JOB: NEW

RRB RECORDS SCHEDULE 6

Bureau of Fiscal Operations

Explanatory Notes

1. Most series in this schedule have descriptions and retention periods unchanged from the General Records Schedules or old RRB Schedule 6, NCI 184-79-3.
2. New Item 6-2, Automated Management Information System Tape File (AMIS) - AMIS is an on-line database used to document various Board financial transactions. Output from this database is initially in the form of magnetic tape. This tape, in turn, is converted to microfiche for use by bureau employees. The microfiche (Item 6-1a), because of its readability and manageable volume, is considered the record copy of AMIS data. The tape file is retained only until the quality of the resulting microfiche has been established, in this case, one year.
3. New Item 6-8, Tesseract Payroll System Records - The Tesseract payroll system is an "off the shelf" software package that produces a variety of reports that replace record series maintained prior to Tesseract's implementation in January, 1987.

Subseries (a) contains magnetic tapes that are produced by the bureau at the rate of one per pay period (26 annually). Payroll data from these tapes is converted to microfiche (subseries (c)) for reference by bureau employees. As is the case with AMIS, the Tesseract microfiche is considered the record copy of the Tesseract data because of its readability and compactness. The magnetic tape is maintained for up to one year only in its capacity as backup to the microfiche.

The Tesseract payroll system also produces textual reports directly from the database (subseries (b)). The retention period for both subseries (b) and (c) is consistent with the authorized disposition recommended for similar series in General Records Schedule 2. The disposition for subseries (d) mirrors that of GRS 2, Item 17b.

4. New Item 6-13, Employer Contributions Files - This series is used by the bureau to ensure the Railroad Retirement Board (RRB) is receiving the taxes it is entitled to under the Railroad Retirement Act (RRA) and the Railroad Unemployment and Insurance Act (RUIA).

On an annual basis, railroad employers report to the IRS the amount of employee compensation subject to RRA taxation and the amount actually withheld for payment of such tax. On an annual or quarterly basis, railroad employers report to the RRB the amount of employee compensation subject to RUIA taxation and the amount actually withheld for payment of such tax. In both cases, the Bureau of Fiscal Operations (BFO) takes these employer tax returns and attempts to reconcile the reported figures with the actual amount of tax RRB receives from the IRS or directly from the railroads for RRA and/or RUIA benefit funding. This process of reconciliation is not complete until the bureau determines the RRB has received its proper share of RRA and RUIA taxes from railroad employers.

Components of this series include copies of IRS Forms CT-1, CT-2, and RRB Form DC-1. Legal opinions from the RRB's Bureau of Law establish that the agency maintains a fiduciary interest in these files for up to six years after BFO reconciles the annual tax reports of a particular employer.

5. New Item 6-17(a), Annual Report to Congress and the President - This series is created annually by the Bureau of Budget and Fiscal Operations as required by the Federal Managers Financial Integrity Act of 1982. Accumulation rate is approximately one inch per year, with a current bureau backlog of less than one cubic foot. Reports date from 1984 to present. Arranged chronologically.

The report described the Railroad Retirement Board's efforts to comply with the requirements and policies of the aforementioned Financial Integrity Act of 1982 and implementing guidance in OMB Circular No. A-123 (and A-127). A typical report contains an introduction, an overview of RRB internal controls developed in response to A-123 and associated OMB guidance, program results for the fiscal year, program objectives for the upcoming fiscal year, and the actual report to the President and Congress. Included is information documenting various RRB internal accounting and administrative controls, operational areas where internal controls are weak or non-existent, and progress on proposed remedies. The report's purpose is to assure that RRB obligations and costs are in compliance with applicable law; that agency funds, property, and other assets are safeguarded against waste, fraud, and abuse; and that agency revenues and expenditures are properly recorded and accounted for.

6. New Item 6-17(b) - Series is composed of a variety of administrative reports created annually (in most cases) by bureau personnel in response to directives from OMB, Department of the Treasury, and other agency. These reports cover such subjects as RRB adherence to the Prompt Payment Act, RRB cash management goals for a particular fiscal year, and creation of an agencywide financial plan to establish fiscal accountability. Disposition reflects bureau reference needs and the fact that many of these reports are recurring.
7. New Item 6-17(d) - Information provided by the components of this series is used to construct and support items 6-17(a) and (b). Once these reports have been drafted and approved, the reference value of the original data, which is often raw and informal, declines because of duplication.
8. Old Items 6-3, 6-4, 6-8(h), 6-23, and 6-25, NCI 184-79-3 - These series are obsolete and have been deleted from the revised schedule.
9. Old Items 6-9 6-10, 6-14, and 6-15, NCI 184-79-3 - These series are Items 20-13, 20-20, 20-17, and 20-16, respectively, in new RRB Records Schedule 20, Records Common to Most Offices.

