I.3. DIVISION OF POWER SYSTEM OPERATIONS FILES

The Division of Power System Operations (PSO) operated the transmission and communication system network to deliver power from sources of supply to delivery points serving power contractors. It determined system loading; performed dispatching; and provided relaying, protection, test, and maintenance services. It performed its field work through a district operating and maintenance organization.

From 1934 to 1960 Power Manager's Files served as PSO's official file (permanent, NCI-142-85-12, Item A). However, during this period PSO was part of the Power Operations organization, and Power Operations maintained a coded workfile. In 1960, the organizations in Power Operations were split to form the Division of Power Production and the Division of Power System Operations. The records in the coded workfile were split between the two new organizations. From 1961 to 1978 PSO maintained an official file and discontinued sending copies to Power Manager's Files. The PSO file included the PSO-related correspondence from the coded workfile for the period 1934 to 1960. There are approximately 75 cubic feet of hard copy PSO records dating from 1934 to 1978.
