willing to cooperate, consider indicating to him he can be of assistance if he places himself in a position where he may be able to obtain information of value. In this regard, address of local headquarters of subversive organizations or meeting places of subversive groups may be mentioned to the individual as places where it may be possible for him to obtain information if he so desires; also, it may be mentioned that if he subscribes to periodicals or frequents such places above mentioned, he may be approached or an interest may be shown in him which, if developed, would be the means whereby he could obtain information.
11. Inform potential informants who agree to assist the Bureau that such assistance must be strictly voluntary and they are to understand that there is no coercion or intimidation involved.

8. Potential security informants in espionage and foreign nationality cases many times present special problems which limit or govern the scope of the initial investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and descco program, section 105K, 6b and 6h, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical the above items should be covered.
9. Leads to obtain background data must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days.

12. During initial stages of development and on occasion active informants may raise a personal question concerning their own position if it becomes known publicly that they are affiliated with a subversive organization. In the event a potential informant or informant inquires as to what can be done for him in such a case, he may be told that his cooperation is a matter of record in the FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making the facts of his cooperation with the FBI known to his employer or to the responsible individuals. It should be pointed out that this action may make it impossible for him to continue on behalf of the FBI and the service which he is performing for his country may be terminated. Before taking steps to advise anyone of a potential informant's or informant's cooperation, prior Bureau authority must be obtained.
13. Specifically advise each potential informant that he is not and cannot consider himself a Bureau employee or "undercover Agent" of the FBI. In this regard, the seriousness of violating the impersonation statutes must be impressed upon the informant.
14. Advise potential informant that his cooperation must be strictly confidential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this confidence he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in the mind of the informant that his relationship must remain on a confidential basis and if he violates the confidence he will be of no value and by so doing the Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. This must be thoroughly impressed upon the informant before you accept him as such. If the informant has a special problem which would require his revealing his relationship to his wife, etc., this should be learned from him during the initial interview and a recommendation made to the Bureau when the results of the interview are furnished. The special circumstances will be taken into consideration by the Bureau.
15. If a prospective informant is connected in any manner with a labor union, inform him that the Bureau is not interested in employer-employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining information on the infiltration in labor unions by subversive elements.
16. If the potential informant is a student, teacher, or has any similar relations with a school, college, or university, in his initial interview and subsequent handling, be sure to follow current instructions concerning investigations on the campuses of colleges and universities.
17. From the first interview with a potential informant through his development and until he is discontinued, extreme caution should be used at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
18. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, assign permanent symbol number and advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence; individual's background must also be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as a potential witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.]

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel]
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by the Bureau.
2. Contacts by designated Agents]
Contacts with an informant or potential informant should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated[to contact him.]
3. Divulging information to informant]

 [concerning any of the Bureau's investigative activity other than that [which is essential to[his]proper operation.

4. [Recording investigative activity]

All investigative activity must be made a matter of record in the field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Sources include all confidential informants - criminal or security. Agents must not have and use informants known only to the individual Agents personally.

[F. INDOCTRINATION, [DIRECTION,] AND CONTROL OF [SECURITY] INFORMANTS

1. [Caution against divulging relationship]

- a. During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant the absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging through any media any information regarding his relationship with Bureau.
- b. These instructions must be properly worded and phrased to prevent any possibility Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.

2. [Developing additional background]

- a. During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant.
- b. After gaining informant's confidence, information will be elicited which may be pertinent to his operation and may have effect upon his retention, such as data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk as an informant.

3. [Handling indications of instability]

- a. Details of any indications of instability should be furnished to the Bureau immediately upon being obtained, with recommendations as to informant's continuance.
- b. Set forth the steps being taken to prevent any embarrassment to Bureau.

4. Contacts [by Agents]

- a. [Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where the frequency of contact is dependent on the circumstances of each case,] informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks.
- b. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for an exception to this requirement [(except in espionage and foreign nationality matters).] In requesting such exception, set forth all attendant circumstances.
- c. During each contact, informant's activities since previous contact should be carefully reviewed and the contacting Agent should make certain the informant has furnished in writing or verbally all information and data which he has obtained since the last contact. If additional or supplementary information is furnished during this contact with the informant, this information should be handled in the same manner as outlined in subsection G.
- d. Contacting Agent should become so well acquainted with informant that he will not breach the confidential relationship. If there is slightest indication informant may do so, Agent should be able to anticipate this action and forestall it.
- e. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but also direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows how informant is thinking with regard to Bureau connection. This relationship should not be so reciprocal that informant obtains information concerning Agent or Agent's business, personal or official.
- f. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent and later cause embarrassment to Agent or Bureau by using for his own advantage such knowledge which he may obtain.
- g. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.

- h. Any arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in the minds of either the Agent or informant as to the methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
- i. Informants should be instructed to use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants the unlisted office telephone number for emergency communication. [This rule is not practical in all espionage and foreign nationality matters but should be followed where applicable.]
- j. Positive information received from informant should be the subject of a written statement by informant or a memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in the informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
- k. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
- l. The dates of negative contacts and file numbers of the cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where a file has more than one subject, the name of the subject under inquiry should also be noted. Do not set forth title of the case involved on the form.
- m. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
- n. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and former should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent in absence of Agent to whom informant is assigned.

[5. [Checking reliability]

- a. Reliability of informants must be constantly checked.
- b. Consideration should be given to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.
- c. Checks on reliability must be constantly reviewed during time informant is active.

6. Fingerprints

- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to the contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
- b. If informant refuses, do not force the issue.
- c. Informant's fingerprints, when obtained, should be forwarded as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258. This card should be properly executed showing subject's complete description, including date and place of birth. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.
- d. A flash notice is to be placed by the field in the files of the Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
- e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year following discontinuance. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.

[7. [Control - statement of cooperation]

- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants and double agents in order to obtain maximum results in security cases and to prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.

- b. As means of obtaining closer control, obtain signed statement set out below whenever feasible and practical. In those instances in which it is not practical to secure a signed statement from an informant or double agent, advise Bureau of complete details. The SAC and the Agent handling the informant or double agent should determine the appropriate time in the informant's operation when the statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

- [8. Execution of party questionnaires]
- a. Informants, particularly in Communist Party, oftentimes must execute "Party" questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants.
 - b. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant to be certain his identity as informant is protected.
- [9. Informant's activity in organizations]
- a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of the organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish sources for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in the organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of the motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions and suggestions given are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but at the same time they should be cautioned to do so in such a manner as to avoid suspicion.
- [10. Transfer of informants to other areas]
- a. Keep alert to possibility of transferring informants to areas needing coverage through change in residence or employment.
 - b. Keep in mind over-all coverage of organizations. If informant becomes prominent and may be able to expand his field of activity beyond your field division, by all means encourage him to do so in order to provide a wider coverage for the Bureau's work.
- [11. Action by informant when uncovered]
- a. If informant is uncovered by subversive elements, he should be instructed to defend himself vigorously and demand proof of his informant activity.
 - b. Suspicion in many cases is directed to an informant without facts to back it up and by bluffing informant may confuse the issue to the point where his services may not be lost. This procedure should be carefully handled and each situation considered on its merits.
 - c. In some cases it may be necessary for informant to acquiesce to charges of deviation from the strict discipline of the organization involved, as by so doing he may cast off suspicion.

- [[12. Requests of informant to help defend others]
- a. If a security informant is requested by the Communist Party, communists being prosecuted by the Government, or by other interested parties to assist in the preparation of the defense in subversive-type cases or receives assignment where such information is readily available, informant should tactfully decline such assignments.
 - b. Any such request received by informant should be reported immediately to the contacting Agent and made a matter of record.
 - c. If the informant cannot avoid becoming involved, he should be instructed not to report to the contacting Agent any information pertaining to defense plans or strategy.
 - d. Any such incident must be reported promptly to the Bureau.

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

- [1. General instructions[re oral and written information]
- a. Instructions regarding preparation, submission, and handling of information received from informants apply not only to security informants but also to potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions and guidance must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.
 - c. They should be submitted as quickly as possible after a meeting or activity.
 - d. Written statements should be submitted whenever possible, but if such cannot be done information may be provided orally. [In espionage and foreign nationality matters written statements are usually necessary only in those instances involving possible future prosecution. (In the majority of cases diplomats or officials who are not subject to prosecution are involved.)]
 - e. Carefully scrutinize each, bearing in mind that if informant is called upon to testify at a later date his statements will very likely be introduced in court.
 - f. All information furnished by informants orally or in writing must be promptly reviewed, recorded, indexed, evaluated, channeled, and all necessary action taken. Form FD-306 may be used in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channeled. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."
 - g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise the trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. The trial attorney will thus be prepared in the event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.
 - h. See subsection M for instructions regarding filing informant statements.
- [2. Recording[written and oral information]
- a. Written by informant
 - (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
 - (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
 - (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
 - (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at the top of it.
 - (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or each separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement whether the information is of evidentiary or intelligence value.

- (6) Informants should include in the body of their statements specific dates and places; purpose of the meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; specific activity engaged in by each individual present; and comments made by each individual.
- (7) Informant should identify each page at the bottom by affixing his code name. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified [by informant affixing his code name or the initials of his code name.]
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in the body of the statement by his true name and he should use the third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., thereto, nor should he place any markings thereon, such as his initials, date of receipt from informant, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum which should contain the applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to an absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be furnished orally by informant to contacting Agent who will record the information in memorandum form for the informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with the making of the oral statement by the informant to the Agent. The following items furnished by informant should be left out:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant.

These data should be recorded in memorandum form for the informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date it at the top with the date the informant furnished the information to the Agent. No other date is desired except the date of the meeting or activity which shall be set forth in the body of the statement.
- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or each separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by the Agent as if the informant were preparing them himself.
- (5) The information, after being reduced to writing, should then be read promptly by the informant and acknowledged by him by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters authentication by informants is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.

- (6) Informants should include in the body of their statements specific dates and places; purpose of the meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; specific activity engaged in by each individual present; and comments made by each individual.
- (7) Informant should identify each page at the bottom by affixing his code name. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be similarly identified.
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in the body of the statement by his true name and he should use the third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., thereto, nor should he place any markings thereon, such as his initials, date of receipt from informant, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum which should contain the applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to an absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be furnished orally by informant to contacting Agent who will record the information in memorandum form for the informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with the making of the oral statement by the informant to the Agent. The following items furnished by informant should be left out:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant

- (5) The information, after being reduced to writing, should then be read promptly by the informant and acknowledged by him by affixing his code name or code symbol on each page. [In espionage and foreign nationality matters authentication by informants is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.]

- (6) After informant authenticates his statement, contacting Agent should prepare a cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it and thereafter the statement should be handled as a written one in accordance with instructions set out in 2, a, (10), and (11).
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be incorporated in an office memorandum by the Agent and should not be initialed by the informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
 - a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants whenever possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such personal contacts.
 - b. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency.
 - c. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - d. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory.
 - e. More than one informant may send statements to a specific post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of post office employees.
 - f. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under a fictitious name in the same manner as d.
 - g. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for any extended period of time.
 - h. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest to Bureau, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication. Office should take any necessary action without delay.
 4. Handling of lead information
 - a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to a logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is only partial name of individual or meager descriptive data, and if there is sufficient data available to do so, file should be opened and assigned to effect an identification and to take any necessary action.
 - c. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, a tickler card should be prepared to follow with the informant and take other logical steps in an effort to obtain additional identifying data concerning the individual. Tickler cards should be restricted to information which would warrant investigation if an identity is established. This will eliminate inconsequential items, but at the same time definite steps must be taken to run out affirmative information. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile. If an identification is made, a file should be opened and any necessary action taken in connection therewith.
 5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
 - a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon the informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received the material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, the date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols etc., should be placed on documentary material by Agents or clerical personnel.

- (6) After informant authenticates his statement, contacting Agent should prepare a cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it and thereafter the statement should be handled as a written one in accordance with instructions set out in 2, a, (10), and (11).

- e. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. See section 107M for filing instructions.

H. PASSING INFORMATION IN DOUBLE AGENT OPERATIONS

1. Carefully handle and create basis for acquisition
 - a. In double agent operations information requested by the principals is frequently passed either to build up a double agent's stature or as evidence of espionage activity.
 - b. Each case must be carefully evaluated to make certain that a net gain accrues to the U. S.
 - c. The information which is passed should be carefully handled and appropriate explanations created for its acquisition by the double agent to avoid his compromise.
2. Locating information to pass
Wherever possible the field office handling the double agent should locate appropriate information to be passed; however, the Bureau can assist in fulfilling requests for information in possession of Government agencies.
3. Obtaining Bureau authority
Bureau authority must be obtained to pass any information in a double agent operation except:
 - a. Newspaper articles
 - b. Magazine articles
 - c. Pamphlets, brochures, etc., prepared by a private company or corporation for distribution or sale to the public. (This does not include highly technical pamphlets, even if unclassified, which are prepared for limited use by engineering staffs and not intended for release to the public.)
4. Retention of copies of passed material
 - a. True copies should be retained by the office of origin of any documents or material related to the national defense which is passed in double agent operations.
 - b. Such material should be appropriately identified by the double agent.
 - c. Bureau Agents should not place identifying data on such material but should preserve any notes made by them in connection with the passage of such material.
 - d. Similar action should be taken with regard to any material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to the national defense.
 - e. It is not necessary to retain copies of buildup material obviously not evidentiary in nature where there is assurance that copies can be obtained at a later date from the Government agency or private concern having custody.

I. SYMBOLS

1. Assigning numbers
 - a. All informants should be designated by a permanent symbol number of which the Bureau must be advised. Once a symbol number is assigned, it must not be subsequently reassigned [to any other security, racial, or criminal informant or source or confidential technique].
 - b. Potential security informants and confidential sources whose identity must be protected may be assigned permanent symbol numbers if they are producing sufficient information to warrant the use of such designations.
 - c. Individuals to whom permanent symbols assigned are not to be advised of such symbols.
 - d. An additional cover name should be used by informant in signing his statements and in communications between the informant and the field office.
 - e. Bureau should be advised of this cover name in addition to the permanent symbol.

- d. All such material should be transmitted in the same manner as statements furnished by informant.
- e. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. See section 107M for filing instructions.

1. [Assigning numbers]
 - a. All informants should be designated by a permanent symbol number of which the Bureau must be advised.
 - b. Potential security informants and confidential sources whose identity must be protected may be assigned permanent symbol numbers if they are producing sufficient information to warrant the use of such designations.
 - c. Individuals to whom permanent symbols assigned are not to be advised of such symbols.
 - d. An additional cover name or number should be used by informant in signing his statements and in communications between the informant and the field office.
 - e. Bureau should be advised of this cover name or number in addition to the permanent symbol.

2. Communications - use of symbols
 - a. After Bureau is advised of the permanent symbol, in subsequent communications true name of informant should not be set forth; use symbol number.
 - b. In all communications after the initial letter, Bureau and field office file numbers for informant must be set forth.
 - c. In communications between offices, the same procedure is to be followed.
 - d. Informants and sources entering another division
 - (1) Active informants and sources entering another division on temporary basis for Bureau business or for personal reasons should be referred to in initial letter to interested office by true name and symbol number if it is necessary for the other division to know the identity of the informant. Office receiving such letter should make appropriate index cards and place same in "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" index. Subsequent letters between interested offices may then identify individual by symbol number only.
 - (2) Individuals who leave the division where they have been furnishing information and do not plan to return should be immediately discontinued, their symbol number, if any, should be cancelled, and their true name should be used in all administrative correspondence.
 - (3) If an informant is transferred to another office and remains active, his identity must still be protected.
 - e. In communications, the teletype abbreviation for the field office, symbol, and letter suffix "S" shall be shown to identify the informant; e.g., "NY 000-S."
 - f. In communications concerning a potential security informant, the name of the potential security informant and abbreviation "PSI" shall be used; e.g., "John Doe, PSI."
 - g. Similarly, in communications relative to confidential sources, the abbreviation "CS" should be used; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS."
 - h. When symbol numbers are assigned to potential security informants, the designation should be as follows: "LA 000-PSI."
 - i. In communications relative to a confidential source having a permanent symbol number, the following should be used: "CS LA 000-S."
 - j. In espionage and foreign nationality matters the caption of the communication should show in addition a character and the country designation (i.e., IS - R for Russia or IS - PO for Poland, etc.). This facilitates routing the mail at the Bureau.

J. INDEXING

1. True names and aliases of all informants, as well as the cover name assigned to them for informants' use in submitting their statements, but not their permanent Bureau symbol numbers, shall be indexed in the general office indices in the same manner as any other name.
2. These index cards should show the file number of the informant and such terms as "Informant" or "Potential Security Informant" shall not appear.

K. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index
 - a. Alphabetical name index
 - (1) In all offices all active potential security and security informant cards are to be kept by the SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice. This is to be known as the alphabetical name index.
 - (2) File these cards in alphabetical order and also include cards for security confidential sources. These cards should show whether the individual is a potential informant, an informant, or a confidential source furnishing information on security matters.

2. Communications - use of symbols
 - a. After Bureau is advised of the permanent symbol, in subsequent communications true name of informant should not be set forth; use symbol number.

2. These index cards should[show]the file number of the informant and such terms as "Informant" or "Potential Security Informant" shall not appear.

K. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index
 - a. Alphabetical name index
 - (1) In all offices all active potential security and security informant cards are to be kept by the SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice. This is to be known as the alphabetical name index.
 - (2) File these cards in alphabetical order and also include cards for security confidential sources. These cards should show whether the individual is a potential informant, an informant, or a confidential source furnishing information on security matters.

b. Symbol number index

- (1) The same official as set out in 1a (1) above is to maintain the symbol number index. This index shall contain a card for each individual to whom a symbol number has been assigned.
- (2) File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind the numerical symbol index.

c. The above indices (alphabetical name index and symbol number index) shall not be available for review by Agents seeking informant help in connection with their cases.

d. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by the official having custody of the cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of his activities and type of information he furnishes.

2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"

- a. A separate index may be maintained for the use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
- b. If such index is maintained, a separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source that has been furnished.
- c. These cards should contain brief background data, together with the identity of the Bureau communication which contains the complete background data.
- d. File these cards alphabetically by name and symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.

3. Agents' informative index

- a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by the same official as set out in 1a (1) above for the use of Agents on the type of informant coverage in the division.
- b. File these cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
- c. Behind each geographical location there should be a guide card indicating the type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Civil Rights Congress, Polish Activity, etc.
- d. On this guide card set forth the symbol numbers of the informants and confidential sources who can provide this coverage.
- e. Potential informants, confidential sources, panel sources, and sources of information who do not have permanent symbols should be set forth by name.
- f. When an individual can provide more than one type of information, his symbol or identity (if a potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information without a permanent symbol) should be set forth on as many guide cards as he may provide types of information.
- g. These guide cards should show the above data and it is permissible to place alongside the name or symbol number, as the case may be, the names of the contacting Agents to whom a request may be made for a specific check with the individual.
- h. Also, there may be set forth on these guide cards symbol numbers of informants who move outside a division and who still may be excellent sources regarding past activities. They should be declassified from informants to confidential sources or sources of information. If any such individual has moved from a division and is being utilized by the division to which he has moved and has received a symbol number from the latter division, such designation should be indicated on the guide card.
- i. The names or symbol numbers, as the case may be, of individuals contained in the index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on the appropriate guide cards in this index.

4. [Currency and security]

All indices shall be maintained in a current status at all times in a manner which provides tight security of the information and yet makes it easily available to Agents having a need thereof.

L. INDEX CARDS

1. Index cards (3 by 5 inches) for the alphabetical name index shall be prepared as follows:

Name:	Symbol No:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)	File No:
Residence:
Telephone Number:
Business:
Telephone Number:
Type of Information:
Contacting Agent:
Alternate Agent:

2. Index cards (3 by 5 inches) for the symbol number index shall be prepared as follows:

Symbol:	File No:
(Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)

Name:

3. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in the informant's administrative file.

M. INFORMANT FILES

1. [Opening]

- a. When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as an informant or confidential source and he is not the subject of a security-type file, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the subject are discontinued.
- b. If an individual is the subject of a security case and after being interviewed with Bureau authority he indicates he is cooperative and has potentiality as an informant, a 134 file should be opened and maintained in a pending status while under development as a potential informant. [In espionage and foreign nationality matters the existing file may be used rather than opening a new 134 file if this is practical and will reduce paper work.]
- c. Individual files on all active informants should be maintained and carried as pending active files.

2. [Monthly administrative report]

Files on potential informants and informants shall be included in the tabulations and calculations of delinquencies in the monthly administrative report.

3. [Assignment and tickler cards]

- a. Assignment and tickler cards should be maintained.
- b. The true name of informant is not to appear on the assignment and tickler cards.

4. Subfiles

- a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
- b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.

5. Channelization

Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."

6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of

For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda, see Manual of Rules and Regulations.

7. Dissemination of information

Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.

8. Correspondence

Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.

9. Maintenance of files

- a. All pending files on security informants shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, or field supervisor as the informant indices are maintained and described in subsection K.
- b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
- c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
- d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.

10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re

From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.