10. Old Items 6-16, 6-17, 6-18, 6-19, 6-22, 6-24, 6-26, and 6-27, NCI 184-79-3 - These series are covered en masse by new Item 6-8, Tesseract Payroll System Records.

RRB RECORDS SCHEDULE 11

Bureau of Data Processing

Explanatory Notes

1. This is a new schedule containing series unrelated to those found in old Schedule 11, Bureau of Data Processing and Accounts, NCI-184-79-3. Most series in old Schedule 11 may now be found in new Schedule 14, Bureau of Compensation and Certification.
2. New Item 11-1, Security Storage Control File - Forms G-1 and G-1a are used by bureau personnel to track the movement of non-textual media, usually vital records, between RRB headquarters and several off-site storage areas. Authorized disposition meets bureau administrative needs.
3. New Item 11-2, Microform Control File - Certain series of RRB magnetic media are periodically converted to microfiche by either outside contractors or the Board's own micrographics unit. Form G-147a accounts for the movement and whereabouts of bureau magnetic tapes and cartridges during the conversion process. Retention period satisfies the administrative requirements of the bureau.
4. New Item 11-3, Batch Control File - This series documents the amount, type, and completion date of bureau keypunch work performed internally or by contractors. Data is also used to reconcile private sector billings submitted for keypunch work performed. Retention period same as Item 2.
5. New Item 11-4, Keypunch Control File - Form G-156 is used by the bureau of data processing (BDP) to record the various types of miscellaneous keypunch work it performs for other bureaus and offices within RRB. Retention period same as Item 11-2.
6. New Item 11-5, Data Center Visitor File - Disposition is as recommended by General Records Schedule 18.
7. New Item 11-6, Data Center Card Key Application and Issue File - Disposition is as recommended by General Records Schedule 18.
8. New Item 11-7, Employee Terminal Access Folder - Series is composed of folders created by the BDP installation security officer. There is a folder for each RRB employee requesting access to various Board computer systems or databases. The contents of each Folder constitutes a history of that employee's access to different data files. Disposition instructions reflect bureau security requirements.
9. New Item 11-8, Data Processing Repair File - Information in this series is used by the bureau to justify the procurement of new ADP equipment, document breaches of warrant, and negotiate manufacturer rebates in those cases where purchased equipment does not perform according to specification. Retention period of subseries (b) allows for performance of all the above.

10. New Item 11-9, PAC II Files - PAC II is an "off the shelf" software package. PAC II data is used by bureau personnel to track the progress of assigned data processing projects, including monitoring the bureau's budget. Disposition instructions meet bureau administrative needs.
11. New Item 11-10, System Management Facility File (SMF File) - This series monitors the performance of the Board's mainframe computer in terms of who uses the system and for what purposes. The retention period of the (b) subseries matches the normal life cycle of most data processing equipment, seven years.
12. New Item 11-11, Information Retrieval Systems - Series is composed of the actual computer programs that update the mainframe. Programs are in several media including microfiche, magnetic tape, and paper.
13. New Item 11-12, Data Systems, File and Output Specifications, and Test Documentation - Series documents the development and maintenance of a computer system. Contents include flow charts, field descriptions, data dictionaries, test evaluation plans, and design diagrams.
14. New Item 11-13, User Guides - These are instructional booklets on how to use a particular computer system. Retention reflects cited GRS item.
15. New Item 11-14, Computer Generated Reports - Output in the form of a variety of internal, textual reports used by bureau personnel for various purposes. Authorized disposition is as recommended by revised GRS 20, Item 11.

RRB RECORDS SCHEDULE 14

Bureau of Compensation and Certification

The mission of the Bureau of Compensation and Certification is to provide bureaus within the Board, as well as the railroad public and other federal agencies, records of railroad employee service and compensation. Specific elements of the bureau's mission are to receive and maintain compensation records of railroad employees; provide accurate and timely certification of employee service and compensation to the Bureaus of Retirement Claims and Unemployment and Sickness Insurance and the Social Security Administration; and determine creditability of employee service and employer coverage status under the Acts.

