	In August 1977, TVA developed the nation's largest home insulation program, producing impressive energy savings to the consumers through improved insulation and weatherization. Conducted in cooperation with TVA power distributors, the program provides for energy inspections and interest free loans to finance various kinds of weatherization measures. Upon request, a free home inspection is given by a TVA trained energy advisor who assists in identifying areas of the home which contribute to energy waste. The advisor recommends improvements and provides an estimate of the cost and potential savings, along with a listing of local contractors which agreed to meet TVA installation specifications. The Home Insulation Program Records Disposition was approved 7-13-82 under Job. No. NC1-142-82-16. The Energy Package is a collection of services provided for residential customers. This package consolidated existing program surveys and financing arrangements into a single, unified, cost-effective package on October 1, 1982. Prior to implementation of this package, the programs were handled on individual surveys and program financing. A single energy survey is now performed to qualify consumers for any of the options offered by an individual power distributor. The Energy Package consolidated the following individual programs: <ul style="list-style-type: none">o Home Weatherization Programo Heat Pump Programo Heat Pump Water Heater Programo Solar Water Heater Programo Wood Heater Program All forms necessary for the consumer's options are prepared by an energy advisor.