11. Form FD-238

Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top

Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top document in the pertinent informant file and not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

- [[12.] Bulky material submitted by informant
Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants
 - a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
 - b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
 - c. Expenditures for gifts to informants will not be approved as blue slip items.
 - d. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.
2. SAC authority to pay informants
 - a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
 - b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
 - c. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
 - d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.
3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority
 - a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
 - b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown.
(In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:

"I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for services, plus up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____months, effective ____ (date)."

document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

[12.] Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
- b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
- c. Expenditures for gifts to informants will not be approved as blue slip items.
- d. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

- a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
- b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- c. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown. (In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:

"I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for services, plus up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____months, effective ____ (date)."

- (2) Residence and employment (If no change since last justification letter, merely state "no change.")
- (3) Current membership [and position held] in subversive organizations [(When justification is submitted for racial informants, substitute the word "racial" for the word "subversive.")]
- (4) Summary of information furnished and/or services rendered during pertinent period
- (5) Amount paid for services and expenses by month (Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.)
- (6) Type and number of meetings attended and other activity
- (7) Number of written and oral statements submitted (List separately.)
- (8) Information furnished of unusual value
- (9) Approximate number of persons on whom informant furnished coverage and their importance
- (10) Steps being taken to advance informant
- (11) Stability and reliability (Set forth personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or other similar problems presented by informant, and steps being taken to prevent any such situations from later becoming source of embarrassment to the Bureau.)
- (12) Indoctrination against disclosure (State whether every opportunity has been taken to properly indoctrinate informant against making any disclosure of his relationship with Bureau through any media.)
- (13) All necessary action taken on information furnished
- (14) Miscellaneous (Any other matters concerning informant's operation which should be brought to Bureau's attention)

(Where applicable, substitute potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information for the word "informant.")

- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a definite period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
- d. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow form in subsection 3b.
- e. Letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. If the recommendation is not approved, correspondence will be prepared and transmitted to the field.
- f. In order for this system to function properly, payment letters must be explicit.
- g. When payments are authorized by the Bureau, it is the personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure himself that full value is being received.
- h. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
- i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
- i. [Extraordinary expenses]
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.
5. Receipts
When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If a receipt cannot be obtained for a particular payment, complete circumstances should be set forth on the blue slip at the time reimbursement is claimed.
- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on the receipts, such corrections must be initialed by the informant and not by the Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - [b.] Bureau income should be set forth under item 5 on page one of the Federal income tax return, form 1040, and explained under part V, [3,] schedule B, of the return as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - [c.] If the informant is self-employed and files a schedule C as a self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with the Bureau.
 - d. Effective 1-1-65, in those instances in which the informant cannot report payments received from the Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as an informant, such payments will be subject to a 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from the Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning the procedure to be followed in the handling and control of money withheld.]

4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.
5. Receipts

6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Since all informants are considered independent contractors, the income they receive from the Bureau is self-employment income but, since the Bureau does not consider their activity as the carrying on of a profession or business, they may consider dispensing with the filing of a schedule C as part of form 1040 if they so desire.
 - c. The informant's own personal situation, however, should be taken into consideration as he may receive income from other sources as an independent contractor which would require the deduction of self-employment tax, regardless of any Bureau income he may receive.
 - d. In considering the filing of a tax on self-employment income, such a return is based upon net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. If an informant receives less than $400 from the Bureau and has no other self-employment income, this money in any event is not subject to the self-employment tax. If the informant receives $4800 or more from outside employment subject to Social Security tax, again the self-employment tax requirements do not apply.
 - e. Bureau income should be set forth under item [5] on part one of the Federal income tax return, form 1040, and explained as part [part of schedule B,] of the return as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.

4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. 4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
 If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth [UACB.] In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.

5. Receipts

When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so.

- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.

- b. Receipts should clearly show:

- (1) Date on which payment was made
- (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
- (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
- (4) Name of Agent making payment
- (5) Signature of person receiving the money

- c. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.

6. Income tax returns

- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
- b. Since all informants are considered independent contractors, the income they receive from the Bureau is self-employment income but, since the Bureau does not consider their activity as the carrying on of a trade or business, they may consider dispensing with the filing of a schedule C as part of form 1040 if they so desire.
- c. The informant's own personal situation, however, should be taken into consideration as he may receive income from other sources as an independent contractor which would require the deduction of self-employment tax, regardless of any Bureau income he may receive.
- d. In considering the filing of a tax on self-employment income, such a return is based upon net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. If an informant receives less than $400 from the Bureau and has no other self-employment income, this money in any event is not subject to the self-employment tax. If the informant receives $4800 or more from outside employment subject to Social Security tax, again the self-employment tax requirements do not apply.
- e. Bureau income should be set forth under item 10 on page one of the Federal income tax return, form 1040, as "Other Income" and explained under schedule H(3) on page three of the return as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.

[4. [Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority]

If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth.

[In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.]

5. Receipts

When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so.

a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.

b. Receipts should clearly show:

- (1) Date on which payment was made
- (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
- (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
- (4) Name of Agent making payment
- (5) Signature of person receiving the money

c. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. d. In considering the filing of a tax on self-employment income, such a return is based upon net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. If an informant receives less than $400 from the Bureau and has no other self-employment income, this money in any event is not subject to the self-employment tax. e. Bureau income should be set forth under item 10 on page one of the Federal income tax return, form 1040, as "Other Income" and explained under schedule H(3) on page three of the return as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.

- f. If the informant receives from outside employment less than $4800, all of which is subject to Social Security tax, the amount on which he will have to report for Social Security tax purposes, if he completes a schedule C, is the difference between the amount received from regular employment and $4800.
- g. If informant completes a schedule C, the nature of business of the self-employed must be stated and informants should be instructed to use as the nature of self-employment any applicable occupation without revealing connection with the Bureau.
- [h. When an informant or former informant is initially considered as a potential witness in a Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on the income he received from the Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling the situation.]
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, the Bureau must furnish the Department a set of Photostats of the original receipts signed by the prospective witnesses. The original receipts and a set of Photostats will be transmitted to the field office in whose territory the trial will take place. The office handling prosecution must determine from the Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter the office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to the Bureau the following information:
- (1) The correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) The first date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, the names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) A tabulation of all payments, broken down as to the amount applicable to services and the amount applicable to expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to the Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
 - (6) A listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) The date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether the individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with a particular individual, the Bureau must be so advised.
- c. Where an informant has previously been used and a tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from the date of the last trial from which the individual was used.
- d. The above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to the attention of the Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to the Bureau with copies designated for the interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times security informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs with private industry due to strikes, economic conditions, or similar circumstances. As a result they become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of sources of income as a prerequisite for obtaining unemployment compensation and security informants and/or sources who at the time are being paid by the Bureau for services rendered fail to comply, the situation is potentially embarrassing. The Bureau cannot be placed in the position of condoning a violation of the state law on the part of any informant or source. Each field office should determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.

- f. 9. Handling money and property received by double agents
- a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with the double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifically approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal represents possible future evidence and the double agent should execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. This statement should be signed by the double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.

O. SEMIANNUAL LETTER

A semiannual letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid under Bureau authority (not SAC authority) for services or expenses. If the confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol numbers of all security informants not paid under Bureau authority.
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the semiannual letter, list under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage, should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage is provided by informants or sources who are not members, such factors should be shown relative to each unit.

Semiannual letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in over-all evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

P. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Every effort should be made to guide security informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep the contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form.
3. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
4. The Bureau will consider as a last resort advising another agency of the informant's relationship with the Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning the informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to a minimum in view of the obvious dangers to the informant.
5. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau is to be advised as promptly as possible, together with an appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
6. In no instance should you permit an informant to sign a loyalty oath in the negative.

Q. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When the services of an informant are discontinued, mark the name card "cancelled." Destroy the symbol card. Never destroy the name card.
2. Refile the name card in numerical order by symbol number in the symbol number index. If a discontinued informant or a discontinued potential security informant or confidential source to whom a symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove his name card from the symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note thereon type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in the name card section of the index.
3. When a potential security informant or confidential source is discontinued and a permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy the alphabetical index card.
4. Advise the Bureau [of the date] when a potential informant or informant is discontinued and the reason therefor.
5. Advise the Bureau as to whether or not the informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. The identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which the informant has furnished information must be ascertained and the Bureau advised in compliance with section 69F, volume III, of this manual.
6. Review the informant's file to determine if any copies or summaries of correspondence between the Bureau and the field relating to the Department's interest in using the informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness are contained therein. In those cases in which it is evident the Department has indicated a desire to consider the informant further when he becomes available, advise the Bureau in each such substantive case, except in those cases in which it is obvious the statute of limitations has run or the case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When all above action is completed, advise the Bureau.
7. A statement shall also be made to the effect that the measures to control informants, set out in 8 below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears that such are warranted.
8. When the services of an informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that the informant will look to the Bureau for advice and counsel prior to taking any action which would be against the Bureau's best interests. When an informant is discontinued, determine whether he has plans for writing a book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in

When the services of an informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that the informant will look to the Bureau for advice and counsel prior to taking any action which would be against the Bureau's best interests. When an informant is discontinued, determine whether he has plans for writing a book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in such activities, the Bureau will consider placing him in contact with a reliable publisher, but it must be made clear to the informant that the Bureau will not sponsor or endorse any book or publication which he elects to write.

9. All payments to discontinued security informants and confidential sources must be made on a strict c.o.d. basis. Obtain Bureau authority before making any such payments. In requesting Bureau authority for payments of this type, submit complete details as to the information furnished by the discontinued informant or source in the past and what is to be expected of the informant or source in the future.
10. Once an informant is exposed in any manner whatsoever he is no longer to be carried as a concealed source in reports or memoranda. His true name is to be set forth, together with descriptive data.
11. When an office receives information concerning, or obtains information from, an ex-informant, copies of memoranda prepared must be furnished to the office which originally handled the informant so that the file of the ex-informant will be as complete as possible.
12. When an informant has been discontinued for cause, such as unreliability, he should not be contacted in the future for information. If such an individual furnishes information it should be accepted, but in setting out the information in reports or communications use the individual's true name, together with an appropriate description of his reliability.
13. Remove flash notice per section F,[6.]
14. Repeated use of the same discontinued informant as a witness at security trials and hearings should be avoided. Make an all-out effort to develop witnesses who can furnish the same testimony as that expected of previously used witnesses. Advise Bureau of any indication by Government attorneys that an informant-witness who has previously testified will be called upon for testimony at a subsequent trial or hearing and furnish your comments concerning possibility of supplanting the testimony of individual involved. Submit communication under appropriate case character.
15. Every effort should be made to prevent a discontinued informant from becoming involved in situations which may prove embarrassing to informant or the Government. Immediately after he testifies for the first time, a serious talk should be had with informant by the SAC in the presence of the Agent who handled the informant. This interview should be conducted in the field office and informant told that:
 - a. He will no longer be operated by the Bureau
 - b. Since he is a public figure, he will probably be contacted by representatives of the press, radio, and television for interviews and appearances
 - c. He may be sought as a witness by congressional committees, by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and by state authorities
 - d. (Firmly stress.) In connection with such interviews and appearances, informant must continue to be factual and truthful and must not build up or embellish the statements, for if he does so he will wind up in serious trouble.

Advise Bureau results of such interview and comment on its possible effectiveness.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security or racial investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security and potential racial informants.
- b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which the frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances of the individual case, confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained should also be contacted at least once every two weeks in the same manner as security informants.
- c. Records of contacts with confidential sources who have pending files may be posted.
- d. Contacts with confidential sources should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
- e. The letter to the Bureau requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source is to set out clearly the following information:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, credit and arrest record, and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of the expected cooperation of captioned individual as a confidential source, together with the results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) A statement to the effect subject is being considered a confidential source and that he will be advised he is not a Bureau employee and of the confidential nature of his relationship with the Bureau. In addition, a statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with a labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
- f. [One of the required copies of the letter requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source should consist of the first page of the letter.] If the request is approved at the Bureau, a stamped notation will be placed on the [single-page] copy and [it will be] returned to the field indicating that authority is granted to consider subject as a confidential source. Letters requesting such authority are not to be transmitted to the Bureau until subject is sufficiently cooperative and all necessary background information obtained.

6. Security and racial confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial confidential sources. See 107N, 3b, for form of letter.
- b. If the security or racial source is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for one file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

7. Gifts

Gifts to sources shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau when confidential source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.

Be alert to the possibilities of former informant being contacted by representatives of publicity media and as a witness by congressional committees, INS, and state authorities. It will be the SAC's responsibility to know when a former informant is scheduled or is likely to appear at a hearing or make a public appearance of any kind. Prior thereto in each instance, former informant must be contacted and instructions above set forth reiterated by Agent who handled the informant. Emphasize to former informant that he must stick to the truth and make certain he can back up what he says, and if there is any deviation he will be subjected to harassment, criticism, possible libel, slander, or other criminal actions. If he inquires as to whether he should appear or testify or otherwise cooperate with any public or private individual or agency, advise him he must make that decision himself, but if he has appeared as a Government witness in a case which has not been finally adjudicated and decides in the affirmative, he should contact the USA for instructions. Advise Bureau of any such situations and the results of any interviews conducted.

R. FURNISHING OF INFORMANTS TO IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS)

1. INS conducts investigations of alien communists as required under the Immigration Act of 10-16-18, as amended. INS, in order to enforce this statute, must obtain evidence to prove that certain aliens, due to their membership in certain groups, are undesirable and deportable or subject to denaturalization.
2. Cooperate fully with INS in these cases and make efforts consistent with your own cases and interests to make available information and witnesses where possible.
3. In this regard, if contacted by INS inquiring for informants and you have a discontinued informant or one who would be of assistance to INS and whose loss would not affect your work, furnish his identity to the Bureau, together with your recommendation.
4. The Bureau will then review all of the facts concerning such informant and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
5. Exercise care in recommending informants for disclosure to INS so that you will not find yourself without proper coverage.
6. Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain informant's permission.

S. CORRECTIVE ACTION[ON FALSE INFORMATION]

1. When it is determined that an informant or ex-informant furnished false information while an informant, advise Bureau by airmail of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing the informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with a review of all data furnished by the individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from the informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify the cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing the information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to the specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by the Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations; corrective action should be called to the attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.

8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.
9. Also set up a control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a final letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication.
10. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.
11. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from the informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
12. It is imperative that all information from the informant be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
13. Occasionally, an ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to the time he was an informant. It is not necessary to go back and change the evaluation of the information attributed to that individual in the absence of a definite indication that the informant furnished unreliable information to the Bureau while he was an informant.
14. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

See page 3 of this section.

2. Assignment of symbols

- a. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
- b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning a symbol number, and a brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
- c. The abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; [e.g., "Richard Roe, CS."] Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating the country involved; e.g., IS - R for Russia.
- d. When a permanent symbol has been assigned to a confidential source, the abbreviation "CS" is to appear before the symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
- e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from the series of numbers used for your security, racial, and criminal informants.

3. Index

- a. Index cards on form FD-348 like those prepared for informants must be made up and filed as an adjunct to the criminal informant index, racial informant index, or the security informant index, depending on the type of information furnished.
- b. The symbol index is handled similarly to the symbol index on informants.
- c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index, racial informant index, and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in these types of investigations.

4. Files

When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the individual are discontinued. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.
9. Also set up a control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a final letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication.
10. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.

In addition, a statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with a labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
- f. One of the required copies of the letter requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source should consist only of the first page of the letter. If the request is approved at the Bureau, a stamped notation will be placed on the single-page copy and it will be returned to the field indicating that authority is granted to consider subject as a confidential source. Letters requesting such authority are not to be transmitted to the Bureau until subject is sufficiently cooperative and all necessary background information obtained.

6. Security confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security confidential sources. See 107N, 3b, for form of letter.
- b. If the security source is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

7. Gifts

Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau when confidential source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security or racial investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security and potential racial informants.
- b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which the frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances of the individual case, confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained should also be contacted at least once every two weeks in the same manner as security informants.
- c. Records of contacts with confidential sources who have pending files may be posted.
- d. Contacts with confidential sources should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
- e. The letter to the Bureau requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source is to set out clearly the following information:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, credit and arrest record, and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of the expected cooperation of captioned individual as a confidential source, together with the results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) A statement to the effect subject is being considered a confidential source and that he will be advised he is not a Bureau employee and of the confidential nature of his relationship with the Bureau. In addition, a statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with a labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
- f. One of the required copies of the letter requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source should consist only of the first page of the letter. If the request is approved at the Bureau, a stamped notation will be placed on the single-page copy and it will be returned to the field indicating that authority is granted to consider subject as a confidential source. Letters requesting such authority are not to be transmitted to the Bureau until subject is sufficiently cooperative and all necessary background information obtained.

6. Security and racial confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial confidential sources. See 107N, 3b, for form of letter.
- b. If the security or racial source is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

7. Gifts

[Gifts should not be given to sources since such actions might be misconstrued.]

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau when confidential source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security or racial investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security and potential racial informants.

SECTION 107

NATIONAL SECURITY INFORMATION
Unauthorized Disclosure
Subject to Criminal Sanctions

583
Part 1

SECTION 107. INTERNAL SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107L-M
AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS

- (1) Correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) First date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) Tabulation of all payments, broken down as to services and expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
 - (6) Listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) Date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with particular individual, Bureau must be so advised.
 - c. Where informant has previously been used and tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from date of last trial in which individual was used.
 - d. Above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to attention of Data Processing Section, Computer Systems Division. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to Bureau with copies designated for interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs and become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as prerequisite for unemployment compensation and informants and/or sources who are being paid by Bureau fail to comply, situation is potentially embarrassing. Bureau cannot be placed in position of condoning violation of state law on part of any informant or source. Field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
 - b. When paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit recommendations to Bureau on UACB basis. At same time, weigh seriously possible need for informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of identity, discontinue Bureau payments during period of unemployment compensation benefits.

M. MONTHLY AND QUARTERLY LETTERS

1. Submit monthly letter (FD-451,451a) to Bureau. Field divisions east of the Mississippi must submit this information by the 3rd of each month; field divisions west of the Mississippi must submit this information by the 7th of each month. Monthly letter should include the following:
 - a. Number of security informants, potential security informants, confidential sources, panel sources, informative assets, and operational assets at the beginning and end of each month also showing the number added and deleted during the month
 - b. Number of Agents assigned exclusively to informant and source development
 - c. Money paid for services and expenses under SAC authority
 - d. Statistical accomplishments
 - e. Security informant accomplishments

- [2. Submit quarterly letter (FD-451b) to Bureau. Quarterly letter should include the following:
- a. Name, location and number of subversive groups including identities of groups on college campuses, exclusive of those in black extremist, white hate or espionage matters.
 - b. Symbol numbers of member informants providing coverage who are members of organizations. If no member informant, attach addendum and explain why you do not have member informants. Indicate specific action being taken to develop member informants and date such coverage is anticipated for each group.
 - c. Identities of individuals or groups who have participated in or are active in planning subversive acts of violence, exclusive of those in black extremist, white hate or espionage matters.
 - d. Symbol numbers of informants and sources providing coverage of individuals or groups shown in Column C. If no member informant, attach addendum and explain why you do not have member informants. Indicate specific action being taken to develop member informants and date such coverage is anticipated for each group.
- N. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS
1. Make every effort to guide informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
 2. Informants should be cautioned to keep contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
 3. Bureau will consider as last resort advising another agency of informant's relationship with Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to minimum in view of obvious dangers to informant.
 4. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau advised as promptly as possible, together with appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
 5. In no instance should you permit informant to sign loyalty oath in negative.

Do NOT GIVE

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

23. Disinformation
The passage of deceptive information by an OA is a complex operation which requires detailed planning and coordination between field office and FBIHQ. This technique should be employed only in OA operations in which the foreign intelligence service has apparently accepted the bona fides of the OA, when the benefit will clearly outweigh the risk to the overall OA operation.
24. OA cover story
Be aware that a foreign intelligence principal may interrogate an OA in great detail as to how he secured his information, his family situation, his modus operandi, motivation, etc. Handling FBI SA must adequately prepare an OA for this probability. The most credible cover story is the one which involves the least fabrication.

Unless security or other considerations dictate otherwise, the OA should personally obtain the information he passes.

25. Receipt of money or property by OA
Impress upon each OA that money or property received from a foreign intelligence principal or agent must be turned over to the FBI since retention of this money would put the OA in technical violation of Federal statutes, and this money may be used as evidence or exhibit. Compensation to the OA from the FBI for his cooperation is to be handled separately. Nominal or personal gifts, necessary for the OA's security and to maintain his relationship with the principal, may be given back to the OA by his handling FBI SA, following FBIHQ approval. Consider the desirability and feasibility of obtaining a signed statement from each OA reflecting his understanding of this requirement. The obtaining of such a statement is not mandatory, but desirable.

Department attorneys have advised that, while it is not necessary to preserve that actual currency received by an OA, it is highly desirable to do so in cases in which prosecution could ensue. Whether or not the actual currency is retained, obtain a written statement from the OA describing the currency received by [type of note and issuing Federal Reserve Bank,] denomination, series number, and serial number; and also make an independent record of such currency.

