AC,

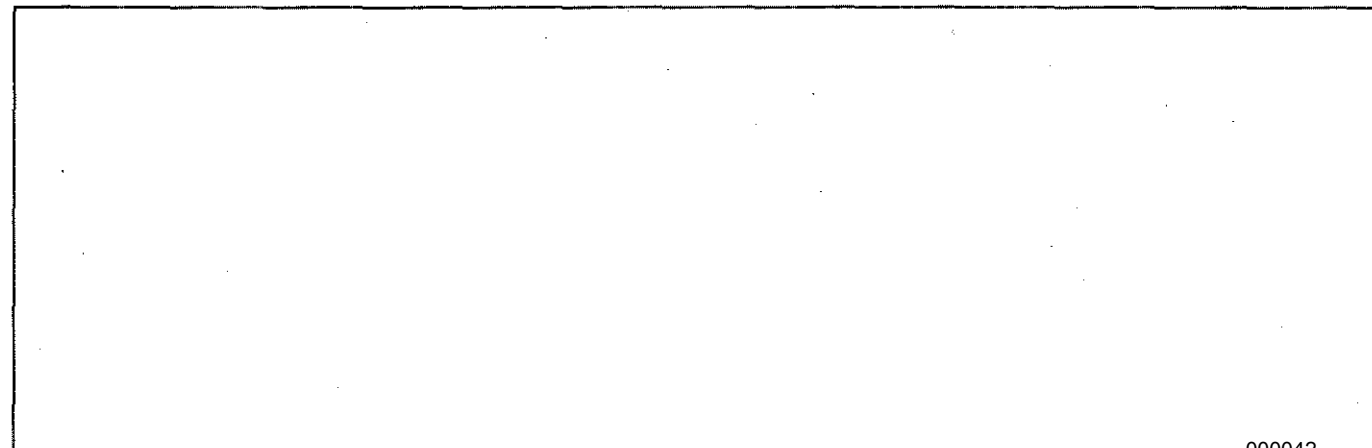

In addition to the power being out at a number of our offices around the county, here is some information from this week. I hope everyone is starting to warm up and enjoying spring blossoms. Have a great weekend.

Hillary Clinton's Personal Email Usage. This week, the response from the State Department to our request for more information concerning their email management practices was released on the NARA web site. You can see the press release, the response from State, and the associated attachments at <http://www.archives.gov/press/press-releases/2015/nr15-65.html>.
