On March 19, 1959, an informant, who has furnished (JFK) reliable information in the past, advised that I. Irving Davidson, Washington, D.C., public relations counsel and registered as an agent for the Government of Israel, reported [to Avraham Salmon] on a recent trip on which he was accompanied by Drew Pearson, syndicated news columnist. ^{DC} ~~JFK~~

Davidson reported they had visited "Batista, Trujillo and all that gang, and Peron". Davidson described his contacts as "quite an interesting deal". Davidson stated he was very much involved in getting these peoples' papers straightened out. The informant said Davidson did not elaborate or identify the people concerned. (u)

Davidson reported [to Salmon] that it was not a dead issue but he could not get them to write a check that fast. Davidson arranged [to see Salmon] for drinks at the DuPont Plaza Hotel on the afternoon of March 19, 1959. (u)

The informant also recalled that Davidson reported being bothered again by "these Mexicans" who want to set up an Arcia (phonetic) plant. (u)