The above instructions are not to be interpreted to require the impounding of funds paid to an OA by a foreign government or foreign intelligence service for goods or services rendered by the OA in legitimate, business transactions.

26. Payments to FCI assets - either OA or IA
- a. When deemed necessary and expedient, each SAC is authorized to expend up to $400 to develop FCI assets. This money may be used to pay for services and/or expenses. This authority is renewable by FBIHQ if the initial $400 has been expended. Blue slip reclaiming payments from FBIHQ need not summarize information obtained since proliferation of this information could possibly jeopardize asset's security.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

- b. FBIHQ authority
- (1) If FCI asset is of such continuing value to justify regular payments, such payments must be approved by FBIHQ.
 - (2) When initially requesting regular payment, submit evaluation via coded "Nitel" in the following order:
 - (a) Amount paid to date, broken down into expenses and services
 - (b) Number of contacts with handling FBI SA since last evaluation
 - (c) Evaluation of stability and reliability
 - (d) Concise summary of most valuable information furnished since last evaluation
 - (e) Miscellaneous - changes in personal status, residence, employment, personal problems, etc., since last evaluation
 - (f) SAC recommendations for authority to pay asset for next six-month period; specify amount to be authorized for services and amount for expenses
 - (3) Continuation request should be made two weeks in advance of expiration of authority.
 - (4) Submit an interim request for increase in regular payments authorized via coded "Nitel," with full justification.

c. Receipts

When payments are made either on SAC authority or FBIHQ authority, obtain receipts whenever possible. If receipt cannot be obtained, set forth circumstances on blue slip at time reimbursement is claimed.

- (1) Receipts should be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce receipts in evidence, they will not relate to other documents or files.
- (2) Receipts should show:
 - (a) Date when payment was made
 - (b) Period for which made when asset is paid on period basis
 - (c) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services and expenses
 - (d) Name of FBI SA making payment
 - (e) Signature of asset receiving money using pseudonym assigned
- (3) Receipts are not to be witnessed.
- (4) If necessary to make corrections on receipts, they must be initialed by asset and not by FBI SA.
- (5) When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to FBIHQ, staple them directly to blue slip so that all information on receipt can be read without detaching it from blue slip.

27. Evaluation of FCI assets

a. OA

Whether OA is paid (under either FBIHQ or SAC authority) or unpaid, submit coded "Nitel" every six months evaluating OA according to the format of 26. b. (2). [If the OA is unpaid, submit six-month evaluation and request for continued utilization, if appropriate, on UACB basis.] If the OA has been paid during the preceding six-month period, merely set out the amount paid during that period (under 26. b. (2) (a)).

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

SECTION 107. INTERNAL SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107D-F
AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS

4. Contact potential informants personally at least once every two weeks.
5. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every six months. Submit letters (FD-401) concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization on UACB basis; include summary of information furnished during past six months and certifications regarding stability and indoctrination against disclosure. Follow form indicated under § 107L, item 3b, below, except those items concerning payments.
6. Post record of all contacts with potential informants.
7. During contacts with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
8. Informants may raise a question concerning their position if it becomes known publicly they are affiliated with subversive organization. In such case, he may be told that his cooperation is matter of record in FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making facts of his cooperation known to his employer or to responsible individuals. Before taking steps to advise anyone of potential informant's or informant's cooperation, obtain Bureau authority.
9. From first interview with potential informant through development and until discontinued, use extreme caution at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
10. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence. Individual's background must be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among active duty military personnel.
2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with informant or potential informant should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to potential informant or informant concerning any of Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.
4. Recording investigative activity
All investigative activity must be made matter of record in field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Agents must not have and use informants known only to individual Agents personally.
5. All informants and sources are to be debriefed on at least a monthly basis regarding their knowledge of narcotics activities.
- [6. All pending informant files are to be reviewed personally by appropriate supervisory personnel on a regular periodic basis not to exceed 60 days. This review must include the informant's file and its subfiles.]

F. INDOCTRINATION, DIRECTION, AND CONTROL OF INFORMANTS

1. Caution against divulging relationship
During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging his relationship with Bureau. These instructions must be properly phrased to prevent possibility of Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.
2. Developing additional background
During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant. Be alert for data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk.
3. Indications of instability
Immediately furnish details of any indications of instability to Bureau, with recommendations as to informant's continuance and comments as to any steps being taken to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

4. Contacts by Agents

- a. Informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for exception to this requirement.
- b. During each contact, carefully review informant's activities since previous contact and make certain informant has furnished all information which he has obtained since last contact.
- c. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows informant's attitude towards Bureau. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.
- d. Arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in minds of either Agent or informant as to methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
- e. Informants should use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants nonpublished office telephone number for emergency communication.
- f. Positive information received from informant should be subject of written statement by informant or memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in informant's subfile and appropriately channeled.
- g. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
- h. Dates of negative contacts and file numbers of cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where file has more than one subject, name of subject under inquiry should be noted. Do not set forth title of case involved.
- i. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
- j. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent where necessary.

5. Checking reliability

- a. Reliability of all active informants must be constantly checked.
- b. Give consideration to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.

6. Fingerprints

- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
- b. If informant refuses, do not force issue.
- c. Forward informant's fingerprints as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258, fully executed. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.

~~"SECRET - NO FOREIGN DISSEMINATION"~~

PART I

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security or intelligence matters exclusively for Bureau whose identity must be protected. Such person should be member or attend meetings of subversive organization, or be in such position relative to subversive organization that he is able to provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in position to become active in or closely connected with subversive organization or intelligence activities and is making affirmative effort to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. [Deleted]
4. Confidential source
Individual who on confidential basis furnishes information available through his present position. Examples would be: bankers and telephone company employees. These individuals make no concerted effort in behalf of Bureau but furnish information readily available to them.
5. Panel source
Individual who is not involved in subversive group but who will attend its public gatherings in behalf of FBI for intelligence purposes or as potential witness

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals that are inimical to internal security. Informants may be obtained through alertness in course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants or other persons interviewed in security matters
 - b. Subjects of security investigations who show disaffection, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - c. Personal friends and contacts of Bureau employees
 - d. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts
2. Review of closed security files and files of former security informants
3. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
4. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on part of subversive group members. They should not be informed as to purpose of inquiry.
5. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings

C. BACKGROUND INQUIRIES ON INDIVIDUALS BEING CONSIDERED FOR INFORMANT PURPOSES

When decision is made to consider an individual for informant purposes, conduct background investigation. Extensive background investigation should not be conducted until individual has been interviewed and it has been determined he is willing to assist Bureau. Obtain prior Bureau authority to interview whenever restrictions imposed in section 87, volume III, and section 105, volume IV, of this manual, relative to interviews apply. Background investigation should include:

1. Check of field office files
2. Discreet canvass of logical informants

3. Inquiries of discreet nature concerning individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Investigation must definitely establish that individual can be used without danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from individual is not sufficient; his background must be established by investigation, including discreet inquiries among persons personally acquainted with him.
4. Check local arrest records. Submit FD-165 to Identification Division to obtain any record he may have and to place stop against fingerprints if on file. In order to eliminate the possibility of jeopardizing the security of Bureau informants, the word "Informant" should not be indicated in blank ballot box on FD-165. It should be noted the informant file number serves as an indication to the Identification Division of the type of flash notice desired.
5. Review armed services record if applicable. FD-356 must be used in any routine check pertaining to informants making sure all references, such as symbol number, which would tend to identify individual as an informant are deleted.
6. Check draft status or status in armed forces reserve.
7. Check domestic status and, if any marital difficulties, obtain details.
8. [Deleted]

Leads must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days. Investigation must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, or designate individual as potential security informant.

D. APPROVAL, INDOCTRINATION, AND DEVELOPMENT OF POTENTIAL INFORMANTS

1. When background information obtained, transmit results to Bureau in same numerical sequence set out in subsection C, and request authority to designate individual as Bureau-approved potential security informant and to proceed with development. Submit by secure teletype (usually Nitel). Be brief and concise. Do not submit on UACB basis. Include physical description.
 - a. If the individual is a student, include separate paragraph clearly setting forth the number of extremist and/or security informants, the number of potential extremist and/or potential security informants, and the number of panel sources currently being operated at the particular college or university to which the request pertains.
2. After designation as Bureau-approved potential security informant, following matters should be made clear to him:
 - a. His assistance is strictly voluntary and he is to understand there is no coercion or intimidation involved.
 - b. He is not and cannot consider himself employee or "undercover Agent" of FBI. Seriousness of violating impersonation statutes must be impressed upon him.
 - c. His cooperation must be strictly confidential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this confidence, he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in mind of potential informant that his relationship must remain on confidential basis and if he violates confidence he will be of no value and by so doing Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. If he has special problem which would require revealing his assistance to his wife or other pertinent individual, this should be ascertained and appropriate recommendation made to Bureau.
 - d. If potential informant is connected in any manner with labor union, inform him that Bureau is not interested in employer-employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining information on infiltration of unions by subversive elements.

[SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107D
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

- e. If potential informant is student, teacher, or has any similar relations with school, college, or university, in initial interview and subsequent handling, follow current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
- 3. Do not interview female potential informants in their homes or apartments unless necessary and any such interviews should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of superior in field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups and there will be no embarrassment to Bureau.

[SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107D-F
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

4. Contact potential informants personally at least once every two weeks.
5. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every six months. Submit letters (FD-401) concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization on UACB basis; include summary of information furnished during past six months and certifications regarding stability and indoctrination against disclosure. Follow form indicated under § 107L, item 3b, below, except those items concerning payments.
6. Post record of all contacts with potential informants.
7. During contacts with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
8. Informants may raise a question concerning their position if it becomes known publicly they are affiliated with subversive organization. In such case, he may be told that his cooperation is matter of record in FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making facts of his cooperation known to his employer or to responsible individuals. Before taking steps to advise anyone of potential informant's or informant's cooperation, obtain Bureau authority.
9. From first interview with potential informant through development and until discontinued, use extreme caution at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
10. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence. Individual's background must be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

E. BUREAU POLICY

1. Development of military personnel
Do not develop informants among active duty military personnel.
2. Contacts by designated Agents
Contacts with informant or potential informant should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated to contact him.
3. Divulging information to informant
No information should be divulged to potential informant or informant concerning any of Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to his proper operation.
4. Recording investigative activity
All investigative activity must be made matter of record in field office files with all sources of information being completely identified. Agents must not have and use informants known only to individual Agents personally.
5. All informants and sources are to be debriefed on at least a monthly basis regarding their knowledge of narcotics activities.

F. INDOCTRINATION, DIRECTION, AND CONTROL OF INFORMANTS

1. Caution against divulging relationship
During initial development and consistently thereafter, impress upon informant absolute necessity that he refrain from divulging his relationship with Bureau. These instructions must be properly phrased to prevent possibility of Bureau's being accused of attempting to impose censorship.
2. Developing additional background
During development of informant, additional data concerning his background should be continuously obtained from informant. Be alert for data revealing he is mentally or emotionally unstable, or has some personal problem which would make him a risk.
3. Indications of instability
Immediately furnish details of any indications of instability to Bureau, with recommendations as to informant's continuance and comments as to any steps being taken to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.

[4. Contacts by Agents

- a. Informants should be contacted as often as necessary, but at least one personal contact should be made every two weeks. If such frequent contacts cannot be established, obtain specific Bureau authority for exception to this requirement.
 - b. During each contact, carefully review informant's activities since previous contact and make certain informant has furnished all information which he has obtained since last contact.
 - c. Contacting Agent should not only collect information but direct informant, be aware of his activities, and maintain such close relationship that he knows informant's attitude towards Bureau. Good judgment must prevail in handling informant to see he does not become too familiar with Agent. Promptly advise Bureau of any indication informant is wavering in Bureau relationship.
 - d. Arrangements for paying informant or personally contacting him must be specific and no doubt should be left in minds of either Agent or informant as to methods of payment, amount, place, and time.
 - e. Informants should use only public telephones in communicating with contacting Agent and consideration should be given to furnishing informants nonpublished office telephone number for emergency communication.
 - f. Positive information received from informant should be subject of written statement by informant or memorandum prepared by contacting Agent to be placed in informant's subfile and appropriately channelized.
 - g. Record dates of all contacts, whether negative or positive, in informant's administrative file. Memorandum or form FD-209 may be used. If informant contacted frequently, one memorandum or form may be used for several contacts.
 - h. Dates of negative contacts and file numbers of cases involved must appear in informant's administrative file. Where file has more than one subject, name of subject under inquiry should be noted. Do not set forth title of case involved.
 - i. If positive information received from informant, show only dates of contacts in informant's administrative file. Place positive information in informant's subfile and appropriately channelize same.
 - j. Alternate Agent should be designated for contacts with informant and should be thoroughly acquainted with informant so that contacts may be handled by alternate Agent where necessary.
5. Checking reliability
- a. Reliability of all active informants must be constantly checked.
 - b. Give consideration to use of any investigative technique deemed necessary to be certain they are completely reliable and are furnishing accurate, truthful information.
6. Fingerprints
- a. After informant has been developed and unless some reason to contrary exists, obtain and forward his fingerprints to Identification Division if they are not on file there.
 - b. If informant refuses, do not force issue.
 - c. Forward informant's fingerprints as enclosure to FD-165 using applicant-type fingerprint card, form FD-258, fully executed. Appropriate field office should be shown as contributor, field case file number in number space, and "inquiry" in space for "company and address" on face of card.

[SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107F
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

- d. Flash notice is to be placed by field with Identification Division by submission of form FD-165, using informant's true name for each informant who has fingerprints on file.
 - e. When informant is discontinued, retain flash notice for one year. Insure that notice is canceled at that time by submission of form FD-165 or advise Bureau as to why notice should be continued. If fingerprints obtained solely for this purpose, remove fingerprints from criminal file.
7. Control - statement of cooperation
- a. Close control must be exercised over activities of informants to obtain maximum results and prevent any possible embarrassment to Bureau.
 - b. Obtain signed statement set out below when feasible and practical. Where it is not practical to secure such signed statement from an informant, advise Bureau of complete details. SAC and Agent handling informant should determine appropriate time in informant's operation when statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

8. Execution of party questionnaires
Informants, particularly in Communist Party, often must execute party questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant.
9. Informant's activity in organizations
- a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish sources for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but in such manner as to avoid suspicion.

10. Transfer of informants to other areas
 - a. Keep alert to possibility of transferring informants to areas needing coverage through change in residence or employment.
 - b. Keep in mind overall coverage of organizations. If informant becomes prominent and may be able to expand his field of activity beyond your field division, encourage him to do so in order to provide wider coverage for Bureau's work.
11. Action by informant when uncovered
 - a. If informant is uncovered by subversive elements, instruct him to defend himself vigorously and demand proof of his informant activity.
 - b. Suspicion in many cases is directed to an informant without facts to back it up and by bluffing informant may confuse issue to point where his services may not be lost.
 - c. In some cases it may be necessary for informant to acquiesce to charges of deviation from strict discipline of organization involved, and thus cast off suspicion.
12. Requests of informant to help defend others
 - a. If requested by Communist Party, or other interested parties to assist in preparation of defense in subversive-type cases or handle assignment where such information is readily available, informant should tactfully decline.
 - b. Such requests should be reported immediately to contacting Agent and made matter of record.
 - c. If informant cannot avoid becoming involved, instruct him not to report any information pertaining to defense plans or strategy.
 - d. Promptly report any such incident to Bureau.
 - e. If an informant is present in conversation between an attorney and individual under criminal indictment, he should immediately leave. If he is unable to do so and inadvertently learns of defense plans or strategy, he is not to report the substance of any such conversation to the FBI. Additionally, the informant is not to engage in or report the substance of a conversation with a criminal defendant dealing with the offense for which the defendant is under indictment.
13. Preparation for testifying
Contacting Agent must condition informant to fact that someday knowledge he possesses may be needed as evidence in court. Psychologically prepare informant for fact that he may at future date be called upon to testify to information he has furnished on security matters. Proper indoctrination of informant is essential as Bureau must provide witnesses whenever Department initiates prosecutions in security cases.

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

1. General instructions re oral and written information
 - a. These instructions apply to security informants, potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.
 - c. They should be submitted as quickly as possible after meeting or activity.
 - d. Written statements should be submitted when possible.
 - e. Carefully scrutinize each, bearing in mind that if informant is called upon to testify at a later date his statements will very likely be introduced in court.
 - f. All information furnished by informants must be promptly reviewed, recorded, indexed, evaluated, channeled, and all necessary action taken. Form FD-306 may be used in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelizing and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies. In those instances in which an informant reports that an individual attended a meeting but took no active part therein and/or nothing transpired of potential prosecutive value with respect to the individual, FD-306 should list the substantive case file number or should list subject's name and it will not be necessary to staple a copy of the informant's statement to FD-306. When informant's statement contains references to large number of individuals and/or organizations, and exceeds two pages, consider channelizing to substantive case file only those portions of statement which apply to particular individual or organization. Of course, entire statement should be filed in informant's subfile. This procedure should be employed unless logical reason dictates otherwise. When preparing lengthy channelizing memoranda reporting material of interest to other offices, limit the number of copies prepared for each other such office to two. Clearly indicate next to the name of the receiving office, the number of the page containing information pertinent to that office and note on cover page that distribution of material to the receiving field office files is left to discretion of the receiving office. If the channelizing memorandum includes names of individuals who merely attended a meeting or gathering and played no important role, the reporting office is to attach to the channelizing memorandum a one-page memorandum listing the names of all individuals who were merely in attendance and had no important function. The preparation and distribution of the additional copies of the one-page attachment are left to the discretion of the receiving office.

- g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. Trial attorney will thus be prepared in event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.
2. Recording written and oral information
- a. Written by informant
- (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
 - (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
 - (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
 - (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at top of statement.
 - (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement.
 - (6) Informants should include in statements specific dates and places; purpose of meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; and specific activity or comments of individuals present.
 - (7) Informant should identify statement by affixing his code name immediately under the last written line on each page. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified by informant affixing his code name or initials of his code name.
 - (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
 - (9) Informant should refer to himself in body of statement by his true name and use third person.
 - (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., or place any markings whatever thereon.
 - (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on channelizing memorandum containing applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
 - (12) Extraneous material should be kept to absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant

SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107G
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

- (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be furnished orally by informant and recorded in memorandum form for informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with making of oral statement by informant to Agent. Leave out following items:
 - (a) Any reference concerning Director and Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent

Such data should be recorded in memorandum for informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date at top with date informant furnished information. No other date is desired except date of meeting or activity described in body of statement.

- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by Agent as if informant were preparing them himself.
 - (5) Information, after being reduced to writing, should be read promptly by informant and acknowledged by affixing his code name on each page.
 - (6) After informant authenticates statement, contacting Agent should prepare cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it. Thereafter statement should be handled as written one.
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be included in office memorandum by Agent and should not be initialed by informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
 - a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants when possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such contacts. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - b. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory. More than one informant may send statements to a post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of postal employees.
 - c. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under fictitious name.
 - d. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation where by same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for extended period of time.
 - e. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication.
 4. Handling of lead information
 - a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, tickler card should be prepared to follow informant and take other logical steps to obtain additional identifying data. Restrict tickler cards to information which would warrant investigation if identity established. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile.
 5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
 - a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material.
 - d. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items. See section 107K for filing instructions.

H. SYMBOLS

1. Assigning numbers

- a. All informants should be designated by permanent symbol number of which Bureau must be advised. Once number assigned, it must not be subsequently reassigned to any other informant or source.
- b. A symbol number designation should be afforded to all individuals from the time any step (generally the opening of an informant or source file) is taken to develop them as sources or informants. Upon assigning a symbol number, Bureau should be immediately advised by secure teletype of the symbol number, informant's true name, available background information, and cover name, if assigned, for indexing purposes.
- c. Individuals to whom permanent symbols assigned are not to be advised of such symbols.
- d. Cover name should be used by informant in signing his statements and in communications between informant and field office. Advise Bureau of cover name.
- e. Prefix of symbol number consists of appropriate field office teletype abbreviation. Suffix of symbol number will consist of letter "S" for security informant; letters "PSI" for potential security informant; letters "CS" for confidential source.
- f. Although source may subsequently furnish information requiring change in designation (e.g., from security to criminal or to extremist, etc.), number previously assigned will remain same; however, suffix is to be changed to appropriate letter or letters indicating this change (NY 000-S to NY 000-C or to NY 000-E).
- g. An asterisk should not be used to designate certain highly sensitive informants or investigative techniques. Do not include asterisk in reporting information from such sources.

