1.	SECTION I--RECORDS COMMON TO MOST OFFICES Office Administrative Files. Records accumulated by most regional and area OSHA offices that relate to routine internal administration or "house-keeping" activities of the office rather than the functions for which the office exists. In general, these papers relate to the office organization, procedures and communications, and day-to-day administration of office personnel. The papers include duplicate or working copies of documents concerning the expenditure of funds in the office, including budget workpapers, copies of supplies and office equipment requests and receipts, documents regarding the use of office space and utilities, papers concerning participation in employee and community affairs, campaigns, drives, etc. These records may include copies of administrative correspondence, reports and forms prepared in the office and forwarded to higher levels and other material that does not serve as official documentation. The retention period outlined in this item will apply unless a separate records item (series) is described in this section. This material is arranged according to the DOL Administrative Subject Classification Guide. Cut off annually at end of fiscal year. Destroy one year after cutoff.	NC174-76-1, Item 1	53 items

2.	Request for Approval of Expenditures for Rental of Office Space. These files contain offers to lease space and related correspondence between National Office (NO), Regional Office (RO), or Area Office (AO) and RAMO. Also included are maps, floor plans, Requests for Approval of Expenditures for Repairs and Alterations, and informational copies of correspondence between OSHA or RAMO and GSA. These expenditures are often coordinated with Regional Administration and Management Office (RAMO). Cut off when agency moves from the building. Retire to FARC two years after cutoff. Destroy six years after cutoff.	NC174-76-1, Item 18
3.	Position Description Files. Documents describing duties, responsibilities, and supervisory relationships of each position in the RO or AO, generally using Optional Form 8. These are maintained in OSHA offices as working files and are extra copies of official files maintained in RAMO or NO personnel offices. Destroy when superseded or the position is abolished.	NC174-76-1, Item 20
4.  and ^	Purchase and Contract Transaction Files. Consist of contract, requisition, purchase order, lease, and bond surety records, including correspondence and related papers pertaining to award, administration, receipt inspection and payment of purchase transactions. Purchase orders prior to 7/25/74 have the same retention standard as 4a and 4b. Prior to 1974, transactions were identified as PO's of more/less than $2,500. Items 4c and 4d consist of Requisition for Equipment and Supplies, DL Form 1-1; Requisition for Printing, GSA Form 50; and/or other requisitions for non-personal services. Copies of the forms are often sent to the RAMO and NO. Arranged alphabetically or numerically. a. Purchase orders or comparable instruments after July 25, 1974 for amounts of $10,000 or more. Cut off annually at end of fiscal year. 28.	SECTION II--PROGRAM ADMINISTRATIVE MANAGEMENT AND CASE RECORDS Program Administration and Management Correspondence Files. These files consist of incoming originals or official file copies of outgoing general program correspondence, reports, forms or other general program records designated as official record documentation. The files are created by OSHA regional (RO) and area (AO) offices while administering the various OSHA programs, and they document the functions and responsibilities for which OSHA offices are primarily responsible. These are the official files that are directly related to OSHA administration of program functions and should not be confused or maintained with the office administrative files outlined in Section I. OSHA offices that create these records in achieving their assigned mission or legal mandate are: Federal/State Operations, Management, Technical Support, Federal Agency Consultation, Training and Education, and Regional Administrators. Examples of functional program subjects are: advisory committees, compliance safety and health, standards safety and health, research and development, training, consultation and education, state programs, imminent danger, inspections, state plans, contested cases, penalty or abatement information, variances, OSHA forms when not included in a specific inspection or state plan case file, or correspondence related to OSHA programs in general. This material is arranged according to the OSHA Program Subject Classification Guide. The retention standard specified below will apply unless a separate item (series) for program correspondence material is included in this section. Cut off annually at end of fiscal year. Retire to the FARC two years after cutoff. Destroy seven years after cutoff.

