The 12/3/65 issue of "The Daily Illini", University of Illinois newspaper, on Page 3, reported that University student workers are asking for volunteers to spend Christmas vacation registering Negro voters in large Southern cities. Sponsoring organization is SCLC, which directed Illini-Alabama Project in registering local Negroes in Green County, Alabama, during the summer of 1965. Illini-Alabama Project was organized by McKinley Presbyterian Foundation at University of Illinois. Above article urged interested students to attend preliminary meeting 12/14/65 at above foundation. A day of orientation for volunteers from across country will be held in Atlanta on 12/21/65, but attendance is not mandatory. Workers will then disperse to various Southern cities and live with local people, who will furnish room and board. Workers are urged to spend at least seven days on this project.

A source furnished the following information to a representative of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on February 19, 1968:

This source advised that he and his wife were in San Juan, Puerto Rico from December 2 - 15, 1967. He stated that the last of the last week of his trip, around December 13, 1967, he was sitting in the lobby of the Holiday Inn, half asleep and overheard a conversation, in English, between two Negro couples.

This source advised that it appeared that the couples had prearranged plans to meet at the Holiday Inn, possibly to eat, and source does not believe that they were registered, as he did not see them before or after.

The source said that from the conversation, at least one couple appeared to be from California, as they were commenting and comparing Governor Reagan to the former Governor Brown.

Source could recall no descriptive information concerning one of the couples, but he stated that the man who did most of the talking was approximately 6'3" to 6'4" in height, and had on a black hat that flopped down on one side. The woman with him was extremely well dressed, short and heavy set.

The Negro man doing the talking stated a Negro, supposedly an associate of Martin Luther King, Jr., and formerly an open advocate of violence, was to "hit" King during the Washington March this spring, so as to place the blame on a white man in the march. By "Hit", the source took this as to kill King. This incident was to be used to incite full scale rioting.

This source advised that he had not wanted to get involved, thus the delay in reporting this matter to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He stated that no one else overheard the conversation.

The matter of student participation in SCLC projects consensus of religious foundations represented in the as-students who express an interest in activity of this sort, should be encouraged to consider working in civil activities

The 5-28-65 issue of "The Daily Illini", University of Illinois newspaper, on page 3, identified TOM LOAN, a Junior in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, as Director of the Illini Alabama Project which will participate in a ten-week civil rights project in Green County, Alabama, this summer. They will concentrate on voter registration programs, citizenship classes and federal and state aid drives.

The project is sponsored by the Summer Community Organization and Political Education (SCOPE), Department of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

Volunteers will attend a training camp in Atlanta, Georgia June 12 through June 18, 1965 followed by a week of additional training in Green County by SCLC workers. Professional workers have been in Green County preparing for the students for several weeks. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.

Bernard G. McElvaney, Chief of Police, Bloomington, Illinois Police Department, advised that Martin Luther King, Jr. arrived at the Bloomington, Illinois Airport from Chicago, Illinois at 8 PM by chartered plane on February 10, 1966.

Chief McElvaney advised that at the Illinois Wesleyan University Field House, Bloomington, Illinois, King addressed approximately 3,000 people, composed preponderantly of student and faculty members from Illinois Wesleyan University and Illinois State University, Normal, Illinois. He related there was a sprinkling of townspeople in attendance.

The "Daily Panagraph", a daily newspaper published at Bloomington, Illinois, in the issue printed the morning of February 11, 1966, stated that King reported on civil rights gains.

The same news article said King stated "If democracy is to live, segregation must die". He reported that the average negro who is employed today "Earns ten times more than the average negro wage earner twelve years ago." He further stated "Twenty per cent of the negro families earn less than $1,000 annually compared against five per cent of the white families in the same category."

The same news article stated that King stated "While this nation faces the lowest level of unemployment in the last seven or eight years", he pointed out, "unemployment among negroes is at its highest level". Also, he stressed the need for public work programs.

The article further stated that King related that a psychological change is needed "One of the tragedies of plus this is that it causes people to lose faith and resign themselves to fate."

The article went on to state that after King spoke for nearly an hour, he engaged in fifteen minutes of answering questions and stated he had to end his speaking early as he was needed in Chicago, Illinois at 11 PM, February 10, 1968, to plan strategy for a union to end slums in Chicago, Illinois.

McNivney advised that immediately subsequent to his speech, King departed from Bloomington, Illinois by chartered private plane en route Chicago, Illinois. He advised the plane left the Bloomington, Illinois Airport at 10:15 PM, February 10, 1968.
