Overview

Significant federal involvement in permanent recognition of the final resting place of deceased U.S. military personnel began with the establishment of the first national military cemeteries in 1862. This research guide focuses on records of headstones provided for U.S. military veterans buried in nonfederal cemeteries, 1879 and later; NARA has records for 1879–1985. Some of the record series in this handout are also relevant to burials in certain federal cemeteries (those at military posts or national soldiers' homes).

Important Definitions

- Nonfederal (“private”) cemeteries Any cemetery maintained by a state, county, city, village, township, church, family, or private organization.
- Post cemeteries Cemeteries at military posts (forts, etc.). Headstone applications for veterans buried at post cemeteries are often interfiled with those for private cemeteries.
- National cemeteries Federally operated. Originally established for Civil War dead; burial privilege later extended to all honorably discharged veterans. Also called National Military Cemeteries. Discussion of the records related to these burials is beyond the scope of this research guide.

Records Timeline. Records in the National Archives are arranged by Record Group (RG) then in the manner in which the creating agency arranged and maintained the records.

Headstone Records—Microfilm

These records relate to headstones requested for veterans buried in private (nonfederal) cemeteries and at national homes for disabled volunteer soldiers.

- 1879–1903        National Archives Microfilm Publication M1845, *Card Records of Headstones Provided for Deceased Union Civil War Veterans, ca. 1879–ca. 1903. 22 rolls. Over 166,000 records. Available online at Ancestry.com as the "Headstones Provided for Deceased Union Civil War Veterans, 1879–1903" database.

Includes some War of 1812 veterans. 3-inch by 4-inch cards arranged alphabetically by name. They include some or all of the following information about each soldier: rank, company, and regiment; place of burial, including the cemetery's name, and the city or town, county, and state in which it is located; grave number, if any; date of death; name of contractor who supplied the headstone and the date of the contract under which the stone was provided. Most burials occurred in private cemeteries, but some were at National Homes for Disabled Volunteers Soldiers.

Sometime in the past, a paper cutter was used to cut off, en masse, the top one-eighth inch of each card. The upper parts of some names were cut off; as a result, they may be difficult to read. Sometimes the names were re-written below the original writing of the name.

Be sure to also check Series 594 (described under textual records), since there may be an additional record.

- 1925–1941        National Archives Microfilm Publication M1916, *Applications for Headstones for U.S. Military Veterans, 1925–1941. 134 rolls. Contains over 290,000 applications. Available online at Ancestry.com as part of the "Headstone Applications for Military Veterans, 1925-1963" database. Most applications are online twice: Black and white images were scanned from the microfilm; color images were scanned from the original paper records.

Arranged alphabetically by name. Most died during 1925–41, but also includes many veterans who died before 1925, including Civil War Union and Confederate veterans, and a few Revolutionary War soldiers. Indians are filed separately in a section called "Indian Scouts." Several versions of the application, OQMG Form No. 623, were used.

Claire Kluskens, "Research Guide for Headstone Records for U.S. Military Veterans Buried in Nonfederal Cemeteries, 1879–1985," page 4 (April 2013 edition)

Quartermaster personnel annotated the front of the form with corrections to the veteran's name and military service to ensure the information on the headstone would be consistent with information in government records. Be sure to also check Series 1942 (described under textual records), since there may be additional records.

1941–1949 National Archives Microfilm Publication M2113, *Applications for Headstones for U.S. Military Veterans, 1941–1949. 278 rolls. Contains over 331,000 applications. Available online at Ancestry.com as part of the "Headstone Applications for Military Veterans, 1925-1963" database. Most applications are online twice: Black and white images were scanned from the microfilm; color images were scanned from the original paper records.

Most died during 1941–49, but there are also some for veterans who died before 1941. Most served in World War I or World War II, but there are also veterans of earlier eras, including Union and Confederate Civil War veterans. Indians are filed separately in a section called "Indian Scouts." Several versions of the application, OQMG Form No. 623, printed between 1931 and 1949 were used by applicants. Quartermaster personnel annotated the front of the form with corrections to the veteran's name and military service to ensure the information on the headstone would be consistent with information in government records.

The date the headstone was ordered is not indicated. These lists were originally in an envelope but at some time (before coming to the National Archives) were pasted into these volumes. The fact that the lists are typed suggests the lists were compiled after 1910. Duplicate lists were pasted facing each other.
