

NARA Summer Institute for Educators "Primarily Teaching" Seattle

Monday through Friday - August 3-7, 2009

(With an extra research day available in the archives on Saturday, August 8)

Don't miss this opportunity to visit beautiful Seattle and learn more about

- Narrowing your topic and "doing" history,
- Using primary sources in your classroom or library,
- The organization and holdings of NARA,
- Holdings and organization of other archives and libraries,
- Writing lesson plans using important [and sometimes surprising] documents.

At the same time you can earn graduate credit and/or clock hours!

Class size is limited to the first ten applicants.

More information and an application is available at:
<http://www.archives.gov/education/primarily-teaching/>

Or contact us at:

National Archives and Records Administration
6125 Sand Point Way NE
Seattle, Washington 98115
seattle.archives@nara.gov