2. Communications - use of symbols

- a. After Bureau is advised of permanent symbol, in subsequent communications true name of informant should not be set forth; use symbol number.
- b. In all communications after initial one, Bureau and field office file numbers for informant must be set forth.
- c. In communications between offices, follow same procedure.
- d. Informants and sources entering another division
 - (1) Active informants and sources entering another division on temporary basis should be referred to in initial secure teletype to interested office by true name and symbol number if necessary for other division to know identity. Such a teletype should not be routed to a Resident Agency. Office receiving such teletype should make appropriate index cards for "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" index. Subsequent letters between interested offices may then identify individual by symbol number only.
 - (2) Individuals who leave division where they have been furnishing information and do not plan to return should be immediately discontinued, their symbol number, if any, should be canceled, and their true name used in all administrative correspondence.
 - (3) If informant is transferred to another office and remains active, his identity must still be protected.
- e. In communications concerning potential security informant when a symbol number is not used, name of potential security informant and abbreviation "PSI" shall be used; e.g., "John Doe, PSI."
- f. Captions of communications concerning informants and sources should contain a precise character designation to identify the organization with which they are most closely associated or on which they are most capable of furnishing information (i.e., [Subversive]Matter - Students for a Democratic Society or SM - SDS, [Subversive]Matter - Young Socialist Alliance or SM - YSA, [Subversive]Matter - [Communist Party, USA] or SM - [CPUSA, etc.]). This facilitates routing at Bureau.

I. INDEXING

True names and aliases of all informants, as well as cover name assigned, shall be indexed in general office indices as any other name. Index cards should show file number of informant, but such terms as "Informant" or "Potential Security Informant" shall not appear.

J. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index
Are to be kept by SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice
 - a. Alphabetical name index
In all offices maintain card index showing true identities of all security informants, potential security informants, security confidential sources, [informative assets, and operational assets.] This is to be known as alphabetical name index. File cards in alphabetical order.
 - b. Symbol number index
This index shall contain card for each individual to whom symbol number has been assigned. File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind numerical symbol index.
 - c. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by official having custody of cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of activities and type of information he furnishes.
 - d. Index cards
Index cards (FD-348) shall be executed for alphabetical name index and symbol number index. Execute only following items:

Symbol: _____ File No: _____
(Informant, potential informant, confidential source, [informative asset, or operational asset])

Name: _____

- e. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in informant's administrative file.
2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"
 - a. A separate index may be maintained for use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
 - b. If such index maintained, separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source included.
 - c. Cards should contain brief background data and identity of Bureau communication showing background data.
 - d. File cards alphabetically by name and/or symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.
3. Agents' informative index
 - a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by same official as set out in item 1, above, for use of Agents on type of informant coverage in division.
 - b. File cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
 - c. Behind each geographical location, place guide card indicating type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Polish Activity, etc.
 - d. On guide card set forth symbol numbers of informants and confidential sources who can provide coverage.
 - e. Deleted.
 - f. When individual can provide more than one type of information, set forth his symbol or identity on as many guide cards as applicable.
 - g. Guide cards should show above data and it is permissible to place alongside name or symbol number names of contacting Agents.
 - h. Also, symbol numbers of informants who move outside division and who still may be excellent sources regarding past activities may be set forth on guide cards.
 - i. Names or symbol numbers of individuals contained in index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on appropriate guide cards in this index.

[SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107K
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

K. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening
 - a. When active investigation is initiated regarding potential informant or confidential source who is not subject of security-type file, open 134 file.
 - b. If individual is subject of security case and after being interviewed appears to have potential as informant, open separate 134 file to follow informant development.
 - c. Maintain individual files on all active informants as pending active files.
2. Monthly administrative report
Include files on potential informants and informants in tabulations and calculations of delinquencies in monthly administrative report.
3. Assignment and tickler cards
Maintain assignment and tickler cards, but do not show true name of informant, potential informant, panel source or confidential source on such cards.
4. Subfiles
 - a. Subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral. File in this subfile original of each statement, whether personally written by informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent. Staple executed form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items on form FD-306 to original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Include excerpts from informant's statement in regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to case file in lieu of channelizing memorandum if desired. If so, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for channelization and staple one copy to each copy of informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and all copies.
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
See Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Correspondence
Correspondence in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to administrative handling of informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under substantive case caption.
8. Maintenance of files
 - a. Maintain all symbol number informant files, pending and closed, under lock and key under personal supervision of SAC, ASAC, field supervisor, or responsible employee designated by SAC.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in open files section, provided there is no disclosure of informant's identity on statements.
 - c. Maintain informant files so that all information furnished by informant will be immediately available when needed.
 - d. In addition, maintain these files so identities of cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be obtained immediately by simply referring to file of informant and without extensive research.

[107K-L SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES;
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

9. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, Department expresses interest in using particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as witness. Place copies of all correspondence of this type in informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize information concerning each informant and place summary in appropriate file.
10. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) is used in security informant and potential security informant files in nature of table of contents or index to show where in file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as top document in informant file and is not to be serialized. If particular section of form is not applicable, note such thereon.
11. Bulky material submitted by informant
Where informant or source submits bulky material other than statement and same pertains to specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in investigative case file, together with copy of form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum. File original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum in subfile of informant or source and note thereon file and serial number where bulky material is located.

I. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS

1. No gifts to informants
 - a. Gifts should not be given to informants.
 - b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on businesslike basis.
 - c. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.
2. SAC authority
 - a. When deemed necessary and expedient to expend money to develop individual as informant to obtain information concerning security matters which is not otherwise obtainable or to advance expense money to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments up to $400 and totaling not more than $400 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization.
 - b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
 - c. Blue slip reclaiming payments authorized by SAC must clearly and accurately explain circumstances and summarize information obtained so Bureau will be in position to pass intelligently on such matters.
 - d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to individual who has received payments totaling $400. Once individual has been paid $400 and it appears he will furnish information on regular basis, recommendation should be made to Bureau to pay him on "regular basis."
 - e. All newly developed security informants are to be paid under SAC authority for the first six months unless unusual circumstances exist. If additional funds under SAC authority are necessary during this period, submit request accompanied by detailed justification of past expenditures.
3. Payments on a regular basis - Bureau authority
 - a. To pay anyone on a regular basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
 - b. In requesting this authorization, use form FD-401:
 - (1) Membership
List current membership and position held in any subversive group. If position identifies informant, submit separately by secure teletype (nitel).
 - (2) Amount paid for services and expenses
List by the month or week. Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.
 - (3) Number of activities and persons on whom coverage is provided
List number and type of meetings attended and other activities and number of persons on whom informant furnishes coverage and their importance.

[SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107L
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

- (4) Number of statements submitted
Combine total number of oral and written statements submitted and show only total number.
 - (5) Stability and reliability
Check positive box if informant is considered stable and reliable. If not or if there are any personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or any other similar problems presented by informant, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (6) Indoctrination against disclosure
If informant has been indoctrinated against disclosure, check positive box.
 - (7) Percentage of information verified
Show percentage of information furnished by informant which has been verified through other sources.
 - (8) All necessary action taken on information furnished
If all action has been taken, check positive box. If not, check negative box and explain under "Miscellaneous."
 - (9) Summary of information furnished
This summary should be concise, highlighting more pertinent information furnished by informant. Do not attempt to summarize all information furnished by informant.
 - (10) Miscellaneous
Furnish any change in informant's residence and employment by secure teletype (nitel), steps being taken to advance informant, and any other pertinent information which should be brought to Bureau's attention. Include statement that source has been advised that all payments of money made to him for services rendered must be declared as income on his tax return and has agreed to do so.
- c. When payment to informant has been authorized for definite period of time, advise Bureau at least two weeks in advance of expiration of period as to whether services of informant are to be continued.
 - d. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow instructions set forth in item 3b, above.
 - e. Submit letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant in duplicate except that copy should consist only of first page of letter. When payments are approved, single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at Bureau and returned. If recommendation is not approved, field will be advised by separate communication.
 - f. When payments are authorized by Bureau, it is personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure that full value is being received.
 - g. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears information being produced by informant is not commensurate with payments made to him, immediately discontinue payments or adjust accordingly and promptly advise Bureau.
 - h. If any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.
4. Six-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, FD-401 must be transmitted to Bureau every six months after date of designation containing same information set out in item 3b, above, except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB.
 5. Receipts
When payments are made either on SAC authority or prior Bureau approval, obtain receipts in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If receipt cannot be obtained for particular payment, set forth complete circumstances on blue slip at time reimbursement is claimed.

- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce receipts in evidence, they will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on receipts, they must be initialed by informant and not by Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to Bureau, staple them directly to blue slip, leaving margin of one to one and one-half inches at top to avoid contact with Acco fastener punch. Place staples so that date or other data appearing on receipt will not be mutilated and all information on receipt can be easily read without detaching it from blue slip.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Advise informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau that such compensation must be reported as income when filing a Federal income tax form, and, where appropriate, state and local tax forms. Informants must be periodically advised of the above and complete details of any reported problem an informant has encountered with the taxing authorities are to be expeditiously furnished the Bureau.
 - b. Bureau income should be set forth on Federal income tax return, form 1040, as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.
 - c. If informant is self-employed and files schedule C as self-employed individual, it may be possible to include his Bureau income with his self-employed income from other sources without revealing connection with Bureau.
 - d. If informant cannot report payments received from Bureau for services without jeopardizing his security as informant, such payments will be subject to 20 per cent withholding tax. There are four categories of circumstances in which taxes will not be withheld. Taxes are not to be withheld from payments made (1) to other than security informants and sources, (2) for reimbursement of expenses, (3) under SAC authority, or (4) to informants who have been able to report Bureau income on their Federal tax returns without jeopardizing their security or without challenge from Internal Revenue Service. Each office has detailed instructions and exhibits concerning procedure to be followed in handling and control of money withheld.
 - e. When informant or former informant is initially considered as potential witness in Bureau case, determine whether he paid Federal and state taxes on income he received from Bureau for his services. If such taxes have not been paid, obtain all pertinent details and promptly submit recommendations for handling situation.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, Bureau must furnish Department set of [reproduced copies] of original receipts signed by prospective witnesses. Original receipts and set of [reproduced copies] will be transmitted to field office in whose territory trial will take place. Office handling prosecution must determine from Government attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to Bureau following information:

- (1) Correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) First date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) Tabulation of all payments, broken down as to services and expenses. Although tabulations are not furnished to Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.
 - (6) Listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) Date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with particular individual, Bureau must be so advised.
 - c. Where informant has previously been used and tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from date of last trial in which individual was used.
 - d. Above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to attention of Data Processing Section, Computer Systems Division. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to Bureau with copies designated for interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs and become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as prerequisite for unemployment compensation and informants and/or sources who are being paid by Bureau fail to comply, situation is potentially embarrassing. Bureau cannot be placed in position of condoning violation of state law on part of any informant or source. Field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
 - b. When paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit recommendations to Bureau on UACB basis. At same time, weigh seriously possible need for informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of identity, discontinue Bureau payments during period of unemployment compensation benefits.
- M. MONTHLY AND QUARTERLY LETTERS
1. Submit monthly letter (FD-451, 451a) to Bureau by secure teletype system (NITEL). Field divisions east of the Mississippi must submit this information by the 3rd of each month; field divisions west of the Mississippi must submit this information by the 7th of each month. Monthly letter should include the following:
 - a. Number of security informants, potential security informants, confidential sources, panel sources, [informative assets, and operational assets] at the beginning and end of each month also showing the number added and deleted during the month
 - b. Number of Agents assigned exclusively to informant and source development
 - c. Money paid for services and expenses under SAC authority
 - d. Statistical accomplishments
 - e. Security informant accomplishments

2. Submit quarterly letter (FD-451b) to Bureau by secure teletype system (NITEL). Quarterly letter should include the following:
 - a. Name, location and number of subversive groups including identities of groups on college campuses, exclusive of those in black extremist, white hate or espionage matters.
 - b. Symbol numbers of member informants providing coverage who are members of organizations. If no member informant, attach addendum and explain why you do not have member informants. Indicate specific action being taken to develop member informants and date such coverage is anticipated for each group.
 - c. Identities of individuals or groups who have participated in or are active in planning subversive acts of violence, exclusive of those in black extremist, white hate or espionage matters.
 - d. Symbol numbers of informants and sources providing coverage of individuals or groups shown in Column C. If no member informant, attach addendum and explain why you do not have member informants. Indicate specific action being taken to develop member informants and date such coverage is anticipated for each group.

N. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Make every effort to guide informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
3. Bureau will consider as last resort advising another agency of informant's relationship with Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to minimum in view of obvious dangers to informant.
4. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau advised as promptly as possible, together with appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
5. In no instance should you permit informant to sign loyalty oath in negative.

O. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When services of informant are discontinued, mark name card "canceled." Destroy symbol card. Never destroy name card.
2. Refile name card in numerical order by symbol number in symbol number index. If discontinued informant, potential informant, or confidential source to whom symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove name card from symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in name card section of index.
3. When potential informant or confidential source is discontinued and permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy alphabetical index card.
4. Advise Bureau of date when potential informant or informant is discontinued and reason therefor. Advise Bureau as to whether or not informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. Identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which informant has furnished information must be ascertained and Bureau advised in compliance with section 19, volume II, of this manual.
5. Review informant's file to determine if correspondence between Bureau and field relating to Department's interest in using informant as witness is contained therein. In those cases in which Department has indicated desire to consider informant when he becomes available, advise Bureau in each such substantive case, except when it is obvious statute of limitations has run or case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When above action is completed, advise Bureau.
6. Statement shall also be made to effect that measures to control informants, set out in item 7, below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears such are warranted.
7. When services of informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that informant will look to Bureau for counsel prior to taking any action against Bureau's best interests. Determine whether he has plans for writing book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, impress him with desirability of coming to Bureau for assistance and guidance. If informant insists on engaging in such activities, Bureau will consider placing him in contact with reliable publisher, but it must be made clear to informant that Bureau will not sponsor or endorse any book or publication which he elects to write.
8. All payments to discontinued informants and confidential sources must be made on strict c.o.d. basis. Obtain Bureau authority before making such payments. Submit complete details as to information furnished by discontinued informant or source in past and what is to be expected of informant or source in future.
9. Once informant is exposed in any manner whatsoever, do not carry him as a concealed source in reports or memoranda. His true name is to be set forth, together with descriptive data.
10. When office receives information concerning, or obtains information from, an ex-informant, copies of memoranda prepared must be furnished to office which originally handled informant so that file will be as complete as possible.
11. When informant has been discontinued for cause, such as unreliability, do not contact him in future for information. If he furnishes information it should be accepted, but in setting out information in reports or communications use individual's true name, together with appropriate description of his reliability.
12. Remove flash notice per item F, 6, e of this section.
13. Avoid repeated use of discontinued informant as witness at security trials and hearings. Make all-out effort to develop witnesses who can furnish same testimony. Advise Bureau of any indication by Government attorneys that informant-witness who has previously testified will be called upon for testimony at subsequent trial or hearing and furnish comments concerning possibility of supplanting testimony of individual involved. Submit under appropriate case character.

14. Make every effort to prevent discontinued informant from becoming involved in situations which may prove embarrassing to informant or Government. Immediately after he testifies for first time, SAC should have serious talk with informant in presence of Agent who handled informant. This interview should be conducted in field office and informant told that:
- He will no longer be operated by Bureau
 - Since he is public figure, he will probably be contacted by representatives of press, radio, and television for interviews and appearances
 - He may be sought as witness by congressional committees, Immigration and Naturalization Service, and state authorities
 - In connection with such interviews and appearances, informant must continue to be factual and truthful and must not build up or embellish statements, for if he does so he will wind up in serious trouble

Advise Bureau results of such interview and comment on its possible effectiveness.

Be alert to possibilities of former informant being contacted by representatives of publicity media and as witness by congressional committees, INS, and state authorities. SAC is responsible for knowing when former informant is scheduled or is likely to appear at hearing or make public appearance of any kind. Prior thereto in each instance, former informant must be contacted and instructions above reiterated by Agent who handled informant. Emphasize to former informant that he must stick to truth and make certain he can back up what he says, and if there is any deviation he will be subjected to criticism, possible libel, slander, or other criminal actions. If he inquires as to whether he should appear or testify or otherwise cooperate with any public or private individual or agency, advise him he must make that decision himself, but if he has appeared as Government witness in case which has not been finally adjudicated and decides in affirmative, he should contact USA for instructions. Advise Bureau of any such situations and results of any interviews conducted.

15. When contacting Agent feels discontinued informant could cause embarrassment to Bureau, make arrangements to have former informant come to field office where he will be personally met by SAC. At that time, he should be impressed with fact that his services were appreciated and were of considerable assistance to security of country and remind him that he signed agreement when he was active as informant to maintain his relation with Bureau on confidential basis. SAC should stress necessity for informant to maintain this confidence.

P. FURNISHING INFORMANTS TO IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS)

- INS, in order to enforce its responsibilities, must obtain evidence to prove that certain aliens, due to their membership in certain groups, are undesirable and deportable or subject to denaturalization.
- Cooperate fully with INS in these cases and make efforts consistent with your own interests to make available information and witnesses where possible.
- If contacted by INS inquiring for informants and you have discontinued informant or one who would be of assistance to INS and whose loss would not affect your work, furnish his identity to Bureau, together with your recommendation.
- Bureau will review facts and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
- Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain his permission.

Q. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that informant or ex-informant furnished false information while informant, promptly advise Bureau of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with review of all data furnished by individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of Manual of Rules and Regulations. Corrective action should be called to attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.
8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of information to follow instructions set forth above.
9. Set up control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to Bureau final letter under informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken.
10. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
11. All information from informant must be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
12. Occasionally, ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to time he was informant. It is not necessary to go back and change evaluation of information attributed to that individual in absence of definite indication that informant furnished unreliable information while he was informant.
13. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, Manual of Rules and Regulations.

R. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number should be assigned from the time any step is taken to develop an individual as a confidential source.
 - b. Advise Bureau by secure teletype (Nitel) giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning symbol number, and brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. Abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS."
 - d. When permanent symbol has been assigned to confidential source, abbreviation "CS" is to appear before symbol number; e.g., CS NY 000-S.
 - e. Numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from series of numbers used for security, extremist, and criminal informants.

3. Index

- a. Prepare index cards on form FD-348 and file as adjunct to criminal informant, extremist informant, or security informant index, depending on type information furnished.
- b. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with criminal informant, extremist informant, and security informant index where logical.

4. Files

When active investigation is initiated relative to prospective confidential source, open 134 file (or 137 for criminal sources) and maintain as pending until efforts to develop individual are discontinued.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used in security investigations, secure Bureau approval, and furnish background data of same type required for potential security informants.
- b. Contact confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained at least once every two weeks. Such contacts may be posted.
- c. Contacts should only be made by Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
- d. Letter to Bureau requesting authority to use subject as confidential source is to set out clearly:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, arrest and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of expected cooperation of individual and results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) Statement to effect subject is being considered confidential source and will be advised he is not Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. In addition, statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
 - (4) One copy of letter requesting authority should consist only of first page. If request is approved at Bureau, stamped notation to this effect will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field.

6. Security confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments. See subsection L, item 3b, above.
- b. If source is not being paid on Bureau authorization or if he is not employee of foreign diplomatic establishment or an international organization and is being used regularly, Agent handling must certify stability and reliability by executing statement on this point contained on FD-209 used to record contact. Certification must be made at intervals of no longer than six months.
- c. If source is employed by foreign diplomatic establishments (embassy, consulate, United Nations Mission, etc.) or by international organization (United Nations Secretariat, Organization of American States, International Monetary Fund, etc.), submit FD-401 to Bureau every six months.

7. Gifts

Gifts should not be given to sources.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau of date when source is discontinued and reasons.

S. PANEL SOURCES

1. Definition

See page 3 of this section.

2. Background investigation and approval

- a. Check prospective panel source through office indices, canvass logical informants, review appropriate arrest and military records.

SECTION 107. [INTERNAL] SECURITY INFORMANTS AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES; 107S-T
[AND FOREIGN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE ASSETS]

- b. If no pertinent derogatory information is developed, initial contact may be made with prospective panel source to ascertain cooperativeness; however, in regard to individuals associated with educational institutions, be guided by current instructions concerning investigations on campuses.
- c. Submit secure teletype (Nitel) to Bureau requesting authority to use individual as a panel source and set out:
 - (1) Results of background investigation and data as to date and place of birth, citizenship status if foreign born, residence and employment addresses
 - (2) Details of expected area of activity of individual as panel source and results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) Statement to effect subject is being considered panel source and will be advised he is not Bureau employee and of confidential nature of his relationship with Bureau. Also, statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant and, if connected with labor union or educational institution, he will be advised of Bureau policy on such matters.
 - (4) One copy of letter should consist only of first page. If approved at Bureau, stamped notation indicating Bureau approval will be placed on single-page copy and it will be returned to field.
- 3. Administrative handling
 - a. Follow same procedure in handling, processing, and reporting data and material furnished by panel sources as afforded security informants.
 - b. Handle payments for legitimate expenses incurred and services rendered in same manner as security informants. Gifts should not be given to panel sources.
 - c. Open 134 file when active investigation of prospective panel source initiated. Close file administratively if panelist is not contacted regularly. Note contacts with panelists in their respective files.
 - d. Only Agents designated in particular case should contact panelists.
 - e. Every six months submit FD-401 to Bureau requesting continuation of payments to panel source. If source not paid on Bureau authorization, Agent handling prepare memorandum to SAC for file containing certification as to stability and reliability.
 - f. A symbol number should be assigned from the time any step is taken to develop an individual as a panel source. Use abbreviation "PS" before symbol number, e.g., PS NY 000-S.
 - g. Designate, where practicable, coordinating Agent to maintain current roster of panel sources and scheduled organization activities, who will notify Agents handling individual panelists of organizational functions to be covered. Coordinating Agent should receive notice of coming events from Agents handling organizations, informants, and publications.
 - h. Advise Bureau of date panel source is discontinued and reasons.

