RECORDS SCHEDULE FOR THE RECORDS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE
Office of Inspector General
For The Office of Investigations

The Department of Defense Office of Inspector General was established by Congress as one of the independent and objective units within listed establishments of Department of Defense. As the principal advisor to the Secretary of Defense in all Inspector General matters, the Inspector General serves as an extension of “the eyes, ears and conscience” of the Secretary. In support of the Inspector General mission, the Defense Criminal Investigative Service (DCIS) of the Office of Investigations, requires a change in disposition of polygraph records referencing Office Of The Under Secretary of Defense memo, subject: Interim Policy for Polygraph Anti-Countermeasure Procedures dated March 27, 2006.

Office of Investigations DCIS
Mission

DCIS’ mission is to protect America’s warfighters by conducting investigations in support of crucial National Defense priorities. DCIS assists the Inspector General in fulfilling statutory responsibilities to detect, investigate and prevent fraud, waste and abuse and other improper acts. To this end, DCIS investigates allegations of criminal, civil and administrative violations and promotes economy, efficiency and effective operations within DoD. Pursuant to the statutory obligations of the DoD Inspector General to “initiate, conduct, and supervise such...investigations in the Department of Defense (including the military departments) as the Inspector General considers appropriate” (IG Act § 8©(2)) and to “give particular regard to the activities of the internal ... investigative units of the military departments with a view toward avoiding duplication and insuring effective coordination and cooperation” (IG Act § 8©(9)), DCIS devotes the majority of its’ resources to investigations involving terrorism, product substitution, computer crimes/intrusions, illegal technology transfers, and other categories of fraud (i.e. bribery, corruption, and major thefts).

Function

The function of Polygraph Program, DCIS is to provide polygraph support to DCIS offices in support of criminal investigations and counterintelligence activities affecting National Defense priorities.

CONCEPT OF THE PSYCHOPHYSIOLOGICAL DETECTION OF DECEPTION (PDD) PROGRAM

a. The PDD technique has been accepted by the Defense Criminal Investigative Service (DCIS) as a valuable investigative tool that can be utilized in appropriate cases under its jurisdiction. Through its proper use, many cases can be resolved resulting in a reduction in the number of man-hours, equipment, and money required. To this end and with a view toward establishing strict rules of professional conduct, the following PDD Program Operating Procedures are established. The term PDD will be used interchangeably with the older term "polygraph" in this document.

b. Strict adherence to these procedures will ensure that the DCIS PDD Program is effective, valuable, cost efficient, and productive. It will further ensure that the program is being conducted within the guidelines of the Department of Defense Regulation 5210.48R, within the limits of current judicial opinions, and at a level of professionalism above the minimum acceptable standards found in the field of PDD. The DCIS PDD Program will adhere closely to the Federal PDD Examiner Handbook.

cb. The PDD instrument is a scientific, diagnostic instrument that graphically records physiological changes that take place in a person at a specific time. In the hands of a trained PDD examiner, it is highly reliable in detecting deception being practiced by a subject regarding a specific issue. The end result of the procedure, therefore, is to obtain the truth concerning a specific matter. The detection of deception is only part of the procedure. Examinations are only completely successful when the end result achieved is arriving at the truth.

cd. Within DCIS, the PDD examination is to be used as an investigative tool in support of the agents of this service in accomplishing his/her assigned duties. It will not replace a proper and thorough investigative effort, nor will it be used as a psychological prop. Reasonable efforts will be made to resolve the investigative issues in question prior to employing its use. PDD examinations will not be indiscriminately given as a routine course of each investigation but rather will be administered by DCIS certified examiners or intern examiners, under monitorship by certified examiners, when approved by proper authority after evaluation of the specific facts of a case.

RECORDS CONCERNED: Office of Inspector General, Specific Records for the Office of Investigations DCIS.

~~Change in File # 805. Polygraph Records. This series covers records created or maintained by the OIG Office Investigations, DCIS Division.~~

All DOD polygraph examinations must include the use of a Movement Sensor Device (MSD) as a recorded channel. DOD polygraph programs are required to digitize and retain, for at least 35 years, all physiological test data recorded (in polygraph charts) during an examination, and sufficient technical data to identify the subject, test questions, and results, including any relevant admissions.

(FOUO) When countermeasure efforts are confirmed by a subject's admission, all charts and relevant data must be forwarded to the Department of Defense Polygraph Institute (DODPI) for analysis.

Disposition:

Recordkeeping copy (Digitized records) – Must digitize records. Cut off at end of calendar year. Destroy 35 years after the investigation report has been closed or completed.
