Prior to BROWDER's arrest in March, 1959 and periodically since his arrest, BROWDER has stated he has access to several hundred thousand dollars worth of similar bonds.

BROWDER was convicted in U. S. District Court, Miami, Florida, in possession of these stolen bonds in June, 1959. A new trial was granted, and he was again convicted of this charge in Federal Court at Miami in April, 1960. BROWDER has been out of jail on bond since May, 1959, and presently is awaiting sentencing. LILYAN

Since April 9, 1960, BROWDER has paid off some of his debts, and has allegedly exhibited large sums of money to several people in the Miami area. One individual said that BROWDER exhibited a $109,000.00 check from the Panamanian Government on April 11, 1960. On April 12, 1960, BROWDER exhibited $90,000.00 in cash to another Miamian. On April 12, 1960, BROWDER appeared at a place of business in Miami, exhibited a sizeable amount of cash, said that it totaled $50,000.00, and also exhibited six $10,000.00 checks payable to his wife, LILYAN MARTIN, and allegedly drawn on a bank in Panama. On this occasion, BROWDER claimed he was in the arms business in Miami under the firm name Aero Ordnance at 3092 N. W. 75th Street. He said he was affiliated with Servicios Internacionales, S. A. in Panama, and had banking connections with Banco Fiduciario de Panama, S. A., and the Panama Bank and Trust Company, both of Panama.