[T. [DELETED]

U. UTILIZATION OF INFORMANTS AND SOURCES AT INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

1. Use of students
 - a. Students under age of 18 years are not to be developed as security informants, potential security informants, or other types of security sources in other than highly unusual circumstances. Under such circumstances, furnish complete justification to Bureau.
 - b. Upon initial contact with prospective student informant or source, individual should be tactfully requested to execute a brief signed written statement for field file setting forth that this individual has voluntarily come forward to furnish information to FBI because of his concern over individuals or groups that may be inimical to interests of U. S. Government and that he understands FBI has no interest in legitimate institution or campus activities.
2. Deleted
3. Responsibility for well-planned coverage
Each office must have continuous and well-planned program to obtain necessary coverage at institutions of learning so that Bureau can fulfill its obligations. Care with which this must be done in no way lessens responsibility of each field office to have proper coverage.

V. CLASSIFICATION - 134

P. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Every effort should be made to guide security informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep the contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form.
3. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
4. The Bureau will consider as a last resort advising another agency of the informant's relationship with the Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning the informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to a minimum in view of the obvious dangers to the informant.
5. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau is to be advised as promptly as possible, together with an appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
6. In no instance should you permit an informant to sign a loyalty oath in the negative.

Q. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When the services of an informant are discontinued, mark the name card "cancelled." Destroy the symbol card. Never destroy the name card.
2. Refile the name card in numerical order by symbol number in the symbol number index. The symbol number shall not be subsequently reassigned to another informant. If a discontinued informant or a discontinued potential security informant or confidential source to whom a symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove his name card from the symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note thereon type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in the name card section of the index.
3. When a potential security informant or confidential source is discontinued and a permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy the alphabetical index card.
4. Advise the Bureau when a potential informant or informant is discontinued and the reason therefor.
5. Advise the Bureau as to whether or not the informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. The identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which the informant has furnished information must be ascertained and the Bureau advised in compliance with section [69F, volume III, of this manual.]
6. Review the informant's file to determine if any copies or summaries of correspondence between the Bureau and the field relating to the Department's interest in using the informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness are contained therein. In those cases in which it is evident the Department has indicated a desire to consider the informant further when he becomes available, advise the Bureau in each such substantive case, except in those cases in which it is obvious the statute of limitations has run or the case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When all above action is completed, advise the Bureau.
7. A statement shall also be made to the effect that the measures to control informants, set out in 8 below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears that such are warranted.
8. When the services of an informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that the informant will look to the Bureau for advice and counsel prior to taking any action which would be against the Bureau's best interests. When an informant is discontinued, determine whether he has plans for writing a book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security matters exclusively for Bureau and whose identity must be protected. Such person should be a member or attend meetings of a subversive organization, such as the Communist Party; or be in such a position relative to a subversive organization, or espionage activities or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal that he is able to obtain and does provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in a position to become active in a subversive organization or espionage or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal or can become closely associated therewith, and is making affirmative effort through associations or contacts so that he can be in a position actively to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
A specialized type of security informant; a person who is cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both a foreign intelligence service and the Bureau under the Bureau's guidance.
4. Confidential source
An individual who on a confidential basis furnishes information available to him through his present position. Examples would be: bankers, telephone company employees, American employees of foreign official establishments, employees of the United Nations Secretariat, and individuals who furnish trash in connection with trash covers. These individuals make no concerted effort on behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals which are inimical to the internal security. Experience has shown that potential informants may be obtained through alertness in the course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for the most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, the following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants in security matters
 - b. Persons interviewed in connection with security cases
 - c. Subjects of security investigations looking for indications of disaffection, disgruntlement, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - d. Bureau applicants as possible informants
 - e. Personal friends and contacts of Special Agents and other Bureau employees
 - f. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts on continuous basis
2. Review of closed security files on individuals
3. Review of [reserve] index
4. Ascertain possibilities of reactivating former confidential informants.
5. Survey possibilities of trash covers.
6. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
7. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on the part of Communist Party members. They, of course, should not be informed as to the purpose of the inquiry.
8. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings of a front. Such individuals frequently are innocent of communist propensities, yet they have a basis for cultivating the acquaintance of party members. The Progressive Party file also might prove a fertile field.

9. Investigation of communist petition signers who are acquainted with Communist Party functionaries
10. Be alert to receive any suggestions of plant executives and highly placed personnel who are reliable and friendly to the Bureau concerning members of subversive organizations who might cooperate with the Bureau or employees who might be willing to infiltrate a subversive organization. In the past such contacts have on occasion resulted in the plant's making available the services of an employee who already is an informant of the management.
11. Personnel directors in plants frequently are able to advise of members of communist-dominated unions who retain their membership merely to hold their positions.
12. With regard to both 10 and 11 above, if possible, the official should suggest to the potential informant that he contact the Bureau rather than have an Agent originate the contact.
13. After the Bureau has notified the armed forces of a communist in an industrial plant having armed forces contracts, the communist frequently recants when he is informed of the charges and is facing the possibility of dismissal or transfer to a nonrestricted position in the same plant. At such a time, officers friendly to the Bureau sometimes suggest that the person advise the Bureau of his past activities. Be alert to take advantage of such cooperation when offered.
14. Review of Communist Party registration records to ascertain what individuals merely registered but never became active
15. Use of a reliable third party to make the contact with a possible informant when direct contact by an Agent is inadvisable. Request Bureau to furnish the services of an individual who is available for such a contact.
- [16. Officials and employees of foreign establishments in the U. S.
- [17. Employees of the United Nations Secretariat
- [18. Contacts (business, social, or otherwise) of foreign officials stationed in the U. S.
- [19. Individuals who because of background, employment, or social status are in a position of intelligence interest to a foreign principal and who will undertake intelligence assignments under the guidance of the Bureau. (See deseco program, section 105K,6h, volume IV, of this manual.)]

[C. INVESTIGATION OF POTENTIAL[SECURITY]INFORMANTS

When a decision made to consider a particular individual for informant purposes, background investigation must be conducted. This should consist of the following:

1. Check of field office files for derogatory information, particularly of a subversive nature
2. Discreet canvass of other informants to ascertain if the potential informant is known to current informants of your office
3. Inquiries of discreet nature to obtain information concerning the individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Background investigation must definitely establish that the potential informant can be utilized without any danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from the potential informant is not sufficient; the background of the individual must be established by the investigation.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Obtain necessary data for the completion of an FD-9 form which should be transmitted to the Identification Division to obtain the record, if any, of the informant.
5. Armed services record should be reviewed if the individual is a veteran.
6. Check draft status or status in the armed forces reserve.
7. Domestic status and if any marital difficulties all details should be obtained.

protect his security. Fellow members of the pertinent subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where a state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of their identity, then Bureau payments should be discontinued during the period they receive unemployment compensation benefits.

- [9. Handling money and property received by double agents
- [a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property
- [received from their principals in connection with the double agent
- [intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double
- [agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed
- [statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifi-
- [cally approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must
- [be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the - [Bureau.
- [b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal
- [represents possible future evidence and the double agent should
- [execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency,
- [denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately
- [describing any other property received. This statement should be
- [signed by the double agent's code name or number.
- [c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as - [evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and
- [Regulations.
- [d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents
- [should make independent records for retention for purposes of refresh-
- [ing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.]

O. SEMIANNUAL LETTER

A semiannual letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid for services or expenses on a regular basis. If such confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol numbers of all unpaid security informants.
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the semiannual letter, list under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage, should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage is provided by informants or sources who are not members, such factors should be shown relative to each unit.

Semiannual letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in over-all evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

- f. If the informant receives from outside employment less than $4800, all of which is subject to Social Security tax, the amount on which he will have to report for Social Security tax purposes, if he completes a schedule C, is the difference between the amount received from regular employment and $4800.
- g. If informant completes a schedule C, the nature of business of the self-employed must be stated and informants should be instructed to use as the nature of self-employment any applicable occupation without revealing connection with the Bureau.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, the Bureau must furnish the Department [a set of Photostats of the original receipts signed by the prospective witnesses. The original receipts and a set of Photostats will be transmitted to the field office in whose territory the trial will take place.] The office handling prosecution must determine from the [Government] attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter the office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to the Bureau the following information:
- (1) The correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) The first date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, the names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) A tabulation of all payments, broken down as to the amount applicable to services and the amount applicable to expenses.
[Although tabulations are not furnished to the Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.]
 - (6) A listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) The date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether the individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with a particular individual, the Bureau must be so advised.
- c. Where an informant has previously been used and a tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from the date of the last trial from which the individual was used.
- d. The above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to the attention of the Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to the Bureau with copies designated for the interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times security informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs with private industry due to strikes, economic conditions, or similar circumstances. As a result they become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as a prerequisite for obtaining unemployment compensation and security informants and/or sources who at the time are being paid by the Bureau for services rendered fail to comply, the situation is potentially embarrassing. The Bureau cannot be placed in the position of condoning a violation of the state law on the part of any informant or source. Each field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
- b. Whenever a paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit observations and recommendations to Bureau. Unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau, follow recommended action. Each office must assume the responsibility of guarding against informant's accepting a Bureau payment that would conflict with unemployment compensation laws. At the same time, weigh seriously the possible need for an informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to such activities, the Bureau will consider placing him in contact with a reliable publisher, but it must be made clear to the informant that the Bureau will not sponsor or endorse any book or publication which he elects to write.

9. All payments to discontinued security informants and confidential sources must be made on a strict c.o.d. basis. Obtain Bureau authority before making any such payments. In requesting Bureau authority for payments of this type, submit complete details as to the information furnished by the discontinued informant or source in the past and what is to be expected of the informant or source in the future.
10. Once an informant is exposed in any manner whatsoever he is no longer to be carried as a concealed source in reports or memoranda. His true name is to be set forth, together with descriptive data.
11. When an office receives information concerning, or obtains information from, an ex-informant, copies of memoranda prepared must be furnished to the office which originally handled the informant so that the file of the ex-informant will be as complete as possible.
12. When an informant has been discontinued for cause, such as unreliability, he should not be contacted in the future for information. If such an individual furnishes information it should be accepted, but in setting out the information in reports or communications use the individual's true name, together with an appropriate description of his reliability.
13. Remove flash notice per section F, 6.
14. Repeated use of the same discontinued informant as a witness at security trials and hearings should be avoided. Make an all-out effort to develop witnesses who can furnish the same testimony as that expected of previously used witnesses. Advise Bureau of any indication by Government attorneys that an informant-witness who has previously testified will be called upon for testimony at a subsequent trial or hearing and furnish your comments concerning possibility of supplanting the testimony of individual involved. Submit communication under appropriate case character.
15. Every effort should be made to prevent a discontinued informant from becoming involved in situations which may prove embarrassing to informant or the Government. Immediately after he testifies for the first time, a serious talk should be had with informant by the SAC in the presence of the Agent who handled the informant. This interview should be conducted in the field office and informant told that:
 - a. He will no longer be operated by the Bureau
 - b. Since he is a public figure, he will probably be contacted by representatives of the press, radio, and television for interviews and appearances
 - c. He may be sought as a witness by congressional committees, by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and by state authorities
 - d. (Firmly stress.) In connection with such interviews and appearances, informant must continue to be factual and truthful and must not build up or embellish the statements, for if he does so he will wind up in serious trouble.

Advise Bureau results of such interview and comment on its possible effectiveness.

Be alert to the possibilities of former informant being contacted by representatives of publicity media and as a witness by congressional committees, INS, and state authorities. It will be the SAC's responsibility to know when a former informant is scheduled or is likely to appear at a hearing or make a public appearance of any kind. Prior thereto in each instance, former informant must be contacted and instructions above set forth reiterated by Agent who handled the informant. Emphasize to former informant that he must stick to the truth and make certain he can back up what he says, and if there is any deviation he will be subjected to harassment, criticism, possible libel, slander, or other criminal actions. If he inquires as to whether he should appear or testify or otherwise cooperate with any public or private individual or agency, advise him he must make that decision himself, but if he has appeared as a Government witness in a case which has not been finally adjudicated and decides in the affirmative, he should contact the USA for instructions. Advise Bureau of any such situations and the results of any interviews conducted.

- [[16. Whenever contacting Agent feels a discontinued informant could cause embarrassment to the Bureau, arrangements should be made to have the former informant come to the field office where he will be personally met by the SAC. At that time, he should be impressed with the fact that his services were appreciated and were of considerable assistance to the security of the country and remind him that he signed an agreement when he was active as an informant to maintain his relation with the Bureau on a confidential basis. The SAC should stress the necessity for the informant to maintain this confidence.]

R. FURNISHING OF INFORMANTS TO IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS)

1. INS conducts investigations of alien communists as required under the Immigration Act of 10-16-18, as amended. INS, in order to enforce this statute, must obtain evidence to prove that certain aliens, due to their membership in certain groups, are undesirable and deportable or subject to denaturalization.
2. Cooperate fully with INS in these cases and make efforts consistent with your own cases and interests to make available information and witnesses where possible.
3. In this regard, if contacted by INS inquiring for informants and you have a discontinued informant or one who would be of assistance to INS and whose loss would not affect your work, furnish his identity to the Bureau, together with your recommendation.
4. The Bureau will then review all of the facts concerning such informant and advise as to whether or not his identity may be disclosed to INS.
5. Exercise care in recommending informants for disclosure to INS so that you will not find yourself without proper coverage.
6. Before any informant is turned over to INS, obtain informant's permission.

S. CORRECTIVE ACTION ON FALSE INFORMATION

1. When it is determined that an informant or ex-informant furnished false information while an informant, advise Bureau by airmail of complete facts.
2. Set forth your suggestion relative to wording to be used in describing the informant in future, such as: "informant of known unreliability" or "informant who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past."
3. Bureau will advise which designation to use. Then proceed with a review of all data furnished by the individual and label information from him accordingly.
4. All communications containing information from the informant which have been disseminated to Bureau, other Bureau offices, and to outside agencies must be corrected.
5. Identify the cases individually by title and character, together with dates of communications containing the information.
6. If information was used in reports, corrective letters should be crystal clear and refer to the specific report, page number, and change to be made.
7. Amended pages should not be prepared unless so instructed by the Bureau in accordance with part II, section 4, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations; corrective action should be called to the attention of other Bureau offices, outside agencies, and Bureau by letter.

5. Listed below are all of the Bureau offices and the dates semiannual letters should be submitted. This list is also applicable to the submission of semiannual letters on criminal informants.

P. SIGNING OF LOYALTY OATHS, AFFIDAVITS, AND STATEMENTS

1. Every effort should be made to guide security informants away from situations requiring them to sign or fill out loyalty oaths or forms.
2. Informants should be cautioned to keep the contacting Agent fully advised of any situation wherein they might be required to sign such a form.
3. Advise Bureau promptly of all such situations which cannot be avoided.
4. The Bureau will consider as a last resort advising another agency of the informant's relationship with the Bureau, together with pertinent facts concerning the informant's activity; however, such situations must be kept to a minimum in view of the obvious dangers to the informant.
5. Each such situation must be carefully considered and Bureau is to be advised as promptly as possible, together with an appropriate recommendation for proposed action.
6. In no instance should you permit an informant to sign a loyalty oath in the negative.

Q. DISCONTINUED INFORMANTS

1. When the services of an informant are discontinued, mark the name card "cancelled." Destroy the symbol card. Never destroy the name card.
2. Refile the name card in numerical order by symbol number in the symbol number index. The symbol number shall not be subsequently reassigned to another informant. If a discontinued informant or a discontinued potential security informant or confidential source to whom a symbol number was once assigned later is reactivated, remove his name card from the symbol number index, mark it reactivated with appropriate date, note thereon type of information he will now be furnishing, and refile it alphabetically in the name card section of the index.
3. When a potential security informant or confidential source is discontinued and a permanent symbol has not been assigned, destroy the alphabetical index card.
4. Advise the Bureau when a potential informant or informant is discontinued and the reason therefor.
5. Advise the Bureau as to whether or not the informant is willing to testify in open court or before administrative hearing boards. The identity of all cases of security of Government employees type in which the informant has furnished information must be ascertained and the Bureau advised in compliance with section[69F, volume III, of this manual.]
6. Review the informant's file to determine if any copies or summaries of correspondence between the Bureau and the field relating to the Department's interest in using the informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness are contained therein. In those cases in which it is evident the Department has indicated a desire to consider the informant further when he becomes available, advise the Bureau in each such substantive case, except in those cases in which it is obvious the statute of limitations has run or the case has been adjudicated. This exception does not apply to security of Government employees cases. When all above action is completed, advise the Bureau.
7. A statement shall also be made to the effect that the measures to control informants, set out in 8 below, have been considered and recommendations shall be made when it appears that such are warranted.
8. When the services of an informant are discontinued, maintain close contact with him so that the informant will look to the Bureau for advice and counsel prior to taking any action which would be against the Bureau's best interests. When an informant is discontinued, determine whether he has plans for writing a book, magazine or newspaper article, or otherwise publicizing his activity. If so, he should be impressed with the desirability of coming to the Bureau for assistance and guidance rather than making other arrangements. If an informant insists on engaging in

4. Subfiles

- a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
- b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.

5. Channelization

Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."

[6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of following submission of reports in security cases

[For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda in security cases following submission of reports, see volume III, section 87D, item 7g, of this manual.]

7. Dissemination of information

Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.

8. Correspondence

Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.

9. Maintenance of files

- a. All pending files on security informants shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, or field supervisor as the informant indices are maintained and described in subsection K.
- b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
- c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
- d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.

10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re

From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.

11. Form FD-238

Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

[12.] Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
- b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
- c. Expenditures for gifts to informants will not be approved as blue slip items.
- d. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

- a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
- b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- c. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown. (In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:

"I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for services, plus up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____ months, effective ____ (date)."

- (5) Amount paid for services and expenses by month (Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.)
- (6) Type and number of meetings attended and other activity
- (7) Number of written and oral statements submitted (List separately.)
- (8) Information furnished of unusual value
- (9) Approximate number of persons on whom informant furnished coverage and their importance
- (10) [Steps being taken to advance informant]
- (11) Stability and reliability (Set forth personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or other similar problems presented by informant, and steps being taken to prevent any such situations from later becoming source of embarrassment to the Bureau.)
- (12) Indoctrination against disclosure (State whether every opportunity has been taken to properly indoctrinate informant against making any disclosure of his relationship with Bureau through any media.)
- (13) All necessary action taken on information furnished
- (14) Miscellaneous (Any other matters concerning informant's operation which should be brought to Bureau's attention)

(Where applicable, substitute potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information for the word "informant.")

- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a definite period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
- d. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow form in subsection 3b.
- e. Letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. If the recommendation is not approved, correspondence will be prepared and transmitted to the field.
- f. In order for this system to function properly, payment letters must be explicit.
- g. When payments are authorized by the Bureau, it is the personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure himself that full value is being received.
- h. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
- i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth [UACB.] In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.
5. Receipts
When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so.
 - a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
 - a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Since all informants are considered independent contractors, the income they receive from the Bureau is self-employment income but, since the Bureau does not consider their activity as the carrying on of a trade or business, they may consider dispensing with the filing of a schedule C as part of form 1040 if they so desire.
 - c. The informant's own personal situation, however, should be taken into consideration as he may receive income from other sources as an independent contractor which would require the deduction of self-employment tax, regardless of any Bureau income he may receive.
 - d. In considering the filing of a tax on self-employment income, such a return is based upon net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. If an informant receives less than $400 from the Bureau and has no other self-employment income, this money in any event is not subject to the self-employment tax. If the informant receives $4800 or more from outside employment subject to Social Security tax, again the self-employment tax requirements do not apply.
 - e. Bureau income should be set forth under item 10 on page one of the Federal income tax return, form 1040, as "Other Income" and explained under schedule H(3) on page three of the return as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.

- d. All such material should be transmitted in the same manner as statements furnished by informant.
- e. Receipt of such material should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. See section 107M for filing instructions.

H. PASSING INFORMATION IN DOUBLE AGENT OPERATIONS

1. Carefully handle and create basis for acquisition
 - a. In double agent operations information requested by the principals is frequently passed either to build up a double agent's stature or as evidence of espionage activity.
 - b. Each case must be carefully evaluated to make certain that a net gain accrues to the U. S.
 - c. The information which is passed should be carefully handled and appropriate explanations created for its acquisition by the double agent to avoid his compromise.
2. Locating information to pass
Wherever possible the field office handling the double agent should locate appropriate information to be passed; however, the Bureau can assist in fulfilling requests for information in possession of Government agencies.
3. Obtaining Bureau authority
Bureau authority must be obtained to pass any information in a double agent operation except:
 - a. Newspaper articles
 - b. Magazine articles
 - c. Pamphlets, brochures, etc., prepared by a private company or corporation for distribution or sale to the public. (This does not include highly technical pamphlets, even if unclassified, which are prepared for limited use by engineering staffs and not intended for release to the public.)
4. Retention of copies of passed material
 - a. True copies should be retained by the office of origin of any documents or material related to the national defense which is passed in double agent operations.
 - b. Such material should be appropriately identified by the double agent.
 - c. Bureau Agents should not place identifying data on such material but should preserve any notes made by them in connection with the passage of such material.
 - d. Similar action should be taken with regard to any material which is passed which is considered evidentiary although not clearly related to the national defense.
 - e. It is not necessary to retain copies of build-up material obviously not evidentiary in nature where there is assurance that copies can be obtained at a later date from the Government agency or private concern having custody.