The files are similar to the types of records contained in Section I; however, they are usually maintained separately, since the documentation involves program financial planning of a long term nature. Cut off annually at end of fiscal year. Retire to the FARC two years after cutoff. Destroy five years after cutoff.
30.	Financial Management Special Project Files. These files relate to special projects to implement various types of financial management systems. They include such items as organization charts, Gantt charts, progress reports, worksheets, correspondence and other papers related to the specific financial project. An example of a project would be Implementation of Cost Accounting in OSHA Programs. Cut off annually at end of fiscal year in which project is completed. Destroy three years after cutoff.	NC174-76-1, Item 19
31.	State Program Activity Report Files. This file consists of the quarterly occupational safety and health program activity report from states approved by OSHA to conduct their own occupational safety and health programs. The file includes a duplicate administrative copy of the original transmittal letter and the report submitted to the NO describing the state's compliance activity, variance requests granted, and status of the States' Standards Developed. The NO maintains the official record documentation. Regional and area offices may retain systems printout reports with the state plan, if appropriate. Arranged alphabetically. Cut off annually. Destroy when obsolete, superseded or of no further reference value.	NC100-76-1, Item 180

The documents could be originals or copies but should be identified as the record copy. The set includes policy directives, or other RO issuances which outline policy or procedures for program direction or administration and are not interpretations of NO policy issuances. This material should not be confused or filed with reference copies listed in Section I, Items 22 and 23. OSHA National Office maintains the "Record Set" of OSHA nationwide policy issuances. OSHA policies or procedures evolve from internal program management review, court decisions, committee decisions, or interrelationships with the general public. Supporting material, work papers, and correspondence for policy and procedures issuances should be maintained with program correspondence, as called for by Item 28. Arranged in loose leaf binders in accordance with the DOL Directives System. a. Regional office record set. Permanent. Clearance forms, transmittal letters, research materials, work papers and related backup materials. Destroy on publication of policy or procedure. State Plan Case Files. The state plan files consist of documentation created by OSHA regional or area offices and states while consulting, developing, implementing and monitoring state plans in conjunction with a state government. Each OSHA region develops its own format for obtaining basic information on state operations in response to National Office policies for the purpose of evaluation. At a minimum, the state plan case file should contain the following as part of the official documentation: State plan; state OSH legislation; administrative regulations equivalent to the Federal OSH Regulations; field operations manuals; management information system forms similar to OSHA Forms 1, 2, 3, etc.; standards; Federal- or state-initiated changes to state plans; state semiannual and quarterly correspondence reports; semiannual reports on state operations; monitoring data such as case file reviews, on-the-job notes, written material on variances, "CASPA" documentation, miscellaneous administrative material; drafts of state plan; public comments and transcripts of public hearings; related grants and associated data; funding agreements with state personnel doing OSHA enforcement activity; and selected program correspondence that relates to the specific state plan. Copies of state plans are available in the state, OSHA regional or area offices, or in the National Office. Generally, the office that administers the state plan has the most complete, up-to-date case file and program correspondence to support the state plan. Arranged alphabetically by name of state. a. Regional or area office administrative copies. Cut off at the end of the fiscal year that state plan is withdrawn, disapproved or discontinued. Destroy five years after cutoff. b. Regional or area office reference copies. Destroy when obsolete or discontinued. 38. Discrimination Complaint Case Files. Consist of correspondence; OSHA forms prepared from incoming telephone calls, logs or registers; complaint forms; reinvestigation research data; investigation findings; settlement forms; final reports; documents outlining final disposition of case; transmittal letters or other records necessary to assure complete documentation of the case. These complaints are initiated by employees of private firms under OSHA jurisdiction. The complaint may be formal or informal. It generally results from a notification by the employee to OSHA that administrative action has been taken against him/her for reporting unsafe conditions to OSHA, or complaining to OSHA about health conditions or any OSHA-related program responsibilities or functions. Summary data may be included by the investigating office in a specific inspection case file, if appropriate. Duplicate copies of cases or case file contents are treated as reference material. Arranged alphabetically or numerically. Cut off at fiscal year end that case is closed. Retire to FARC three years after cutoff. Destroy five years after cutoff. 39. Contract Monitoring Case Files. Working files maintained by OSHA regional and area offices for monitoring contracts or agreements with universities or other institutions in the development and conducting of OSHA programs.
