REC-46

Rerep SA RICHARD GORDON DOUCE, Pittsburgh, 4/4/58, and Bulet to Pittsburgh, 4/30/58.

The matter of subject's conferences with his confederates at the Ken Iron and Steel Company, New Kensington, Pa., has been the subject of considerable discussion among agents assigned to Top Hoodlum investigations in Pittsburgh, Pa., with respect to the possible use of unusual investigative techniques.

Several preliminary surveys have been made of the Ken Iron and Steel Company for the purpose of determining whether unusual investigative techniques could be established. Unfortunately adequate security cannot be guaranteed; consequently, confidential or unusual investigative techniques are not being considered at this time.

The long distance telephone conversation between subject and the individual referred to as "LOUIE" of Chicago, Illinois, regarding the gambling situation in Havana, Cuba, was partially overheard by TOM LATTOS, the roommate of PCI [redacted] [redacted] LATTOS, according to [redacted] heard nothing additional as to the substance of the long distance telephone conversation and would not be in a position to obtain additional information regarding the call even if he wanted to. [redacted] has naturally protected his confidential relationship to the Bureau during his friendship with LATTOS and feels it highly inadvisable to press LATTOS for additional information that he does not possess at the risk of arousing his suspicions. [redacted] also feels that since he is the only one who is aware of the fact that LATTOS overheard a portion of the conversation between subject and "LOUIE" an interview of LATTOS, the original source of information, would greatly endanger his position as an informant.