RRB RECORDS SCHEDULE 14

Bureau of Compensation and Certification

Explanatory Notes

1. This is a new records control schedule covering series created by Board's Bureau of Compensation and Certification. Most items originated in NCI 184-79-3, Schedule 11, Bureau of Data Processing and Accounts.
2. New Item 14-1(b), SCORE Ledger - This series documents information reported to the Railroad Retirement Board by railroad employers concerning time worked and/or compensation paid to railroad employees during a given year. Section 9 of the Railroad Retirement Act, as amended in 1983, allows employer adjustments to this data within four years of its entry. Disposition instructions reflect legislated allowance and fact that records are converted to microfilm at five year intervals.
3. New Item 14-1(d)1, SCORE File Microfiche - Disposition instructions have been reworded to be more specific as to when superseded microfiche can be destroyed. Bureau may require up to two years to verify accuracy and quality of newly produced microfiche.
4. Old Item 11-2, NCI 184-79-3, CER-1 File - Card file was destroyed in July, 1987.
5. New Item 14-3, Service and Compensation Activity (SCARE) File - This series updates the SCORE master file. Each quarter a file is created containing name changes, SSA account number changes, employer changes, compensation and service changes, etc., for input into the SCORE database. The changes accumulate from quarter to quarter until the fourth quarter. It is this final quarter's SCARE file that amends the SCORE master. Once the SCORE file is updated, the first, second, and third quarter SCARE files are immediately expendable. The fourth quarter SCARE master (subseries (a)) is retained for three subsequent annual updates, so as to correspond to the disposition of the SCORE master (see Item 14-1(a)1). Copies of the SCARE master (subseries (b)) are expendable after creation of the following year's updated version.
6. New Item 14-4, Numident Request Tape File - Each year the bureau submits to the Social Security Administration (SSA) a magnetic tape containing the SSA account numbers of potential new RRB beneficiaries. The purpose of this tape is to notify SSA of account numbers, to be entered into the SCORE master file (Item 14-1), which require verification of name, sex, date of birth, etc., before that information can be entered into SCORE. Series disposition instructions reflect annual creation of a new updated file and fulfill administrative needs.
7. New Item 14-5, Sorted Numident Reply File - The Social Security Administration, creates this magnetic tape in response to the Numident Request File (Item 14-4) it receives annually from RRB. Upon receipt from SSA, the bureau uses the information provided on the tape to verify the name, date of birth, sex, etc., of potential new RRB beneficiaries. Once verified, this data is input into the SCORE master file to complete each new entry's profile. As the SCORE master file is updated annually, there is no need to retain the reply file longer than the given disposition.

8. New Item 14-6, Q File - The primary purpose of this series is to provide the Social Security Administration, via magnetic tape, with an annual record (name and SSA account number) of those railroad employees who have accrued enough service time to qualify for RRB retirement benefits. Creation of this file is necessary because SSA and RRB share responsibility for the payment of benefits to retired railroad workers. Tape is updated annually.
9. New Items 14-7, 14-8, Sick Pay of Railroad Employees Master (SPREM) File and Ledger - This series documents benefit payments from non-RRB sources made to sick or injured railroad workers. Such payments must be accounted for in the event Bureau of Unemployment and Sickness Insurance (BUSI) payments have to be reduced or recovered. As SPREM is another file used to update and support SCORE, the disposition of its two series coincides with that of their SCORE counterparts (Items 14-1a, 1b). SPREM may be replaced by an on-line electronic database by the end of 1989.
10. Old Item 11-9, NCI-184-79-3, Employer Ledger Books - This series is now included in new Item 14-1(b).
11. New Item 14-18, BA-6 Address File - This tape, which is updated annually, is used to produce an address list used for mailing BA-6 (Annual Certification of Service Months and Compensation) cards to active railroad employees.
12. New Item 14-25, CER-1 Microfilm File - Microfilm equivalent of card file (formerly old Item 11-2, NCI 184-79-3).
13. Old Item 11-19(c), NCI 184-79-3, Employee Ledger Files (Microfilm) - Series is now included in new Item 14-1(c).
14. Old Item 11-20, NCI 184-79-3, Blue Stripe Individual Correspondence Case File - Series has been discontinued. Board no longer uses "Blue Stripes" as an identifier for a particular type of case file. All folders belonging to this series have been destroyed.

RRB RECORDS SCHEDULE 20

Records Common to Most Offices

Explanatory Notes

1. With the exception of Items 20-16, 20-17(a)(b), and 20-28(a)(b), all series in this revised schedule have retention periods previously approved in either NCI 184-79-3 or the General Records Schedule.
2. New Item 20-16, Operations Plans - These plans are summarized in the Agency Consolidated Plan (Item 18-1) created annually by the Office of Planning. Item 18-1 is retained permanently. The three year retention period for bureau/office copies of operations plans is derived from the fact that such plans cover three year periods and bureaus may need to refer that far back for information necessary to formulate new or revised plans.
3. New Item 20-17(a), Work Measurement Reports - Retention period for this series (formerly Item 6-10b (1), NCI 184-79-3) has been extended by one year to reflect reference needs of bureaus.
4. New Item 20-17(b), Work Measurement Reports - Series duplicates information in cumulative fiscal year report and need not be kept after creation of such report.
5. New Item 20-28(a)(b), ADP Project/Service Request Files - Bureau/office copies of records described in the fifth explanatory note of revised RRB Records Schedule 4. Subseries retention periods meet the informational requirements of the bureaus.
