FEC RECORDS RETENTION AND DISPOSITION SCHEDULES

SECTION I

GENERAL INFORMATION

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Federal Records Act of 1950 (44 U.S.C. 396(b)) requires each agency of the Federal Government to establish a records management program. This requirement includes preparation of records retention and disposition schedules to determine which records accumulated in the general course of business are worthy of preservation, either short term or in the archival sense, and to provide guidance to line officials and staff in the retention or destruction of papers and records accumulated in offices under their jurisdiction. This is accomplished as a service to officials and employees of the Commission in an effort to reduce the amount of space, equipment and monies used in records and files retention as opposed to that expended for program and staff resources.

The schedules which make up Section II of this manual are derived from two sources. The first source is the FEC initiated schedules concerning records created as a result of campaign finance legislation and therefore unique to the Commission. Disposition of these records must be approved by the Archivist of the United States, a necessary step before destruction of any Government record (44 U.S.C. 2905 and 3106). The second source is the General Records Schedules, published by the National Archives and Records Service and approved by the Archivist of the United States and the Comptroller General of the United States. These schedules provide guidance for retention of fiscal, personnel, administrative and other records common to most or all Government agencies and where applicable have been adopted for the majority of Commission records. In this manual these two types of schedules have been combined.

Each of the schedules is made up of several items dealing with records created within one function, whether Commission action, disclosure, payroll, travel, procurement, personnel, or any other. Each user of the manual should be familiar with each schedule since the records held in his or her office may be listed in one or more schedules depending upon the function and/or purpose of the document. Where there is a doubt as to which schedule applies in a given situation, the Records Management and Administrative Services Branch will assist in the determination.

Complete coverage of all record material in the Commission is a primary goal of this manual. This can only be accomplished with the assistance of office and division employees when record categories are created which do not "fit" the description in the approved schedules. Where required new disposition authority will be sought in an effort to keep record holdings as small as legally possible and where it can be accomplished the least burdensome to employees.

Throughout the schedule records have been described in a manner to facilitate identification of material maintained in Commission offices. The retention periods for these records, with certain exceptions, does not mean that the records are to be kept in the offices for the entire retention period. In an effort to "free" file space for other purposes, the records should be stored "off-site" when use or reference purposes decreases prior to the disposition period. The Records Management and Administrative Services Branch will store the material either at the Commission storage facility or the Federal Records Center at Suitland, Md. pending disposition and provide retrieval services in the interim when required.

SCHEDULE NO. 3

Payroll and Pay Administration Records

Payroll and pay administration records pertain to disbursements to employees of the Commission for personal services.

Papers required by the Comptroller General to be maintained for site audit or to be physically transferred to the General Accounting Office for centralized audit are segments of accountable officer's accounts. In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office unless the Commission has written approval from the Comptroller General, as required by 82 Stat. 1301 (44 U.S.C. 3309). Most pay accounts are prepared and maintained in accordance with Title 6 -- Pay, Leave, and Allowances and incorporated in the GAO Manual for Guidance of Federal agencies.

In the payrolling process different types of records are accumulated. In most cases the records will be in machine readable form. Under Title 6 of the GAO Manual these records are normally site-audited on a sample basis by GAO representatives who examine primarily the earnings record card, payroll change slips that are prepared to document changes in normal pay, certification sheets containing the signatures of the certifying officer, source personnel documents such as basic time and attendance reports, and copies of personnel action forms documenting changes in pay. In addition, pay registers and other accounting devices are maintained to check and balance the accounts.

Other records incidental to the payrolling process are withholding tax and savings bond records, reports made to Treasury Department units and the Civil Service Commission on income tax and retirement transactions, and other records not pertaining to individuals, but rather to the general administration of the payrolling office and the payrolling function.

Procurement and Supply Records

Agency procurement and supply records document the acquisition of goods and non-personal services, controlling the volume of stock on hand, reporting procurement needs, and related supply matters which are part of daily procurement operations. The agency contract files maintained in the contracting officer's office are accessible to GAO auditors.

In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not yet been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office without written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by 44 U.S.C. 3309.

Records documenting procurement and supply in the agencies are largely standardized by various regulations of the Comptroller General and the Administrator of General Services.

The key procurement file is the transaction case file containing the formal contract or informal purchase order or lease instruments and all related papers. The documents flowing into the transaction file differ in detail, but they include, in addition to the purchase document, specifications, bids, schedules of delivery, initiating requisition, invoices, and correspondence.

Other files related to the procurement and supply function include reports used for supply management purposes by the Commission.

SCHEDULE NO. 5

Budget Preparation, Presentation, and Apportionment Records

Budget and apportionment records include the various files accumulated in the Commission in the course of formulating its budget for submission to the Congress and to the Office of Management and Budget; in defending its requests for funds before both bodies; and after enactment of an appropriation bill, in insuring that the funds are used in such a way as to suffice for the appropriate period of time. After the funds have been made available to the Commission, its own controls over the funds are in its expenditure accounting records and detailed information relative to expenditures is contained in the accountable officers' account.

This schedule applies to records of budget preparation, presentation and apportionment. The records show proposals from all operating levels as well as the Commission-wide coordinating work performed by the Budget Task Force, Planning and Management Group and Administrative Division. They consist of detailed work papers and budgetary statements developed by single operating units, the more significant budget statements and related papers representing consolidated submissions prepared and forwarded and records at the Commission level pertaining to the budget submission.