I. SYMBOLS

1. Assigning numbers
 - a. All informants should be designated by a permanent symbol number of which the Bureau must be advised. [Once a symbol number is assigned, it must not subsequently be reassigned to another informant.]
 - b. Potential security informants and confidential sources whose identity must be protected may be assigned permanent symbol numbers if they are producing sufficient information to warrant the use of such designations.
 - c. Individuals to whom permanent symbols assigned are not to be advised of such symbols.
 - d. An additional cover name should be used by informant in signing his statements and in communications between the informant and the field office.
 - e. Bureau should be advised of this cover name in addition to the permanent symbol.

2. Communications - use of symbols

- a. After Bureau is advised of the permanent symbol, in subsequent communications true name of informant should not be set forth; use symbol number.
- b. In all communications after the initial letter, Bureau and field office file numbers for informant must be set forth.
- c. In communications between offices, the same procedure is to be followed.
- d. Informants and sources entering another division
 - (1) Active informants and sources entering another division on temporary basis for Bureau business or for personal reasons should be referred to in initial letter to interested office by true name and symbol number if it is necessary for the other division to know the identity of the informant. Office receiving such letter should make appropriate index cards and place same in "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" index. Subsequent letters between interested offices may then identify individual by symbol number only.
 - (2) Individuals who leave the division where they have been furnishing information and do not plan to return should be immediately discontinued, their symbol number, if any, should be cancelled, and their true name should be used in all administrative correspondence.
 - (3) If an informant is transferred to another office and remains active, his identity must still be protected.
- e. In communications, the teletype abbreviation for the field office, symbol, and letter suffix "S" shall be shown to identify the informant; e.g., "NY 000-S."
- f. In communications concerning a potential security informant, the name of the potential security informant and abbreviation "PSI" shall be used; e.g., "John Doe, PSI."
- g. Similarly, in communications relative to confidential sources, the abbreviation "CS" should be used; e.g., "Richard Roe, CS."
- h. When symbol numbers are assigned to potential security informants, the designation should be as follows: "LA 000-PSI."
- i. In communications relative to a confidential source having a permanent symbol number, the following should be used: "CS LA 000-S."
- j. In espionage and foreign nationality matters the caption of the communication should show in addition a character and the country designation (i.e., IS - R for Russia or IS - PO for Poland, etc.). This facilitates routing the mail at the Bureau.

J. INDEXING

1. True names and aliases of all informants, as well as the cover name assigned to them for informants' use in submitting their statements, but not their permanent Bureau symbol numbers, shall be indexed in the general office indices in the same manner as any other name.
2. These index cards should show the file number of the informant and such terms as "Informant" or "Potential Security Informant" shall not appear.

K. INDICES

1. Alphabetical name index and symbol number index
 - a. Alphabetical name index
 - (1) In all offices all active potential security and security informant cards are to be kept by the SAC, ASAC, or security supervisor consistent with maximum security and best administrative practice. This is to be known as the alphabetical name index.
 - (2) File these cards in alphabetical order and also include cards for security confidential sources. These cards should show whether the individual is a potential informant, an informant, or a confidential source furnishing information on security matters.

8. Potential security informants in espionage and foreign nationality cases many times present special problems which limit or govern the scope of the initial investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and deseco program, section 105K, 6b and 6h, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical the above items should be covered.
9. Leads to obtain background data must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days.
10. Investigation as outlined above must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, and develop an individual as a potential informant.

D. INTERVIEWS AND DEVELOPMENT OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

1. When background information obtained as described under subsection C, transmit results to Bureau in the same numerical sequence as set out in subsection C, and request authority to develop individual as a security informant.
2. When authority is granted by Bureau, steps should be taken to develop his potentiality and he should be made aware of Bureau policy.
3. Carefully plan initial interviews as to time and location to prevent any embarrassment to Bureau.
4. Do not interview female potentials in their own homes or apartments unless necessary and all such interviews in their residences should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of the superior in the field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that the potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups, and there will be no embarrassment to the Bureau.
5. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on the circumstances of the case, potential informants should be contacted personally at least once every two weeks in the same manner as informants.
6. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every four months. [Matters concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization should be submitted on a UACB basis, [should contain informative summary of information furnished during past four months, and must include certifications regarding potential informant's stability and reliability and his indoctrination against disclosure. These [letters should] follow the [form indicated] under section 107N, 3b, [but should omit item (5) concerning payments and reword item (1) to omit reference to any payment recommendation.] (Refer to section 105K, 6h, (3), (b), volume IV, of this manual for exception to this rule in deseco matters.)
7. Post records of contacts with potential informants so that the cases will not become delinquent.
8. During interviews with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have the necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
9. Potential informant should have contacts, associates, or possibilities for engaging in activity through which he can obtain and furnish current information of Bureau interest in security field.
10. If individual does not have potential as above described but is willing to cooperate, consider indicating to him he can be of assistance if he places himself in a position where he may be able to obtain information of value. In this regard, address of local headquarters of subversive organizations or meeting places of subversive groups may be mentioned to the individual as places where it may be possible for him to obtain information if he so desires; also, it may be mentioned that if he subscribes to periodicals or frequents such places above mentioned, he may be approached or an interest may be shown in him which, if developed, would be the means whereby he could obtain information.
11. Inform potential informants who agree to assist the Bureau that such assistance must be strictly voluntary and they are to understand that there is no coercion or intimidation involved.

12. During initial stages of development and on occasion active informants may raise a personal question concerning their own position if it becomes known publicly that they are affiliated with a subversive organization. In the event a potential informant or informant inquires as to what can be done for him in such a case, he may be told that his cooperation is a matter of record in the FBI and if some question arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making the facts of his cooperation with the FBI known to his employer or to the responsible individuals. It should be pointed out that this action may make it impossible for him to continue on behalf of the FBI and the service which he is performing for his country may be terminated. Before taking steps to advise anyone of a potential informant's or informant's cooperation, prior Bureau authority must be obtained.
13. Specifically advise each potential informant that he is not and cannot consider himself a Bureau employee or "undercover Agent" of the FBI. In this regard, the seriousness of violating the impersonation statutes must be impressed upon the informant.
14. Advise potential informant that his cooperation must be strictly confidential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this confidence he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in the mind of the informant that his relationship must remain on a confidential basis and if he violates the confidence he will be of no value and by so doing the Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. This must be thoroughly impressed upon the informant before you accept him as such. If the informant has a special problem which would require his revealing his relationship to his wife, etc., this should be learned from him during the initial interview and a recommendation made to the Bureau when the results of the interview are furnished. The special circumstances will be taken into consideration by the Bureau.
15. If a prospective informant is connected in any manner with a labor union, inform him that the Bureau is not interested in employer-employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining information on the infiltration in labor unions by subversive elements.
16. If the potential informant is a student, teacher, or has any similar relations with a school, college, or university, in his initial interview and subsequent handling, be sure to follow current instructions concerning investigations on the campuses of colleges and universities.
17. From the first interview with a potential informant through his development and until he is discontinued, extreme caution should be used at all times to be certain he is not a plant.
18. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, assign permanent symbol number and advise Bureau. This communication must be personally initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence; individual's background must also be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility of using informant as a potential witness. If individual has any weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.]

E. BUREAU POLICY

- [1. Development of military personnel]
Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reservations, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by the Bureau.
- [2. Contacts by designated Agents]
Contacts with an informant or potential informant should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated[to contact him.]
- [3. Divulging information to informant]
No information should be divulged to[a potential]informant[or an informant] concerning any of the Bureau's investigative activity other than that which is essential to[his]proper operation.

A. DEFINITIONS

1. Security informant
Individual actively engaged in obtaining and furnishing current information on security matters exclusively for Bureau and whose identity must be protected. Such person should be a member or attend meetings of a subversive organization, such as the Communist Party; or be in such a position relative to a subversive organization, or espionage activities or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal that he is able to obtain and does provide current information of value.
2. Potential security informant
Individual in a position to become active in a subversive organization or espionage or intelligence activities in the U. S. on behalf of foreign principal or can become closely associated therewith, and is making affirmative effort through associations or contacts so that he can be in a position actively to obtain and furnish current information to Bureau.
3. Double agent
A specialized type of security informant; a person who is cooperating with, receiving assignments from, and performing tasks for both a foreign intelligence service and the Bureau under the Bureau's guidance.
4. Confidential source
An individual who on a confidential basis furnishes information available to him through his present position. Examples would be: bankers, telephone company employees, American employees of foreign official establishments, employees of the United Nations Secretariat, and individuals who furnish trash in connection with trash covers. These individuals make no concerted effort on behalf of the Bureau but merely obtain and furnish information readily available to them.

B. SOURCES OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

Informants should be developed on all organizations and individuals which are inimical to the internal security. Experience has shown that potential informants may be obtained through alertness in the course of normal investigative activity. Live informant coverage depends for the most part upon initiative and resourcefulness of individual Agents and SACs. For assistance in obtaining potential informants, the following is suggested:

1. Evaluation of
 - a. Complainants in security matters
 - b. Persons interviewed in connection with security cases
 - c. Subjects of security investigations looking for indications of disaffection, disgruntlement, loss of interest, inactivity, financial hardship, or other repudiation of party loyalty
 - d. Bureau applicants as possible informants
 - e. Personal friends and contacts of Special Agents and other Bureau employees
 - f. Sources of information, confidential sources, and contacts on continuous basis
2. Review of closed security files on individuals.
3. Review of [reserve] index
4. Ascertain possibilities of reactivating former confidential informants.
5. Survey possibilities of trash covers.
6. Review factionalism section of file on Communist Party, USA.
7. Consultation with present informants regarding indications of disaffection on the part of Communist Party members. They, of course, should not be informed as to the purpose of the inquiry.
8. Review of files on communist front organizations looking for individuals who have been associated with only one or two fronts or who attended only a few meetings of a front. Such individuals frequently are innocent of communist propensities, yet they have a basis for cultivating the acquaintance of party members. The Progressive Party file also might prove a fertile field.

9. Investigation of communist petition signers who are acquainted with Communist Party functionaries
10. Be alert to receive any suggestions of plant executives and highly placed personnel who are reliable and friendly to the Bureau concerning members of subversive organizations who might cooperate with the Bureau or employees who might be willing to infiltrate a subversive organization. In the past such contacts have on occasion resulted in the plant's making available the services of an employee who already is an informant of the management.
11. Personnel directors in plants frequently are able to advise of members of communist-dominated unions who retain their membership merely to hold their positions.
12. With regard to both 10 and 11 above, if possible, the official should suggest to the potential informant that he contact the Bureau rather than have an Agent originate the contact.
13. After the Bureau has notified the armed forces of a communist in an industrial plant having armed forces contracts, the communist frequently recants when he is informed of the charges and is facing the possibility of dismissal or transfer to a nonrestricted position in the same plant. At such a time, officers friendly to the Bureau sometimes suggest that the person advise the Bureau of his past activities. Be alert to take advantage of such cooperation when offered.
14. Review of Communist Party registration records to ascertain what individuals merely registered but never became active
15. Use of a reliable third party to make the contact with a possible informant when direct contact by an Agent is inadvisable. Request Bureau to furnish the services of an individual who is available for such a contact.
16. Officials and employees of foreign establishments in the U. S.
17. Employees of the United Nations Secretariat
18. Contacts (business, social, or otherwise) of foreign officials stationed in the U. S.
19. Individuals who because of background, employment, or social status are in a position of intelligence interest to a foreign principal and who will undertake intelligence assignments under the guidance of the Bureau. (See deseco program, section 105K, 6h, volume IV, of this manual.)

C. INVESTIGATION OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

When a decision made to consider a particular individual for informant purposes, background investigation must be conducted. This should consist of the following:

1. Check of field office files for derogatory information, particularly of a subversive nature
2. Discreet canvass of [logical] informants to ascertain if the potential informant is known to current informants of your office
3. Inquiries of discreet nature to obtain information concerning the individual's personal history (date and place of birth, etc.), patriotism, health, reliability, stability, integrity, general reputation, present and past employments, and business connections. Background investigation must definitely establish that the potential informant can be utilized without any danger of future embarrassment due to instability or unreliability. Securing background information from the potential informant is not sufficient; the background of the individual must be established by the investigation.
4. Check of local credit and arrest records. Obtain necessary data for the completion of an FD-9 form which should be transmitted to the Identification Division to obtain the record, if any, of the informant.
5. Armed services record should be reviewed if the individual is a veteran.
6. Check draft status or status in the armed forces reserve.
7. Domestic status and if any marital difficulties all details should be obtained.

- f. If the informant receives from outside employment less than $4800, all of which is subject to Social Security tax, the amount on which he will have to report for Social Security tax purposes, if he completes a schedule C, is the difference between the amount received from regular employment and $4800.
- g. If informant completes a schedule C, the nature of business of the self-employed must be stated and informants should be instructed to use as the nature of self-employment any applicable occupation without revealing connection with the Bureau.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, the Bureau must furnish the Department [a set of Photostats of the original receipts signed by the prospective witnesses. The original receipts and a set of Photostats will be transmitted to the field office in whose territory the trial will take place.] The office handling prosecution must determine from the [Government] attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter the office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to the Bureau the following information:
- (1) The correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) The first date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, the names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) A tabulation of all payments, broken down as to the amount applicable to services and the amount applicable to expenses.
[Although tabulations are not furnished to the Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.]
 - (6) A listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances
 - (7) The date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether the individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with a particular individual, the Bureau must be so advised.
- c. Where an informant has previously been used and a tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from the date of the last trial from which the individual was used.
- d. The above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to the attention of the Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to the Bureau with copies designated for the interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times security informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs with private industry due to strikes, economic conditions, or similar circumstances. As a result they become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as a prerequisite for obtaining unemployment compensation and security informants and/or sources who at the time are being paid by the Bureau for services rendered fail to comply, the situation is potentially embarrassing. The Bureau cannot be placed in the position of condoning a violation of the state law on the part of any informant or source. Each field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
- b. Whenever a paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit observations and recommendations to Bureau. Unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau, follow recommended action. Each office must assume the responsibility of guarding against informant's accepting a Bureau payment that would conflict with unemployment compensation laws. At the same time, weigh seriously the possible need for an informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of the pertinent subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where a state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of their identity, then Bureau payments should be discontinued during the period they receive unemployment compensation benefits.

9. Handling money and property received by double agents
 - a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with the double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifically approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal represents possible future evidence and the double agent should execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. This statement should be signed by the double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.

0. SEMIANNUAL LETTER

A semiannual letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid for services or expenses on a regular basis. If such confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol numbers of all unpaid security informants.
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the semiannual letter, list under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage, should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage is provided by informants or sources who are not members, such factors should be shown relative to each unit.

Semiannual letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in over-all evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

- (6) Informants should include in the body of their statements specific dates and places; purpose of the meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; specific activity engaged in by each individual present; and comments made by each individual.
- (7) Informant should identify each page at the bottom by affixing his code name. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be similarly identified.
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in the body of the statement by his true name and he should use the third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., thereto, nor should he place any markings thereon, such as his initials, date of receipt from informant, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum which should contain the applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to an absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be furnished orally by informant to contacting Agent who will record the information in memorandum form for the informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with the making of the oral statement by the informant to the Agent. The following items furnished by informant should be left out:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be recorded in memorandum form for the informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date it at the top with the date the informant furnishes the information to the Agent. No other date is desired except the date of the meeting or activity which shall be set forth in the body of the statement.
- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or each separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by the Agent as if the informant were preparing them himself.
- (5) The information, after being reduced to writing, should then be read promptly by the informant and acknowledged by him by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters authentication by informants is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.

- (6) After informant authenticates his statement, contacting Agent should prepare a cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it and thereafter the statement should be handled as a written one in accordance with instructions set out in 2, a, (10), and (11).
- (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be incorporated in an office memorandum by the Agent and should not be initialed by the informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.

3. Transmission of information

- a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants whenever possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such personal contacts.
- b. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency.
- c. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
- d. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory.
- e. More than one informant may send statements to a specific post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of post office employees.
- f. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under a fictitious name in the same manner as d.
- g. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for any extended period of time.
- h. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest to Bureau, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication. Office should take any necessary action without delay.

4. Handling of lead information

- a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to a logical conclusion.
- b. If there is only partial name of individual or meager descriptive data, and if there is sufficient data available to do so, file should be opened and assigned to effect an identification and to take any necessary action.
- c. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, a tickler card should be prepared to follow with the informant and take other logical steps in an effort to obtain additional identifying data concerning the individual. Tickler cards should be restricted to information which would warrant investigation if an identity is established. This will eliminate inconsequential items, but at the same time definite steps must be taken to run out affirmative information. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile. If an identification is made, a file should be opened and any necessary action taken in connection therewith.

5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants

- a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon the informant's code name.
- b. Informant should affix date he received the material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, the date he furnished material should be affixed.
- c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material by Agents or clerical personnel.

- (2) Residence and employment (If no change since last justification letter, merely state "no change.")
 - (3) Current membership [and position held] in subversive organizations [(When justification is submitted for racial informants, substitute the word "racial" for the word "subversive.")]
 - (4) Summary of information furnished and/or services rendered during pertinent period
 - (5) Amount paid for services and expenses by month (Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.)
 - (6) Type and number of meetings attended and other activity
 - (7) Number of written and oral statements submitted (List separately.)
 - (8) Information furnished of unusual value
 - (9) Approximate number of persons on whom informant furnished coverage and their importance
 - (10) Steps being taken to advance informant
 - (11) Stability and reliability (Set forth personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or other similar problems presented by informant, and steps being taken to prevent any such situations from later becoming source of embarrassment to the Bureau.)
 - (12) Indoctrination against disclosure (State whether every opportunity has been taken to properly indoctrinate informant against making any disclosure of his relationship with Bureau through any media.)
 - (13) All necessary action taken on information furnished
 - (14) Miscellaneous (Any other matters concerning informant's operation which should be brought to Bureau's attention)

(Where applicable, substitute potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information for the word "informant.")

- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a definite period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
- d. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow form in subsection 3b.
- e. Letters requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. If the recommendation is not approved, correspondence will be prepared and transmitted to the field.
- f. In order for this system to function properly, payment letters must be explicit.
- g. When payments are authorized by the Bureau, it is the personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure himself that full value is being received.
- h. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
- i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.
5. Receipts
When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so. [If a receipt cannot be obtained for a particular payment, complete circumstances should be set forth on the blue slip at the time reimbursement is claimed.]
- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. [Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.]
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on the receipts, such corrections must be initialed by the informant and not by the Agent.]
 - [e.] When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Since all informants are considered independent contractors, the income they receive from the Bureau is self-employment income but, since the Bureau does not consider their activity as the carrying on of a trade or business, they may consider dispensing with the filing of a schedule C as part of form 1040 if they so desire.
 - c. The informant's own personal situation, however, should be taken into consideration as he may receive income from other sources as an independent contractor which would require the deduction of self-employment tax, regardless of any Bureau income he may receive.
 - d. In considering the filing of a tax on self-employment income, such a return is based upon net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. If an informant receives less than $400 from the Bureau and has no other self-employment income, this money in any event is not subject to the self-employment tax. If the informant receives $4800 or more from outside employment subject to Social Security tax, again the self-employment tax requirements do not apply.
 - e. Bureau income should be set forth under item 10 on page one of the Federal income tax return, form 1040, as "Other Income" and explained under schedule H(3) on page three of the return as income received from other sources for personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.

