1	INVESTIGATIVE COLLECTIONS AND SURVEYS (124-3) (Applicable Air Force-Wide) The attached table 124-3 has been revised and re-arranged to differentiate between the primary types of documentation accumulated in support of Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AF OSI) major investigative activities, i.e., substantive investigations, operations/collections/surveys, source documents, and support records. Changes to the current rules are preceded by a star. Reports cited in rules 3,4,5 are highly perishable in nature and refers to current plans and operations of subversive groups or hostile intelligence agencies operating against the Air Force. In view of the fragmentary and perishable nature of these documents, a reevaluation has determined that they should not be retained for more than 6 years. Reports cited in rules 6,7, 8 originated by AFOSI regarding espionage and sabotage agencies must be retained at least 25 years. These intelligence information reports provide the basis for the Consolidated Hostile Intelligence Profile System (CHIPS), and from these we can determine future releasability of CHIPS data. We believe 25 years is a reasonable	NN 170-33 NC1-330-76-1

	career life of an Hostile Intelligence System (HIS) officer. The retention periods for rules 9 through 13 are sufficient since these documents are used to analyze the criminal, fraud and counter-intelligence situation wherever the USAF is tenanted. They are used to provide data for analytical studies in specified areas. They are used daily by analysts to provide pattern and trend studies to DOD, SAF and applicable AF Commanders. The retention period for rule 17 provides a back-up for the AFOSI field extensions and 15 years is adequate to allow sufficient response to our investigative mission. The 2 year retention period for rule 18 is considered sufficient for field extensions since it is likely that within this 2 year period enough information would have developed to prove or disprove the allegation, and to warrant the initiation of a separate investigation of a suspect. The retention periods for rules 19 and 20 are warranted to protect the legal and fiscal rights of the government. The 5 year period is considered sufficient to insure that any administrative and/or judicial actions, if required as a result of the survey, would have been completed within this period. One year or when no longer needed, whichever is sooner, is sufficient at AFOSI field extensions to allow for obtaining and reporting results of any command action taken as a result of the investigation.
