On December 2, 1959, Captain LEE NAPIER of the Miami, Florida Police Department advised SA J. C. STRICKLAND, JR. that an informant has reported information concerning the contemplated kidnaping of PEDRO DIAZ LANZ, former head of the Cuban Air Force, who is presently residing in Miami, Florida.

According to NAPIER, his informant was recently in Havana, Cuba and was approached by Cuban officials concerning the possibility of getting LANZ to Cuba. The informant is alleged to have related that he would not get involved, but informed the Cuban officials he knew a person who would be interested and who could possibly accomplish the mission. Informant advised a representative from Cuba is scheduled to arrive in Miami on December 4, 1959, to further discuss this matter.

NAPIER advised his informant is Marine Broker, Miami, Florida.

whose name should not be disclosed, was interviewed December 3, 1959. He advised that about two weeks ago he was in Havana, Cuba discussing business matters with JOSE SALAZAR of the Tourist Bureau. He has known SALAZAR for quite some time and SALAZAR introduced him to a Lieutenant DELGADO who is second in command of construction at the Navy Yard, Havana, Cuba. SALAZAR and DELGADO mentioned to him the possibility of getting DIAZ LANZ out of the United States into Cuba. [redacted] told them he would have nothing to do with such a matter but thought it could be done upon payment of a sufficient sum of money and that he knows a person who would be interested; he would put them in contact with this individual. The individual referred to is JACK BROWN, whose identity should not be disclosed, who is a deep sea diver and operates an advertising business in Marathon, Florida. BROWN owns a sea plane and a PT boat.

FLA
[redacted] advised he discussed the matter with JACK BROWN and it was agreed between them that no effort would be made to contact LANZ, but that an effort would be made to have the Cuban government pay a large sum of money in advance upon the belief that BROWN would undertake the job.

He advised that under no circumstances should BROWN be informed that the matter has been reported, as BROWN then probably would not endeavor to determine the complete plan from the Cuban officials. [redacted] related he can control BROWN and, if necessary, he believes he could induce BROWN to testify.

On December 2, 1959, [redacted] BROWN had a FLA telephonic conversation with JOSE SALAZAR and an agreement WBA was made whereby a representative would arrive at Key West, Florida, on the first Cubana plane on the morning of December 4, 1959. BROWN was to meet the Cuban representative in the airport manager's office, which upon reflection [redacted] believed to be not feasible as BROWN is well known to the airport manager.

[redacted] called SALAZAR on December 3, 1959, and outlined the danger of having such a meeting in Key West, and suggested the representative come to Miami. This change in plan met with the approval of SALAZAR who instructed [] to make all arrangements. SALAZAR advised he could not furnish the name of the person who would arrive in Miami but the individual would have the physical description of []

Two adjoining rooms were obtained at the Skyway Motel a short distance from the International Airport, Miami, Florida. [] met the first Cubana plane which arrived at 8:50 A.M. on December 4, 1959. No contact was had by anyone with []

[] thereafter called SALAZAR who advised he would determine the reason for the delay. SALAZAR then called [] back at his residence and stated the person who was to arrive in Miami had some visa trouble and efforts were being made to clear this person for a later flight.

SALAZAR requested [] to call again at 1:00 P.M. [] called SALAZAR at this time and was advised by SALAZAR's secretary that SALAZAR would call [] at about 5:00 P.M.

At 4:00 P.M. SALAZAR called [] residence and in [] absence left a message that the individual was leaving Havana, Cuba on Cubana airlines at 5:00 P.M.; he would be wearing a grey jacket and red shirt with Indian design.

The plane arrived shortly after 6:00 P.M. and [] was contacted by an individual who was dressed as mentioned above. [] took this individual to the Skyway Motel, room 258. [] contacted BROWN and arrangements were made for BROWN to meet with them at the motel at about 10:30 P.M.

[redacted] advised that while in the hotel room prior to the arrival of JACK BROWN, the Cuban related that his name was AUGUSTINE WALDO YASELLS. His passport carried the name AUGUSTINE W. YASELLS. He claimed to be from Santiago, Cuba, 20 years of age, a First Lieutenant in the Army, G-2. YASELLS stated he had been active in the Cuban revolution and his superior was Major FURRY, nineteen years of age. He also mentioned that his instructions to come to Miami were given to him by Lieutenant PINO of the Cuban Navy, and Major FURRY. FCA. CUBA. APPROX. 1940

YASELLS also advised he had previously entered the United States on October 5, 1957, when he enrolled in ROTC training at Georgia Military College, and later mentioned his training was obtained at the University of Georgia. He also mentioned Georgia Tech.

[redacted] took YASELLS to dinner, during which time YASELLS related he was instructed to stay with BROWN until the mission was accomplished. He claimed the Cuban government desires that BROWN endeavor to induce LANZ to return to Cuba by plane and BROWN should follow in his own plane and radio the position of LANZ and the place where he would land. [redacted] told YASELLS, BROWN would have his own plan and at the present time it is very difficult to leave any airport for Cuba.

[redacted] met BROWN at the bus station at 10:30 P.M. and returned to the Skyway Motel. YASELLS remained in the room during the absence of McCRORY.

BROWN informed YASELLS that SALAZAR had stated the representative from Cuba would have in his possession a business card of SALAZAR. YASELLS could not produce such a card and [redacted] persuaded BROWN that YASELLS was no doubt the person sent to contact BROWN as SALAZAR had previously furnished the type clothing YASELLS would be wearing.

MM 105-2188

() advised YASELLS claimed he understood the demands of BROWN and they insisted YASELLS return to Havana and report to his superior and later contact () if they agreed to the request of BROWN.

OTHER 4

YASELLS departed Miami at 9:50 A.M., December 5, 1959, aboard Cubana airlines.

() advised that while en route to the airport YASELLS remarked that BROWN is money crazy.

() called SALAZAR December 5, 1959, and informed him YASELLS was returning to Cuba in possession of the demands of BROWN. He told SALAZAR he had previously mentioned that the mission would cost a large sum of money and BROWN was rather reluctant to discuss any plan with YASELLS as YASELLS had no authority. SALAZAR advised he would look into the matter further and contact ()

He also advised he has persuaded BROWN it would be foolish for him to go to Cuba, and BROWN agrees that any agreement made should be undertaken in the United States.
