15 cubic feet Arranged by subject

PERMANENT. Transfer to the National Archives in 2001

Non-record, duplicate, disposable materials, or records covered by the GRS will be destroyed during initial processing

WNRC Accession 59-L-0023, Boxes 165-214

Justification These records provide information on the crucial formative years of the SEC and document the many issues the agency had to settle upon implementation of early SEC legislation. NARA has virtually no documentation of this important period in the agency's development

8. Applications for exclusion pursuant to SEC 202(a)(11)(F) of the Investors/Advisors Act of 1940.

TEMPORARY. Destroy upon approval of this schedule

WNRC Accession 60-D-0265, Boxes 435-436

Justification Routine administrative files of the agency Applications for exclusion pursuant to sections of other SEC acts are temporary under the SEC schedule.

9. Exhibits. Exhibits relating to SEC cases that have not been identified as permanently valuable.

TEMPORARY. Destroy upon approval of this schedule

WNRC Accession 67-W-3613, Boxes 1617-1618

Justification Exhibits belong to cases in file classes that are not permanent according to the SEC schedule

10. Court stenographer machine paper tapes.

TEMPORARY. Destroy upon approval of this schedule.

WNRC Accession 79-B-0019, Boxes 70-73

Justification Tapes have been transcribed into minutes of proceedings

11. Central Files of the Security and Exchange Commission, ca. 1933-1964.

These files include records filed under a wide variety of various SEC decimal filing codes, which have been appraised as both permanent (122-6 and 123-13) and temporary (122-2). Others have been identified for destruction by the agency (127 and 128-4a) under an older filing scheme The Administrative Division, Docket, Mail and Files Section, routinely destroyed documents from certain file codes The accessions reviewed are what remain in WNRC.

A Records include original incoming and carbon and tissue copies of outgoing correspondence of the various SEC components, including the Office of the Secretary, internal memorandums relating to the activities of the SEC, development of policies and procedures of the SEC; documentation created and received by the various organizational elements of the agency documenting the various programs of the agency, and U.S. economic interactions with foreign stock exchanges and companies Also included are reports and background materials of special studies conducted by various divisions of the agency during its early history.

134 cubic feet Arranged by decimal filing number

PERMANENT. Transfer to the National Archives in 2001. Non-record, duplicate, disposable materials, or records covered by the GRS will be destroyed during initial processing

WNRC Accession 66-G-2792, Boxes 666-722
 WNRC Accession 67-G-3613, Box 1008
 WNRC Accession 67-I-3613, Boxes 1009-1014
 WNRC Accession 67-R-3613, Boxes 1026-1044
 WNRC Accession 67-T-3613, Boxes 1061-1104
 WNRC Accession 67-Y-3613, Boxes 1045-1052

Justification Records in these accessions comprise the central subject files of the agency from its establishment through ca 1964. The National Archives has accessioned very little documentation of the early history of the agency. Many of the records in these accessions, along with those in accessions covered by item 7, above, will remedy that situation.

It will be necessary to review the records during processing and provide internal disposal as necessary.

B Routine administrative or facilitative files

TEMPORARY. Destroy immediately upon approval of this schedule

WNRC Accession 67-E-3613, Boxes 991-997

Justification The records in this accession deal with routine administrative matters that do not document the programs of the agency. Subjects include time and leave regulations, the use of franked envelopes, fire regulations, copies of SEC forms and related correspondence; savings bonds, lost, stolen, or missing articles, and information about files routinely destroyed by the Administrative Division.

12. Records Relating to Senate Banking and Currency Committee Hearing, 1933-35.

A Original responses to the Senate Committee's questionnaire sent to stock exchange members

WNRC Accession 56-I-0192, Boxes 819-824

6 cubic feet. Arranged alphabetically by subject

PERMANENT. Transfer to the National Archives in 2001.

Justification Records relate to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee hearings held to investigate stock exchange practices, popularly referred to as the "Pecora Commission." These hearings resulted in the establishment of the SEC in 1934.

B Photostatic copies of Records Relating to Senate Banking and Currency Committee Hearing, 1933-35

WNRC Accession 56-I-0192, Boxes 825-828

Justification The files in this accession are photostatic copies of original documents included in the records already in NARA of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency of the 72nd Congress

C. Committee correspondence with national business leaders, copies of speeches by business leaders, and background information about the Senate Committee's questionnaire sent to stock exchanges

7 cubic feet. Arranged alphabetically by subject.

PERMANENT. Transfer to the National Archives in 2001

WNRC Accession 56-I-0192, Boxes 829-835

Justification Records relate to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee hearings held to investigate stock exchange practices popularly referred to as the "Pecora Commission". As a result of these hearings, the SEC was established in 1934

D. Cross Reference Sheets

Handwritten cross reference sheets to Committee hearing records

TEMPORARY. Destroy immediately upon approval of this schedule

WNRC Accession 56-I-0192, Box 836.

Justification. A complete index to the Committee Hearing records is already included in the records already in NARA of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency of the 72nd Congress

13. Basic Documents, ca. 1921-1962.

Includes correspondence, indentures, exhibits (leases, pension plants, mortgages, deeds of trust, charters of the company) from utility companies that were periodically sent to SEC but were not needed to document company filings

25 cubic feet Arranged alphabetically by utility company name

PERMANENT. Transfer to the National Archives in 2001.

WNRC Accession 79-C-0019, Boxes 74-99

Justification These records provide information on the operations of utility companies and their relationship with the SEC during the early part of the 20th century

14. Background materials created and received by the SEC relating to miscellaneous studies authorized by the Commission.

Files include questionnaires, exhibits, routine correspondence, and copies of transcripts of public hearings

TEMPORARY. Destroy immediately upon approval of this schedule

WNRC Accession 54-A-0556, Boxes 1-75

WNRC Accession 64-K-1849, Box 373

Justification Similar background materials for other SEC studies are scheduled as temporary.

15. Official Report of Hearings Before the SEC on Special Study and Investigation of Securities Markets to investigate the adequacy of the protection of investors by the rules of the national security exchanges and national associations, 1954-62. 40 volumes

8 cubic feet. Arranged chronologically.

PERMANENT. Transfer to the National Archives in 2001

WNRC Accession 79-B-0019, Boxes 62-69

Justification Official copies of formal hearings that support a major study conducted by the SEC.

16. Official Register--Securities. 1935-1969

Listings of material received from various companies applying for registration of securities on a national securities exchange Includes description of materials received and record of actions taken by the SEC and the registrant

TEMPORARY. Destroy immediately upon approval of this schedule

WNRC Accession 71-P-7167, Boxes 1260-1359

Justification: These records merely include a listing of the materials routinely received by the SEC from registrant companies. They do not include the actual materials received, some of which is included in permanent case files. Records are oversized (14"x18" and 12"x18").