- f. If the informant receives from outside employment less than $4800, all of which is subject to Social Security tax, the amount on which he will have to report for Social Security tax purposes, if he completes a schedule C, is the difference between the amount received from regular employment and $4800.
- g. If informant completes a schedule C, the nature of business of the self-employed must be stated and informants should be instructed to use as the nature of self-employment any applicable occupation without revealing connection with the Bureau.
7. Stipulation re payments made to witnesses
- a. In trials in which informants, former informants, or other persons who were paid sums of money are prospective witnesses, the Bureau must furnish the Department [a set of Photostats of the original receipts signed by the prospective witnesses. The original receipts and a set of Photostats will be transmitted to the field office in whose territory the trial will take place.] The office handling prosecution must determine from the [Government] attorney which individuals are to be used as witnesses. Thereafter the office should furnish and/or cause other appropriate offices to furnish to the Bureau the following information:
- (1) The correct, full name
 - (2) All aliases, code names, and symbol numbers
 - (3) The first date of contact by your office
 - (4) If first contact was prior to September, 1944, the names of all SAs, SACs, and ASACs who contacted and may have made payments
 - (5) A tabulation of all payments, broken down as to the amount applicable to services and the amount applicable to expenses.
[Although tabulations are not furnished to the Department, those prepared by your office will be reconciled with Bureau records.]
 - (6) A listing of any advances, refunds, and outstanding balances of advances.
 - (7) The date of last contact by your office
 - (8) Whether the individual has been contacted by any other office
- b. Each individual and each item of information must be accounted for. If no contact was made with a particular individual, the Bureau must be so advised.
- c. Where an informant has previously been used and a tabulation of payments was prepared, information for items (5) through (8) need be given only from the date of the last trial from which the individual was used.
- d. The above information should be submitted separate and apart from correspondence setting forth derogatory information, and should be addressed to the attention of the Administrative Division, Voucher Unit. Interdivisional correspondence should be addressed to the Bureau with copies designated for the interested offices.
8. Receipt of unemployment compensation
- a. At times security informants and/or sources temporarily lose their jobs with private industry due to strikes, economic conditions, or similar circumstances. As a result they become eligible for unemployment compensation. Where unemployment regulations require listing of all sources of income as a prerequisite for obtaining unemployment compensation and security informants and/or sources who at the time are being paid by the Bureau for services rendered fail to comply, the situation is potentially embarrassing. The Bureau cannot be placed in the position of condoning a violation of the state law on the part of any informant or source. Each field office must determine from state unemployment compensation officials effect of unemployment compensation laws on paid informants and/or sources. Depending on local requirements, informants and sources must be alerted accordingly.
- b. Whenever a paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit observations and recommendations to Bureau. Unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau, follow recommended action. Each office must assume the responsibility of guarding against informant's accepting a Bureau payment that would conflict with unemployment compensation laws. At the same time, weigh seriously the possible need for an informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of the pertinent subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where a state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of their identity, then Bureau payments should be discontinued during the period they receive unemployment compensation benefits.

9. Handling money and property received by double agents
 - a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with the double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifically approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal represents possible future evidence and the double agent should execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. This statement should be signed by the double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.

O. SEMIANNUAL LETTER

A semiannual letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid under [Bureau authority (not SAC authority)] for services or expenses. If [the] confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol numbers of all security informants [not paid under Bureau authority.]
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the semiannual letter, list under "Headquart City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage, should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage is provided by informants or sources who are not members, such factors should be shown relative to each unit.

Semiannual letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in over-all evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

- (6) Informants should include in the body of their statements specific dates and places; purpose of the meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; specific activity engaged in by each individual present; and comments made by each individual.
- (7) Informant should identify each page at the bottom by affixing his code name. Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified [by informant affixing his code name or the initials of his code name.]
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in the body of the statement by his true name and he should use the third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., thereto, nor should he place any markings thereon, such as his initials, date of receipt from informant, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a channelizing memorandum which should contain the applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to an absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be furnished orally by informant to contacting Agent who will record the information in memorandum form for the informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with the making of the oral statement by the informant to the Agent. The following items furnished by informant should be left out:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant.

These data should be recorded in memorandum form for the informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date it at the top with the date the informant furnishes the information to the Agent. No other date is desired except the date of the meeting or activity which shall be set forth in the body of the statement.
- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or each separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by the Agent as if the informant were preparing them himself.
- (5) The information, after being reduced to writing, should then be read promptly by the informant and acknowledged by him by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters authentication by informants is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.

- (6) After informant authenticates his statement, contacting Agent should prepare a cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it and thereafter the statement should be handled as a written one in accordance with instructions set out in 2, a, (10), and (11).
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be incorporated in an office memorandum by the Agent and should not be initialed by the informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
- a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants whenever possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such personal contacts.
 - b. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency.
 - c. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - d. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory.
 - e. More than one informant may send statements to a specific post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of post office employees.
 - f. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under a fictitious name in the same manner as d.
 - g. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for any extended period of time.
 - h. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest to Bureau, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication. Office should take any necessary action without delay.
4. Handling of lead information
- a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to a logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is only partial name of individual or meager descriptive data, and if there is sufficient data available to do so, file should be opened and assigned to effect an identification and to take any necessary action.
 - c. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, a tickler card should be prepared to follow with the informant and take other logical steps in an effort to obtain additional identifying data concerning the individual. Tickler cards should be restricted to information which would warrant investigation if an identity is established. This will eliminate inconsequential items, but at the same time definite steps must be taken to run out affirmative information. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile. If an identification is made, a file should be opened and any necessary action taken in connection therewith.
5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
- a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon the informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received the material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, the date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material by Agents or clerical personnel.

4. Subfiles
 - a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization

Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of following submission of reports in security cases

For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda in security cases following submission of reports, see [Manual of Rules and Regulations.]
7. Dissemination of information

Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.
8. Correspondence

Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.
9. Maintenance of files
 - a. All pending files on security informants shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, or field supervisor as the informant indices are maintained and described in subsection K.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
 - c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
 - d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.
10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re

From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.
11. Form FD-238

Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

[12.] Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
- b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
- c. Expenditures for gifts to informants will not be approved as blue slip items.
- d. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

- a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
- b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- c. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown. (In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:

"I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____(amount) per ____ (month, week) for services, plus up to $____(amount) per ____ (month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____ months, effective ____ (date).")

8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.
9. Also set up a control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a final letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication.
10. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.
11. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from the informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
12. It is imperative that all information from the informant be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
13. Occasionally, an ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to the time he was an informant. It is not necessary to go back and change the evaluation of the information attributed to that individual in the absence of a definite indication that the informant furnished unreliable information to the Bureau while he was an informant.
14. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

T. CLASSIFICATION - 134

U. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning a symbol number, and a brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. The abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source. Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating the country involved; e.g., IS - R for Russia.
 - d. When a permanent symbol has been assigned to a confidential source, the abbreviation "CS" is to appear before the symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Symbol numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from the series of symbol numbers used for your security and criminal informants.
3. Index
 - a. Index cards [on form FD-348] like those prepared for informants must be made up and filed as an adjunct to the criminal informant index or the security informant index, depending on the type of information furnished.
 - b. The symbol index is handled similarly to the symbol index on informants.
 - c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in both types of investigations.
4. Files
When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the individual are discontinued. The same procedure should be followed concerning racial confidential sources, the classification being 137. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

5. Utilization

- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security or racial investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security and potential racial informants.
- b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which the frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances of the individual case, confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained should also be contacted at least once every two weeks in the same manner as security informants.
- c. Records of contacts with confidential sources who have pending files may be posted.
- d. Contacts with confidential sources should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
- e. The letter to the Bureau requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source is to set out clearly the following information:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, credit and arrest record, and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of the expected cooperation of captioned individual as a confidential source, together with the results of any interviews conducted with him
 - (3) A statement to the effect subject is being considered a confidential source and that he will be advised he is not a Bureau employee and of the confidential nature of his relationship with the Bureau. In addition, a statement should be made that you will be alert to be certain subject is not a plant, and if he is connected with a labor union he will be advised of Bureau policy on labor matters.
- f. [One of the required copies of the letter requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source should consist of the first page of the letter.] If the request is approved at the Bureau, a stamped notation will be placed on the [single-page] copy and [it will be] returned to the field indicating that authority is granted to consider subject as a confidential source. Letters requesting such authority are not to be transmitted to the Bureau until subject is sufficiently cooperative and all necessary background information obtained.

6. Security and racial confidential sources - certification of stability and payments

- a. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments to security and racial confidential sources. See 107N, 3b, for form of letter.
- b. If the security or racial source is not being paid on Bureau authorization and is being used regularly, the Agent handling the source must dictate a memorandum to the SAC for the file containing the same certification as to stability and reliability as required by payment letters.

7. Gifts

Gifts to sources shall not be reclaimed as blue slip items.

8. Discontinuance

Advise Bureau when confidential source is discontinued, and the reasons therefor.

- b. Whenever a paid informant and/or source becomes unemployed or has knowledge of impending unemployment, discuss all facts with him and submit observations and recommendations to Bureau. Unless advised to the contrary by the Bureau, follow recommended action. Each office must assume the responsibility of guarding against informant's accepting a Bureau payment that would conflict with unemployment compensation laws. At the same time, weigh seriously the possible need for an informant to apply and accept unemployment compensation to protect his security. Fellow members of the pertinent subversive organization may be aware of his unemployment status and would expect him to apply. Where a state requires notification of Bureau payments to informants that would necessitate disclosure of their identity, then Bureau payments should be discontinued during the period they receive unemployment compensation benefits.
9. Handling money and property received by double agents
- a. Double agents must turn over to the Bureau any money or property received from their principals in connection with the double agent intelligence operation. This should be made clear to the double agent at the inception of the operation (consider obtaining a signed statement to this effect). Exceptions to this rule must be specifically approved by the Bureau. Entirely separate arrangements must be made for payments to double agents for services rendered to the Bureau.
 - b. Any money or property received by a double agent from his principal represents possible future evidence and the double agent should execute a statement describing the money received by type of currency, denomination, series of issue, and serial number and appropriately describing any other property received. This statement should be signed by the double agent's code name.
 - c. Money or property received from double agents should be retained as evidence in accordance with section 3, part II, Manual of Rules and Regulations.
 - d. Bureau Agents receiving such money or property from double agents should make independent records for retention for purposes of refreshing recollection in the event testimony is later necessary.

O. SEMIANNUAL LETTER

A semiannual letter should be submitted to the Bureau by each office as follows:

1. List the symbol numbers of all security informants and confidential sources being paid under Bureau authority (not SAC authority) for services or expenses. If the confidential source has no symbol number, list his name.
2. Also list the symbol number of all security informants not paid under Bureau authority.
3. Set forth any comments concerning the present status of the informant coverage of the office, together with information concerning what actions are being taken to improve the security informant coverage.
4. As a separate section of the semiannual letter, list under "Headquarters City" and each resident agency all subversive organizations broken down into each division and unit thereof, such as clubs, committees, and chapters.

Under each unit the approximate membership, together with the symbol numbers and positions of security informants affording coverage, should be set out. Where no informant coverage exists or where coverage provided by informants or sources who are not members, such factors should be shown relative to each unit.

Semiannual letters may include any additional pertinent information re informant coverage that may be helpful in over-all evaluation, such as informants in other divisions who are occasionally utilized and highly placed informants who furnish area-wide, national, or international information.

- (2) Residence and employment (If no change since last justification letter, merely state "no change.")
- (3) Current membership [and position held] in subversive organizations [(When justification is submitted for racial informants, substitute the word "racial" for the word "subversive.")]
- (4) Summary of information furnished and/or services rendered during pertinent period
- (5) Amount paid for services and expenses by month (Initial justification letter should set forth amount, if any, ever paid under SAC authority.)
- (6) Type and number of meetings attended and other activity
- (7) Number of written and oral statements submitted (List separately.)
- (8) Information furnished of unusual value
- (9) Approximate number of persons on whom informant furnished coverage and their importance
- (10) Steps being taken to advance informant
- (11) Stability and reliability (Set forth personal weaknesses, domestic difficulties, indications of untrustworthiness or unreliability, or other similar problems presented by informant, and steps being taken to prevent any such situations from later becoming source of embarrassment to the Bureau.)
- (12) Indoctrination against disclosure (State whether every opportunity has been taken to properly indoctrinate informant against making any disclosure of his relationship with Bureau through any media.)
- (13) All necessary action taken on information furnished
- (14) Miscellaneous (Any other matters concerning informant's operation which should be brought to Bureau's attention)

- (Where applicable, substitute potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information for the informant.)
- c. When payment to an informant has been authorized for a certain period of time, advise the Bureau at least two weeks in advance of the expiration of the period for which payment has been authorized as to whether the services of the informant are to be continued.
 - d. Every four months a letter of justification should be submitted to the Bureau requesting continuation of payments. Follow form in subsection 3b.
 - e. Letter requesting authority to continue (increase, decrease) payments to an informant should be submitted in duplicate except that the copy should consist only of the first page of the letter. When payments as requested by the field are approved, the single-page copy will be stamped "Approved" at the Bureau and returned. If the recommendation is not approved, correspondence will be prepared and transmitted to the field.
 - f. In order for this system to function properly, payment letters must be explicit.
 - g. When payments are authorized by the Bureau, it is the personal responsibility of each SAC definitely to assure himself that full value is being received.
 - h. Discontinuance of payments
If at any time it appears the information being produced by the informant is not commensurate with the payments being made to him, the payments should be immediately discontinued or adjusted accordingly and the Bureau promptly advised.
 - i. Extraordinary expenses
In connection with the operation of paid informants, if any extraordinary expenses are anticipated for which approval has not been given, obtain specific Bureau authority.

4. Four-month evaluation of informants not paid on Bureau authority
If the informant is not being paid on Bureau authorization, a communication must be transmitted to the Bureau every four months after the date of designation containing the same information set out above in subsection 3b except those items concerning payments. Recommendation of SAC regarding continuance of informant should also be set forth UACB. In espionage and foreign nationality cases comment is necessary regarding only those applicable items in subsection 3b.
5. Receipts
When payments are made to anyone for information or assistance on security matters, either on the SAC's authority or on prior Bureau approval, receipts must be obtained in every instance in which it is possible to do so. If a receipt cannot be obtained for a particular payment, complete circumstances should be set forth on the blue slip at the time reimbursement is claimed.
- a. Receipts should be of such a nature that they will be self-sufficient so that, if it becomes necessary to introduce the receipts in evidence during the course of a trial, the receipts will not relate to other documents or files.
 - b. Receipts should clearly show:
 - (1) Date on which payment was made
 - (2) Period for which made when informant is paid on a period basis
 - (3) Total amount paid broken down into separate amounts for services or expenses where these items are pertinent
 - (4) Name of Agent making payment
 - (5) Signature of person receiving the money
 - c. Receipts are not to be witnessed by another Agent.
 - d. If necessary to make corrections on the receipts, such corrections must be initialed by the informant and not by the Agent.
 - e. When transmitting receipts and itemized statements of expenses to the Bureau, they should be stapled directly to the blue slip, leaving a margin of at least one inch to one and one-half inches at the top to avoid contact with the Acco fastener punch. The staples should be placed in such a manner that the date or other data appearing on the receipt will not be mutilated and all information on the receipt can be easily read without detaching it from the blue slip. Care must be taken that receipts are of such a nature that they clearly show payment of money and do not refer to any other documentary material contained in Bufiles.
6. Income tax returns
- a. Informants who receive compensation for their services to the Bureau should be advised that such compensation must be reported as income when filing an income tax return.
 - b. Since all informants are considered independent contractors, the compensation they receive from the Bureau is self-employment income but, since the Bureau does not consider their activity as the carrying on of a profession or business, they may consider dispensing with the filing of a schedule C as part of form 1040 if they so desire.
 - c. The informant's own personal situation, however, should be taken into consideration as he may receive income from other sources as an independent contractor which would require the deduction of self-employment tax, regardless of any Bureau income he may receive.
 - d. In considering the filing of a tax on self-employment income, such a return is based upon net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. If an informant receives less than $400 from the Bureau and has no other self-employment income, this money in any event is not subject to the self-employment tax. If the informant receives $4800 or more from outside employment subject to Social Security tax, again the self-employment tax requirements do not apply.
 - e. Bureau income should be set forth under item [5] on page one of the Federal income tax return, form 1040, and explained as part of schedule B, of the return as income received from other sources or personal services rendered through a private enterprise or similar general term applicable to informant's position and station in life.

- b. Symbol number index
 - (1) The same official as set out in 1a (1) above is to maintain the symbol number index. This index shall contain a card for each individual to whom a symbol number has been assigned.
 - (2) File cards numerically and any symbols which consist of fictitious names shall be filed alphabetically behind the numerical symbol index.
 - c. The above indices (alphabetical name index and symbol number index) shall not be available for review by Agents seeking informant help in connection with their cases.
 - d. Where good reason exists for an Agent to obtain information from either of these indices, it should be furnished by the official having custody of the cards. These indices should be used as a guide only; informant's file must be reviewed to determine specific nature of his activities and type of information he furnishes.
2. Index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions"
- a. A separate index may be maintained for the use of Agents on informants and sources in other divisions who may be available for assistance.
 - b. If such index is maintained, a separate index card is to be prepared on each informant and source that has been furnished.
 - c. These cards should contain brief background data, together with the identity of the Bureau communication which contains the complete background data.
 - d. File these cards alphabetically by name and symbol number. Duplicate cards may be prepared to be filed geographically and/or by subject matter.
3. Agents' informative index
- a. An Agents' informative index may be maintained by the same official as set out in 1a (1) above for the use of Agents on the type of informant coverage in the division.
 - b. File these cards by geographical location, arranged alphabetically by states, cities, subdivisions within cities, etc.
 - c. Behind each geographical location there should be a guide card indicating the type of information which can be furnished, such as Communist Party, Civil Rights Congress, Polish Activity, etc.
 - d. On this guide card set forth the symbol numbers of the informants and confidential sources who can provide this coverage.
 - e. Potential informants, confidential sources, panel sources, and sources of information who do not have permanent symbols should be set forth by name.
 - f. When an individual can provide more than one type of information, his symbol or identity (if a potential informant, confidential source, panel source, or source of information without permanent symbol) should be set forth on as many cards as necessary to provide types of information.
 - g. These guide cards should show the above data and it is recommended to print alongside the name and symbol number, as the case may be, the names of the contacting Agents to whom a request may be made for a specific check with the individual.
 - h. Also, there may be set forth on these guide cards symbol numbers of informants who move outside division and who still remain excellent sources regarding past activities. They should be declassified from informants to confidential sources or sources of information. If any such individual has moved from a division and is being utilized by the division to which he has moved and has received a symbol number from the latter division, such designation should be indicated on the guide card.
 - i. The names or symbol numbers, as the case may be, of individuals contained in the index entitled "Informants and Sources in Other Divisions" who can be of assistance to your office may be set forth on the appropriate guide cards in this index.

4. Currency and security

All indices shall be maintained in a current status at all times in a manner which provides tight security of the information and yet makes it easily available to Agents having a need thereof.

L. INDEX CARDS

- [1. Index cards [(FD-348) shall be executed] for the alphabetical name index.
- [2. [Use form FD-348] for the symbol number index. [Execute only the following items:]

Symbol: File No:
 (Informant, potential informant, or confidential source)

Name:

- 3. Contacts with informants should not be posted on index cards since this information is shown in the informant's administrative file.

M. INFORMANT FILES

1. Opening

- a. When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as an informant or confidential source and he is not the subject of a security-type file, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until efforts to develop the subject are discontinued.
- b. If an individual is the subject of a security case and after being interviewed with Bureau authority he indicates he is cooperative and has potentiality as an informant, a 134 file should be opened and maintained in a pending status while under development as a potential informant. In espionage and foreign nationality matters the existing file may be used rather than opening a new 134 file if this is practical and will reduce paper work.
- c. Individual files on all active informants should be maintained and carried as pending active files.

2. Monthly administrative report

Files on potential informants and informants shall be included in the tabulations and calculations of delinquencies on the monthly administrative report.

3. Assignment and tickler cards

- a. Assignment and tickler cards should be maintained.
- b. The true name of informant is not to appear on the assignment and tickler cards.

G. INFORMANTS' INFORMATION

1. General instructions re oral and written information
 - a. Instructions regarding preparation, submission, and handling of information received from informants apply not only to security informants but also to potential security informants, panel sources, security confidential sources, and security sources of information.
 - b. Specific instructions and guidance must be given to informants concerning preparation of statements containing their information.
 - c. They should be submitted as quickly as possible after a meeting or activity.
 - d. Written statements should be submitted whenever possible, but if such cannot be done information may be provided orally. In espionage and foreign nationality matters written statements are usually necessary only in those instances involving possible future prosecution. (In the majority of cases diplomats or officials who are not subject to prosecution are involved.)
 - e. Carefully scrutinize each, bearing in mind that if informant is called upon to testify at a later date his statements will very likely be introduced in court.
 - f. All information furnished by informants orally or in writing must be promptly reviewed, recorded, indexed, evaluated, channeled, and all necessary action taken. Form FD-306 may be used in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channeled. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."
 - g. Prior to any prosecution or administrative hearing, advise the trial attorney that informant not only furnished information concerning instant case but also provided other statements not pertinent to case at issue. The trial attorney will thus be prepared in the event informant testifies on direct examination or cross-examination that he furnished information in addition to his testimony.
 - h. See subsection M for instructions regarding filing informant statements.
2. Recording written and oral information
 - a. Written by informant
 - (1) May be in handwriting or hand printing of informant or typed.
 - (2) Original only should be submitted and informants should never retain any copies or notes relating thereto. Continuously check informants to see that they do not keep any notes or copies.
 - (3) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
 - (4) Date when informant prepares statement should be placed at the top of it.
 - (5) All information obtained by informants regarding each meeting or each separate activity in which they engage should be submitted in one statement whether the information is of evidentiary or intelligence value.

- b. As means of obtaining closer control, obtain signed statement set out below whenever feasible and practical. In those instances in which it is not practical to secure a signed statement from an informant or double agent, advise Bureau of complete details. The SAC and the Agent handling the informant or double agent should determine the appropriate time in the informant's operation when the statement should be completed.

I, _____, have voluntarily agreed to cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a matter affecting the security of the United States. I consider it a patriotic duty to so cooperate and agree to maintain this relationship in strict confidence. I understand that I am not a Federal employee and will not represent myself as such. I further agree not to make any disclosure or exploit in any way information which I may obtain or any activity in which I may engage on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, both while I am actively associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thereafter, unless authorized to do so by the Bureau.

