2012 YEOSU EXPO

I. PURPOSE & BACKGROUND

Following the luncheon, YOU, Secretary Clinton, and President Lee are escorted to the Monroe Room for a quick photo-op related to the Yeosu Expo (World's Fair). Yeosu is a city in the southern part of the Republic of Korea.

In November 2009, the Department of State received a formal invitation from the Republic of Korea to participate in 2012 Yeosu Expo. The Expo will take place May through August 2012 with the theme of "The Living Ocean and Coast: Diversity of Resources and Sustainable Activities."

In 1994, Congress legislated that the State Department may not expend funds for international expos unless specifically authorized or appropriated, so all funding must come from the private sector. State has raised all the private funds necessary to support the U.S. Pavilion, and is now prepared to accept the invitation from the Republic of Korea.

To date, Chevron, Citigroup, Hyundai Motor Manufacturing Alabama, Kia Motors America, Samsung Electronics America, Boeing, Lockheed Martin, Corning, General Electric and Becton Dickenson have pledged their support for the U.S. Pavilion in the amount of $7.45 million. On top of those pledges, State has been authorized to use some excess funds donated for the U.S. Pavilion at the now-completed Shanghai Expo ($1.7 million).

The State Department has signed a Memorandum of Agreement with EarthEcho International to design and operate the U.S. Pavilion, founded by Philippe Cousteau, the grandson of Jacques Cousteau.

The floral arrangements will be comprised of a mix of Pink Lotus flowers and bamboo branches. The Lotus is a symbol of fertility and purity in the South Korean culture. The Pink Lotus in particular is the supreme Lotus, reserved only for the highest deity. The bamboo branches symbolize longevity, strength and grace—many of the longstanding values of the United States of America.

Additional design elements to be found at each table will include crystal candlesticks with colored column candles. A large installation piece made of bamboo, Lotus flowers, and greenery will be accented behind the stage.

The luncheon on October 13th in honor of President Lee of the Republic of Korea, taking place in the Benjamin Franklin Room of the State Department, celebrates the essence of tranquility. The design for the luncheon will feature a mix of Sky Blue, Cerulean Blue, and Apple Green linens inspired by the beauty, color and tranquility of the South Korean mountain range.

The floral arrangements will be comprised of a mix of Pink Lotus flowers and bamboo branches. The Lotus is a symbol of fertility and purity in the South Korean culture. The Pink Lotus in particular is the supreme Lotus, reserved only for the highest deity. The bamboo branches symbolize longevity, strength and grace—many of the longstanding values of the United States of America.

Additional design elements to be found at each table will include crystal candlesticks with colored column candles. A large installation piece made of bamboo, Lotus flowers, and greenery will be accented behind the stage.