The budget submission, a record copy of which is usually designated by the agency, is a duplicate of the set of papers submitted to the OMB. These include summary statements of appropriations and expenditures, statements of contract authorizations, and statements of receipts as well as narrative summary statements which highlight the principal features of the Commission requests and immediately related supporting documents. The narrative presents the policies and the programs of the agency which the budgetary requests are to support. In addition to the summaries, the submission includes schedules of obligations and statements pertaining to appropriations and funds under which the Commission operates.

SCHEDULE NO. 6

Accountable Officers' Account Records

This schedule covers accountable officers' returns and related records, including records under the cognizance of the General Accounting Office.

Accountable officers' accounts include record copies of all records concerned with the accounting for, availability, and status of public funds. There are several types of "accountable officers," such as: (a) the collecting officer, who receives monies owed to the Federal Government and ensures that it is credited to the proper account; (b) the disbursing officer who is responsible for providing documentation to the General Accounting Office since he accomplishes the actual payment of public monies to proper Federal creditors; and (c) the certifying officer, whose signature on a summary attests to the authenticity of vouchers listed on the schedule.

This schedule includes records held for on-site audit by the General Accounting Office, as described in Item 1a below. Under on-site audit, vouchers, contracts, schedules, statements of transactions and accountability and other related supporting documents are retained in agency space for the General Accounting Office auditors. Section 5 of the Post Office Department Financial Control Act of 1950 and Section 117(b) of the Budget and Accounting Procedures Act of 1950 (whenever the Comptroller General determines that audit shall be conducted at the site) require agencies to retain these records, which are under General Accounting Office cognizance. The General Accounting Office has given general authority to the agencies, if the records are no longer required for administrative purposes, to transfer all audited records and any unaudited records more than one full fiscal year old to Federal Records Centers. However, to transfer unaudited accountable officers' accounts less than one year old, permission must be obtained from the Director, Office of Administrative Services, GAO.

SCHEDULE NO. 7

Expenditure Accounting Records

Expenditure accounting records are the ledgers and related documents maintained by all agencies to show in summary fashion how their funds, appropriated and non-appropriated, are spent, as well as the sources and nature of any receipts. The key records are the general ledger accounts, which constitute, as a unit, the heart of the accounting system. These ledgers summarize financial status and financial transactions indicating the current status of funds available for expenditure, the amounts due and collected for the account of the Government, accumulated expenditures and liabilities, and the values of, equipment, and other property in Commission custody. They are controls that serve not only as central fiscal records, but also a primary source of data for Commissioners and others concerned with Commission solvency, expenditures and program costs.

The general ledgers are subdivided into arbitrarily created account titles, which are based on programs, projects, costs, and funds. Supporting them are a group of subsidiary ledgers and papers further detailing the information in the general ledgers or serving as posting media to the ledgers themselves. To the extent that they reflect appropriation expenditures, the general ledgers are supported by allotment ledgers, which at all times show the current unobligated balance of funds allotted for specific agency purposes and thereby provide a safeguard against over expenditure by operating officials. The allotment ledgers are general controls over expenditures, and they in turn summarize and are supported by more detailed controls that normally take the form of project or job orders which authorize exact and specific expenditure.

The sources of data that are posted to the ledger files are somewhat diverse, but they fall into two general groups:

- a. Copies of various obligation or expenditure documents, such as vouchers and schedules, which flow through the ledger unit for posting.
- b. Journal vouchers and similar internal control documents created to authorize and convey entries to the general ledger.

As the centralized fiscal record, the general ledgers ultimately summarize stores, plant and cost accounting data, which are treated in a separate schedule, but these are only several aspects of the total ledger accounts. Consequently, the ledgers are the source for the data included in the basic apportionment reports to the OMB and the Treasury Department, and over-all reports of agency fiscal condition which may be required by the General Accounting Officer. The adequacy for audit purposes of the general ledger accounts is normally considered by General Accounting Office auditors to be indicative of the suitability of an accounting system and the reliability of financial data.

In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims, or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office without written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by Section 9 of the Records Disposal Act of July 7, 1943, as amended (44 U.S.C. 372).

Travel and Transportation Records

This schedule covers records pertaining to the movement of goods and persons under Government orders. The record keeping involved in the movements centers around bills of lading, transportation requests, vouchers, and associated records, including those prescribed by Title 5 of the General Accounting Office Policy and Procedures Manual. Copies of some records used to support payments become part of the accountable officers' accounts, or are accounting posting media and covered by other Records Schedules.

a. Movement of goods. The key record is the bill of lading, of which there are copies for consignors, consignees, and the carriers themselves. The papers related to and normally filed with the bill of lading itself are varied and often voluminous. These may consist of shortage and demurrage reports, invoices, and other descriptive data which document the transaction. Included are records relating to the shipment of household effects, authorized by law and regulations for employees of the Government. Agencies shipping certain vouchers under the Government Losses in Shipment Act, which insures against loss, retain copies of schedules of material shipped, papers relating to claims which may ensue, and other pertinent documents.

b. Movement of persons. The movement of persons is documented essentially by copies of travel orders, authorizing travel and subsequent payment, and standard form vouchers showing payment for official travel. The primary copies of the travel orders are the administrative copy maintained by the transportation unit controlling the issuance of travel orders, and copies used for encumbrance of funds.

WITHDRAWN

Machine-Readable Records

This schedule covers machine-readable records and the related documentation required to service them. When information exists in both machine-readable and hard copy forms, various factors bear on the decisions of which medium should be retained for archival purposes. Among these are the relative cost of storage and preservation, the relative convenience of reference, and the facility with which most hard copy forms may be regenerated from machine-readable files.

Data on media other than computer magnetic tape (such as disc packs, used by the Commission) are described by this schedule, but in most cases must be converted to magnetic tape before transfer to NARS. Therefore, the data file description is related to desposition standards for the hard copy file.