- [8. Execution of party questionnaires]
- a. Informants, particularly in Communist Party, oftentimes must execute "Party" questionnaires and in doing so should be instructed to be extremely careful not to jeopardize their position as informants.
 - b. If necessary, each item in questionnaire should be discussed with informant to be certain his identity as informant is protected.
- [9. Informant's activity in organizations]
- a. Informants in organizations must be impressed with necessity of carrying on normal activity, such as canvassing, sale, and distribution of literature, leaflets, etc.
 - b. When feasible, informants should be instructed to accept direction from leaders; request instruction and interpretation of the organization's precepts; request leaders to furnish source for study purposes; and enter discussions, not quietly sit back as observers.
 - c. Changes in the organization's conduct, policy, or strategy should be reported on as they occur. Have informants give their opinions of the motivation behind such changes, but be certain opinions and suggestions given are labeled as such.
 - d. Informants must be encouraged to increase contacts within their orbit in order to gain higher positions, but at the same time should be cautioned to do so in such a manner as to avoid suspicion.
- [10. Transfer of informants to other areas]
- a. Keep alert to possibility of transferring informants to areas needing coverage through change in residence or employment.
 - b. Keep in mind overall coverage of organization. If informant becomes prominent and may be able to expand his field of activity beyond your field division, by all means encourage him to do so in order to provide a wider coverage for the Bureau's work.
- [11. Action by informant when uncovered]
- a. If informant is uncovered by subversive elements, he should be instructed to defend himself vigorously and demand proof of his informant activity.
 - b. Suspicion in many cases is directed to an informant without to back it up and by bluffing informant may confuse the issue at the point where his services may not be lost. This procedure should be carefully handled and each situation considered on its merits.
 - c. In some cases it may be necessary for informant to acquiesce to charges of deviation from the strict discipline of the organization involved, as by so doing he may cast off suspicion.

12. Requests of informant to help defend others

- a. If a security informant is requested by the Communist Party, communists being prosecuted by the Government, or by other interested parties to assist in the preparation of the defense in subversive-type cases or receives assignment where such information is readily available, informant should tactfully decline such assignments.
- b. Any such request received by informant should be reported immediately to the contacting Agent and made a matter of record.
- c. If the informant cannot avoid becoming involved, he should be instructed not to report to the contacting Agent any information pertaining to defense plans or strategy.
- d. Any such incident must be reported promptly to the Bureau.

[13. Preparation for testifying

[Contacting Agent must condition the informant to the fact that someday
[the knowledge he possesses may be needed as evidence in court to assist
[the Government in combating the evil of communism. Psychologically
[prepare the informant for the fact that he may at some future date be [called upon to render a still further contribution to his Government by [testifying to the information he has furnished on security matters.
[Proper indoctrination of the informant is essential as the Bureau must [provide witnesses whenever the Department initiates prosecutions in
[security cases.]

8. Potential security informants in espionage and foreign nationality cases many times present special problems which limit or govern the scope of the initial investigation. (See instructions re contact cases and deseco program, section 105K, 6b and 6h, volume IV, of this manual.) However, where practical the above items should be covered.
9. Leads to obtain background data must be handled by auxiliary offices within 30 days.
10. Investigation as outlined above must be completed prior to any request to guide, direct, and develop an individual as a potential informant.

D. INTERVIEWS AND DEVELOPMENT OF POTENTIAL SECURITY INFORMANTS

1. When background information obtained as described under subsection C, transmit results to Bureau in the same numerical sequence as set out in subsection C, and request authority to develop individual as a security informant.
2. When authority is granted by Bureau, steps should be taken to develop his potentiality and he should be made aware of Bureau policy.
3. Carefully plan initial interviews as to time and location to prevent any embarrassment to Bureau.
4. Do not interview female potentials in their own homes or apartments unless necessary and all such interviews in their residences should be conducted by two Agents after specific approval of the superior in the field office responsible for development of informants. This instruction is not applicable where active investigation has established that the potential informant is of good character, there is no indication of affiliation with subversive groups, and there will be no embarrassment to the Bureau.
5. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters where contact is maintained on a periodic basis dependent on the circumstances of the case, potential informants should be contacted personally at least once every two weeks in the same manner as informants.
6. Advise Bureau of progress being made at least every four months. Letters concerning potential informants who are not being paid on Bureau authorization should be submitted on a UACB basis, should contain informative summary of information furnished during past four months, and must include certifications regarding potential informant's stability and reliability and his indoctrination against disclosure. These letters should follow the form indicated under section 105K, 3b, but should omit item (5) concerning payments and reword item (1), to omit reference to any payment recommendation.
7. Post records of contacts with potential informants so that the cases will not become delinquent.
8. During interviews with potential informants, if it develops individual does not have the necessary capabilities, discontinue efforts.
9. Potential informant should have contacts, associates, or possibilities for engaging in activity through which he can obtain and furnish current information of Bureau interest in security field.
10. If individual does not have potential as above described but is willing to cooperate, consider indicating to him he can be of assistance if he places himself in a position where he may be able to obtain information of value. In this regard, address of local headquarters of subversive organizations or meeting places of subversive groups may be mentioned to the individual as places where it may be possible for him to obtain information if he so desires; also, it may be mentioned that if he subscribes to periodicals or frequents such places above mentioned, he may be approached or an interest may be shown in him which, if developed, would be the means whereby he could obtain information.
11. Inform potential informants who agree to assist the Bureau that such assistance must be strictly voluntary and they are to understand that there is no coercion or intimidation involved.

- [12. During initial stages of development and on occasion active informants [may raise a personal question concerning their own position if it [becomes known publicly that they are affiliated with a subversive
 [organization. In the event a potential informant or informant inquires [as to what can be done for him in such a case, he may be told that [his cooperation is a matter of record in the FBI and if some question [arises concerning his loyalty we will consider making the facts of his [cooperation with the FBI known to his employer or to the responsible [individuals. It should be pointed out that this action may make it [impossible for him to continue on behalf of the FBI and the service
 [which he is performing for his country may be terminated. Before [taking steps to advise anyone of a potential informant's or informant's [cooperation, prior Bureau authority must be obtained.
- [13. Specifically advise each potential informant that he is not and cannot [consider himself a Bureau employee or "undercover Agent" of the FBI.
 [In this regard, the seriousness of violating the impersonation statutes [must be impressed upon the informant.
- [14. Advise potential informant that his cooperation must be strictly confi[dential at all times and if he should feel he cannot maintain this [confidence he should so advise. There should be no doubt left in the [mind of the informant that his relationship must remain on a confidential [basis and if he violates the confidence he will be of no value and [so doing the Bureau's investigative activity may be jeopardized. This [must be thoroughly impressed upon the informant before you accept him
 [as such. If the informant has a special problem which would require
 [his revealing his relationship to his wife, etc., this should be learned [from him during the initial interview and a recommendation made to the [Bureau when the results of the interview are furnished. The special [circumstances will be taken into consideration by the Bureau.
- [15. If a prospective informant is connected in any manner with a labor [union, inform him that the Bureau is not interested in employer
 [employee relationships as such and is only concerned with obtaining [information on the infiltration in labor unions by subversive elements.
- [16. If the potential informant is a student, teacher, or has any similar [relations with a school, college, or university, in his initial interview
 [and subsequent handling, be sure to follow current instructions concern[ing investigations on the campuses of colleges and universities.
- [17. From the first interview with a potential informant through his develop[ment and until he is discontinued, extreme caution should be used at [all times to be certain he is not a plant.
- [18. When potential informant begins to furnish current information and [otherwise qualifies for designation as informant, assign permanent [symbol number and advise Bureau. This communication must be personally
 [initialed by SAC or ASAC acting in his absence; individual's background
 [must also be thoroughly reviewed at this time, keeping in mind possibility [of using informant as a potential witness. If individual has any [weaknesses, set forth safeguards being followed to insure security and
 [to prevent embarrassment to Bureau.]

E. BUREAU POLICY

- [[1. Development of military personnel]
 [Do not develop informants among military personnel on military reserva[tions, establishments, etc., unless specifically approved by the Bureau.
- [[2. Contacts by designated Agents]
 [Contacts with an informant or potential informant should only be made by [the Agent or Agents specifically designated[to contact him.]
- [[3. Divulging information to informant]
 [No information should be divulged to[a potential]informant[or an informant]
 [concerning any of the Bureau's investigative activity other than that
 [which is essential to[his]proper operation.

- (6) Informants should include in the body of their statements specific dates and places; purpose of the meeting or activity being related; identities of speakers and persons present, plus their known status in any group; specific activity engaged in by each individual present; and comments made by each individual.
- (7) Informant should identify [his statement] by affixing his code name [immediately under the last written line on each page.] Any corrections, erasures, changes, or additions should be identified by informant affixing his code name or the initials of his code name.
- (8) Agents' names should never appear on any page.
- (9) Informant should refer to himself in the body of the statement by his true name and he should use the third person.
- (10) Agent receiving written statement should not make any corrections, additions, deletions, etc., thereto, nor should he place any markings thereon, such as his initials, date of receipt from informant, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc.
- (11) Do not block stamp or serialize. Receipt and serialization should be recorded on form FD-306 or on a serializing memorandum which should contain the applicable items set forth on form FD-306.
- (12) Extraneous material should be kept to an absolute minimum. Informants should leave out such items as:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be furnished orally by informant to contacting Agent who will record the information in memorandum form for the informant file.

b. Furnished orally by informant

- (1) Contacting Agent should promptly reduce information to writing so that it will be accurately recorded as contemporaneously as possible with the making of the oral statement by the informant to the Agent. The following items furnished by informant should be left out:
 - (a) Any reference concerning the Director and the Bureau
 - (b) References to other documents and statements submitted by the informant
 - (c) Obvious administrative material, such as operational instructions given by contacting Agent to informant

These data should be recorded in memorandum form for the informant file.

- (2) Prepare on paper devoid of any Bureau markings or identification.
- (3) Date it at the top with the date the informant furnishes the information to the Agent. No other date is desired except the date of the meeting or activity which shall be set forth in the body of the statement.
- (4) Separate statements should be prepared for each meeting or each separate activity in which informants engage and should be dictated by the Agent as if the informant were preparing them himself.
- (5) The information, after being reduced to writing, should then be read promptly by the informant and acknowledged by him by affixing his code name on each page. In espionage and foreign nationality matters authentication by informants is necessary only where future prosecution is possible.

- (6) After informant authenticates his statement, contacting Agent should prepare a cover sheet, form FD-306, which should be stapled to it and thereafter the statement should be handled as a written one in accordance with instructions set out in 2, a, (10), and (11).
 - (7) Oral information furnished by informant purely of lead value should be incorporated in an office memorandum by the Agent and should not be initialed by the informant or exhibited to him or treated as evidence.
3. Transmission of information
- a. Statements should be personally delivered to contacting Agent by informants whenever possible. Careful consideration should be given to full security of all such personal contacts.
 - b. They should never be mailed to field office or resident agency.
 - c. If they cannot be obtained personally by contacting Agent, obtain confidential post office boxes for their receipt.
 - d. Confidential post office boxes should be obtained under fictitious names and not under names of persons who may be listed in post office directory.
 - e. More than one informant may send statements to a specific post office box, but consideration should be given to obtaining post office boxes in different post office stations to prevent suspicion on part of post office employees.
 - f. Envelope enclosing statement should have return address of another confidential post office box obtained under a fictitious name in the same manner as d.
 - g. Statements should be collected at post office boxes regularly, but time of pickup should be varied. Work out system of rotation whereby same Agent or Agents will not appear at same post office box for any extended period of time.
 - h. When informant receives information of vital and immediate interest to Bureau, he should furnish it as promptly as possible to contacting Agent or office by most appropriate means of communication. Office should take any necessary action without delay.
4. Handling of lead information
- a. All lead information obtained from informant must be run out to a logical conclusion.
 - b. If there is only partial name of individual or meager descriptive data, and if there is sufficient data available to do so, file should be opened and assigned to effect an identification and to take any necessary action.
 - c. If there is insufficient information to warrant opening case, a tickler card should be prepared to follow with the informant and take other logical steps in an effort to obtain additional identifying data concerning the individual. Tickler cards should be restricted to information which would warrant investigation if an identity is established. This will eliminate inconsequential items, but at the same time definite steps must be taken to run out affirmative information. If no identification is made after reasonable effort, prepare memorandum for informant's subfile. If an identification is made, a file should be opened and any necessary action taken in connection therewith.
5. Handling documentary material furnished by informants
- a. Pamphlets and similar documentary material furnished by informants should have placed thereon the informant's code name.
 - b. Informant should affix date he received the material. If informant cannot recall date of receipt, the date he furnished material should be affixed.
 - c. No additional markings of any kind, such as initials, date received, permanent symbol number of informant, file numbers, indexing symbols, etc., should be placed on documentary material by Agents or clerical personnel.

4. Subfiles
 - a. A subfile is required on each informant who submits statements, written or oral, except in espionage or foreign nationality matters where a subfile is necessary only in those instances involving possible prosecution. The original of each statement, whether personally written by the informant or furnished orally and reduced to writing by contacting Agent, should be filed in this subfile. Executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306 should be stapled to the original of each such statement.
 - b. Holes may be punched in original statements of informants for secure filing, but care must be taken to prevent obliteration of any portion of statements or notations thereon.
5. Channelization
Excerpts from the informant's statement are to be included in the regular investigative case report when information of value is submitted. Form FD-306 may be used to disseminate this information to the case file in lieu of a channelizing memorandum if desired. If so used, prepare copies of FD-306 as needed for dissemination and staple one copy to each copy of the informant's statement being channelized. Channelization should be noted on original FD-306 and on all copies under "Remarks."
6. Channelizing memoranda - destruction of
For instructions concerning the destruction of channelizing memoranda, see Manual of Rules and Regulations.
7. Dissemination of information
Information submitted by informants, potential informants, confidential sources, or sources of information should be reported to the Bureau and interested offices and other agencies whenever necessary by the appropriate means of communication under captions showing the subject matter of the information.
8. Correspondence
Correspondence submitted in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished to the Bureau under a substantive case caption.
9. Maintenance of files
 - a. All pending files on security informants shall be maintained under lock and key under the personal supervision of the SAC, ASAC, or field supervisor as the informant indices are maintained and described in subsection K.
 - b. Subfiles containing written statements may be maintained in the open files section, provided there is no disclosure of the informant's identity on the statements.
 - c. All informant files should be maintained in such a manner as to insure that all information furnished by a particular informant will be immediately available upon the request of the Bureau.
 - d. In addition, these files should be maintained in such a fashion that the identities of the cases in which an informant has furnished competent evidence can be furnished immediately to the Bureau by simply referring to the file of the informant and without the necessity of conducting extensive research.
10. Use of informant by Department - filing correspondence re
From time to time, the Department expresses an interest in using a particular informant for testifying when he becomes available as a witness. As a result, there will be correspondence showing this situation between the Bureau and the field. Place copies of all such correspondence in the informant's file. Occasionally such correspondence may be voluminous and apply to more than one informant. In those cases, summarize the information concerning each particular informant and place the summary in the appropriate informant's file.
11. Form FD-238
Form FD-238 (printed on pink paper) has been approved for use in security informant and potential security informant files. It is to be used in the nature of a table of contents or as an index to show where in the file particular data can be found. This form is to be kept as the top document in the pertinent informant file and is not to be serialized. If a particular section of this form is not applicable, such should be noted thereon. If it later becomes applicable, the serial number can be noted at that time.

[[12.] Bulky material submitted by informant

Where informant or source submits bulky material other than a statement and same pertains to a specific investigative matter, bulky material may be filed in the investigative case file, together with a copy of executed form FD-306 or a channelizing memorandum containing all applicable items set forth on form FD-306. In such a case, the original form FD-306 or channelizing memorandum should be filed in the subfile of the informant or source and the file and serial number where the bulky material is located should be noted thereon.

N. PAYMENTS TO INFORMANTS AND HANDLING MONEY RECEIVED

1. No gifts to informants

- a. Gifts should not be given to informants since such actions might be misconstrued.
- b. Relationship between Agents and informants shall be maintained on a businesslike basis.
- c. Expenditures for gifts to informants will not be approved as blue slip items.
- d. Investigative employees must not approach, directly or indirectly, representatives of companies, private industries, or insurance companies and request assistance regarding payments of money, gifts, or products of such companies to informants.

2. SAC authority to pay informants

- a. In specific instances in which it is necessary and expedient to expend money to obtain information concerning matters or persons under investigation, which is not otherwise obtainable, or to advance expense money to enable an individual to obtain such information, SAC may approve payments of amounts up to $200 and totaling not more than $200 on a c.o.d. basis regardless of the number of payments. This applies only to individuals who have never been regularly paid for services or expenses on Bureau authorization. In other words, once an individual has been paid on Bureau authorization, regardless of the amount, this authority of the SAC may not be utilized.
- b. Individual who is paid on SAC authority should not be described in correspondence as an informant or source who is being paid on a "regular basis" or on "Bureau authorization."
- c. The blue slip reclaiming any of these payments authorized by the SAC must clearly and accurately explain the circumstances and summarize the information obtained so the Bureau will be in a position to pass intelligently such blue slips for payment.
- d. Prior Bureau authority must be obtained to make any additional payment to an individual who has received payments totaling $200.

3. Payments on continuing basis - Bureau authority

- a. To pay anyone on a continuing basis, obtain specific Bureau authorization.
- b. In requesting this authorization, a justification must be set forth containing the following items and using the subheadings shown.
(In espionage and foreign nationality matters, use subheadings where applicable.)

(1) Recommendation

(Use following wording as nearly as possible:
"I recommend that authority be granted to continue (increase, decrease) payments to the above informant up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for services, plus up to $____(amount) per____(month, week) for expenses actually incurred for a period of ____months, effective ____ (date).")

8. Instruct each interested Bureau office which has made further dissemination of such information to follow the instructions set forth above.
9. Also set up a control file regarding this corrective action, and upon completion of same submit to the Bureau a final letter under the informant's caption identifying each case by title, character, Bureau file, where known, and date of communication.
10. This letter will be used to check all pertinent Bureau files to see that necessary corrective action has been taken in each instance.
11. If necessary, other field offices which have received information from the informant should also be requested to submit summary letters showing what corrections have been made.
12. It is imperative that all information from the informant be correctly labeled and great care must be taken to see that this is done.
13. Occasionally, an ex-informant through his speech, writings, or actions raises a doubt as to his reliability subsequent to the time he was an informant. It is not necessary to go back and change the evaluation of the information attributed to that individual in the absence of a definite indication that the informant furnished unreliable information to the Bureau while he was an informant.
14. Dissemination of information from sources of questionable reliability and known unreliability should be made in accordance with part II, section 5, of the Manual of Rules and Regulations.

T. CLASSIFICATION - 134

U. CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

1. Definition
See page 3 of this section.
2. Assignment of symbols
 - a. A symbol number may be assigned if an unusual security problem exists, or if typing would be saved.
 - b. Advise Bureau by letter giving name, address, business affiliation, symbol number, reason for assigning a symbol number, and a brief statement concerning type of information furnished.
 - c. The abbreviation "CS" may be used in intra-Bureau communications for confidential source. Communications relating to espionage and foreign nationality matters should in addition have a character indicating the country involved; e.g., IS - R for Russia.
 - d. When a permanent symbol has been assigned to a confidential source, the abbreviation "CS" is to appear before the symbol number; e.g., CS NY-000-S.
 - e. Symbol numbers assigned to confidential sources are to be taken from the series of symbol numbers used for your security and criminal informants.
3. Index
 - a. Index cards [on form FD-348] like those prepared for informants must be made up and filed as an adjunct to the criminal informant index or the security informant index, depending on the type of information furnished.
 - b. The symbol index is handled similarly to the symbol index on informants.
 - c. Duplicate confidential source cards may be maintained with the criminal informant index and the security informant index if the source furnishes information of value in both types of investigations.
4. Files
When active investigation is initiated relative to an individual who has potential as a security confidential source, a 134 classification file should be opened and maintained in a pending status until action to develop the individual are discontinued. The same procedure should be followed concerning racial confidential sources, the classification being 137. Files may be opened on confidential sources in criminal matters in a manner identical with that for handling criminal informant files in the discretion of the SAC.

5. Utilization
- a. If confidential source is to be used for assistance in security or racial investigations, secure Bureau approval, and background data must be furnished to the Bureau of the same type which is required for potential security and potential racial informants.
 - b. Except in espionage and foreign nationality matters in which the frequency of contact is dependent upon circumstances of the individual case, confidential sources on whom pending files are maintained should also be contacted at least once every two weeks in the same manner as security informants.
 - c. Records of contacts with confidential sources who have pending files may be posted.
 - d. Contacts with confidential sources should only be made by the Agent or Agents specifically designated for that purpose.
 - e. The letter to the Bureau requesting authority to use a subject as a confidential source is to set out clearly the following information:
 - (1) Background information, including date and place of birth, citizenship status, residence, employment, credit and arrest record, and service record, if any
 - (2) Details of the expected cooperation of captioned individual as a confidential source, together with the results of any interviews conducted with him
