JFK Act 6 (4)

COMMENTS: DATE LOCATED FIRST PARAGRAPH ON FIRST PAGE

On June 22, 1967, L. H. Harrelson, in a telephone conversation with a confidential source in New Orleans, Louisiana, obtained the following information with regard to Perry Russo.

B 5-14-1941, NEW ORLEANS

This informant, who is well known to L.H.H. and who is a polygraph examiner having been trained at the Keeler Polygraph Institute, stated that Perry Russo was examined by another polygraph examiner with the Sheriff's Office in New Orleans and that he had heard that the Sheriff's Office examiner stated that Russo was lying regarding the story of the plot to assassinate the late John F. Kennedy. La

This informant also advised L.H.H. that homosexual Perry Raymond Russo had been subjected to narco-interrogation, using sodium pentathol and that he had further been subjected to hypno-interrogation. He stated that a local psychiatrist subsequently blasted District Attorney Garrison for using these two techniques and suggested that Russo should be examined on the polygraph which should be more reliable. This informant stated that he received a call requesting him to examine Russo in regard to his story. He stated that he was told that Russo wanted to meet him first to see what kind of a person he was.

He stated that he made an appointment and met Russo for the first time Friday, June 16, 1967. He stated that at this time he talked for a while and Russo requested that he be given a trial run on the polygraph and that he wanted to be asked 10 or 20 questions and intended to lie to some of them to see if the examiner could detect it. The source stated that he instead had Russo write down a number on a piece of paper and place it in his pocket. He stated that he then made Russo a bet of $5.00 that he could pick out the number. He further stated that Russo called the bet, the test was run and the examiner picked out the number.

He stated that Russo appeared in his office on June 19, 1967 to be examined in regard to his story reporting the plot to assassinate the late John F. Kennedy. He stated that he attempted to examine Russo but that his pneumo tracing (breathing) was so erratic that he reported to D.A. Garrison that he felt Russo was an unfit subject for polygraph testing at this time. He further stated that he did talk with Russo about his tracing and explained to him that he obviously had something bothering him. He stated Russo told him that he told the story in court because he was getting so much pressure from D.A. Garrison and also NBC. He stated that Russo further made the statement to him that he did not know if Clay Shaw was present at the meeting or not. He stated that Russo added that if he had to say "yes" or "no" that he would have to say "no" that Clay Shaw was not present. La

ENCLOSURE

This examiner stated that he asked Russo why he went into court and under oath stated that Shaw was present at the alleged meeting. He stated that Russo replied that he fully intended to go into court and testify that he did not know if Shaw was present or not but became angered by Shaw's attorney's question, "Do you believe in God" and afterwards did testify that Shaw was definitely present.

This informant stated that Russo admitted having undergone psychiatric treatment for one and one-half years. He stated that Russo admitted to homosexual acts.

This informant stated that he fully believes that he would have been able to break Russo had he continued. He stated that after giving a verbal report to Mr. Garrison that Mr. Garrison told him in no uncertain terms to keep his mouth shut and not to say anything about the test or what Russo said. This informant further stated that his official written report to Mr. Garrison is going to indicate that in his opinion Russo was an unfit subject on Monday, June 19, 1967.

NOTE:

The erratic breathing pattern that was described by this informant can indicate claustrophobia, however, in all of the experience that I have had in conducting polygraph examinations, an erratic breathing pattern as a general rule is an indication that the subject is being deceptive.
