Background Information

The Western Area Power Administration (WAPA) is one of four power marketing administrations within the U.S. Department of Energy. The power marketing administrations market and transmit wholesale electricity from multi-use water projects. The WAPA service area encompasses a 15-state region of the central and western U.S. where more than 17,000 circuit mile transmission system carries electricity from 57 hydropower plants operated by the Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and the International Boundary and Water Commission. WAPA sells its power to preference customers such as Federal and state agencies, cities and towns, rural electric cooperatives, public utility districts, irrigation districts, and Native American tribes. These customers then provide retail electric service to millions of consumers in the West.

The following items are arranged in an aggregate, media neutral schedule. All records series/systems for each retention bucket relate to the same general function or subject matter, and assigned the same disposition. Included is a crosswalk that maps each of WAPA's current series and electronic systems to the appropriate bucket item. This schedule establishes disposition authority for all WAPA records in the specific program area described and it supersedes all previous WAPA retention schedules (unless otherwise noted) and it should be applied retroactively to all extant records. There are numerous records covered under the below items, and compiling an exhaustive list would not be possible; it should not be considered a complete and exclusive listing of all pertinent documents. Headquarters, regional, field offices and other business operations are responsible for creating detailed file plans to note all records they create and maintain as well as specific cutoff and other implementing instructions unique to each record.

Engineering, Design, and Construction provides engineering services and expertise with emphasis on substation, transmission line and building designs. Services include electrical, civil, architectural, controls, surveying, communications, and studies. At the request of regional offices design products are prepared at HQ. Regions may make as-built changes and also prepare designs and specifications for smaller projects, and they also conduct inspections of completed work.

Records Schedule Items

Sequence Number
1	Engineering, Design, and Construction Administrative Records. Disposition Authority Number DAA-0201-2020-0003-0001 Data and documents created in administering engineering, design, and construction activities. Any information, correspondence, and other records developed during the construction process, essential to performance of the process but not essential for project record purposes following project completion. Some of these records exist primarily to document the financial management of the contract(s) under which a WAPA building, power structure, or other asset is erected. Project request working files, short term and intermediary surveying records, meeting agendas and minutes, budget and cost working files, action item lists, work logs, progress reports, equipment procurement, project tracking, and routine contractual documents that do not contain information of long-term value. 2	Engineering, Design, and Construction records for mission-related structures, equipment, and facilities Disposition Authority Number DAA-0201-2020-0003-0002 Records include, but are not limited to, feasibility studies, specifications, manufacturers data, final drawings, construction records, inspections, and other core engineering, design, and construction records associated with the creation of high value electric power system structures, buildings, equipment, and related assets. Survey notes of lines surveyed, established, retraced, resurveyed, and other data whether the survey is made on private or public domain lands. General maps or outlines of planning units, ownership plats, and drawings of surveyed areas. Final Disposition Temporary Item Status Active Is this item media neutral? 3	Significant Engineering and Construction Records. Disposition Authority Number DAA-0201-2020-0003-0003

Engineering, design, and construction policy records. Requests for congressional authorization for projects for the design and construction of structures built to carry out the mission of WAPA (transmission lines and towers, substations, switchyards, and power dispatching centers). Includes final construction reports and histories, final geological reports, and final products (e.g. drawings) for high value, mission-related assets where the project is selected for its architectural, historical, and/or technological significance. Permanent records criteria is as follows: Architectural Significance. a. Structures and facilities which are essentially original in design. (Basic design is not repeated in another WAPA structure or asset); b. Structures and facilities that are most representative of standard or repetitive designs used in more than one project; c. Structures and facilities which embody the distinguishing characteristics of either a period or a regional architectural style; d. Innovations. Buildings or facilities which include architectural or engineering innovations. Historical Significance. a. Noted Architect. Designs by noted architects or engineers of 'proposed' and 'constructed' buildings or facilities; b. Controversial or Notable. Buildings or facilities which were involved in controversy in regard to their design, construction, or utilization, including those that terminated because of cost overruns, safety hazards, and environmental hazards. Projects that generated industry praise, were award-winning, and/or which represented a critical addition or interconnection to the WAPA transmission grid. Technological Significance: projects representing first-of-a-kind energy research and development, or demonstration projects of electric power transmission initiatives. Files describe how the project was designed, constructed, and altered, should be retained for a selection of the most unique structures and for a representative sample of repetitive and similar structures.
